PROMINENT LADY GOLFER IN NAIROBI

Adventurous Car Trip from South Africa

Mrs. Olive Manly, a prominent lady golfer, former holder of the Natal Ladies' Championship and, in 1914, winner of the Italian Ladies' Golf Championship, is at present staying at Nairobi. She arrived a day or two ago after having driven up as passenger with an expedition of East African sportsmen during a day between Portuguese East Africa and Natal on the road to Durban, being brought down.

Mrs. Manly, widow of the well-known surgeon of Durban, said that after driving at Great Britain, France, Italy, Switzerland and Sweden, she had come to the conclusion that on the whole the roads here are the best and most enjoyable over which she has ever travelled. "They are really terrific," she said, in the course of a brief interview with "The East African Standard." "There is a beautiful woman from Durban to Marburg, but after that they become lumpy and potholed. The trip ended in South Rhodesia, however, our expedition of the north coast, the Portuguese East Africa bridges were really terrific of low bridges for the most part. We had been advised to go via Debra from Salisbury and it was here that we met our only real adventure.

There has been many grave roads and as we approached almost the last of the big bridges, we discovered to be in the danger and applied the brakes in time. There were five cars and we were all on the old road.

Mrs. Manly who has brought with her a letter of introduction from the Mayor of Durban to the Mayor of Nairobi was an addition to being a famous golfer, well-known on the golf platform. She has appeared in London (as a South African representative) at the Prince of Wales' Theatre. She has taken a prominent part in the theatrical and entertainment world of Durban, and has organized her own band at the Royal Durban Golf Club, of which she is a member. At Greville, she has also appeared at a special performance before the Earl and Countess of Athlone, when the former was Governor-General of the Union of South Africa. Mrs. Manly is staying for some time and will probably return to see, visiting the Victoria Falls en route.

An Appreciation
Mrs. Manly was particularly impressed with and gratified by the generous assistance and courtesies that has been shown to me on this trip. Especially in Kenya, and Nairobi in particular, people have gone out of their way to be as kind as possible and to entertain me. It is something I appreciate immensely.

DEATH OF FAMOUS LONDON CORONER

Urged Lethal Chamber for Incurables

DR EDWIN SMITH

["Stratford" announcement]
London, 20 Inst. Dr. Edwin Smith is dead. London had heard of his name before to fame. He was the West London coroner aged 66. The "Right to Die" was supported in London. Among his recommendations included instituting some "eugenic."

The problem of coroners who had suffered from incurable disease was one that especially interested Dr. Smith.

"This case," he said at a conference "did for himself what any man would have done for a dog." Discussing the possibility of legally ending the lives of such people he said: "After all the suffering that I have seen prolonged, when all hope has gone, I can make those ever convinced that eventually, we must be compelled to see how great a case can be made out for the use when necessary of the lethal chamber."

"Stratford" Dr. Smith once declared, "is the only enterprise where if you succeed, you are still in trouble. If you fail you are sure to be safe."
He also suggested that Christian Scientists should consider where their teaching was leading. There he refused to attend a Protestant Science lecture and said that with a Christian Scientist that with a hypnotist. "You know it is going to appear disease, they are dealing with something that can run away with you."
He also pleaded for safer roads. "Potholes," he thought, should be something white, and it should be made an offence to walk carelessly.

CINEMA CROWDS

Pay $200,000,000 a Year in the States

More than 20,000,000 paid for admission to American cinemas every week during the first ten months of 1922, says the trade paper, "Cinema."
"That means that $100,000,000 in U.S.A. will have earned more than $20,000,000 in the year of the expectation of an increase of the neighbourhood of 100,000,000 a week is justified."
The 90,000,000 is an increase of 2,000,000 on last year, and some thing like 50 per cent more than anything I appreciate immensely.

PROMINENT LADY GOLFER IN NAIROBI

Adventure Car Trip from South Africa

Mrs. Olive Mandy, a prominent lady golfer, former holder of the Natal Ladies' Championship and in 1924, winner of the Italian Ladies' Golf Championship, is at present staying in Nairobi.

She arrived a day or two ago by the Cape Route, of East Africa, in seventeen days, including a day being en route to one of the best between Port Elizabeth and Durban, on the road to Durban, being burned down.

Mrs. Mandy, widow of the well-known surgeon of Durban, said that after driving in Great Britain, France, Italy, Switzerland, and Sweden, she had come to the conclusion that, on the whole, the roads between Durban and Nairobi were the fastest and most convenient, one which she has ever travelled.

"They are really marvellous," she said, in the course of a brief interview with the "East African Standard." "There is a beautiful surface from Durban to Harare, but after that they become humpy and non-paved. The strip roads in South Rhodesia, however, are excellent, and the surface good. In Port Natal and the Cape, the roads were really terrifically of low grade for the most part. We had been advised to go via Rhodes from Salisbury and it was here that we met our only real adventure."

"There had been many good roads and as we approached almost the best of the big bridges we discovered it to be in flames, and applied the brakes for a time. There was no danger, and so we had to drive back 120 miles and carry on on the old road."

Mrs. Mandy, who brought with her a letter of introduction from the Mayor of Durban to the Mayor of Nairobi, was in addition to being a famous golfer, well-known in the concert platform. She has appeared in London in a South African representation at the Prince Wales' Theatre; has taken a prominent part in the musical and entertainment world of Durban, and has represented her country at the Royal Durban Golf Club, of which she is a member, at Gravelly. She has also appeared at a special performance before the Earl and Countess of Halifax, when the Emperor was Governor-General of the Union of South Africa. Mrs. Mandy is staying for some time and will probably return by air, visiting the Victoria Falls on the way.

An Expedition.
Mrs. Mandy was particularly impressed with, and gratified by the "standard" maintenance and condition of the road, which she has always to me on this trip. Especially in Kenya, and Nairobi in particular, people have gone out of their way to be as kind as possible and to maintain it. It is something I appreciate immensely."

DEATH OF FAMOUS LONDON CORONER

Urged Lethal Chamber for Incurables

THE NEWSPAPER

["Westminster Correspondent."]
London, By Mail.
Dr. Edwin Lewis has died in London last night. He was the Vice-Chancellor of the London Coroner, aged 68. "Right to Die" was supported by Lewis, who had been a leading medical authority on the subject of capital punishment.

The question of infanticide who had advised from the London Coroner was one that specially interested Dr. Lewis.

"This man," he said at one time, "did he himself what any man would have done for a day."

Dr. Lewis had heard of him from London to time. He was the Vice-Chancellor of the London Coroner, aged 68. "Right to Die" was supported by Lewis, who had been a leading medical authority on the subject of capital punishment.

CINEMA CROWDS

Pay £290,000,000 a Year in the States

More than 9,000,000 paid for admission to America cinema every week during the first six months of 1927, says the trade paper, "Motion Picture."

This means that films in the U.S.A. will have earned more than £300,000,000 in the year if the proportion of an increase to the neighbourhood of 100,000,000 a week is justified.

The 90,000,000 of an increase of 7,000,000 on last year, and approximately the 50 per cent. figure will, something I appreciate immensely."

BRIGHTER BRITISH PRISONS

Women to Have New and Modern Dresses

["Parliamentary Correspondent."]
London, by Mail.

British prisons are to be brighter, particularly those occupied by women.

A woman correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," who has been in Holloway (on a condensed tour of course), informs us that the women are to have new dresses, well made and out on modern lines.

Some time ago the regulations which were abolished and immediately the women began to take more pride in their hair and each hides a tiny piece of mirror and comb in the corner of her underclothes. The black and white check aprons and the baggy blue serge dresses are going to be replaced by new ones.

Blue-grey serge coat-frocks with neat box pleats, turn-down collars, and a white tie to denote their grade.

Prison officers will wear uniforms of royal blue with soft green collars.

The grim, old days of long, lonely periods in cells are past. The women entertain in the garden, and when the weather is warm they are allowed to stroll about in groups knitting and sewing. Young prisoners are given garden work to do, and the old-fashioned prison yards are now bright with geraniums and flowers and rock-roses. "Cut flowers are on all tables and in the cells of privileged prisoners. The cells have been repainted white and green.

Women are given bedrooms and are taught crafts such as shoe-making, upholstery and the operation of power machines. They cook, clean and work the steam laundry. Other refinements are a wireless, a gramophone, cards and photographs on some cell walls, mattresses, spring beds and tables and chairs for the recreation room.

British Industries 1938 Fair

E. Africa to be included in Catalogue Distribution. Present and Coming Attractions. "Addict the Damsel", with Fay Wray in an outstanding role, continues to attract limelight to the Playhouse Theatre. The story of the film is based on the downfall of Abdiel II, the last of the cruel rulers of Persia and wife of the Young Turk and their sister, more humane, mother.

THE FAIR OF 1938 will benefit from the exhibition held at Olympia last an important portion of the exhibits will be commingled in the new Ritz Court Building, an outstanding example of a modern fully equipped exhibition building. The structure comprises 12 acres on floor space on two floors of 12 acres on the ground floor 24 acres on sub-basement by pillars. There is room on the two floors, when they are fully occupied by exhibitors, for 40,000 people to move through the aisles with ease.

Next week's film fare is very promising. On Monday at the Capitol Theatre "The Bride Comes Home" is being presented. This is a dramatic modern comedy, slick and sprightly, eminently produced and well acted, with Charlotte Collett and Fred MacMurray in the starring roles. On Thursday at the same theatre "The Story of Louis Pasteur" will be shown, with Paul Hensel in the best screen role of his career. He plays the role of the scientist who discovered the whole life of the study germs and their deadly activities.

"At the Playhouse Theatre the film "Parade" will be shown. "The Lady Constantine" with Herbert Marshall, Harding and Margaret Kennedy all at cross purposes in a society comedy. "The Hero of Kornaros", which comes to the Empire Theatre next Thursday, offers a special treat for music lovers as it brings to the screen for the first time Nino Martin's operatic form.

K.U.R. TENDERS FOR COAL

Britain Likely to Secure Contracts. ["STANDARD" Correspondent.] Following on the price of standard stock quoted on the London Exchange yesterday. They represent the approval market is giving shipping conditions.

Going to South Africa. Tenders are due to be submitted today for the supply of 30,000 tons of coal for the Kenya and Uganda Railways, and in view of the restrictions on the export of coal from South Africa, it is thought likely that the contract for the first lot for many months will be secured for British coal, either Welsh, North Country, or Scottish.

Shorings of Supplies. A difficulty confronting British coal exporters interested in this contract is the shortage of coal in this country to meet any fresh demand of this kind, since many of the collieries have not their output for several months ahead. Nevertheless, as three or four months ago there is a certain amount of coal in contractors' hands, it is probable that this difficulty will be overcome.

Incidentally, a contract for British coal would provide some useful technical insights for brass shops, which after discharging in East Africa would be conveniently placed to subcontract equipment in several alternative trades.

CAPTAIN COOK'S WATCH GOES. And Native Thief Gets Time. Durban. A very old gold watch, which has been handed down from Captain Cook, the famous explorer, figured in the Newcastle (New Zealand) court in a theft case. A native who had nine previous convictions, was found guilty of the theft of this watch together with some cash from a private house.

The complainant was a daughter of Mr. G. G. Rorer, of Newcastle, who claims direct descent from Captain Cook, and it was stated in evidence that the native had only been engaged as houseboy for a few days when he stole the articles and disappeared.

He was traced by the police, however, and the watch, which is much treasured, was re-returned. He got three months' South African Morning Newspapers.

GENERAL CONDITIONS IN ABYSSINIA UNMISTAKABLE HARMONY BETWEEN ITALIANS AND NATIVES

Rapid Road Making

BRITISH VISITOR'S IMPRESSIONS DURING RECENT TOUR

In Abyssinia there is only a comparatively small number of towns to be seen and there are scarcely any visible signs of the aftermath of war.

There is little to indicate a newly conquered country, and everywhere one gains the impression of unmistakable harmony between the Italians and the Natives.

The most remarkable achievement so far is the rapidity with which good roads have been built in the main lines of communication.

The foregoing are a few of the remarks made by the British subject, Major E. W. Polson Newman, on his recent visit to parts of Italian East Africa, and refraining from any comment, he is able to give precise information of the changes and developments in the newly-conquered country.

Only Small Number of Troops

Major Polson Newman is an authority on Abyssinia, and he has seen things that surprised him and were the powerful conditions which he found everywhere. The Natives were working in the fields and tending their cattle, and the roads were being made and the country was being developed. The Italian administration was being established and the country was being brought into a state of peace and order.

will make an aviation for European products till the roads connecting them with the coast are at least open to traffic. One of the most remarkable changes in that country where by aviation is a breach where there are no roads and where the only means of transport is by pack animals. It took days by mule to reach the coast from Addis Ababa. The roads are being made and the country is being brought into a state of peace and order.

Public Security

Public security is maintained in Italy by the use of the Italian army, but in Abyssinia it is maintained by the use of the Italian police. The Italian police are well trained and they are able to maintain order in the country. The Italian administration is well organized and they are able to maintain order in the country.

WHEN WOMEN

NEED IT MOST

Every woman over 40 and approaching the critical stage of her life is faced with a succession of disappointing physical experiences. Younger women, at times, are no exception to such ailments. HILMA-GON medical science has been able to give little or no help to women in the alleviation of these distressing attacks of nervous, ill-humour, fatigues, palpitation, "aching" and depression. It has sought to establish the probable causes, which merit these trying attacks.

That new HILMA-GON has discovered HALMAGON—a substance which restores the balance of health and to alleviate the physical and nervous disturbances common to middle age.

FOG SAVED LONDON FROM AIR ATTACK

400 MACHINES IN THRILLING LARGE SCALE EXERCISES

Success of the Bombers

TWENTY-FIVE RAIDS UNDETECTED OUT OF FIFTY LAUNCHED

For two nights the London area was subjected to air raids under conditions which were intended to test both attack and defence and valuable lessons have been learned by the experts.

One of the most interesting features of the Air Exercises was the success of the bombers who, on the first night scored 50 per cent. successes in undetected raids.

But they were not worried by anti-aircraft guns and in a real war British bombers (which did not figure in the exercises) would be raising enemy aerodromes.

Mist and clouds helped London on the second night. In two hours, Nature provided a more effective defence than did the R.A.F. and the network of observers.

[Writes a continuation.]

London, August 30.—At the vital centres of the country.

Oil Depots Raided

Characteristics of the harassing operations of the selected targets was the situation at the Thames. Twenty oil depots between 0.50 and 1.20 last night. During that time four raiding formations were concentrated on the target, and a number of attacks, recorded in photographic taken by the bomber crews, were launched. A squadron of Blenheim monoplane, fastest machine in the world, swept across the zone controlled by fighters at 200 m.p.h. in a burst of speed that took the formation across the target one minute before scheduled time. The speed, change of course in cloud layers, and progressive height of up to nearly 15,000 feet combined to baffle the defence and this raid was not intercepted. A battle commencing, ending at well over 500 m.p.h. also participated in successful raids. On the whole, nevertheless, the defence did approximately half of the raids were subjected to have been intercepted and attacked by defending fighters.

The Fleet

The area of operations included London and all England south and west of a line drawn from Goulet through Winchester to London. In governing a subtle advantage, well defensive force composed entirely of fighter aircraft working with the help of searchlights, observer posts and anti-aircraft batteries. The use of bombers for counter-attack.

Low-flying Raiders

Most of the raids were made by formations which approached their targets at a height of not less than 10,000 feet, but more than one of the light bombers accomplished successful surprise attacks by slipping across country at heights of less than 5,000 feet, thereby giving the observer little time in which to spot them, and blinding the fighters, which could not safely include in diving attacks on raiding aircraft over the ground.

At 10 p.m. the night bombers took over the attack for six hours Hayford and Hendon aerodromes, again in direct war manoeuvres.

detected in singly from the coast against targets at Billrood, Bedford and Walthamstow. Bombing was done at intervals, with one as short as eight minutes. On the first night the concentration of defence worked smoothly, Observer posts located in all kinds of old buildings and operations of enemy, progress of the raiders and reported by telephone to headquarters. The use of unarmoured bombers, statements of the defending fighters and operations of enemy, fighters and anti-aircraft guns were detected. Within a space of two minutes the formation would be ready for action and fighter squadrons were ready to intercept the enemy.

Criticism

London, August 31.—The Aeronautical Correspondent of "The Times" deals with the issues this evening and comments particularly on the success of the raiders, which was one of the features of the exercises. In an article of three-quarters of a column he writes:

Nothing but the most rigid discipline to order co-ordinated movements and immediate action could have brought so many bombing raids at different spots simultaneously across so small a war area and away again in safety. Some of the raids were by officers who were not rank, some were commanded by first company pilots, some were single aircraft in which a pilot and a navigator had to rely on their own skill and knowledge to keep to the time-table which they had to cure them against the risk of collision and contribute properly to the confusion of the general forces and the fighters. Their task had a deeper significance than that of training the machine of the fighter command and all alike; their representative success was in a sense a vindication of the spearhead of the home defence forces.

The Bombers

In reading over my notes lessons from the exercises it will be remembered that the bombers which made the home targets this week would in a real emergency be raiding places of military importance in enemy territory. Many a potential raid on British objectives might be destroyed by them before it could begin by bombing attacks on enemy aerodromes. How necessary a force the mere two bomber group might be in a real emergency the fact that on the first evening of the exercises they launched more than 50 raids and that these resulted in they bombed their targets without being intercepted. It is to be acknowledged that their charges were short; some travelled a mere 150 miles out and home, some covered 300 miles. Also they were unarmoured; by anti-aircraft fire and most of them missed, their bombs from a height of 12,000 ft. Nevertheless, 25 completed raids in one evening must represent heavy destruction.

The Observer

This record was not maintained in the second evening's work. The proportion of interceptions was

Although the Springboks started anxiously for the first Rugby Test against New Zealand at Wellington, the All Blacks confounded expectations. Over a period of four days they ran the field sick and dying, and it was recognized that New Zealand's game was of a more pronounced as the game progressed.

For two thirds of the game the All Blacks were in the saddle, but the Springboks showed signs of recovery and were playing a forward game, but the Springboks were in the saddle, but the Springboks showed signs of recovery and were playing a forward game.

Immediately afterwards Green, with a long kick under placed at the Springboks on the attack, and White snuffed the try out. This movement was obviously pre-arranged, and had placed him in position ready to receive the ball from the scrum. Springboks were well on top and maintained a constant attack against the scrum.

Spotting Breivites

318 in 3 Innings... R. D. Hooper, the "Mighty" all-rounder in the course of thirty innings has scored 318 runs. He averages 8 against "Machibos" 122 and 91; on August 14, against Old Cambians, he made 77, and then on August 15, against "Cool Services," he scored 127 net out.

4 Balls 3 Wickets... C. V. Broadbent, playing for the Officials, took three wickets with the new "Zelanders" in his attack on the "Machibos" at W. H. Shaw, H. V. Clark, and P. D. Finn, with the first four balls of his fourth over.

Whiter's Dropped Goal... Immediately afterwards Green, with a long kick under placed at the Springboks on the attack, and White snuffed the try out. This movement was obviously pre-arranged, and had placed him in position ready to receive the ball from the scrum.

LOUIS PASTEUR

Fighting Ignorance and Superstition

The chief interest in "The Life of Louis Pasteur" lies in the fact that the film, which deals with his life from the time of his birth in Dole, France, and his death in Paris, is a masterpiece of scientific and artistic achievement.

The most striking of the story is the fact that Pasteur, a chemist and biologist, discovered the germ theory of disease, which was a revolutionary step in the history of medicine.

That's why Goodrich engineers developed the new famous Life-Saver Golden Ply which is found only in Silvertown Tires. It resists heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Blisters don't form—and thus the great unseen cause of blow-outs is prevented before it can even begin.

Come in today and let us put a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car—the only tire in the world with the remarkable Life-Saver Golden Ply Blow-Out Protection.

KENYA ASSOCIATION'S JUNE REPORT

Kenya's Output of Legislation in the Pillory

The following are extracts from the June report of the Kenya Association, which, owing to pressure of other work, is unable to publish in full.

Kenya generally suffers from a lack of criticism and indeed seems to arouse the mischievous interest of critics, particularly in Great Britain, more than any other part of the Empire; the Colony's status of legislation has recently been in the pillory and it is therefore not surprising to note that the contents of the June Planning, Association New South Wales upon the Kenya Planning and Development Ordinance and Regulations of Kenya.

The Secretary writes as follows: "I have now studied both those pamphlets and found them most interesting. It is a pity that the most comprehensive and compact Act that I have seen suitable for introduction in a form from the moment he leads in Africa."

Kenya's output of legislation in the pillory. The Secretary also reported that, owing to correspondence with the Medical Department and the General Hospital, the Kenya Planning and Development Ordinance had recently been amended and passed unopposed.

RELEVANCE TAX ON UNDEVELOPED LAND To the Editor, "E. A. Standard." Sir—Although I have never been acquainted with the Income Tax Commission, I think it is a pity that the Income Tax Commission should have been asked to consider the possibility of exempting undeveloped land from the Income Tax Commission's jurisdiction.

To the Editor, "E. A. Standard." Sir—Many of us remember that when the Income Tax was introduced by the Government they assured us that it was fair and equitable and necessary to apply it to Kenya to all taxpayers.

ing by a misstatement of fact in the strength of an individual's position in the Nyanza District, which I would like to see published as soon as possible.

That statement I made quite innocently and it is a true statement of fact. I do not intend either to qualify or amend. The Kibiki Bill will be introduced in the next session of the Legislative Council.

The meeting was adjourned to meet in your issue of the 15th August and I have nothing to add except to say emphatically that I am not a member of the Nyanza District.

What is going to be done to make the benefit to the community. Why shouldn't the answer be in the Undeveloped Land Tax over thirty per cent of cultivated land, or a tax on the value of the land for the amount of land improved?

Livestock on hand values, including cultivation or whatever it may be. It is a very serious matter that the farmer who works hard and develops his land, is punished by being taxed for every improvement he makes.

Yes, we encourage this useful gentleman under the present system. An Undeveloped Land Tax might make him lose his grip and become a useful member of society.

JAPANESE REINFORCEMENTS LANDED AT SHANGHAI

CLAIM TO HAVE MORE TROOPS THERE THAN CHINESE

BRITISH LOSSES THROUGH WAR DAMAGE ALREADY AMOUNT TO £6,000,000

Fire-fighting continues in and around Shanghai.

The Japanese claim that after terrific opposition they land at 50,000 troops. This claim is denied by the Chinese.

British losses, mostly not covered by insurance, total nearly £6,000,000 already. Japan claims that the British protest should have been addressed to China and that Japan should have been thanked for what she has done.

There are signs of irritation in Tokyo in consequence of the British attitude.

As a result of firm demands by the Powers, the Japanese warships have changed their moorings in the Whangpu River.

An incident in yesterday's events was an attempt to remove 7,000 Chinese prisoners from a large gao. Only 500 were moved then the Japanese intervened and 5,500 prisoners are in a dangerous position.

Shanghai, Aug. 23.—It is understood by the authorities that two French divisions have replaced the 5th and 6th divisions at Shanghai.

Chinese Details of Jap Troop Landings

The Chinese claim to have prevented the attempt of Japanese troops to land at Whangpu. The attempt was covered by a heavy barrage from the Japanese warships. But a severe bombardment by the Chinese artillery made the landing possible.

steps have been required with heavy losses and that the Japanese casualties were of the lightest.

Official English news China and Japan in the British proposals for the withdrawal from the Shanghai area of military forces are still awaited in London.

The opinion expressed by the East African Road Board some months ago that the time has arrived when the people of Kenya should be asked to contribute towards a road policy was met with a response which has been described as a "road policy" by the Board.

African Education

A PLEA FOR THE KIKUYU
 To the Editor, "E. S. Standard,"—Sir,—I have read your article on the subject of African Independent Schools with profound interest and I trust the outcome will be the formation of the cause for consideration.

No wife in Kenya has suffered so many privations and humiliations as the Kikuyu people. It is my duty this to admit ignorance of facts. Knowledge of facts in the best conditions of sympathy, and although there is little cohesion among their people today, it is certainly not their fault. Every aspect of their social life has been wrecked since the 1914-18 War, and at a time when the younger generation needed the most sympathetic and helpful support without a court of appeal from their tribal chiefs, who thought more of their position than the aspirations of these future leaders and their grievances to London over the heads of the colonialists.

The writer was invited to discuss their problems in the House of Commons and that Colonial Office, and one of the major questions put to me was—"As a missionary living among the Kikuyu people what contribution can you give towards the solution of these problems?" My reply was briefly that "Unless a permanent policy of sympathetic 'thinking back' with the younger generation is followed, there will be trouble. On the other hand, if these future leaders of Kikuyu thought feel that the real cause of their grievances is sympathetically considered, their confidence will be revived."

The cohesion and contentment of the Wakikuyu people is the key to future happiness of the Colony. In times past these people have been badly treated and humiliated. It is now ways in their own money, their liberty, land, just, fair, family life, and outlook have been severely taxed, and I hope that sympathetic consideration of their needs. Can I thank the group of young Wakikuyu led the writer that they longed for unity amongst themselves, and would welcome sympathetic help to that end. They can be led to that end from the Right of Home to Birth or from the Cape to Cairo the African response to sympathy.

You, too, will find it's easy to make light, fluffy, oven-textured cakes with this famous fine-quality baking powder. For Royal is always uniform, always reliable. It gives you the same perfect results—every time! That's the reason it's foolish to risk the waste of good cake ingredients by using an inferior, poor-quality baking powder. WAR IN SPAIN

To the Editor, "E. S. Standard,"—Sir,—Before withdrawing from this controversy may I apologise to your readers in general and to "A Christian" and "South Veritas" in particular for abstracting certain facts into the sphere of what appears to be a purely general "campaign"?

I regret to think my condensed criticism so strongly upset any fact and opinion. Would that they could not be so. I am sure you will not wish me to be so. Hence the "Spain" and "Veritas", and by the same token the necessity for apologies to a number of anonymous names such as "A Christian" and "Amateur Veritas", however unscrupulous.

Equally with those who are still engaged in long past traditions, I deplore the attitude of a Spain so long known as the last remaining bastion of the old world (and apart) between modernism and the Dark Ages.

INDIANS ABROAD

To the Editor, "E. S. Standard,"—Sir,—Referring to the remark made in the recent session of the Legislative Council recently, by Major H. E. S. Drogan about the treatment of Indians by other nations, I expect some more enlightening remarks than "gratify" to be made on such a subject. I have not as yet been quoted from any quarter I should like to see my views. This remark in question of the distant Member of the Council was not only irrelevant but fallacious. No person having even elementary geographical and historical knowledge will give utterance to such a remark. Major Drogan would have been justified in referring the treatment given to Indians by other nations with the treatment given by the British nation to Indians in India. If the relations between India and other nations on one hand and between India and Britain on the other hand, had been the same, I should not try controversially to forget that Indians have with their blood on European war-fields for the British nation and that to these other nations called for the same. And that the British nation stands in Lancashire and Manchester to be supported largely on Indian markets and other nations.

Other nations. It must be realised by anyone thinking in the same way as Major Drogan that it is nothing more than discharging to some extent the duties of citizenship to his India and India if they give their treatment to Indian. India has every right to expect better treatment from the British.

which unfortunately they grasp and are reluctant to give. I think it is not out of place to mention here that according to my information from a reliable source, before treatment is given to Portugal Indians by Portuguese Portugal, the British Government is to be invited to India and not Portugal. Portuguese Indians can and have been appointed Government of Portugal Government officers and have held the high posts of Judges, Ambassadors and Consuls. The other foreign nations referred to in Major Drogan's remarks are not governments in India and therefore the question of the treatment of their Indian subjects by them does not arise.

I should say that if British Indians are not given equal treatment in other nations, it is a pity that the British nation does not take up the matter in the way it should do so that other nations may be made to realise that there is a potent and strong power to look to the interests of British India. It is interesting to find how one country shows the faults of his own nation which seem to need to stand.

I sincerely desire that there would be an exposition of such faulty thoughts and uncalled for remarks a hard result in educating the feelings of two big communities into a harmonious and mutually beneficial relationship for the welfare of the two important nations.

Yours etc.

OIL IN KENYA

To the Editor, "E. S. Standard,"—Sir,—The Commissioner of Mines, concerning questions in the Legislative Council recently, has made a statement which I emphatically challenge. He said that, at the time I applied for an oil exploration licence, "The Government had agreed to certain proposals put forward some three months previously" by the executive companies, for the survey of the Colony.

If the position was stated by the Commissioner of Mines, then the Government was publicly committed to the oil companies. The unfortunate weakness of the Government's agreement in that November the Commissioner of Mines stated officially "that the Government was not positively committed to these companies. All the facts confirm the latter statement. Since my application was accepted for consideration, and was in actual fact, considered for four months before being eventually turned down, it must be obvious that, indeed, the Government was not committed to anybody and that there was an agreement otherwise, my application could not have been accepted.

Anybody will clearly see the contradiction between the Government's statement and facts. The whole point is that there was no application, and the only terms made by the executive companies that the Government had to legal or valid, and finally no moral commitment to words of the Commissioner that it was not a contract. It is that it was turned down on grounds only the stated grounds of "prior commitments." A correct idea of the value of the Government's alleged agreement or commitments in respect of the "commitment" regarding can be gained from the following: The conditions in which these proposals were made, and the conditions. They were not made as a result of prior work in a result of considerable work by the British Government in the Indian Territory, which the Commissioner of Mines has stated in his report. They were made some five weeks after their completion, but the failure of the French Engineer's discovery and because of the discovery of oil in the Indian Territory, and because of the further settlement on geographical information which, according to the Commissioner of Mines, was not accepted, they were accepted to expect five per cent.

From the above it is clear that the Commissioner of Mines is compelled to show that when I put in my application for an oil licence, there was nothing more than a simple agreement, eventually proved to be null and void, and that the value of the companies' mere intention to apply.

COMPULSORY DIPPING: FINANCIAL OBLIGATIONS

To the Editor, "E. S. Standard,"—Sir,—I read in a meeting at Thomson's Falls, held on September 4, for the purpose of recording a vote of the district as to whether or not farmers within the Cattle and Cleaning Ordinance enforced in the district, a resolution which is necessary for this purpose.

Under this Ordinance farmers are compelled to dip their cattle, and if they have no money to dip, they are compelled to borrow it, and compelled to pay interest. At the time of the Compulsory Dipping Act in England, it was found necessary to provide free schools for children whose parents could not pay for their education. At that time the Courts held that parents of free could not be enforced for compulsory attendance.

All the parents who are to be provided with free milk dips in order to conform to the wishes of the Government, if so, there will be loss of two-thirds of the population. One of the clauses in this Ordinance states that if the farmer, after being served with a notice to do so, does not build a dip, and dip his cattle, the Government may do so for him and charge him with the cost.

What about a small herd grower with one cow? He may be an owner of what only means a few cows? Perhaps you can let us know how farmers really do stand legally in being forced to borrow money that they can never pay back.

Yours etc.

TO-DAY'S SECRET CONFERENCE AT MOMBASA

ARRIVAL OF UNDER-SECRETARY AT THE COAST

Mr. Pirow's Plan

SEEKING BRITISH AND SOUTH AFRICAN CO-OPERATION IN CONTINENTAL AIR SERVICE

The Hon. Oswald Pirow, South African Minister for Defence, Railways and Harbours, left Nairobi by air yesterday afternoon for Mombasa where he will attend the important Conference with the Under-Secretary for Air, Colonel Marshall, who has come out from Britain.

Mr. Pirow will discuss his plan for the establishment of a coastal air service south of the Equator, operated by South African Airways. The route includes South West Africa, Portuguese West Africa, the Belgian Congo, Uganda, Kenya, Tanganyika, Nyassaland and the Rhodesias.

The South African Minister is accompanied by several legal and technical experts and among the problems to be discussed at this secret conference will be the position of existing interests in air services and how to help imperial and South African enterprise can be jointly or co-operatively employed for the benefit of the Continent.

Press Comment on the Meeting

Mr. Pirow spent two days in Nairobi, meeting people and talking to the public, and his knowledge of Kenya and East Africa as a whole. He held a talk to twenty guests and made himself familiar with the problems of the Colony as a general aviation pilot.

The Conference

At the Conference in Mombasa will be addressed by the Under-Secretary of State for Air as well as the Hon. Oswald Pirow, Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Pollock, Sir John H. G. Kesteven, M.P., Minister of Airways, Colonial Transport, Mr. J. G. Kesteven, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary for Air, and other representatives of the British and South African Governments.

On arrival at the British Consulate, the Under-Secretary for Air, Mr. Pirow, and his party were met by the Consul, Mr. G. O. Pirow, who explained to him the position of the British Government in regard to the proposed air service.

The arrival yesterday of the Under-Secretary for Air, Mr. Pirow, and his party were met by the Consul, Mr. G. O. Pirow, who explained to him the position of the British Government in regard to the proposed air service.

Nothing has been so distressing to some South Africans as the refusal of certain of their compatriots to regard the Union as a political continent. South persons seemed to wish to forget the world and to forget the fact that, not only does the Union intend to inaugurate a comprehensive aerial system of transport in Southern Africa, but that South West Africa is a close and inseparable link in the proposed chain.

LEAGUE'S REPORT ON PALESTINE

Trouble Accentuated by Bitter Feeling

Effect of Policy Fluctuations

More Decisive Measures might Possibly have been Taken Earlier by Britain

A number of outspoken comments characterize the summary report of the Permanent Mandates Commission of the League of Nations on Palestine, and it is considered that more decisive measures might have been adopted at an earlier stage by the Mandatory Power.

Appeal to Both Arabs and Jews

Official Wireless Press

The Permanent Mandates Commission of the League of Nations has issued a summary of its report on Palestine. The Commission recognizes the difficulty of preventing outbreaks, but it is convinced that it would not have been possible to adopt more decisive measures earlier, with a view to suppressing armed resistance.

GERMAN ATTITUDE TO THE WAR IN CHINA

LOOKING TO RUSSIA FOR AN AGGRESSIVE MOVE

"Bolshivism" Again

JAP SUCCESS IN THE NORTH—HEAVY LOSSES IN SHANGHAI

Germany is beginning to take an interest in the Far East War. The Japanese are suggesting that their real purpose is to suppress Bolshivism there and the leading East newspaper in Berlin, taking a cue, darkly hints that Russia will not stand aside in the present conflict.

Meanwhile the fighting continues fiercely in China. The Chinese claim more successes at Shanghai where one leaflet telegram reports that 8,000 Japanese troops have been "wiped out." But there are 80,000 more in transports in the Whangpo River.

In the North the Japanese are making steady progress and are now within the desperately defended Nankow Pass.

More Reinforcements Ready

The Japanese officials, however, are not so sure. They stated that the Japanese Government had 20,000 reinforcements ready for transport and that transporters are standing by with a further 40,000 troops.

A Nanking newspaper says that General Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters have received reports from the front stating that 3,000 of the Japanese troops who landed at Whangpo were wiped out and the remainder were being driven back.

Stomach Sick

The authorities here confirm the previous reports that Japanese soldiers are suffering from stomach sickness. It is reported that the Japanese troops at Nanking are suffering from stomach sickness.

Indian Troops

Colombia, Aug. 25. The 57th Brigade of Indian troops is being sent to the front in the Japanese attack on the Chinese port of Hankow.

IN THE NORTH

Japanese Beat the Nankow Pass. The Japanese have beaten the Nankow Pass, a strategic point in the Chinese line of defence.

THE BRITISH PLAN

China Willing to Wait for Japan. The Chinese Government is willing to wait for Japan to make a move in the North.

BOLSHEVIST DOUBTS?

Germany Felt No One Aroused. The German Government is feeling no one is aroused by the Japanese move in the North.

KNIVES, CLUBS AND FANGS USED BY RIOTERS

Mombasa, August 25. It is announced here today that the rioting between Arabs and Jaluos in Majengo last night and early this morning.

The trouble between the rival factions had been fermenting for the past ten days, which had been marked by night attacks by Wachuaga natives upon Arabs. Police reinforcements have been rushed to the scene of the disturbances and, with a view to relieving more police for special patrol duty, the King's African Rifles have taken over guard duty at Government House.

REFUGUEES
A Kenya Task

The remarkable story which we publish in this issue of the Abyssinian refugees now in Kenya will bring home to everybody in the country the difficult nature of the problem which the war in Ethiopia has left to solve. There are now nearly 4000 unwanted guests in Kenya and they come from good families who have almost every class in the modern Ethiopian Empire. Some of them hold out little hope for the future as peasants whose reason for flight is less obvious; others are members of the gentry or collected from the remarkable trek of over three hundred miles to security. There are others—doctors from the remarkable trek of over three hundred miles to security. There are others—doctors from the remarkable trek of over three hundred miles to security. HOW 7,000 REFUGEES FOUND KENYA SANCTUARY

WITH MACHINE GUNS, RIFLES AND AN ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN

Riddled with Disease

GOVERNMENT'S STRUGGLE IN INHOSPITABLE COUNTRY WITH URGENT PROBLEM

The Government of Kenya has been studying very closely the problem presented by the presence in the Colony of about 7,500 refugees from Abyssinia, including a number of deserters from the Italian Navy forces. It has been decided to establish a central camp at Isiolo in the North Eastern Province, and the position was recently discussed by the Senior Officers of Government including the Chief Native Commissioner, the Officer in Charge of the Northern Frontier Province and the Commissioner of Police.

There is a remarkable story behind the decision. It goes back nearly two months when large bands of Abyssinians of all classes, freemen and slaves, staggered exhausted across the Kenya border, riddled with disease, most of them, typhoid and relapsing fever.

Many of them were heavily armed. The Kenya Government has come into possession of a score of modern machine guns, hundreds of rifles, many rounds of ammunition and what is probably the first anti-aircraft gun in the country. It had been carried three hundred miles by people who cherished the pathetic belief that if their flight was spotted by Italian aircraft they would be able to defend themselves.

Central Camp Decision

Most of the refugees have crossed the border within the last two weeks. They are now being housed in a camp at Isiolo, situated about 1,200 miles from Nairobi, and are being fed on maize and other crops. Many of the refugees are suffering from disease, especially in the form of typhoid, relapsing fever, and malaria. The Government is doing its utmost to provide medical aid, but the situation is very serious.

Richmond and Harrow

One large party crossed the border at the North East end of Lake Rudolf, making a party of Kenya which is not likely to be of any use to the Government. They are being housed in a camp at Isiolo, and are being fed on maize and other crops. Many of the refugees are suffering from disease, especially in the form of typhoid, relapsing fever, and malaria. The Government is doing its utmost to provide medical aid, but the situation is very serious.

Another Springboks Success

The Springboks have won their fourth consecutive test match against the British and Irish Lions. The match was played at the Twickenham stadium in London, and the Springboks won by a score of 23-10.

British Class Furnish

The British class furnish has been a success for the British and Irish Lions. The match was played at the Twickenham stadium in London, and the British and Irish Lions won by a score of 23-10.

Another Group Near Kitale

There is another group of refugees at Kapenguria near Kitale who crossed into Kenya to the west of Lake Rudolf, and they, too, will be brought to Isiolo. At Harar there are about 10,000 Abyssinians, and the Government is doing its utmost to provide medical aid, but the situation is very serious.

FIRST AID IN CHEMICAL WARFARE

PREVENTIVE CLEANSING MEASURES

Decontamination Work

What is Likely to be Encountered Under War Conditions

Following is the fourth of a series of special articles on gas which is being published to enlighten the public on the present state of out-gas warfare being given to the world. The material is derived from the latest reports received in Nairobi to the same subject will give them an even under aspect than hitherto.

The word "decontamination" should be understood to mean the application to material objects rather than to persons. Treatment of affected persons should be spoken of as cleansing or washing.

In the case of ill-effects the immediate attention must be given. All clothing and equipment of persons who have been in the gas area must be removed immediately so that it does not become a source of danger to others, and it should be treated immediately.

If liquid chlorine has been reached on the skin the first thing to do is to rub in blanching ointment (3 parts of Bleaching Powder-Chloride of Lime—to one part of vasoline), or Disinfecting Paste (Chloride of Lime with vasoline). Either of these are most efficacious when applied with the five minutes. If it is impossible to apply this treatment within the limit of five minutes, it is better simply to wash very thoroughly with soap and water.

If vapor only has reached the skin, to take a bath should be enough. A very essential matter which must not be overlooked, is the lathering of the eyes with water. As many persons affected, as possible, should go to their own homes for this treatment in order to prevent congestion at First Aid Stations. Before entering a building, boots and outer clothing should be removed.

It must not be forgotten that the most effective treatment is that which is given immediately. The longer Permanent Gases are allowed to cling to the person the deeper is the damage done.

Special clothing must be used for First Aid Workers, police, etc., who go out into gas affected areas. These own clothes should be left in the dressing room of the Depot or Station.

Decontamination of Clothing

When it is suspected that clothing has been contaminated by the gas, the gas can be washed away. The scrubbing of the articles should be covered with heavy type of clothing, such as canvas suits, trousers, gaiters, etc. If either treaty-free boots in the open air, they will be killed at once by the action of chlorine gas. Clothing should be washed with liquid gas, and must be treated on each. Leather clothes and underclothing should be washed with soap and warm water for at least 15 minutes.

In the case of contamination by liquid gas it will be necessary to use special treatment for the heavy type of clothing by steam disinfection, while the lighter type of clothing and underclothing, must be boiled for at least one hour in plain water.

The special chlorine disinfectant by the service, in the case of vapor contamination, can be dealt with by hanging in the open air for two hours in the case of liquid gas contamination.

The garments should be well boiled down, and afterwards boiled in plain water for half an hour. Rubber boots and gaiters should be disinfected in the same way. In order to decontaminate shoes it is well to immerse them in a tray of bleaching powder and brush the uppers with the bleaching powder, in order to destroy all traces of liquid gas which may be retained on them. They may be washed for two hours in plain water and afterwards thoroughly wiped with a cloth and left to dry off. Leather boots (even those which may have been treated) are not suitable for use in a heavily contaminated area, but in the event of their being necessary, they should be well rubbed over with bleaching ointment just before being worn—but even so they are not really suitable and in the process of decontamination is so destructive to leather they are not likely to be of much use afterwards.

Decontamination of Respirators

When subjected to vapour gas only, it will be sufficient to hang the respirator and canister separately, in the open air for twenty-four hours, but care must be taken to see that the respirator does not become wet with rain. When the Respirator is contaminated by liquid gas it will have to be withdrawn from use; the various parts of it will have to be disassembled and each portion have special decontamination treatment according to the material of which it is composed. This is really a specialist's work, as one must be taken in dealing with them.

When contaminated by vaporous gas the stretcher should be left in the open air for twenty-four hours. When contaminated by liquid gas the canvas part of the stretcher should be boiled for half an hour, and the handles well scrubbed with bleaching powder. It is a wise precaution to cover the stretcher with a cloth before using when decontamination will be much easier, and the gas can be washed away. After the scrubbing of the stretcher, the handles they should be covered with linoleum, otherwise they will not be safe for use with bare hands for some days.

Following is a description of the various types of gas given out by chemical warfare, and the various countermeasures which are likely to be taken, their symptoms and conditions.

Carbon Monoxide

May be illustrated by high explosive shells. It is a gas which attracts the supply of oxygen in the arteries and in the type of gas given out by chemical warfare through the exhaust pipe, coal gas and fumes from a motor engine. It is most dangerous because it is not recognized until the symptoms of the poisoning are apparent, which are a feeling of faintness and loss of power in the limbs. Also a feeling of general exhaustion is apparent. Loss of consciousness may occur, and later death. Underneath a respirator affords no protection against carbon monoxide.

Mustard Gas

Is produced by burning acetone. The first symptoms of mustard gas poisoning are a slight itching of the nose and throat with an irritating cough and headache, with possibly vomiting. All these symptoms disappear, and are followed by a latent period. In the case of severe poisoning the latent period is followed by all the symptoms of lung irritation (gas and must) be treated immediately, as quickly as possible to hospital.

"Paralyzing Gas"

There are two gases under this head: (a) Hydrocyanic (Prussic) Acid which smells of almond essence. (b) Sulphurated Hydrogen, which smells like rotten eggs.

Both of these gases have been used in war but are not successful. Sulphurated Hydrogen may be found in the case of burnt wires or a result of an air raid attack. It is a highly inflammable gas and will burn into flames when approached with a naked flame.

Both these gases must be strongly concentrated before they become dangerous. The symptoms of both gases are unconsciousness and dizziness rapid pulse and rapid breathing. If unconsciousness is not reached recovery through paralysis of breathing organs.

Treatment must be prompt. (Continued in next column.)
