Greta Garbo's "Camille" THE SIXTH SUCCESSOR TO SARAH BERNHARDT AND SOME TRIFLING WITH CRIMEAN HISTORY

Three pictures only fill a very long list of the classics that were shot in their steepest way, including "Camille" as the capital. The charges of the last failure of the Republic, and other provisions of history, at the Hochschule.

Greta Garbo is very much in the limelight in England just now. She has just made another conquest as the lead lady in "Kamer" and in the great story of "Kamer".

The film which brings to the screen the story of Napoleon and the beautiful "Daisy" (played with much of the usual appearance of the usual historical actress).

Garbo is the late arrival of the film in England. It has been impossible to do in the presence of "Camille," but here it is available, together to Greta Garbo, and to Robert Taylor, who plays "Napoleon" who is content from the London Observer. "Napoleon" looks the story of "Camille," which is suggested by the way in which it is the picture of the picture, which appears.

When an actress like Garbo appears in a film like "Camille," there is little for a critic to do but sit back and enjoy, for the picture carries its own message.

Greta, I think, the stars in a series of scenes. Magnificent. She there begins with Sarah Bernhardt and including Yvonne Paganini, but watching her you forget there were ever others. Greta's "Camille" is a real woman, present such a perfect grace, softened, in a quiet, published way, by the quality of one who is very rich and knows it. There is nothing that is nothing overdone, about the film of this "Camille." The traditional scenes of watching her go to the theatre, the audience who was so close to her, her own eyes, she looks only a strange shadow of Greta's face, a new kind of the gift in her movements, give away the secret "Camille" reveals, as so often does it, the custom of her dress, her face and spirit that is so

There are two reasons on the picture side, which are historical, and just as the Robert Taylor, who plays "Napoleon" who is content from the London Observer. "Napoleon" looks the story of "Camille," which is suggested by the way in which it is the picture of the picture, which appears.

caution should be joined in the issue, and the argument that the Native Authority was a part of the Central Government fell to the ground. The appeal was upheld and the Government has undertaken to pay the legal costs.

The Court of Appeal for Eastern Africa has just been called upon, apparently, to decide what is the exact nature under the constitution of the Native Authority, but it did agree with the argument on behalf of the appellant that a reservation in Kenya was a scheme devised and their powers prepared by a former Governor of Tanganyika has no legal force. So now we are back where we started: Had the Court of Appeal maintained the contention of the Native Councils, groups of Chief, headmen, sub-chiefs, District Councils and all the other Governments of Eastern Africa a great deal of potential trouble by withdrawing the contention that Native Authorities, such as the Council of Chaga Chiefs are legally part of the government of the country and, as such, entitled to the immunity and privilege of a great Department of State.

The story is both interesting and instructive and it should show some lessons for the present and Administrative Departments of the Government of the Manufested Territory. In the first place the Council of Chaga Chiefs desired all natives within their jurisdiction to sell their coffee through a single co-operative society. The natives, or at least some of them, maintained that as they could grow their coffee without the aid of the Chief and the Government, they could market it as well and if they were allowed freedom they could obtain a higher price than in the open market, through competition, than would be paid by the system of co-operative marketing. A large number of them voted later, to the great distress of Government, who blamed agitation and closed their eyes to the economic significance of this development of the policy of Indirect Rule among people who had suddenly become well-to-do. From a safe distance the Government of Tanganyika can now watch what is going to happen about the cocoa pool system in the West Coast where the argument of the producer about price is the more valid.

But one African sought recourse to the Court to have his grievance adjusted. His contention was that the instructions of the Chiefs as to the disposal of coffee were ultra vires, outside their powers under the Charter. The Court never gave a ruling on the question at all. The Legal Department of the Central Government surprisingly joined in the case, urging that the Chiefs were fully entitled to act as they had done so Government was carrying out its duties in carrying out delegated powers and responsibility. The Court in its decision upheld the view that the Native Authority was in fact a part of the Central Government of Tanganyika and could not do anything without the permission of the Governor was obtained. It transpired that such sanction had been given and so the native litigant lost, at any rate for the time being.

The appeal came before the Appeal Court and in the meantime some hard thinking was done in Dar es Salaam. The Attorney General would be obliged that their original contention about the powers of chiefs to order the disposal of produce could not be sustained because there was a weakness in the law. So Government brought in new regulations which made it clear that natives could not be compelled—and natives only—to dispose of surplus crops in approved ways and that they should be permitted to sell their produce in the open market. The result was that the Government of Tanganyika withdrew the former

Holidays For All

HOW KENYA MIGHT DO IT

Underlying the (an expected) witty and humorous address of the President at Friday's meeting of the Nairobi Rotary Club was a serious and thoughtful provoking suggestion that the need for "Holidays for All" in Kenya was a scheme which should be worked out by a committee, representative of all residents.

The address—made by Mr. Keenan, in thanking the speaker for his address—was a matter which well deserved the serious consideration of the Rotary Club itself.

President's Experience Mr. Thorndon (the President) has been asked to give addresses on his recent holiday in India. After giving his experience on the subject of holidays generally.

KENYA'S AFFAIRS YEAR'S REVIEW

Lord Francis Scott at Nakuru

MEMBER OF THE ELECTED MEMBERS, LORD FRANCIS SCOTT GAVE AN ADDRESS TO A MODERATELY ATTENDED MEETING OF HIS CONSTITUENTS AT NAKURU ON FRIDAY.

It was the last meeting that Lord Francis Scott could hold before his departure for Europe at the week-end.

While making a wide review of Kenya affairs, the Leader of the Opposition said that the vote of confidence recorded for him was for him a reward rather than a rebuke.

At the outset of his address Lord Francis reminded those present of the many difficulties which he had encountered in the past six years when he had been Member for Rift Valley, and then referred to the great change in relations between the Unofficial Members and Government during the past few months.

He said that it was remarkable that several Members had kept going during the difficult years as they had done. It was not going to say that they had not reached a point of expediency but he could say they had not been discouraged.

Lord Francis said it was very gratifying to see so many of the members of the country who were not in the House at the time of his departure.

He said that he had been very glad to see the country which he had been in for the past six years. They had made very great progress.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Editor does not accept responsibility for the views expressed by his correspondents in these columns and in all cases the name and address of the writer must accompany a letter, but not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. MR. KENYA ELECTIONS
M. C. HARVEY REPLIES
To the Editor: "E. A. Standard"—Sir, in reply to the letter about the 17th dist, which appeared over the signature of Mr. J. S. Moore, I should like to point out that my views on several aspects of the Income Tax question were clearly expressed in the East African Standard.
These views will be confirmed and amplified at a series of meetings that I hope to arrange in the near future. The Legislative Council and duly published in the East African Standard.

KENYA'S UNLOVELY SPOTS
To the Editor: "E. A. Standard"—Sir, I would commend your leading article of today's date on the subject of Nairobi's unsightly spots. The Committee appointed to advise the Government on the Development Plan is now affording an opportunity for the public to voice its views on the subject. I should welcome suggestions for the layout and improvement of the town, either in writing or by personal appearance before the committee.
The carrying out of any development plan is an extremely important matter, and I shall personally have no hesitation in offering my views on any matter that is brought to my attention.
Yours etc.

SPEED LIMITS IN NAIROBI
To the Editor: "E. A. Standard"—Sir, I thank you for the opportunity you have afforded the general public to discuss the question of speed limits in Nairobi, and the factors which affect the transport situation here.
I may inform the general public that the Council are now considering alterations in the parking laws, and also, arising out of correspondence received from the public, will discuss speed limits.
Whether it is "well known" or not, the fact is that the present speed limit in Nairobi is 30 m.p.h. in the main roads, and 20 m.p.h. in the residential areas. This is a very low speed limit, and it is not surprising that it is held by a prominent official that he does not know that there was a 20 m.p.h. limit in Nairobi. The fact that the Council and the Government have decided to increase the speed limit to 30 m.p.h. in the main roads, and 20 m.p.h. in the residential areas, is a very welcome step, and it is to be hoped that the Council will take steps to increase the speed limit to 40 m.p.h. in the main roads, and 30 m.p.h. in the residential areas.

CHINA'S THREAT TO 'TRAITORS'

China's Premier, Wang Yang-ming, has declared that the Japanese must be prepared to make all sacrifices.

There are still important questions outstanding in which British interests and their interests are concerned.

It is hoped that Mr. Hirota's words will be the first step towards a policy of conciliation and that the Japanese will be able to settle in peace.

China's industrial aims are aimed at increasing her industrial production under a single plan.

BRADDOCK BEATS FARR

Had landed several terrific punches, Braddock set the ropes and proceeded to give Farr a dose of his own counter-punching. Farr was hit by a terrific straight, which left him reeling, although he was fighting desperately and generally well.

The first round was even, but Braddock and Farr were both in the ring for the first time. Braddock was the aggressor, but Farr was the one who landed the most punches.

The fight was a close one, but Braddock was the winner. He was the one who landed the most punches, and he was the one who was the aggressor.

"MOST SKILFUL BLUFFER"

Lloyd George's View of Mussolini Today

MUSSOLINI IS PERHAPS THE MOST SKILFUL BLUFFER IN EUROPE—THIS IS MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S THOUGHT AS HE WRITES BY THE WATERS OF THE MEDITERRANEAN.

The veteran Liberal leader's opinions on topics of the day were set forth in his Daily Marguerite during his golden wedding at Cap d'Antibes.

Mr. Lloyd George still believes in the triumph of the great democracies, through the efforts of Britain, the United States and France—the last with, he says, the best army in the world.

Cap d'Antibes, January 24.—The French Liberal leader, Mr. Lloyd George, was celebrating his golden wedding today in a beautiful villa within sight of the sea and south of the Mediterranean. With him were his two sons, George and Richard, and his daughter, Lady Corry. Mrs. Lloyd George and her daughter, Lady Corry, were also present.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1928.

Traffic Control in Nairobi The Nairobi traffic problem may come up for discussion from one of its many angles at the monthly meeting of the Municipal Council today. Under the new Council, it is understood that they are anxiously studying the whole question on the most comprehensive basis. It might be well to say at the outset, however, that there is no doubt that an examination and decision upon this matter will be equally obvious, but the Council, which rests much of the responsibility for a policy, should be well advised about its grounds before it acts. The correspondence and the discussion which have been given a place in our columns during the past week, have opened up a difficult question of speed limits. It is obvious that if any motorist had any way they would be the recipient of the community free from all restrictions. The speed limit controversy is a question which no better has yet been found to introduce what, at least theoretically, a practical and necessary element of safety into the traffic problem. Nobody will argue that speed limits are the solution of road accidents—in Britain last year the deaths and injuries involved nearly a quarter of a million people—and observation of a speed limit does not make the least difference to the mortality of a car driver. But despite all the specious arguments that a slow driver is more dangerous than a fast one, reasonable people are bound to agree that the margin of safety in driving under conditions is greater and nerves are steadier if the speed is reasonable and if the driver is recklessly getting all he can out of his car.

There are, of course, other practical objections which we will have to consider. The law, as it stands, is an impediment to speed regulations as it is enforced. Parking control in Nairobi, and parking laws, and regulations. Streets are still filled with cars parked all day long while the parking grounds are ignored, and the highways are congested with parked motor cars, which clearly marked notices on the roadway indicating approved parking places might well be sufficient. But it is reasonably certain that if the present parking rules are enforced, the Town Council will find that additional space is an early necessity. As the whole traffic problem will steadily and quickly become even more difficult, it is true that the best way of framing a policy so that both the public and the authorities may know where they stand.

SHORTHEADS

There are no whitish brown spots on the face that they can clean their teeth more efficiently with a Tak Shorthead. The Tak is so fine it fits inside with of the tooth easily. There is not much pain in keeping your teeth white in front if you give daily chance in the dangerous factor more behind the neck. The specially clipped and repeatedly sprung Tak bristles reach into every crevice from behind.

The Tak Shorthead design was not a dentist all over the money for their opinion, will give it their most approved. There's nothing "just as good" as Tak. It is registered—highly patented from imitation. If you want to keep your teeth white and beautiful, buy a Tak—the original Shorthead toothbrush—and clean them from behind as well as in front.

PEOPLES THE EMPIRE
 TO THE EDITOR "E. A. Standard,"—
 Sir—Mr. Paul Clarke thinks that it is only the British who are to blame for the present state of affairs in the Empire. He says that the British should make themselves comfortable and enjoy the fruits of their empire. As they cannot do this unless they are in the hands of those who have chosen settlement in view, it is to these emigrants that the problem must be traced, not to the British who are to blame for the present state of affairs in the Empire. He says that the British should make themselves comfortable and enjoy the fruits of their empire. As they cannot do this unless they are in the hands of those who have chosen settlement in view, it is to these emigrants that the problem must be traced, not to the British who are to blame for the present state of affairs in the Empire.

Mr. Sir, the fact has been stated that people who have settled in the Empire are to blame for the present state of affairs in the Empire. As they cannot do this unless they are in the hands of those who have chosen settlement in view, it is to these emigrants that the problem must be traced, not to the British who are to blame for the present state of affairs in the Empire.

ROYAL makes Every Cake A SUCCESS

Don't waste good Ingredients with poor quality Baking Powder

You will find it's easy to make light, fluffy, extra-tender cakes with this famous low-quality Baking Powder. For Royal is always uniform, always reliable, and gives you the most perfect results—every time!

That's the reason it's foolish to risk the waste of good cake ingredients on an inferior, non-patented baking powder. Especially when the Royal Baking Powder is a gift of Royal from your grocery store.

Where Rumours are From: Mangrove Concession

The "JUBALAND TO GERMANY" RUMOURS HAVE BEEN PROBED BY THE "E.A. STANDARDS" CORRESPONDENT AT LAMU, WHERE THE RUMOURS WERE FIRST AND DETAILED.

"It now seems more likely" he says, "that they are based on the visit to Kilungu of Germans who are said to be in negotiation for a concession to collect mangrove bark at Port Clarence."

A German firm had a concession in the area over 30 years ago and the report of renewed interest is confirmed by a Kilungu visitor who stated that a member of the German firm will shortly be visiting Lamu to make arrangements for housing native workers.

"THE BUSINESS GUY"

American's business post, Mr. H. I. Phillips, is responsible for the following offering, which appeared in "The Nairobi Business" - the Journal of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce -

Each man is the master, for life is the game. Roll him in the gutter, and he will be a failure. Pull him up, and he will be a success. Make him in the eye, and he will be a hero. Make him in the hand, and he will be a king.

From the outset I have not been a man of great fortune. I have not been a man of great fortune. I have not been a man of great fortune. I have not been a man of great fortune.

Port Clarence is situated otherwise than half my mile from Lamu and Kilungu. It is a beautiful bay, and it is a beautiful bay. It is a beautiful bay, and it is a beautiful bay.

London, January 26.—A deputation from the Labour Party, headed by Mr. C. R. Attlee, leader of the Labour Opposition in Parliament, interviewed the Prime Minister today to ask the British Government to take the lead at the League of Nations Council meeting at Geneva—calling for League action to restrain Japanese aggression in China.

During an hour and a quarter, the deputation, which included the Labour Party's Foreign Secretary, Mr. D. G. Douglas, and the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, explained in detail how the Government was following most closely the League of Nations line.

Mr. Chamberlain said that the Government was following most closely the League of Nations line. He said that the Government was following most closely the League of Nations line.

British Steamer Attacked

UNKNOWN SUBMARINE

Torpedo Fired at 300 Yards—Passes Under Hull

A torpedo fired at the British steamer Lake Geneva narrowly missed the vessel when it passed under her hull. The ship was attacked in the Mediterranean by an unknown submarine.

The attack which occurred earlier this month, was reported by the ship's captain in the course of his routine duties when he reached Valencia.

A French steamer, lying off the coast of Spain, was apparently mistaken by Government planes for an insurgent vessel and bombs fell near her during a sea and air attack. The French ship at once opened fire.

The captain of the British ship Lake Geneva has reported to the British Government that the ship was attacked by an unknown submarine in the Mediterranean on January 1. A torpedo was fired at the ship but missed.

Without Warning
The attack on the Lake Geneva (1,000 tons) was made without warning. The submarine fired from 300 yards range.

NAIROBI COUNCIL EMPLOYEE'S LEAVE

Should an employee of the Nairobi Municipal Council be permitted to spend his leave in the country should it occur?

This is the gist of an argument which was raised in the Nairobi Municipal Council on Tuesday when the Council had before it for approval or otherwise the recommendation of the Finance Committee that the member be granted a leave of absence for the period of one month, provided that he had been in the employ of the Council continuously for two years.

The Finance Committee, which was presided over by Mr. J. H. B. Redhead, after several members expressing the view that the employee could please himself, and eventually, on the suggestion of Councillor Kuper who thought it was a matter of principle requiring further consideration, the Council decided to refer the matter to the Finance Committee.

From a consciousness and Naivasha has added yet another attraction to the many it already possesses. This new one takes the form of a very vigorous dramatic society which presented two plays to a most appreciative audience of the Hill Inn on Saturday.

The first play, "The Boy Who Cried Wolf," was a most excellent work on the part of the Naivasha Dramatic Society. The play was a great success and the audience was very much interested in the story.

The League of Nations

The One Hundredth meeting of the League of Nations Council opened in Geneva yesterday. That would hardly seem an occasion for serious consideration of abandonment of the League and the hopes for which the League of Nations stands. Yet consideration of the future of the League is not the least among the difficult and urgent problems which are facing the Democracies of the world today.

Lord Cecil assured, at this week that to expect the return of either Germany or Italy to the League of Nations, which ever might be the nature of the changes made in the Covenant to suit their view, is to foster a false hope, and encourage the probability of a profound disappointment. It is true that some of the Dictatorships of the League which they cannot influence, it is indeed not probable that Lord Cecil is right in assuming that Italy and Germany have washed their hands entirely of any intention of association in the future, as they visualize it now, with any world wide peace by opposition to aggression and by international concord and arbitration, recognizing that as an instrument for any purpose except the preservation of peace.

At the present time the League against the League is in full force. Italy and Germany are standing together as one man, as many of the smaller nations as possible, especially those in the Central Europe whose strategic position and whose possession of supplies of essential foodstuffs, raw materials, give them their place in importance both in war and peace, and especially those in the Central Europe whose strategic position among the nations. Bluffers think they may be, and sometimes people are glad to explain the Duce by a term which conveys so much to the English mind, Signor Mussolini, and the last few years diplomatic strokes which in their reactions and their unexpected changes to orthodox Democratic diplomacy have a quality of genius. His recent picture of the Dictator nations are no exception. The outcome of his discussions with Chamberlain, Roosevelt, America and Hungary has been a strengthening of the influence of the Rome-Berlin axis in the Danubian countries and a renewed prospect of an improved economic and political position for the Dictatorship countries in an area so important to the peace of Europe. The League has had a steady increase in the numbers of the smaller nations which seek to placate a strong influence in aggression in Abyssinia in terms of new diplomatic relations. Italy and the Dictatorship countries to seek in that form a bolder basis for working relations and although the Dictatorship Government is not recording a major success in its invitation to the Oslo group in which the split has appeared in a new direction further removed from Rome than the Danubian States.

All these trends in Europe and the failure of important League Powers to effect any resistance to the latest example of aggression in China have steadily weakened prestige and effectiveness of the League of Nations in the political field. It is strange and significant reminder that the small nations which clung together not so long ago around the League and the Democracy as the only hope for their security, should now be so anxious to listen to other proposals and themselves flirt with Dictatorship. Stripped of the last remnants of its claim to an important role in the world and reduced in the main to a loose alliance of Britain, France and Russia, could not be expected to function as an instrument of peace.

There has been a good deal of discussion about the reform of the League, ever since it failed to establish the power of collective action against Italy's aggression. The machinery is good enough—if it were used resolutely to enforce the will of the League, ever since it failed to establish the power of collective action against Italy's aggression. One Decisive

The Committee received from the General Meeting of Council on Tuesday last, 140 members dissenting and confirmed.

That it be a recommendation to Council to advise to the former resolution on this subject, and further that in the opinion of Council it would be desirable for the Government to submit a bill to the effect that the subject be referred to the Government to be dealt with as they see fit by means of a vote on either side and such as these are essential foods and "therefore the incidence of the tax would weight most heavily on the incidence of the tax on the one hand and the Government to afford to pay" of the revenue to the Committee. His Worship the Mayor on Tuesday explained that he had considered that the bill would have been approved, but he would have been able to pay and levying and collecting of taxes was the duty of Government and should not be referred to any other authority locally or nationally. And on the question of cost, out of the most valuable assets of this country was healthy produce in which many daily necessities were essential at the lowest possible cost.

Nonsense my boy...

what you want is Phosferine

If you think you have "Priority Complex"—a term that refers to the self-assertion, nervousness, irritability, and other symptoms of a "Priority Complex"—you should take PHOSFERINE.

In this case one of the chief factors is the lack of Phosferine in the blood. Phosferine is a tonic which restores the blood and restores the vitality of the whole nervous system. You see, the blood is the life force of the body. If it is weak, the body is weak. Phosferine restores the blood and restores the vitality of the whole nervous system. SHORTHEADS

There are no rubbers because we find out if you clean these teeth more efficiently with a Tek Shorthead. The Tek is far in the lead as to the most effective of the tooth brush. There is not much point in keeping your teeth white or even if you give them a clean in the detergent lather you build the work. The specially shaped and reasonably strong Tek bristles reach into every crevice from behind.

The 114 Shorthead design was so devised as over the course of the opinion, get you a clearer approval. There's nothing you're good as Tek. It's a registered—patent protected from imitation. If you want to keep your teeth healthy and beautiful, buy a Tek on the original Shorthead toothbrush—and clean them from behind as well as in front.

LAST MATCH A DRAW

Happy Ending to S. African Hockey Tour

In the final match of their tour, before they leave Nairobi, the South Africans held a combined XI to a draw in a match at Parklands today.

Goal Fy by Ferris

It was a keenly contested struggle throughout and neither side was giving away an inch. The game was not without a few defensive plays by the Combined XI backs and goalkeeping, in particular, being prominent.

Alison Ross

After a scoreless first half, the tour, before they leave Nairobi, the South Africans held a combined XI to a draw in a match at Parklands today.

Home Team Press

In the second half the Combined XI were more than the going on the field but the Visitors would allow no impression to be made from this, however their tenacity was also being a factor in the draw. The South Africans could have done more to score after a desperate attack in front of the South African goalkeepers.

Mahon Knight as Captain

Once again the really superior positional play and discipline of Mahon Knight showed that he is probably the best captain in Kenya but he could not carry it over to the responsibility of his responsibility.

The Visitor

For the Visitors, Gray showed some of his usual brilliant play that is perfectly at home. He played a fine game.

The speed and courage of Harbison Smith enabled him, too, to show that he is a player of no mean ability, whether or later, enhance the tally of his goals.

A Heavy Ending

So far as it is to be said that although it was not a particularly fine final match could have had a happy ending, as was the case in the first half.

The Teams

The combined XI—Kerr, Austin, (Capt.), May, Marshall, James, Kaplan and Zeile.
C. B. Div. 3 XI:—C. B. Div. 3 XI:—Graham, Ferris, Gama, Mahon, Knight, (Capt.), Russell, Watson, James, Penrose, Harrison, Singh, Jimmy, de Bora, van der Merwe.
The Visitors were Major Kenneth Wesson and Mr. Arthur Shuman.

Ten People Frozen To Death In South Dakota

The worst ice jam ever known at Niagara has already wrecked one arch of the bridge a short distance below the falls and is threatening the power-house of the Ontario power company.

The cause of the trouble was a sudden storm on Lake Erie, breaking up the ice floes, which tumbled over the Falls and piled up against the bridge.

All the Southern States have suffered severely from the weather. Floods threaten towns, villages and crops throughout every part of the United States except the far West, Florida, and New England.

A Great New Goodyear Tyre

. . . At Special Introductory Prices

THIS big new handsome Goodyear tyre—the R-1 — now makes it possible for motorists to get the extra protection and the extra mileage of genuine Goodyear tyres—at special introductory prices.

Visit any Goodyear dealer and see this newest achievement. It is a tyre worthy of the name, GOODYEAR.

Feel the sharp edges of the thick-clustered diamonds in its Center Traction tread—which prevents skidding in all directions. Note its wide, thick, flat tread. That means smooth riding, easy steering, long wear. And, as in all Goodyear Tyres, the body of the R-1 is built with exclusive Supertwist Cord — which gives protection in every ply against bursts and bruises.

Equip your car with a set of new R-1 tyres and join the vast army of motorists who trust Goodyears for long, safe, trouble-free mileage.

A low price on an unknown tyre doesn't mean much, but a low price on a Goodyear means extra value.

THE NEW R-1
 GIVES YOU THESE 9 FEATURES

1. Flat, wide, long-wearing tread.
2. High, non-skid diamond blocks.
3. Thick Center Traction tread.
4. Thick, sturdy, prised shoulders.
5. Supertwist Cord in every ply.
6. Full oversize in all dimensions.
7. Rugged, handsome appearance.
8. Long, trouble-free, non-skid service.
9. A tyre worthy of its name.

BRITISH-ISRAEL NOTES

THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING... BRITISH-ISRAEL ROOM... At 5-15 on Friday evening next, February 25th.

As advertised on 20th, unless the Conference, the evening twelve months will be elected. It is hoped that the members will make an effort to be present.

The Rejuvenation of the Empire... On December 2nd the PRIME MINISTER launched the Empire Day... The Central Hall, Westminster.

Some of our own friends try to make us believe that the Queen and the Empire are one and the same... I would only say that there was only one Queen in the E.A.I.N. Congress and recently I have seen her wearing two badges, one of the British Empire and the other of the Ocean Institute.

My brother's visit here has been... I think that it is not only the Empire that is to be rejuvenated but the British people as well.

The Savages of New Guinea

HALF a million mountain-dwelling savages who protect themselves from the cold by never taking a bath and allowing dirt to accumulate on their bodies, and who use stone axes and other crude implements in their daily life inhabit the interior of New Guinea, the South Pacific Ocean, and German territory but now under mandate to Australia. These people are almost wholly oblivious of what is going on in the great outside world, according to the Rev. William Gordon Turner, a well-known missionary who is visiting Koroia in connexion with the work of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission Board.

Coming to Nuanetsi from Washington, D.C. where for the past year he has been a general superintendent of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission Board, Mr. Turner states that the faith here in the interior of New Guinea about two years ago they

Today there are a number of converts and they are exhibiting their language to writing with the idea of using it should others be found there. It is interesting to note the second largest island in the world which still remains largely unexplored.

... The curiosity of these people is well known. Though it is a mystery how they were so far from the island, said Mr. Turner. Fighting with laws and arms as well as hunters did a thousand years ago they lived in bushed trees and Until quite recently Mr. Turner, who is the director of the work of his denomination in Australia and travelled extensively in the New Hebrides and Papua as well as other surrounding these newly discovered people of the Hans and Pagan series of inland New Guinea.

Mr. Maughan sums up his life

THE SUMMING-UP
By Somerset Maughan
(Penguin Press, 19s. 6d.)

Somerset Maughan, cynicism is the very breath of his writer.

CHARLES LAURENCE has essayed writing the "Summing-Up" of Mr. Maughan. The words "I have done all that I came into this world to do, I have worked tasks, and have had the rest of the time to my own disposal."

On any early page in this book Mr. Maughan writes "When I have finished this book I shall know where I stand. I can afford then to say what I choose with the years that remain to me."

It would seem to suggest that Mr. Maughan is superstitious. He is a later page he writes "Arthur Pinero and Henry Arthur Jones, both retained in their own minds the desire to do the same words. They did a very good job. Both being so, Mr. Maughan has decided to go where the good god goes. He is writing, or has written the others are contented with his new book."

It is a notion that the idea of Maughan is more beautiful than what he writes them. They are entitled by the emotion of all who have read his work, or who are writing about it.

NATIVE AUTHORITIES

Second Thoughts in Tanganyika

MONDAY, JANUARY 26, 1952. The Government of Tanganyika has decided to advise the other Governments of the African a great deal of potential trouble by withdrawing the contention of the Native Authorities as the Council of Chiefs.

The story is so interesting and instructive and it should hold some lessons for the Legal and Administrative Departments of the Government of the Mashriq. In the first instance the Council of Chiefs ordered all natives with their jurisdiction to sell their coffee through a single co-operative society.

They have now decided to hold some of their estates which they could market it as well and in the event of coffee being sold they could obtain a higher price in the open market.

and their powers prepared by a former Governor of Tanganyika. The Government of Tanganyika are back where we started. That is the Court of Appeal maintaining the contention of the Tanganyika High Court that there would have been that Local Native Councils, Groups of Native Councils, sub-chiefs, District Councils, and the machinery of purely local government in East Africa might be raised in part of the Government and its powers assumed from any action by the Government with official consent.

It is clear that in the strictest of the long conditions raised in part of the Government and its powers assumed from any action by the Government with official consent.

Looking at Lamu

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1952. At a moment when, though we all want to be cheerful and optimistic, it is in fact a time of warnings about the need for caution, it is refreshing to read in the pages of the East African Standard that the people of Lamu have never seen Lamu. To them Lamu is a place that is as remote as it is mysterious.

KENYA'S AFFAIRS

Lord Francis Scott At Nakuru

LEADER OF THE ELECTED MEMBERS, LORD FRANCIS SCOTT GAVE ADDRESS TO A MODERATELY-ATTENDED MEETING OF HIS CONSTITUENTS AT NAKURU ON FRIDAY LAST.

It was the last meeting that Lord Francis Scott could hold before his departure for Europe at the week-end.

After making a wide review of Kenya affairs, the Leader of the Elected Members said that the vote of confidence for him was for him a reward and an encouragement for the future.

At the outset of his address Lord Francis reminded those present of the many difficulties in the past six years when he had been Member for Rift Valley, and then referred to the great change between the relations of the Unofficial Members and Government during the past few months.

He thought it remarkable that during the difficult years as they had been, he was not going to say that he had now reached a stage where he could say he had emerged from the worst depths of depression which he had known.

Lord Francis stated that he had more hope for the future. He thought he might be able to say that Kenya was that so many years ago, and that so many years ago, and that so many years ago, and that so many years ago.

In Public Affairs Lord Francis said that the country was in a state of depression, and that the Government had done much to help it.

He said that the Government had done much to help it, and that the country was in a state of depression, and that the Government had done much to help it.

He said that the Government had done much to help it, and that the country was in a state of depression, and that the Government had done much to help it.

TO WORK IN UNITY

The speaker thought it was also very important in Kenya that they should not allow themselves to be divided, and that they should work in unity.

One thing was the question of the future of Kenya, and that the Government should be able to do so.

He said that the Government should be able to do so, and that the country was in a state of depression, and that the Government had done much to help it.

"Gedi" Is Rapidly "Decaying"

VISITOR'S IMPRESSIONS

"Neglect of Priceless Historical Monument"

FOR MANY YEARS THE RUINED AREA HAS Fought an UNEVEN Fight AGAINST THE ALL-EMBRACING BUSH—AND GEDI HAS LOST.

Walls and monuments which were standing only a few years ago have crumbled beneath the weight of grass. Creepers have won their way into weathered interstices and have broken masonry many.

Even the drawings and inscriptions which were quite obviously in a fairly decent state of preservation not many years ago are defaced and in some cases broken in half.

Everywhere the tale of neglect of this priceless historical monument is told by the efforts made very recently indeed. It is not true that the visit made by Sir Harry Hoare was a landmark in the sense that it has done something to do with the Gedi, but at least it has drawn attention to its remaining value.

It is, however, a pity that it can be assumed to be beyond recovery. It is, however, a pity that it can be assumed to be beyond recovery. It is, however, a pity that it can be assumed to be beyond recovery.

Pyrethrum and Erosion Soil Officer's Warning

In a letter sent by Mr. Colin Maher, Officer-in-Charge of Conservation Service, to the Kenya Farmer's Association with reference to erosion in pyrethrum fields, he gives a warning that, while serious erosion is occurring in pyrethrum fields, the amount of soil which is being washed away is so great that it is necessary to take steps to prevent pyrethrum in such areas from becoming a serious source of erosion.

The following letter is a translation of the letter as sent to the members of the Kenya Farmer's Association:

"Magnificent Bush"—There are two magnificent bushes in our country which have been preserved for many years. They are in danger of becoming extinct.

"Money Made in Ruins"—Gedi is indeed an enormous ruin. It is not only a historical site but also a source of income.

Planting Pyrethrum—Pyrethrum is a very valuable crop which has been grown in the Gedi area for many years.

Soil Erosion—Soil erosion is a serious problem in the Gedi area, particularly in the pyrethrum fields.

Soil Conservation—It is essential to take steps to prevent soil erosion in the Gedi area.
