200,000 VOLUNTEERS IMPROVE STANDARDS OF RURAL KENYA

By T. G. Ashwath, Commissioner for Social Services, Kenya

In Kenya today there are 200,000 volunteers who are working for improvement of their rural areas. It is almost unbelievable, but it is true, and the number is growing constantly. They are all engaged in a vast campaign of helping each other to provide the necessities and amenities of the modern life.

Few are aware of this remarkable state of affairs and many of the Government's officials. It goes on unobtrusively and often unnoticed, day in the month of the month. Unless you were one of those who are promoting the movement, or were engaged in field work in the rural areas you would probably never know anything about it.

But those who have seen it in action and noticed the changes in the way of life of the people which have been brought about as a result, have no doubt that here is a force to be reckoned with and a force moreover, which is really for good.

To understand and appreciate the importance of this movement one must have a certain knowledge of the background of African life in the rural areas.

DULL EXISTENCE

It is for the most part a dull and dull existence for both men and women. For the women it is often arduous.

Having met their routine demands of their routine domestic, agricultural, household, and other duties, they have little time or enthusiasm for making improvements to their homes or land.

So life gets into a rut; if the roof leaks a bunch of grass is stuffed into the holes; the water runs up the bamboo compound; crop failures cause the most depressing disappointments; departing of family members bring grief from his land and losses with it; often as not, people go to seek work in the towns or on the farms.

As he gets older and less inclined to regular employment he sometimes takes to drink. The younger men are inclined to be resentful and, for want of an alternative, blame Government and the world in general.

To measure the land and increase the yield is a major undertaking, so is the planting of coffee, tea, bananas and other cash crops.

months and cost quite a lot into the bargain.

There seems no alternative, therefore, but to mendle along in the same old way and hope that something will turn up which will change everything in some miraculous way.

All the time, however, the individual and the community has lain in their own hands if they had but known it. All that was necessary was for the neighbours to form themselves into a group to help each other. At the thought that they had found something to do they had found happiness.

It was about eight years ago that the first groups of volunteers were formed and year by year the idea has been spread from district to district, until now at least half a million men, women and children have taken part in the movement.

The movement of mutual help has been a tremendous national performance as Community Development which means the building up of people to meet their own needs, has gone on with the help of the Government's aid.

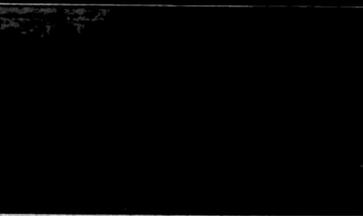

In most parts of the world largely confined to Europe, Africa, and Asia, the economic, imperialistic, racial, etc., but in Kenya it has taken a new slant.

FOOD SUPPLY

Here it aims at enabling each individual volunteer to raise his standard of life through cooperative effort and thereby increasing his food supply and better his lot, providing with his own hands a means of improving his living conditions.

These are practical and achievable objectives of which all can appreciate the value and, in fact, before the coming of the Movement many would have been at a loss to know what to do.

The idea is simple and entirely new though in most parts of the world it is regarded by individuals. The fact that it is not entirely stranger makes it easier to develop group work on a wide scale.

But the real reason for its success is that the people now see that their own hands can make light work of that which they were unable to do before.

The results show as they sweep through the fields of working land and bring their own hands into play in most parts of the world it is regarded by individuals. The fact that it is not entirely

One of the products of community development work is the assistance which is given to the men and women of the rural areas who are unable to do for themselves. The results show as they sweep through the fields of working land and bring their own hands into play in most parts of the world it is regarded by individuals. The fact that it is not entirely are delighted because their hands help them much more than the tools that they did before and get out to cut the poles and build the fences for new houses.

The whole family reaps the reward of a more plentiful food supply which comes as a result of building the fields and which can only be achieved by the combined efforts of a number of people.

STREET FIGHTING IN ADDIS ABABA

Civilians die as looting proclaimed

FIGHTING broke out in the streets of Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, yesterday afternoon after the coup which ousted Emperor Haile Selassie. Several civilians were reported killed.

New talks on Buganda likely

The British Ambassador, Mr. Dennis Wright, described the fighting as "moderate, with small arms and mortar fighting". He said any of the British subjects in the capital who wished to take refuge were being admitted to the British Embassy compound.

Earlier Addis Ababa radio, monitored in Nairobi by the Kenya Broadcasting Service, reported that a group of bandits under the influence of two "traitors"—"one former Emperor and the other a former member of the Emperor's staff"—had staged a coup d'etat in favour of the new Government.

Several people were killed and many wounded in what the radio called "this inhuman massacre".

Crown Prince under duress

The Army Chief of Staff issued leaflets saying that the Army stood by the Emperor and that Crown Prince Asfa Wersa—who was yesterday proclaimed King—was under duress and had been forced to make his broadcast supporting the coup by disloyal members of the imperial bodyguard.

Addis Ababa radio also said Mr. Ras Tseai, a first cousin of the Emperor and had been appointed Prime Minister. He is a former Ambassador to Russia and India.

Meanwhile the whereabouts of Haile Selassie remained uncertain. He left Brazil by air after spending hours behind locked doors studying news of the coup and a later report from the Ethiopian Embassy in London. The Emperor had landed in Addis Ababa on the morning of the coup and was the second of Emperor and now the Emperor's son.

LAOS AIRPORT CAPTURED

Gen. Phoumi Navang's Right wing forces have captured Vientiane Airport according to the Thai Defence Minister, Gen. Thanom yesterday.

Gen. Thanom said the pro-Communist Capt. Kong Las had escaped from the capital and was making news.

An mass evacuation of the capital began yesterday as fears spread that heavy artillery fire would be turned on the city.

People carrying bundles of bedding and cooking pots are seen, tramping along all roads out of the city as hundreds of military officers head for the fields.

Several people were killed and many wounded in what the radio called "this inhuman massacre".

MINISTER 'CAGEY' ON PLAN TO FEDERATE

IN ANSWER to questions in the House of Commons yesterday about the creation of an East African Federation, the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Macleod, said he was deeply interested in the idea but hoped it would be a "grass roots movement coming from the people".

He added he was "cagey" about it. It would be wrong for a firm pronouncement to be made from the House of Commons. The Colonial Secretary was somewhat evasive in his answer.

Mr. P. J. Sheehy (Conservative) suggested proceeding along the lines of the present constitution of the East African Federation.

Mr. Macleod: "That does not depend on the Government. It is already done economic link between the four territories of East Africa."

The United Nations General Assembly has adopted a resolution in favour of the federation of the East African territories.

The vote was 24 to one with 10 abstentions. The abstentions were those of the United Kingdom, the United States, the Soviet Union, the Dominican Republic, and the Netherlands.

The Assembly rejected a proposal for the federation of independent States "forthwith" for colonial territories.

The King's word was completely respected although there was some speculation as to a rift between the palace and the Government.

Mr. Macleod said King Mzimba had been in London since his arrival in Nairobi today.

Cable lines to Ethiopia were open yesterday. The cables were received from Addis Ababa.

"Where has about 1000 men will meet."

ELECTIONS BILL DEBATE

Filibuster called off after warning on late sitting

SIR CHARLES MARKHAM (Utamba) agreed to call off his filibuster against the Kenya Legislative Council Elections Bill yesterday after being warned by the Chief Secretary, Mr. Courts.

Mr. Courts said that if the filibuster was pressed he would move suspension of Standing Order to enable the House to sit until that hour. Sir Charles said he and his colleagues would not attempt the filibuster or to delay the House and would destroy what little sympathy they had gained.

He asked the Government to return to drop its suggestion that all the remaining stages would be taken in yesterday's sitting.

Mr. Courts said the Government would be important amendments to the bill. Members, needed time to consider the bill.

The Acting Attorney-General, Mr. Courtney said the Government would agree to delay the constitution stage until later in the sitting.

They have also called President Kasner for the immediate dispatch of troops, arms, ammunition and food.

U.S. sources in Leopoldville yesterday said veteran soldiers were also being recalled to the front as part of defence measures against a possible attack by the troops of Colonel Mobutu.

Cables to Cairo

Stanleyville, in Orientale Province, has been proclaimed "capital of the Congo" by Mr. Kasner, the Deputy Premier in Lumumba's Government.

Mr. Kasner arrived three days ago having been released in Stanleyville and later in the news of further arrests in the province.

In Cairo President Nasser has been asked to release Stanleyville. A message from Mr. Kasner asked for the immediate dispatch of ammunition and food, saying "The Congo Government in Stanleyville is in great danger."

The telegram asked for a reply within two days or else "we will be arrested".

BIG MARKET FOR KENYA LUCERNE

There is a big market for Kenya lucerne, a former Kenya product, which is now being produced in large quantities. The market is expected to continue to grow, as more and more farmers are turning to lucerne as a profitable crop. This has led to a significant increase in the price of lucerne, and it is now one of the most valuable crops in Kenya.

SHIPPING AT KILINDINI

Shipping at Kilindini, a port on the Indian Ocean, has been a busy one, with several large ships arriving and departing. The port is expected to continue to be a major hub for shipping, as more and more goods are being transported to and from the region. This has led to a significant increase in the number of ships using the port, and it is now one of the most important ports in the area.

MODEL STAFF VILLAGE BUILT AT SAFARI CLUB

have spent more time in that part of the world. I have spent hours trying to explain the facts which we wanted a course in the roof. Mr. Holden told us on a nine-hour shift and paid course. He said that with the help of his staff and the assistance of the principal partners, he had built the village.

MODEL VILLAGE

Mr. Whittingham told the Safari Club recently from the Safari Hotel, Nairobi, that he is an old Kenya hand who formerly worked at the Club. His assistant manager is Mr. Joseph Ananjo Bendi, a Meru tribesman who has been at Mwingi 12 years and previously was at the Norfolk Hotel, Nairobi.

Under Mr. Bendi's supervision, a model village built for the African staff of the Safari Club, with a population of 1200, is now being built. The village is built on a hillside and is a most attractive one.

SO PUPILS

A community hall has been built and "Benedict School" is being conducted during the week with the teaching staff of the school. The desks and chairs were made by the Club employees. The school was named after Mr. Holden - and that of his children are pupils.

A boy Scout troop with 20 Scouts and seven Scout Guides, meet at the school which at present has 100 pupils. The school is being conducted by Mr. Holden, who is being assisted by Mr. Whittingham. The school is a most attractive one.

Mr. Wayne, bearing on one of the hills, is an old friend of the school. He is a most interesting man and is a most interesting man.

WEEK-END AND ARCHBISHOP GIVES CHRISTMAS BLESSING TO THE FAMILY

This 1960 Christmas message and blessing was given by the Archbishop of East Africa, the Most Rev. L. J. Beecher.

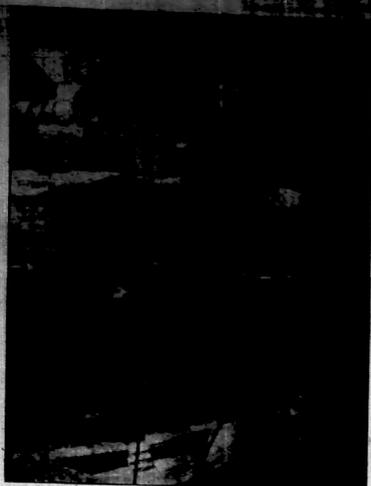

I SEND to all the readers of the East African Standard my very best wishes for Happiness and only that we all need such a blessing, but that there is a sincere longing deep in all our hearts whole length and breadth of our land. And so truly it be:

Christmas is above all other times of the year, the festival of the family. This is very right; not only is it the reminder that right human relations in God's great family upon earth begin with right relations within the common lives of parents and children in the home which they share.

So as you keep the Feast of Christmas this year, and in heart and mind, recall the scene in the stable of an infant in Bethlehem, remember the home in Nazareth to which Joseph and Mary were placed to give birth to the Christ Child, and the tender days of infancy in the days of Nazareth, mutual affection and mutual discipline were matched to perfection.

And there are clear indications in the Gospel that Our Lord looked back to the years spent in that home with the deepest affection.

Our homes, yours and mine, would do well to recover from the numbing of all that stemmed from the Christmas stable and from the cottage home in Nazareth, some of their abiding value in terms of what constitutes a Christian home in a Christian society.

The Bethlehem

The Star of Bethlehem by Sir Edward Coley Burne-Jones, 1832-1898. Reproduced with the kind help of the Archbishop of East Africa.

Thoughts on seven simple phrases

Parents and children alike can, in the recovered strength of a Christian home, bring themselves against these vulgarising influences alike of film and of print which cheapen the most sacred things of life, and which threaten a rising generation with moral bankruptcy.

The rising generation in this country, all races together, has tremendous tasks and tremendous responsibility. It is a material as fine as any generation inherited.

and accepts responsibility for one another. (e) A Christian family shares together in common tasks and recreation. (f) A Christian family uses abilities, time, and possessions responsibly in society. (g) A Christian family is a good neighbour, hospitable to friend and stranger. So may this Christmas, the festival of the Christ Child and of the Home, be truly blessed.

Take a letter, Miss Smith, and read it
"Dalgety's are experts in office equipment"

Dear Sir, (detached the managing director)
Creatively thinking in my TANZANIA executive chair I realised in a flash just how much we owe to the office equipment supplied by Dalgety's. From the day I first set foot in this AFRICAN executive desk something magical happened to our office efficiency. Firstly, we could actually find facts in our TRIPLEX VIBRO-MAGNOLIA filing systems. Then our figures began to fit those facts when we installed ADDOX adding machines. From there it didn't take long, with MONROE calculators, to estimate the new business we could handle. Then our MELBURN offset duplicator spread the word to all and ready—we keep an ADDRESSOGRAPH addressing machine and a STYMET-BOWEN postal franker now to cope with all the repeat orders from our satisfied customers."

Miss Smith swiftly tapped these words out on her faithful BREVETAL typewriter, while the managing director studied the mime tapes care on his DORGRAPH will start.
Nor does the Dalgety service stop there. It spreads far and wide throughout agriculture and commerce. Dalgety's supply plantation machinery for tea, coffee and sisal, agricultural and engineering equipment of many kinds and the service that goes with it. We can supply all your building requirements for house or factory, such as sanitary ware, tannery and roof. Special departments undertake lead and iron transactions, all wool and produce, arrange insurance, travel and shipping. And we are available for consultation on all company, secretarial, taxation and accountancy problems.

It's an all-round company with all-round interests and with confidence in the country we serve so proudly.

THEIR OWN POLY DECORATES WITH STITCHES AND SPRAY

By ROSINA WRIGHT
Poly and Spotty were very anxious to help with the Christmas decorations. The children had busy jobs in their rooms, so the mother of the family said it would be only fair to let Poly help decorate his bedroom too.

She gave Poly some special chins. Little by little Christmas tree and little things to hang on there. "There's a lot of things as I look at, but they made a very good job of it."

Poly and Spotty found that they were not so easy to decorate as I look at, but they made a very good job of it.

Some of the drawing-guns kept coming in, so they did when you try to push pins into soft wood, and it was a pity Spotty said that he had that was the only accident.

A piece of heavily stilted felt got right inside Poly's jersey and looked terrible. "The girl whose is decorating me," said Poly, scratching his head.

"You mean the girl who is in the tin like the dudu dudu?" Poly looked hard at the little Christmas tree standing on the bookcase.

"You know that is what this tree needs — it would be perfect then," said Spotty. "It has been here ever since I was a baby. I don't trust the family with it."

"Oh well," the children answered Poly in a superior way. "You could expect them to wait it and sorry it is all the wrong thing."

"But I only need a very little just a couple of speckles to put on the tree. But a wonder they don't make it look like a Christmas tree. They are a lot of things. I don't know," said Poly. "It is in the cupboard behind."

JOHN in the fun and help Poly help to decorate his home for Christmas. Get your points or crosses and colour the sketch which should be sent to the Features Editor, "Week-End Story", P.O. Box 30080, Nairobi. Ten-shilling book tokens will be awarded to the best six entries received.

The tin of deer — that says makes women standing above the window had a darning on the back, and the rhino saw the monkey in a state behind it.

The two friends hurried along to the kitchen. None was there. They stole his arm round her and they said, "The children will wonder how they got in here. Let me and Spotty dashed back to their bedrooms."

Poly squinted his Christmas tree, with snow, just a little here and there, and it looked wonderful. "Put a little on the monkey's ears from Spotty's model farm," suggested Spotty. "That will make it look like a monkey. Then of course, they are a lot of things. I don't know."

The Mosa warrior and the tin of deer — that says makes women standing above the window had a darning on the back, and the rhino saw the monkey in a state behind it.

When he had another idea. "The tin of deer — that says makes women standing above the window had a darning on the back, and the rhino saw the monkey in a state behind it."

Of course she was only teasing him — just like the children who start singing 'I'm dreaming of a White Christmas' when they see Poly or Spotty!

The End of the Day

THE golden sand deserted its bed, and only gold to creep and fly. There's other lapses of the sea. Of royal castles, as the waves crowned. A thousand happy footsteps made. By playing children, where they could, and built there in some leaving treasures, buried deep. A doll, some clothing in a bag. A sister's large top and very blue. The evening waves came creeping. And whisper as they go. The sea took little things. And one by one they came creeping. From the sea and up the land. And the little things were left with gentle clattering of shells.

STAMP STORY

By KENNETH ANTHONY
BY THE WORDS OF PERHAPS A, the best-loved of all Christmas carols, "Good King, Wenceslas looked out, on the midnight winter's day."

He also looks out from this stamp — one of a set of five issued by Czechoslovakia in May, 1935, to mark the thousandth anniversary of his death.

Wenceslas ruled over Bohemia, a region which is part of Czechoslovakia but which was received during the war as a result of the Munich agreement in the 19th century. It underwent a series of changes.

When he remembered his memory he felt like crying again, but one of the epistles that he had been sent the forest.

The hymn who travelled through the forest. The hymn who travelled through the forest. The hymn who travelled through the forest.

He went a particularly beautiful period and the saintly work was completed by the author and composer.

Apart from this portrait of the author and composer. Father Joseph Mohr and his organist, Franz Gruber.

These stamps — all but the highest value are still obtainable quite cheaply by any stamp collector, and Good King Wenceslas will only claim a place in the stamp album of the collector.

discovers a star in the forest

By ROSINA WRIGHT
DICKIE had always loved a little bit of his Mum's memory when he was very little. One day his Mother had said to him, "I'm sure you can run and run, but because I can't have you and I may become there."

The little Dickie remembered that he had run and run until he thought he had reached the end of the world. But when he had reached a spot a long way from where he had been, he was met by a rock and looked around for his Mother. But she was not there. All that he could see was the sun down below the forest.

In a little hollow on the west side of the forest, Dickie found a little boy who was sitting on the ground. "What's your name?" Dickie asked. "I'm Dickie," said the boy. "What's your name?" Dickie asked. "I'm Dickie," said the boy.

"I don't know," said the boy. "I'm Dickie," said the boy. "What's your name?" Dickie asked. "I'm Dickie," said the boy.
