HAND DRESSING

How To Destroy "Hidden" Ticks.

Ticks are often found in situations which are not easily visited by the dipping solution when animals pass through the tank. The most common places are under the tail and around the anus, around the ears, at the root of the horns, in the tail brush and in the eyes.

For hand-dressing or for dipping, a material should be used that will kill the ticks without burning the animals.

CORNER'S DAIRY TICK GREASE is an excellent hand-dressing material. It is particularly useful on the dairy cows, as it is non-poisonous and can be applied to the most tender parts, such as the udder, without causing irritation.

COLLECTIVE FARMING IN RUSSIA

The Russian system of Collective Farming has, especially since the war, been of considerable interest to farmers in all countries who have already learned how the grain harvest has been raised to one and a half times the 1913 figure, and the potato harvest to three times as much. But, in order to achieve this and to plan agriculture, enormous changes were essential in the organisation of the countryside.

BEFORE 1917 the Russian peasant usually owned one little plot of land, worked on his own, and sold the produce at the village, or in the case in the Ukraine in England, to the market. He was poor, and his primitive method of cultivation was unproductive. This was the case of J. D. Jones, at that time representative of the United States in the Soviet Union. He visited the village in the period, like the above, or rather it is possible, like the above, and he found the peasant in a state of poverty, and he found the peasant in a state of poverty, and he found the peasant in a state of poverty.

HOW IT'S DONE
The organisation of a collective farm is as follows:

LOOK AFTER YOUR FLOWERS, TREES AND VEGETABLES

When planting them out, the farmer should take the time to look after them. This is particularly important for the young trees, which are usually slow to grow, and for the vegetables, which are usually slow to grow.
