long enough to find a way out. The people whose terms almost invariably are the most favorable, are the British.

Italy's Generalissimo made a statement in the Chamber of Deputies today, in which he declared that Italy has opened a brutal campaign against her former enemies in the Balkans and in southern France. They have given assistance and protection to the German army, and have opened a campaign against the British and the United States.

There could be no realization for these Italian military leaders, that the British and the United States are now in a position to strike Italy in the Balkans and in southern France. They have given assistance and protection to the German army, and have opened a campaign against the British and the United States.

GERMANY AND "FIRST BATTLE OF DENMARK"

London, October 15.—(Associated Press.)—The German government today announced that it had decided to open a campaign against Denmark, which it described as a "first battle" in the war against the British and the United States.

The German government stated that it had decided to open a campaign against Denmark, which it described as a "first battle" in the war against the British and the United States.

NEW STONE AGE FINDS ON VIEW AT THE MUSEUM

Those who take an interest in natural history—and in particular in the Stone Age—will find it well worth a visit to the British Museum today, to see the new finds on view.

The new finds, which were discovered in the Stone Age, are of great interest to those who take an interest in natural history—and in particular in the Stone Age.

BIG RAID ON SCHWEINFURT

October 15.—(Associated Press.)—An American flying ace, who has been credited with the destruction of a German bomber, today announced that he had taken part in a big raid on Schweinfurt.

There could be no realization for these Italian military leaders, that the British and the United States are now in a position to strike Italy in the Balkans and in southern France. They have given assistance and protection to the German army, and have opened a campaign against the British and the United States.
