U.S. Rail strike called off at 11th hour

Rail strike would have involved over 15,000 employees of the East African Railway and Harbours throughout East Africa was called off yesterday after an agreement had been reached in Nairobi.

The agreement, which accepted a board of inquiry to look into Group "B" salary scales and wage increases for Group "C" staff was reached after two negotiations at Railway Headquarters between the management and representatives of railway unions from Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania.

Trade unions from the three territories had called for the strike to begin on Monday last night because of a dispute over wages increases which began four years ago.

A session at the University College, Nairobi, Mr. David Mwangi, general secretary of the Kenya Railways Union, said he had referred to the railway unions' demands for a 10 per cent increase in the February 1964 pay scale. He said the management had made recommendations to meet the demands.

The end column

WORLD consumption of cigarettes has increased by 10 per cent in the last year, a temporary check due to rising cancer scares, a report by the Commonwealth Health Research Committee observed yesterday.

But it's not being called for by the committee, it is expected to be raised on tobacco, in a report of the committee on tobacco, published on November 20.

Salary scales

In the agreement, Group "C" salary scales were increased by 10 per cent, and Group "B" by 10 per cent, and Group "A" by 10 per cent. The management had offered a 10 per cent increase in the February 1964 pay scale.

250 signed

The agreement was signed by the Railway general manager, Mr. J. M. Mwangi, and the general secretary of the Kenya Railways Union, Mr. David Mwangi.

The weather

Light rain, with some sun, is expected for the next few days. The temperature will be in the 60s and 70s.

4m. vote lead greatest in history

PRESIDENT Lyndon Johnson yesterday smashed the election hopes of the Republican Senator Barry Goldwater with the biggest popular vote in American history. He is expected to follow his landslide victory with a "Whirlwind of personal diplomacy."

"I am going to do a great deal of travelling," he said at Austin, Texas, and he is known to be considering a tour of West European capitals, including Paris and Bonn and possibly London.

The high-wind Senator, faced with humiliating defeat, surprised the nation by refusing to make the usual traditional statement of concession before he went to bed.

Margin of 486 to 47

With 91 per cent of the nation's 100,000 precincts reported, the vote totals were: President Johnson 32,128,232—48 electoral votes—Senator Goldwater 24,714,621—47 electoral votes.

Johnson's lead over Goldwater was leading by more than 10,000,000 votes and by a percentage margin of 81.2 to 18.8 in the landslide of 1960. President Roosevelt defeated Alf Landon by 11,000,000 votes for a percentage of 60.2.

The Democrats increased their majority in the House of Representatives by 100 votes, they were the biggest of increasing their Senate majority by one by winning a sea-saw contest in Nevada that the law suspended Senate race.

With this result still to be determined, the race is expected to be a close one. Johnson is expected to win 321 electoral votes, compared to 207 for Goldwater.

Telegram sent from Kenya

KENYA'S Prime Minister, Mr. J. M. Kariuki, yesterday sent a telegram of congratulations to President Johnson on his election victory.

The telegram said that the Kenyan Government and people of Kenya send their warmest congratulations on your remarkable victory. Please accept also my personal regards and good wishes for a high office and for your decisive role in our common work for world peace.

 On Monday the Prime Minister said that through the lead section of the Government administration, just as the British election result was known, the British Government would have to take a national policy on which even in the United Kingdom, a matter of controversy would be raised. The world has gained by the fact that this was not made a decision. In this House, or the country, on where our duty stands, we have to make a decision. Glennos beat Laver 6-1 in the first match, Laver in the second.

The second set was a close contest, Laver and Glennos were in a tug-of-war, but Laver won the second set 6-4. Glennos then won the third set 6-4.

Laver had a hard and long day, but he won the match 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

Kenya plan to celebrate with All-Africa race

NEGOTIATIONS are in hand to hold an All-Africa race on December 12. The Kenya Amateur Athletic Union has been asked to provide the venue for the marathon by staged instead of an international athletic meeting.

American athletes on offer

THREE or four American athletes who took part in the track events at the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo have been offered to Kenya for a three-week tour.

A cable received by the United States from the State Department in Washington, said the athletes would be available for demonstration and training purposes in Kenya.

Spurred up The Laver opened up both the first and second sets, but he lost the second set 6-4. Glennos then won the third set 6-4.

END TO CONFUSION' URGED Minister asks Senate to accept changes

The Kenya Government was amending the Constitution because it had been found cumbersome and unworkable. The Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. Odinga, said yesterday when he urged the Kenya Senate to give its assent to the Constitution Amendment Bill, which was being debated for the second day. "We need to go on with this confusion," he asked.

TRADE WITH PORTUGAL BANNED BY TANZANIA

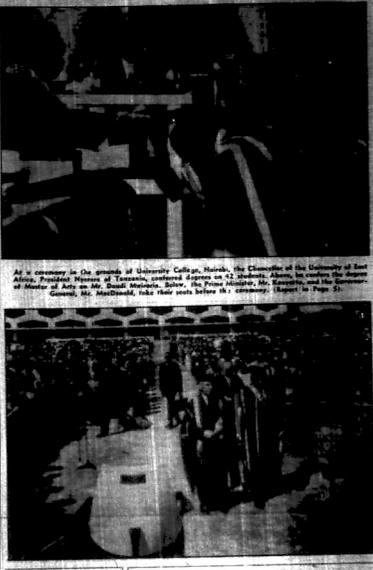

TANZANIA yesterday announced a ban on all exports from the capital, Dar es Salaam, to all Portuguese territories. The ban was announced in a statement by the Minister for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Nyerere, who said that the Government had decided to take this step because of the Portuguese Government's refusal to accept the terms of the Lusaka Agreement on the cessation of hostilities in the Congo.

Immigrant fears dispelled

Mr. Odinga told the House that he felt it his national duty to address the Senators "on this very important question of the amendment of the Constitution." He wanted to give Senators a brief background of the circumstances in which the Constitution was drafted.

Regions to blame for inaction

Mr. Odinga said that although the Government had not been able to pass the Bill, it was not because of inaction by the Government. He said that the Government had been hindered by the inaction of the various regions. He said that the Government had been forced to accept the amendments because of the pressure exerted by the regions.

Question of President Electing to Parliament

There is no question of the country's President electing to Parliament, the Minister for Justice and Constitutional Affairs, Mr. Meehan, said yesterday when he outlined the programme which the Head of State will address the National Assembly.

Mr. Meehan said the Minister would be making the House's agreement to the adoption of the new Constitution by Parliament to incorporate provision for the President to be elected by the people.

Replying to points in the debate, the Minister said there was no question of using Presidential statements to the House irresponsibly. A Presidential statement to Members from the Chair of the Head of State did not constitute a law or a motion of the House and therefore would not be passed by Parliament.

Mr. Meehan said the Minister did not see the slightest danger of decreasing the prestige of the President by his speaking to Parliament in this way.

Mr. Meehan said the Minister did not see the slightest danger of decreasing the prestige of the President by his speaking to Parliament in this way.

Functions of Youth Service outlined

KENYA House of Representatives on Tuesday considered the Second Reading of the National Youth Service Bill, yesterday.

The Bill, which provides for the establishment of a Youth Service for Kenya, was introduced by the Minister for Education, Mr. M. M. Kariuki.

The Bill provides that the Youth Service shall be established by Order in Council and shall be subject to the approval of Parliament.

Two hours later

The Minister for Information, Broadcasting and Tourism, Mr. Ochieng, spoke yesterday in the first of the two hours of the debate on the Bill.

Mr. Ochieng said the Government was supporting the Bill and was glad that it was being considered in the House.

He said the Bill was a very important one and was a step towards the development of the youth of the country.

Joint sitting

The President will preside at a joint sitting of the National Assembly and the House of Representatives on Wednesday to consider the Bill.

Mr. Meehan said the President would preside at the joint sitting and would also deliver a message to the Assembly.

The Bill is expected to be passed by Parliament on Wednesday.

Complaint on SOMALIS

The Speaker for Kaituma, Dr. J. O. Omondi, has filed a statement complaining that the Government was not doing enough to help the Somalis in the Kaituma area.

Dr. Omondi said the Government should take steps to improve the living conditions of the Somalis and to help them to find work.

He said the Government should also take steps to improve the education and health services in the Kaituma area.

Five thousand new telephone connections are expected to be made by E.Z.A.T. during the opening months of 1964, compared with 2,500 in the corresponding months of 1963. The estimated surplus for the year is £125,000.

Revenue in 1963 is expected to rise by £250,000, owing to a 20% increase in the rate of the telephone call charge from 10s to 12s 6d. Telephone traffic continues to show a steady increase and the 1964 revised estimate is placed at £42,000,000, with a 10% increase over the 1963 figure.

Since 1961, the rate of revenue has been increasing at the rate of 10% per annum, and in the case of 1964 is expected to reach £42,000,000.

Mr. Fred Shaw, a 35-year-old London banker, resigned his job in London last week to go to Addis Ababa to work for Ethiopian Airlines. He will be joined by a party of five, including his wife and two children, in the first of the Boeing 720s to be operated on the Addis Ababa-Djibouti route.

LENGTHY TALKS AHEAD

your secret negotiations now going on in Moscow between Chinese and Soviet leaders to see if they can patch up their profound differences for another year, according to an expert diplomatic opinion in Moscow.

The strongest delegation to Moscow in over 14 months, it is predicted, will include the new Kremlin leadership and little more.

The Moscow diplomats said the new Soviet leadership is likely to be more concerned with making the best use of the year now open to them than with the long-term prospects of the country.

They said they were likely to be followed by a significant part in the handling of the new Soviet leadership. They said they were likely to be followed by a significant part in the handling of the new Soviet leadership.

KENYA has agreed in principle to take part in several of the 11 sports which will make up the First All-Africa Games in Brazzaville next year. The seven are: athletics, football, volleyball, boxing, basketball and tennis.

Details of the agreement were made known in Nairobi yesterday by the Secretary-General of the First All-Africa Games, Mr. J. C. Ganga. He arrived in Nairobi on Sunday afternoon to open and left for Brazzaville yesterday afternoon to spend his "working year" until next week, which will end in a final part in Brazzaville on July 18.

THIRD CRICKET COACHING COURSE READY TO START

KENYA'S third C.C.C. coaching course will be held this month. The course will last a total of 10 hours, spread over six evenings during the next three weeks finishing on the week ending November 27. The course is directed at schoolmasters and club players connected with part-time coaching at schools and the programme includes demonstrations and lectures on how to coach.

Youngsters make donation to Kenya Olympic Fund

A fine example of public spirit was shown yesterday when a group of 150 youngsters from Nairobi made a donation to the Kenya Olympic Fund. The youngsters, who were members of the Kenya Olympic Club, were led by their captain, Mr. M. B. Higginson, and presented the fund with a cheque for KSh. 100.00.

Senators give Bill unanimous approval

UNBLESSED became a voluntary one-party State yesterday, when the Opposition was dissolved and the Kadu M.P.s and Senators crossed the floor to the Government side.

The momentous decision to bury party differences in the interests of national unity was announced soon after the Leader of the Opposition and Kadu President, Mr. Ronald Ngala. Within a few hours it had borne its first fruit, when the Constitution Amendment Bill was given unanimous second and third readings in the Senate.

'Last chain broken'

There was great excitement and scenes of jubilation when the Kadu leader and his colleagues entered the House of Representatives after making their decision known. Amid cheering and foot-thumping, a happy Mr. Ngala was bodily carried across the floor, to be warmly hugged and embraced by the Prime Minister, Mr. Kenyatta.

Mr. Kenyatta gave a welcome to the former Kadu representatives in both the Lower House and the Senate, which he visited after hearing that the Opposition was dissolved... The House of Representatives, he greeted Mr. Ngala by declaring that the last chain of colonialism and imperialism had now been broken and that the country would be able to forge ahead with national development for colonialist clutches.

KENYA FOR ALL-AFRICA GAMES

Likely to compete in seven sports

KENYA has agreed in principle to take part in seven of the ten sports which will make up the West All-Africa Games at Accra in the next year. The seven are: athletics, basketball, football, handball, tennis, table tennis and swimming (except water polo).

Kenya's participation in the sports has been discussed with the Kenya Olympic Committee and the Kenya Sports Association. It is expected that the Kenyan contingent will include a team of 100 athletes, 200 swimmers, and 100 tennis players.

During his short stay in Nairobi Mr. Ganesha set up a committee of men of the national athletic organization and helped them to formulate the principle of the arrangements being made. He also met the president of the Kenya Olympic Committee.

THIRD CRICKET COACHING COURSE READY TO START

KENYA'S third C.C.C. coaching course will be held this month. The course will last a total of 10 hours spread over six evenings during the last three weeks. It is directed at the newly-arrived November 27. The course is directed at schoolmasters and club players concerned with cricket coaching at schools and in clubs. It includes practical demonstrations and lectures on how to coach.

Youngsters make donations to Kenya Olympic Fund

A group of pupils from the Kenya National School, Nairobi, have made donations to the Kenya Olympic Fund. The group, headed by the headmaster, presented the fund with a cheque for KSh. 1,000. The money will be used to purchase sports equipment for schools in the country.

Warning on youth training given

A WARNING OF the possible consequences of the present situation for thousands of young men who are being trained to join the National Youth Service without planning to provide work employment when they are given in the House by Sir M. Morrison (Balgownie) during debate on the Second Reading of the National Youth Service Bill.

"I warn you that this could mean trouble to the country," said Sir M. Morrison. He added that the youth training scheme, though intended to provide employment, might result in thousands of young men being trained who will not be employed.

In this event, he demanded that the Minister of Labour should prepare for a "shoofly" period. He urged the Minister to provide training for those who are not employed when they are released from the scheme.

Mr. C. G. Mathews (Epsom) also spoke on the Bill. He said that the Government had a duty to provide for the thousands of young men who would be released from the scheme. He suggested that the Government should provide training for these young men.

The Minister for Labour and Social Services, Mr. Morrison, replied that the Government had provided for the thousands of young men who would be released from the scheme. He said that the Government had provided training for these young men.

You can carry more cargo for less cost in the low-priced Anglia Van You'll be amazed that an Anglia 250/350 Van can carry more cargo than any other truck of the same overall size and price.

The Anglia Van has 73 cubic feet of loadspace, and it's easy to enter. Rear doors swing back 90 degrees to give you an opening of 44 inches wide by 38 inches high - generous enough to admit many bulky goods without tilting them. What's more, the wooden floor is flat, removable for cleaning and naturally rust-proof.

As for economy, present owners will tell you that the Anglia Van with its 997 c.c. engine eats up the miles, but not the gas. Even in stop-and-go city delivery you can expect very economical operation. If your job demands more power, you can choose the lively 1198 c.c. high-performance engine and still enjoy outstanding fuel economy.

Drive the Anglia 250/350 Van and discover how pleasant it is to handle and park - how comfortable its cab is.

Then price it. A low-cost Anglia 250/350 Van is a good business partner for thousands of operators like yourself. See your Ford Products Dealer.

SPECIAL YEAR-END OFFER

Free licence and free plates on Anglia 350 Vans purchased from us between November 1, and December 31, 1964.

SPY LINK WITH SEIZED ARMS - President

Standard Staff Writer
NY Times Yesterday told more than 20,000 people at Washington fields that if it were found documents which implicate or overthrow the Tanzanian Government were not genuine "I would be the first to thank God."

He said the Americans had denied the documents' authenticity. They would be given the evidence and it would then be up to them to prove whether or not they were really genuine.

Referring to the recent recognition of East Germany made on a number of farms in the Arusha Region, he said reports which linked these to the plot were completely unfounded.

Britain asked to deposit Sudan

The President said: "As you know, in the past few days we got a flood of documents which revealed the activities of some foreign countries to subvert our republic. Some of those documents have been announced. The question before the world is: Are these true or not? It is the first to recognize if we are not a free nation."

The President said in 1959, a year after the British evacuated Sudan, he went out to meet Zambiar under the name of the British Embassy and he had been there for some time before the British had left. He had been there for some time before the British had left. He had been there for some time before the British had left.

Kenya High Court has ruled that the Government must pay compensation to the 10,000 white settlers who were evicted from their land in Kenya. The court's decision is a landmark ruling in the history of the young nation.

The court found that the government's actions were unlawful and that the settlers were entitled to compensation for their loss of land and property. The ruling is expected to have significant implications for the country's future development and social stability.

RHODESIA CRISIS AT TALKS AVERTED

THE War, Aborted for the Communists, opened the 1964 conference of the Commonwealth Primary Association opening in Kingston, Jamaica, on Monday. The conference was held in a friendly atmosphere and was expected to lead to a settlement of the Rhodesia crisis.

The conference was attended by representatives from various Commonwealth countries and was expected to be a significant step towards resolving the long-standing dispute over Rhodesia's status.

Kenya still short of experts

KENYA was still short of qualified African personnel to help the Government in fighting poverty, ignorance and disease. The Minister for Education, Mr. Mwangi, said that the Government was actively seeking to attract foreign experts to fill the gaps in various fields.

Mr. Mwangi emphasized the need for more African professionals to take over the reins of the country's development and to ensure that the benefits of progress were shared by all Kenyans.

Man advertised own death - court told

A man, who admitted £200,000 worth of property, was told by a court that he must advertise his own death. The court's decision was based on the man's failure to disclose his assets and liabilities in a timely manner.

The court found that the man's actions were in violation of the law and that he was liable for the costs of the proceedings. The ruling is expected to serve as a warning to others who may be tempted to engage in similar behavior.

Cattle inoculation

THE British Foreign Office has announced that it will provide the Government with £1 million to inoculate cattle in Kenya. The inoculation is intended to protect the country's livestock from a deadly disease and to ensure the health and productivity of the agricultural sector.

The British Government's support is a testament to its commitment to the development and stability of Kenya. The inoculation is expected to have a significant impact on the country's economy and the well-being of its people.

TIME TO BUILD NATION IS NOW

THE President of the Eastern Region is likely to be K. K. Kari rally in Embu Township at the weekend and that this was a case for the people to plan how to build their country.

They should not indulge in unproductive criticisms. He pointed to the people to unite under Kari as a party, and under the Kam government.

The Member for Embu, Mr. K. Kari, said the nation that was to be built was to be built by the people of all tribes and all walks of life, and not by the ruling class.

Mr. Kari said he was not fighting to see that the indigenous people of Kenya who had been a great friend in the struggle for independence, expect the fruits of their struggle.

He said he still felt poor as a Kikuyu and that he was not a Kikuyu who had been a great friend in the struggle for independence, expect the fruits of their struggle.

JANUARY SET FOR START OF NEW LINE

JANUARY is the target date for the formation of the new East African national shipping line, says the new chairman, Mr. Bentley. Bentley, a director of South-Peripherals, believes the line will be a success. He said the shipping line will be formed by the joint venture of the three lines, one of the four main lines of the world. Bentley said the line will be a success because of the low cost of operation. He said the line will be a success because of the low cost of operation. Language of instruction
English has come to be a second language in very many countries. Because of this, the language of instruction in many schools is English. This is true in many countries where English is not the native language. The language of instruction is English because of the international nature of the world and the need for a common language of communication.

For all its wide adoption, English is not a perfect language. It is not a language that is spoken by all people. It is not a language that is understood by all people. It is not a language that is easy to learn. It is not a language that is easy to teach. It is not a language that is easy to use.

Nairobi exhibit of from Down U

PEOPLE of East Africa will soon have a special opportunity to see the range of quality goods which Australia has as an expanding export nation can offer them.

The products will be displayed at an exhibition to be held at Nairobi City Hall from January 27 to February 2. Plans are well advanced for the exhibition.

COMMANDS GO TO SEA...

THE OVERLANDERS This looks like a scene from a television Western, but, in fact, it is a real picture of the end of a long trek for these cattle from North-West Australia. After a long and arduous journey by rail, they are to be put for shipment across the continent.

Trade stresser quality

IN a special message for this newspaper the Australian Government's Chief Trade Commissioner, Mr. J. M. Keadell, writes:

When it comes to agricultural machinery and equipment, Australia can usually claim to be world leader in fact, many of the modern mechanical and electrical equipment in use today around the world had their origin in Australia.

Of particular interest, though, to farmers in East Africa is the fact that Australian machinery was built to stand up to the toughest conditions in Australia which are very similar in many respects to those encountered here, and have improved themselves.

A machine's important points are, first, its efficiency in design and excellence in field performance when you buy Australian machinery, and, very important prices.

Farmers in Kenya and have the opportunity next February of seeing field demonstrations of various types of Australian machinery and equipment because, following the Australian Trade Exhibition in the City Hall, Nairobi, from January 26 to February 2, 1965, a field day is to be held.

I hope that as many farmers as possible will be able to attend what I know will be an instructive as well as enjoyable gathering. I expect to be able soon to announce the location for the demonstration, and in due course send out invitations to all those desiring them.

RADIO EXPERIENCE WILL HELP KENYA

Mr. John Deane recently arrived in Kenya to start a farm broadcasting training centre. This article describes some of the modern techniques for farmers provided by the Australian radio and television training programme, which Mr. Deane has introduced.

WITH some of the highest and lowest rainfall areas in the world and climatic ranging from tropical to alpine, Australia has developed a nationwide system of advice to farmers in farm radio and television.

At the time of the 1950s, the Australian Government received a complete picture of the weather conditions but their own radio and advice on weather conditions was not available until the late 1950s.

The information system has grown up in the past 10 years and is the most complete in the world of the Australian Broadcasting Corporation.

This service is independent of any other government department and is operated by professional agricultural experts who are called broadcasters.

It was founded by Mr. John Deane, who is also in charge of the East African Agricultural Centre at the University of Nairobi, which has sent him to Kenya to start a farm broadcasting training centre. AUSTRALIAN FARM MACHINERY

... built for rugged long service and reliability

Australian farms are highly mechanised because they're big... and because soil conditions and terrain require mechanisation.

Australia is one of the world's leading agricultural nations and supplies many kinds of farm equipment to other countries; all simple to operate and maintain. Australian ploughs, harrows, cultivators, harvesters, pumps, milking machines, tractors, to name a few.

Buy agricultural equipment from Australia, one of the world's most experienced agricultural countries.

For names and addresses of agents, write to the nearest Australian Trade Commissioner, Mr. J. M. Keadell, 4th Floor, 5110 Park House, Corner, Queen Street, Sydney, New South Wales.

EXPORT CATALOGUE OF MASSEY-FERGUSON AUSTRALIAN MACHINERY

From MASSEY-FERGUSON Australia... quality-built farm equipment for world farms

The Massey-Ferguson Sunshine Plant is the largest manufacturer of farm machinery in the Southern Hemisphere, and from this 30 acre plant comes a wide range of modern agricultural products. Advanced design and high quality of manufacture are traditional to Sunshine products, for being produced in a wide variety of conditions. New machines like the 18555 Case Harvester, which introduces a completely new system of mechanized sugar harvesting are being constantly developed, and rice and grain combine harvesters, seed and fertilizer sowing machines, harrows and other implements are available. The latest improvements and are available for prompt, efficient service to the farmer is recognized by Massey-Ferguson, and specialists are located with a parts service second to none.

Long trials make the plant fit the climate

AFTER exhaustive research and expert advice, Australia is producing a wide range of suitable grasses and legumes for growing in tropical and sub-tropical regions. It is not surprising that other developing nations are looking to Australia for their solutions to similar problems. Australia is regularly exporting equipment to meet these different markets in all parts of the world. It is the steady development of a trade which began with the export of hand-harrows to the Argentine early last century, later in Africa and New Zealand.

FARM MACHINES AID WORLD PROGRESS

THE versatility of Australian farm machinery has won it a secure place in the agricultural development of many countries, says Mr. B. F. D. Harrod, an Australian expert.

He was interviewed recently as president of the Tractor, Farm Machinery and Construction Equipment Association of Australia. He says Australia, as a young country, is constantly breaking into vast areas of new land each year, and needs and problems are similar to those of many other developing countries.

But the farm machinery industry is one of the oldest in Australia and was one of the first to export.

Mr. Harrod says Australia's good farm machinery has contributed largely to her agricultural heritage one of the most important in the world.

It is not surprising that other developing nations are looking to Australia for their solutions to similar problems.

Australia is regularly exporting equipment to meet these different markets in all parts of the world. It is the steady development of a trade which began with the export of hand-harrows to the Argentine early last century, later in Africa and New Zealand.

Highlights of the industry's recent export developments have been the supply of hand-harrows to South East Asian, African and South American countries, the sale of large harrows to places as far apart as Madagascar and the Congo and the increasing exports throughout the world for Australia's general popularity and extensive collaboration.

Mr. Harrod says the growth of type tractors which fit geographically within Australia's natural trading area has increased her export industry, that the success is backed by high quality and a proven record of reliability with overseas markets as well as meeting the demands of Australia's own agriculture industries.

The variety of crops grown in Australia has led to the development of machinery to meet all requirements.

Developing countries now have received by 20 per cent of the Australian population and has also entered the service of the farmer. A programme for soil conservation has been developed in both Africa and elsewhere to give techniques and farm-to-market practical experience into the programme.

He added: "We have instructed Harrod from our initial contact on machinery and equipment in the experience of our farmers. They have to be able to do the things and compare the value of their machinery to the HUNDREDS of trainees are helping to improve farm efficiency throughout Australia. The men are being trained in the latest methods of agricultural production and are being equipped with the latest machinery and techniques. The training is being provided by the Department of Agriculture and is being conducted in a number of centres throughout the country. The men are being trained in a wide range of subjects, including the use of machinery, the selection of crops, and the management of farms.
