MUMBA MURKERS

U.N. troops alert as civil war threatens

CVL war in the Congo seemed inevitable as tension rose last night after the news of the murder of M. Lumumba. United Nations troops throughout the country were alerted.

The United Nations Secretary-General, Mr. Hammarskjöld told the Security Council that M. Lumumba's death was "most serious and tragic". Mr. Hammarskjöld also suggested an international investigation into the circumstances of the murder.

The Security Council adjourned until tomorrow for delegates to study the implications of the news. In Washington, President Kennedy said the news was a "great shock".

Bodies found in bush

In Nairobi, a crowd of about 2,000 people stood in silence for an hour at Kallen's last night mourning M. Lumumba. They were attending an election meeting of Dr. Waiyaki, an Independent candidate for Nairobi East open seat.

Dr. Waiyaki, appeared to African Independent States to help Lumumba and his associates in Stanleyville, who are fighting against American imperialism in Katanga.

The news came from M. Mumbo, who said the bodies of M. Lumumba and his two aides, M. Okito and M. Mopoko, had been found in a bush near Katanga.

M. Mumbo said the name of the village where the bodies were found could not be released for fear of reprisals against the villagers. A later communication said the bodies were found in the Kolwezi area, 200 miles from the Congo border.

Dr. Waiyaki said he was "amazed" but not disfigured. He said he had been convinced. Nevertheless, M. Hammarskjöld said it was not important why the bodies had been found in a bush. Blamed for genocide

It would be a lie to say that the death of Lumumba was the responsibility of thousands of dead in Congo and Katanga without counting the persecutions and murders in Orientale and Kivu Provinces.

POWER came to Patricia Lumumba, a 34-year-old former post office clerk, when he succeeded in forming the first Government of the new Congo Republic.

Five months later he was brought, bound and humiliated to a prison near Leopoldville, the prisoner of his rival, Col. Mobutu.

And yesterday the brief political career of M. Lumumba, the highlights of which are summarized below, came to an ignominious close under a few feet of earth in a clearing in the Congo jungle.

Dixon's victory in the 100 yard dash was particularly notable as he was the only runner to complete the race in under a minute. E.A. RUGBY PROSPECTS APPEAR TO BE GOOD

While the first of the Rugby trials held at Nakuru on the weekend did not disclose anything likely to prevent the Springboks from gaining a comfortable, high-scoring win, they did indicate that, by East African standards, there are some most useful players among the various club and Service sides this season. Prospects indeed, appear to be brighter than for some years past.

The Police side was among the most impressive, being three quarters on display at the Nakuru trials, together with C. Young, of Nakuru. Once again there appears to be no dearth of back-row, long-scrambling forwards but no backer emerged with the potential of any George Phillips "Rango" Phillips. The chief fault of holding the ball long is the action was slow. The backs had little chance to show what they were worth. No one appears that there is as yet another half-back, combination might like Storey's Jones and Callaghan who on several occasions showed considerable potential as half-back and a man with skills that should pay good dividends when the ball comes again in earnest. He will go for Pouchery, outside (C. Young) in the second trial. (Cricket) Cricket work-off On Sunday there was an afternoon of cricket in the grounds. The first match was a one-day match between the Police and the Service. The Police won by 100 runs. The second match was a one-day match between the Police and the Service. The Police won by 100 runs.

DRAMATIC TEST NEARS END

AUSTRALIA, with a sad toll of injuries, and with nine second-innings wickets standing, need 201 runs to win the dramatic fifth and final Test against the West Indies in Melbourne.

Set a second-innings target of 250 yesterday, the fourth day of the Test, they started on the task as if there was no difficulty and made 97 runs, they were in just over the hour. But they will be handicapped by freedom of injuries to Neil Harvey, who is unable to move with any speed because of thigh trouble, and Wally Grout, who has a chipped bone in his right wrist.

Five other Australians are injured to some degree. Grout courageously defied the pain of his wrist to smash up four West Indies batsmen yesterday and equal the pair of the wicket to play a wicketless 115 in a Test series. Canberra would record number of dismissals by a wicketless in a Test series. Canberra would record number of dismissals by a wicketless in a Test series. U.N. FACES COLLOSYM Mr. Macloed has concern for officials

Noisy scenes as crisis session begins

RUSSIA yesterday confronted the United Nations with the gravest crisis in its 15-year history, formally demanding dismissal of the Secretary-General, liquidation of the Congo operation and sanctions against Belgium as an aggressor.

The Security Council met last night in a atmosphere of tension said by observers to be sharper than anything since the Suez crisis in 1956.

At the new United States delegate, Mr. Adlai Stevenson, addressed the Council crowd of Negroes and the public gallery and raved during the session was suspended as anti-British demonstrators.

Mr. Henry Carter-Bell, 47, who is a member of the Mau Mau fighter volunteers, said in a statement that he would defend the United States against any attack.

Everybody feeling angry
TENSE DISCUSSION ON RHODESIAN PROPOSALS

MOST African delegates, obviously excited, left in one large group after yesterday morning's plenary session of the Southern Rhodesian Conference broke up after nearly three hours.

One of them said that everybody was "feeling angry" and that it was apparently because the actual details of the franchise and composition of the legislature had still not been disclosed.

A statement was made by the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Macloed, and started a discussion on the subject. He said that it seemed apparent that the statement did not go beyond general terms.

73 DIE AS GIANT JET PLOUGHS INTO FIELD
A giant Boeing 707 jet airliner from New York nosedived into the ground and burst into flames in a terrible explosion yesterday as it came in to land at Brussels Airport, killing 73 people.

Postponed again
Mr. J. Greenfield, the Minister for Law for the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, said that the postponement of the conference was due to the fact that the airline operator, Sabena, was carrying 81 passengers and a crew of 11.

Mr. Macloed has concern for officials

The leader of the East Africa High Commission staff delegation to London, Mr. E. M. Hall, said on his arrival at Nairobi Airport yesterday: "Mr. Macloed gave us an assurance that our welfare and well-being were very much in his mind and in the mind of the Prime Minister."

The delegation expressed its disappointment on two points made by Mr. Macloed, although it expected to gain confidence after the anonymous constitutional talks in Dar es Salaam next month.

Further talks between the High Commission and Colonial Office officials will be held in either London or Nairobi. "It should be easier after the High Commission talks in the context of constitutional changes in the three territories," Mr. Hall said.

Mr. Hall, chairman of the High Commission Protocol and Executive Officers' Association said that he was disappointed that Mr. Macloed had not set out to promote fully his own view that Mr. Macloed had a matter of principle not to expect to work in an independent territory in which Britain would have no say.

"However, we do appreciate that the idea is not to stop this one and we intend to keep it on. It is the fact that the Colonial Secretary has stated quite definitely that the High Commission will be made available to the High Commission and will be the centre of the second territory and he also continues to play the earlier introduction of the franchise which is the constitutional change justly."

Limited success
On location, the joint statement on the talks and the report of the Range Commission would seem to be a success, if the High Commission, and if it is a result, policy was adopted of increased localisation, that would be a limited success. Something else which is also being considered is the introduction of a limited franchise.

Tear-gas used on strikers
Tear-gas was used on strikers in the East African territories. The strikers were protesting against the government's policies.

CRACK-DOWN OVER COFFEE

Uganda factory owners warned

E. AFRICA BLAMED FOR FIRMS FAILURE

CREATORS meeting held in connection with the liquidation of a firm of export agents, was told in London yesterday that a director blamed failure on the deterioration in East Africa's economic situation.

Another reason given was lack of co-operation with a subsidiary company.

The meeting appointed Mr. K. C. K. as a shareholder accountant, an liquidator of Davis and Sons Ltd., of St. Mary Aves, E.C.3.

A committee of inspection comprising representatives of the creditors was also appointed.

THE Department of Agriculture in Uganda has given notice to all factory owners that on from July 1 it will consider the suspension or revocation of any processing licence in cases where the factories concerned produce made to reduce or remove the cause of rustiness.

A circular on rustiness of coffee, issued by the Director of Agriculture, says there will be no grants for factories which are producing coffee which is rusty or which is liable to rust.

It points out that rust on coffee beans is a serious pest in all aspects of production and that it is the duty of the producer to prevent the causes of rustiness from occurring and to prevent the spread of the pest.

Nairobi residents will be able to find assurance about the security of their homes at night by the expansion of the service of night watchmen at private homes.

The scheme is an extension of the facilities offered by the Night Security Organisation.

A European inspector will visit the house of each subscriber at regular intervals, before night. Mr. M. Hines, who is in charge of the organisation, said the new service would be available to the existing subscribers who are applying night watches, who have been checked in Nairobi's interest.

As far as private houses are concerned, the private house owner is responsible for the security of his house. Mr. Hines said that he had a window check.

The new service was intended to cater particularly for those occupied houses in other parts of the city. Other details would be checked by the night security organisation. It was expected to be started in the month of March.

It was not surprising that there have been quite a number of burglaries reported while the night security service has been operating. Mr. Hines said that he had a window check of the houses of subscribers. He said that he had a window check of the houses of subscribers. Marilyn can marry a 'foreigner' says court

MR. HENRY NEWTON, a Britishman, refused to allow his daughter to marry a Scotsman because he considered him a 'foreigner', a London court was told.

But the magistrate gave the daughter, the 16-year-old Marilyn, permission to marry her friend, Bruce Mackintosh, 22, because they were a real couple.

THE KEY TO YOUR SECURITY

When your property is secure, you can relax.

Therefore, as an addition to our Askari Service which we have successfully operated for the last nine years, we now announce a security system suitable for houses, shops or offices where there is no watchman.

This service has been operated for many years in all major towns in Europe and America and is very popular.

The service is available to anyone inside Nairobi or Mombasa Municipal areas. It operates in this way. You pay a monthly rent for a numbered timeclock-key, to be fastened anywhere on your premises. This key, when turned in a timeclock carried by the European Inspector who visits your premises at irregular intervals during the hours of darkness, records the time of his call and his careful inspection of your premises. The time tapes are duly filed so that, when required, you can check them to see that your property has been inspected.

While we cannot guarantee there will never be a burglary, we reckon we can, with this system, as has been done in other countries, give you the maximum security for the minimum outlay.

A telephone call will bring one of our representatives to your home or office to discuss your security problem.

Stays Healing Substance That Relieves Pain

London (Special)—For the first time in the history of a new healing substance with non-toxic ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, it was reported to have relieved the patient's suffering promptly and while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of protrusion (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all, the improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months.

In fact, results were so thorough that patients were able to make such astonishing statements as: "Piles have disappeared."

Nairobi's mass attractions over 76 per cent

CANDIDATES SAY RESULT IS ANYONE'S GUESS

Yesterday was polling day in the Nairobi West reserved constituency which will return two European Members to the Legislature. A total of 4,300 people polled out of 5,636 registered voters, a poll of 76 per cent.

The voters - at three polling stations situated at Delamere Avenue, Westlands shopping centre and St. George's school - had the choice of three candidates.

They were Mr. Clive Salter, (Kenya Coalition) who polled 2,207 votes (62 per cent); the primary Mr. E. L. Howard-Williams, (Independent) who polled 1,229 (36 per cent) in the primary; and Mr. P. W. G. Rompage, (New Kenya Party) who polled 977 (28 per cent).

Mr. Mboya would close Portuguese consulates

Candidates and their supporters who tried to interpret the voting usually gave up the struggle and admitted that the result, which will be announced next week, was "one's guess". Any interpretation of the voting had to take into account the fact that Mr. M. Ndedha-Clerk, who polled 1,413 votes in the primary, stood down in favour of Mr. Salter.

But how many of his votes had been transferred to Mr. Salter it was impossible to say. There were no parties in the African vote - 1,114 African votes were cast. It was generally thought yesterday that between 600 and 700 had been transferred to Mr. Salter.

Many who registered in October have since left the area. Mr. Henshaw's 1,813 and Mr. Rompage both had Kanu supporters. Mr. Rompage's supporters were generally described as being "of the African vote" and were conspicuous at each polling station.

LUO DRIFT TOWARDS SUPPORT FOR KADU

There are signs of a lull in the Luo drift towards the Kenya African Democratic Union (KADU) as Luo living in the Kericho area have indicated that they are not so keen to support KADU as they were in the past.

It was reported that some of the Luo members who were in the Kericho area had been told by KADU leaders that they should not vote for KADU but for the Kenya African National Union (KANU). This was said to be the result of a decision taken by the Luo members who were in the Kericho area to support KANU.

Kanu table out of bounds

It seems there is some talk of a "table out" of Kanu in the Kericho area, where a group of Luo members are said to be planning to support KANU.

It was reported that some of the Luo members who were in the Kericho area had been told by KADU leaders that they should not vote for KADU but for the Kenya African National Union (KANU).

DISUNITY DANGER TO KENYA

DISUNITY might well be the greatest danger to Kenya's future, according to a report by the African Development Bank.

The report states that the African Development Bank has been set up to help African countries to develop their economies and to improve their standards of living.

The bank's report on Kenya states that the country's economy is growing rapidly, but that there is a danger of disunity between the different ethnic groups.

The report says that the different ethnic groups in Kenya are not working together as well as they should, and that this could lead to serious problems in the future.

KITCHEN PLANNING CAN SAVE THE DAY WORK A WEEK

By ELIZABETH KENYON

It has recently been estimated that the average housewife works something like 3,000 miles a year—or nearly nine miles per day—in the course of normal chores. During any particular heavy bout of housework, such as preparing for a party or making an annual "run-out" and spring clean, she easily knocks up a minimum of some 15 miles of walking and carrying. Research into this mundane but all-too-important subject—which has been carried out in Britain has provided a number of eye-opening facts to all those husbands who take housework lightly or who think that their wives make too much fuss of the whole business anyway.

MAINLY FOR WOMEN

In order to wish women carrying out the normal, everyday chores of housework, scientists working at a building research station just outside London invited a group of housewives and their husbands and children to spend a week in the lab.

The women were asked to wear pedometers which automatically measure mileage of their movements. In addition, an accurate measurement of movements was taken.

The scientists revealed some startling facts about the energy expended on the housework in terms of the walking business alone which averaged 1.5 miles a day.

DETAILED STUDY

It was found, for example, that in the preparation and cooking of meals for five or six people, a housewife walks 1.5 miles. But between her morning and evening meals, she walks 1.5 miles. During and sweeping a carpet, she walks 1.5 miles. Accounts for another 95 miles carried out in a day, while best-making tops up an additional 70 miles.

A more detailed time and motion study into the questions of housework has also been carried out for a number of professional experts, who think that the majority of housewives do not have a great deal of hard work, and can gain something like a day's work (let alone) a week. Now, this is something of a sweeping statement in itself, but Mr. from a London-Traveler, who has been to the girls when he talks about the housework which some women invest themselves in, and in more genteel fashion, offers one or two suggestions for cutting down effort, getting time, and still achieving the same amount of work.

After a study of housewives done by a group of housewives for several months, Mr. London-Traveler has come to the conclusion that the majority of women spend less than 100 minutes in the kitchen than they think they do.

It is also concluded that it is largely due to lack of planning, and to the fact that the kitchen work is not planned, and that housewives do not use all the equipment available to them. It is also concluded that the majority of women do not use all the equipment available to them.

It is also concluded that the majority of women do not use all the equipment available to them. It is also concluded that the majority of women do not use all the equipment available to them.

cleaning them, makes them quite impossible to use. Lastly, it says that if a woman planning the job she is doing, she will be able to benefit time. He advises women to plan their work more efficiently if they are not doing a large amount of preparation, doing the job, and then cleaning up immediately.

And for real efficiency, it is best not to start the first cleaning stage until the first third of the second day.

To illustrate this method of working, he took the case of ironing shirts, and in an average week, he carried out about 15 minutes, whereas an average woman spends half an hour.

It is also concluded that the majority of women do not use all the equipment available to them. It is also concluded that the majority of women do not use all the equipment available to them.
