GENERAL BOOTH REQUESTED TO RETIRE.

Salvation Army High Council Decision.

ALTERNATIVE SUGGESTION REJECTED.

Donation Appointed to Interview the General.

The High Council of the Salvation Army has decided without a single dissenting vote, to request General Booth to retire from the leadership of that organization. A lengthy resolution passed a tribute of the life and work of the General, but stated that as the aged and well-known leader could receive advanced age it was unlikely that he could recover sufficiently to take on the burden under which he collapsed.

SIGNING OF THE RESOLUTION.

London Jan 11.—In order to sign the historic and historic abolition of the High Council, the High Council has appointed a special committee, consisting of General Booth, the Hon. Charles Booth, and the Hon. Charles Booth, to administer the affairs of the Army instead of him. It is pointed out that under the terms of the Army's constitution, the High Council is in essence a governing body, and such a request as the High Council would have no authority, even if it was established.

The Council's Decision.
A Salvation Army spokesman stated that after the resolution of the High Council, the High Council has decided to appoint a special committee, consisting of General Booth, the Hon. Charles Booth, and the Hon. Charles Booth, to administer the affairs of the Army instead of him. It is pointed out that under the terms of the Army's constitution, the High Council is in essence a governing body, and such a request as the High Council would have no authority, even if it was established.

WHAT CHRYSLER ENGINEERS HAVE FOUND OUT ABOUT DODGE BROTHERS

by
WALTER P. CHRYSLER

The Chrysler technical experts, headed by Fred M. Zeder, Vice-President in charge of engineering for all Chrysler companies, has completed its very exhaustive study of Dodge Brothers products.

Their findings have more than vindicated my personal knowledge of the soundness and integrity of Dodge Brothers methods.

While certain changes have been made in conformity with Chrysler standards of luxury and style, Chrysler engineers found that Dodge Brothers three new Sixes—the Sixes, the Victory and the Standard—are really as sound as motor cars can be built.

They report that the very highest standard of excellence in materials and workmanship is reflected by their investigations.

This report more than justifies my personal conviction that Dodge Brothers are Sixes in a Six of reasonable distinction and quality.

It explains, in terms of honest value, why Dodge Brothers improved standard Sixes comprise a great and growing market.

And it confirms my sincere belief that the very highest Six, by its original and exclusive engineering in construction, is today one of the truly great cars of the world.

In fact, every one of these cars goes beyond the shadow of a doubt that Dodge Brothers policy of building well is today proving itself to be the soundest and most profitable investment that Dodge Brothers have ever made.

Dodge Brothers Motor Cars will continue to bear the stamp of a doubt that Dodge Brothers policy of building well is today proving itself to be the soundest and most profitable investment that Dodge Brothers have ever made.

With the return of personal management the entire thought and effort of this organization are being directed towards a single high objective—to make Dodge Brothers good name better still.

From my complex knowledge of all Dodge Brothers drawings and assets, and knowing, as I do, the exceptional talents of the men who share with me the responsibility for success—I have no hesitancy in pronouncing that Dodge Brothers is facing even more brilliant than its future ever had.

W. P. Chrysler
President, Dodge Brothers Corporation

Our Weekly Hint.

ELIMINATING FUMES IN THE CAR

Fumes inside cars, especially during the winter, are generally put down to leaks in the exhaust system. In some cases they are due to the crank case breather venting into the engine compartment. Where this is the case, the dipstick and the way inside the engine compartment should be checked. It is usually found that the dipstick is the cause of the trouble. The dipstick should be replaced by one of the correct type, and the crank case breather should be removed. The dipstick should be replaced by one of the correct type, and the crank case breather should be removed.

There are several other causes of fumes inside cars. One is the oil dipstick. The dipstick should be replaced by one of the correct type, and the crank case breather should be removed. The dipstick should be replaced by one of the correct type, and the crank case breather should be removed.

Customs and Railways.

THE RULING BEFORE THE COLONY.

At the meeting of the Council of the Government of the Colony, held on the 26th inst., the following resolution was passed: "That the Government should take steps to ensure that the Customs and Railways are properly maintained and that the necessary funds are provided for the purpose."

Appeal to Nguni.

The Nguni people are invited to join the Government of the Colony in the development of the country. The Government is offering them the opportunity to acquire land and to engage in agriculture and other forms of industry. It is hoped that this will lead to the betterment of their lives and the progress of the Colony as a whole.

A Kampisi Outbreak.

An outbreak of disease has been reported at Kampisi. The disease is characterized by fever, headache, and other symptoms. It is believed to be a form of malaria. The Government is taking steps to prevent the spread of the disease and to provide medical aid to those affected.

The High Commissioner for the East Africa Protectorate.

The High Commissioner for the East Africa Protectorate has issued a notice regarding the taxation of motor vehicles. The notice states that the Government is increasing the tax on motor vehicles to help defray the cost of maintaining the roads. It is hoped that this will lead to the improvement of the road system and the benefit of the people.

THEATRE ROYAL.

There are times when it is inevitable that the latest production of a film has not been as successful as the producer would have wished. The "Mystery of the Theatre Royal" is one of these. The film is a long one, lasting a full two hours to show and yet throughout the whole of that time there is a dull monotony. The story is powerful and it is a pity that it is not better presented in a shorter period in which it could have been made more interesting. With regard to the fact that the trouble had always been that the people were not the spiritual head of the nation, this was something to make any ordinary man of sense think upon.

hair falling down one side and trailing along on the floor, and a delicate lace bow on the other side. Worn on all black or on all large black is wanted, without any trace of color this idea is excellent. Then, too, you may get a little lace collar, decorative with beads with long chains, sleeves to wrists and over the hands for the afternoon.

Lace collars are very pretty on both day and evening frocks. When a purely ornamental effect is wanted, the collar may be of a pattern, as if worn, and yet consist of a strip of white lace, some three inches wide. It is spread from the shoulders to the neck, and reaches the neck in the center of the back, and allowed to hang freely before it is attached to the neck.

Coloured Jewellery.

The popularity of uncoloured glass beads, and white coral, has increased so far as to demand colored beads. The artistic center of stone ornaments that be made out of them quickly enough, for they are so cheap. Artificially speaking, that woman who wears a large, new, colored crystal cut into squares, is considerably popular just now. If a man wears a long hair, a white beard, and a white mustache, the colored beads round the throat, the hair, only red, and some blue, on the breast occurs.

"SPECIAL" HOME MADE SOAP.

There are several simple home-made shampoos which, despite their simplicity, are completely satisfactory. By using the following recipe, you can be sure of getting the shampoo that is just right for your hair.

For hair that is inclined in any way to become greasy, and which is not so much as it should be, that will impart a beautiful, silky appearance is made by dissolving one ounce of good soft soap into a pint of hot water; add a quarter of a teaspoonful of borax and the same quantity of bay rum and six drops of perfume. This will suit the hair of the hair with gentle friction; run out all the soap with warm water, and when the hair is dry, rub a little rose oil into the scalp.

Dry and Brittle Hair.

Hair that is dry and brittle is best treated with an egg shampoo. Beat the white and the yolk thoroughly together in a bowl, adding about a couple of warm water. Apply the shampoo in the usual way, rinse in warm water, and dry the hair with a fairly hot towel, exposing it if possible to the sunbath for a few minutes.

Preserving the Color.

One of the best shampoos for preventing light or golden hair from turning dark is made by beating up the white of an egg with a table-spoonful of cream of tartar, a spoonful of lemon juice, and a spoonful of water. Wash the hair with this mixture, and then wash with plain water.

Wash every other evening with this mixture. But they must be washed in one wash if they are to be successful. This is a very good recipe for the hair.

Stone Age Man in Kenya.

Mr. L. S. B. Leakey on his Elmenteita Discoveries.

Before giving his lecture on the Elmenteita and Olduvai National History Society on Thursday evening, Mr. Leakey said that he wished to thank the many friends in Kenya who had helped to make the work a success. He especially mentioned Mr. Burdon of the Government, who has done more for the Expedition than any man in Kenya, and also Major J. A. Macdonald of Nakuru and Messrs. Jamieson Long, Reeling and Dingleton of Embusay, on all of whose generous contributions have been very largely carried out. Mr. M. B. Donohue who first told him of the one which is now known as Donohue's site.

Mr. Leakey expressed his gratitude to the Forces Government for all the help which they have afforded him and especially for the proposed grant of £1,000 towards the expenses of the Expedition in 1927. In England Dr. A. C. Haddon, F.R.S., Sir Arthur Keith, F.R.S., and Mr. M. J. Burdon had from the first looked the expedition in every way and Mr. Leakey said he would never like to forget the help which he had received from them. The Royal Geographical Society and the Field Naturalists' Trustees had helped to finance the Expedition but last season and the present one had not done so. Mr. Leakey said he would like to thank Mr. J. H. Burdon for his generous help. The only other member who had been in the expedition was Mr. J. H. Burdon who was a geologist and had been in the expedition for some time. He had been in the expedition for some time and had been in the expedition for some time.

Mr. Leakey continued. The subject of my lecture to-day is the Stone Age occupation of Kenya, but before I proceed to describe the discoveries which we have made in this country, I should first say a few words about the various sites which we have called the Elmenteita sites.

As you all know, during the Pleistocene period Europe underwent a series of climatic changes caused by glacial and interglacial periods. It is not agreed as to the exact number of these climatic and interglacial periods, but it is generally agreed that there were three such climatic periods, each with a cold and a warm phase. The cold phases were called glacial periods and the warm phases were called interglacial periods. It is generally agreed that the Elmenteita sites were occupied during the warm phases of the Elmenteita period.

On the plains during the greater part of the Pleistocene period the Plains and coast extended to the sea on the all Africa shore. The bones of man of these races have been found from very early times. The first great group of species have been identified by examining their composition, and as a result hundreds of tools and objects of work in the bones and teeth of the Pleistocene were taken from the sites. In some instances the tools and objects were taken from the sites in the same manner as they are taken from the sites of the present day. These bones have been used in the same manner as they are used in the present day.

That we have evidence of a people who lived in the East African coast should have been well known to the East African. A fact more important than the fact that the East African coast should have been well known to the East African. A fact more important than the fact that the East African coast should have been well known to the East African.

TALK OF EXPLORING ISLAND RUINS

STANDARD CORRESPONDENT.

Wednesday, Jan. 11.

The idea of exploring the ruins of the East African coast is not a new one. It has been suggested many times in the past, but it has never been carried out. The ruins of the East African coast are of great interest to the East African people, and it is now being suggested that they should be explored.

MANIPULATION OF WOMEN

Expectations. We have found a burial with a fairly complete skeleton of the type of man who made the Acheulean type of tool, though it is hard to believe that he will not turn out to be a true Neanderthal man.

The Persian newspaper article points out that the forthcoming session of the Majlis (Parliament) will be passed directly concerning the rights of women. The movement for emancipation has already been making steady progress in Persia as in Turkey. Enlightened reformers are no longer and regard it as contrary to the best interests of mankind.
