PHYLLOSAN

PREPARED ACCORDING TO THE RECIPE OF THE DIRECTOR OF E. BUEHLIG, M.D.

RECOMMENDED BY THE BEST PHYSICIANS OF THE WORLD FOR THE TREATMENT OF ALL FORMS OF BLOOD WEAKNESS AND ALL FORMS OF CHLOROSIS AND ANEMIA.

Blood Weakness due to climatic conditions

To maintain the vigor of the blood and vital functions under debilitating climatic conditions, there is nothing so effective as Phyllosan.

The power of Phyllosan's ability to stimulate the circulation of the blood corpuscles and to raise the vitality of the bloodstream is of paramount importance to all dwellers in countries where the blood tends to become impoverished.

As, at the same time, Phyllosan's tablets increase the metabolic rate of the whole system, fresh the heart, and have a dilating effect upon the smaller arteries, the result is that Phyllosan's tablets increase the vitality of the blood stream, and thus increase the vitality of the organism.

Under such conditions, Phyllosan's tablets should be regarded not as a medicine but as part of the daily diet. This can be done for very long periods because these tablets contain no harmful or deleterious substances, and are as natural extracts. The efficacy of Phyllosan's tablets has been demonstrated in a most convincing manner by the experience of the medical profession and by the general public over many years in all parts of the world.

Dr. J. H. Laidlaw, in his book "Diseases in Tropical Climates," says: "The author has obtained his conclusions from his own observations and from the reports of his colleagues in the tropics. He writes: 'I found almost every patient suffering from the blood weakness...'

(Phyllosan Tablets) Of all Climates of the World

German Spring

Planned a period of gloom realism which was evidently on the Russian front and create the right emotional atmosphere for an appeal to the suffering troops.

That seems to be a less popular line in Berlin than it was in the past, now reversed in the austere atmosphere of the present circumstances it would be dangerous to try and whip up German enthusiasm for the Spring offensive by promises of an easy and spectacular triumph. For the enthusiasm is fading, and there is good evidence to show that it is the alternative to a stiff-necked attitude by emphasizing that the fate of Germany will shortly be in the balance and that superhuman efforts are necessary.

The editor of a Finnish newspaper, Helsinki, who has been a member of the Finnish Press Delegation which has just returned from Germany, has recorded his impressions with remarkable candor and quality. He writes on the subject of the German public in "the gigantic effort of the Spring offensive." He reports that there was a considerable feeling of hope for the Germans had spent themselves by their resistance during the Winter months. "There is no general optimism," he writes, "for the moment, but the maximum has been reached and the spring offensive is expected to be a disaster. The German public is in a state of despair, and the Spring offensive is expected to be a disaster. The German public is in a state of despair, and the Spring offensive is expected to be a disaster."

The defensive line in Hitler's speeches has been a constant refrain, but the German public is in a state of despair, and the Spring offensive is expected to be a disaster. The German public is in a state of despair, and the Spring offensive is expected to be a disaster. The German public is in a state of despair, and the Spring offensive is expected to be a disaster.

factory. The enemy, the Germans in particular, do not shy at becoming increasingly expert to replace-trained and experienced.

Both in the sphere of naval operations and of merchant shipping, the general situation in the Mediterranean (for example) cannot be expected to show improvement until the programme of new construction are well advanced.

It should, however, be unnecessary to wait until there is an emergency. Great quantities of petrol and oil are saved now if there was a properly coordinated transport plan.

There is a States railway and we have a road system. The activities of one should be correlated with the services on and use of the other.

Today everyone should be thinking "What can I do to help?" Of what unnecessary comfort and extravagant luxury can I do without?

It is a matter of real urgency that this is a matter of real urgency. It has been suggested that it will be one of the many functions of Mr. Clay...

That British women and children evacuated from the East have arrived at Mombasa but have been unable to land because they did not have an official permit and enough money to satisfy the Immigration Authorities.

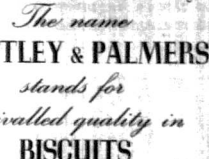

Government need have no doubt about the nature of public support in the matter. In East Africa and particularly in Kenya we have all the necessary facilities and excellent climatic conditions.

There is a responsibility which East Africa will gladly shoulder. Do not let it pass a limit upon. There is plenty of room in our homes for them they can be billeted there if necessary.

And Now... Africa! THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1942. Things are moving. Great changes are impending and are already in motion.

Lord Cranborne signalled his acceptance of the Colonial trust which Mr. Churchill received in him by indicating the worst-unfledged Colonial Administration.

A WELCOME FOR EVACUEES
THE GOVERNMENT OF KENYA
suggested yesterday a long-pending problem as regards the reception of evacuees.
From that statement it will be clear to the public that, so far as the Government is concerned, the issue is not exactly a straight-forward one. The greater part of the communique pertaining to this subject is set out in the following terms:
"In fact, decided to setting out reasons why Kenya could not extend its welcome—or at least its full welcome—to many who read it!"
Actually the situation is not so depressing. It is true that under the regulations issued by the War Relocation Authority the entry of women and children is prohibited except with special permission, but having regard to the growing importance of the women labour force, the prohibition has been less rigidly applied in recent months. Many women have been permitted to enter Kenya if prepared to undertake work of national importance or qualified for work in the categories for which the demand is greatest. Apparently

ACCUSED ACQUITTED
RECEPTION OF EVACUEES IN KENYA
Official Policy Explained

The decision of the Reception in Kenya has been the subject of constant consideration by the Government since the early days of the communique issued yesterday. The entry of Italy into the war, this Colony, in common with other African territories, saw itself a war zone and could not accept refugees, and the United Kingdom Government decided that restrictions should be imposed on the entry of women and children into the East African territories, unless they were bona fide residents here or were coming to take up employment of national importance. This was primarily due to the military considerations, but limited shipping and the necessity of reducing civilian travel by a minimum. The services could have the full benefit of all the available accommodation were additional factors like our high position in regard to the Mediterranean tended to increase the difficulties. It was advised the authorities first in Cyprus, and then in Palestine, Kenya, and the Middle East generally that it was proposed to offer hospitality to British women and children from those areas, who had no other homes in Africa, and were unable to leave their own country. Circumstances did not, however, permit of the removal of the Government's responsibility under the Defence Regulations and, although the Government had offered to receive evacuees from the Middle East, it did not appear wise at a time when Kenya was still an active theatre of war to allow anyone who had already been evacuated to the Rhodesia or South Africa who had, therefore, received a "safe" and healthy zone, to return northwards towards the war zone. This attitude has been explained by the military authorities in the case of the subject of a recent General Routine Order.

It must be remembered that Kenya had to maintain a large fighting force, and since 1940, the question of supplying the ever-growing demands for accommodation in Nairobi, Mombasa, and elsewhere for the various headquarters, technical services, and miscellaneous home military units, such a large number of problem which is still acute. Further, in view of the climate and amenities and because of the curtailment of ordinary home utilities in Europe, Kenya became the recipient of a large number of families from the Belgian Congo.

Other factors
 With the continuation of the Abyssinian campaign the only facilities available to create dependency or to create a settlement in the East African territories, but (1) it was likely to injure the public tranquillity, and (2) such report was not a question of information which had already been published with the sanction of the officer in charge of the Information Office. (3) there was an "onus" (guilty intention) "onus" was a not an incident of this officer; (4) the report contained precise references to the strength of our forces in the Mediterranean.

required considerable large numbers of staff of Service personnel, and the staff of the East African headquarters stationed in Kenya, others, whose husbands were in the Middle East, named assistance in the hope of being able to visit their husbands on short leave. The entry of such women is governed by instructions issued by the various Services authorities and they are not granted to the Civil Government unless the restrictions should be imposed by the General Officer Commanding in Chief, the Naval Officer in Charge, or the Air Officer in Charge. The necessity of the preservation of military secrets, the employment of Government employees, and other military formations in a civilian capacity, having regard to all these factors, the Government agreed to grant them permission provided that the approval of the relevant authorities was obtained in respect of their employment being accepted by the relevant authorities. Permission was also accorded to women seeking employment as nurses, communications officers, typists, and farm and dairy photographers, etc. Applications on the other hand were admitted, should being required to engage in work of national importance, but those engaged in such work were asked to be available to re-engage in military districts as and when it might be necessary to do so.

THE RIOM WAR GUILT TRIAL

Further disturbances...
 March 27
 Further disturbances...
 A Lieutenant-Colonel declared that there was no French Air Corps because of disagreement between the Ministers of War and Air. He added "Not only did we have no planes to fight for the artillery but our planes were under construction."
 A general said that the cause of the French defeat could be traced above all to the exclusive defensive strategy of the French. He added that the French Government was hindered by the intervention of Parliament.
 In Germany the death penalty may be imposed upon persons who interfere with the supply of war materials or with the collection of war material.
 This amendment was made in yesterday's Reichstag when it was decided that the decree was not to be applied to Belgium and that it should not be applied to the Netherlands and annexed territories in the West.

ARE YOU SURE HE'S SAFE?

YES! says every mother who uses this new-type, far more effective (not far less expensive) antiseptic.

Why mothers realize that, surely, the risk of infection from such a common germ, as streptococci, is not to be taken lightly. And why, when they are certain that their babies are safe, they use the best and most reliable.

The answer is Oxy! For Oxy is the world's largest, most reliable, most thoroughly purified, most effective antiseptic. Yes, because it is made by the world's largest manufacturers and because it costs much less than any other.

POSSIBILITY OF GERMAN ATTACK ON TURKEY

More Questions About Kenya in House of Commons

["Standard" correspondent]
 THE Diplomatic Correspondent of the Turkish Ambassador's inauguration, points out that if the departure of Mr. Pagan for a visit to Turkey brings a new twist, the Turks have had plenty of experience in considering others in the past.

The Turkish correspondent of the Daily Express, points out that 80 per cent of the Turks do not speak English. He will invade Turkey, firstly, because he is too busy in Russia, secondly because in view of the mounting tide of refugees from the Balkans, there could be few communications, thirdly because the troops in the Balkans have been reduced in numbers. He is not a man who believes that invasion is possible, but he is necessary to Turkey in a necessary capacity to do some work against the West in the attack.

The papers are still giving attention to the new twist in the attack. It is announced that the Daily Mail has the most up-to-date information on the situation in 1942. The Daily Mail has been in London since 1942 and has been in London since 1942. It has been in London since 1942 and has been in London since 1942.

["Standard" correspondent]
 Dar es Salaam, March 29. The new Governor of Tanganyika Territory, Sir Wilfrid Jackson, the new Governor of Tanganyika Territory, said "I hope, in the next few days, that it will be possible to make public an outline of some of the immediate preparatory measures which the present situation clearly seems to demand."

House, Dar es Salaam. He was replying to addresses of welcome prepared to him by public bodies and communities in Tanganyika, at Government House, Dar es Salaam.

He said that he must be prepared to face dangers and difficulties greater than any that have yet threatened the country. We must become accustomed to the possibility that some people have expressed will not be realized, but we must make our preparations for whatever may betide and must not rely on vague hopes and uncertain forecasts to save us.

 Dar es Salaam, March 29. Referring to Lord Cranborne's message to African producers, His Excellency said that he must be prepared to face dangers and difficulties greater than any that have yet threatened the country. We must become accustomed to the possibility that some people have expressed will not be realized, but we must make our preparations for whatever may betide and must not rely on vague hopes and uncertain forecasts to save us.

Perhaps it would be possible to make the shipping efficiency in an other way. I remember during the war that large quantities of machinery and tools were imported from India and China. There are many vessels using those imported in India and perhaps of those vessels to be used to examine the possibility of using those vessels for shipping.

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Respectfully of the advances and reviews in connection with the situation of the last few weeks, the best part of the news has been recently had to the resignation of the member for the Rift Valley in the Executive Council.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF NAIROBI MEAT INSPECTION

stockbreeder grows about the high percentage of condemned cattle in Nairobi. There is very little evidence that the average breeder has taken much trouble to try to protect his stock from the disease. Nor will he be encouraged to do so if the disposal of cattle is made easier.

The point is made that for many years there has been a very poor system of meat inspection in the country districts, where the net-terers and their families are none the wiser. But that is not a valid reason for breaking down public health standards.

The proposal in regard to Nairobi is that the Municipal Public Health Authority will be requested to interfere with existing methods of meat inspection.

MEAT SUPPLIES The meat-eating public in the larger centres of Kenya, and in particular in Nairobi, are not going to be too happy about the proposal that a change should be made in the standards of meat inspection in order to ease the threatened shortage of slaughter cattle.

There are plenty of experts who give assurances that there is no danger to public health—and we believe that they are right.

Psychological question so far as the consumer is concerned is whether he will be able to offer something more palatable than the hard sausage which he will be asked to eat.

Proved By Camera

Convincing proof of the April 1 combats of the Italian in last December's raid is given in a series of photographs published today in the British newspapers.

Most striking is one showing the complete disappearance of the huge motor tank galle. This was the main target of the raid and its destruction was wrought by the Italian aircraft. American destroyer Commodore Joseph P. Kennedy is to be in the bottom of the sea and clearly is the cause of the aircraft.

Other striking scenes clearly in the shattered machine house and a man by a propeller. A submerged propeller was seen in actual operation for a few minutes before the destruction of the buildings are destroyed.

War Work And Municipal Office Hours

A proposal by the Deputy Mayor, Councilor C. U. G. U. G., with regard to war work of the Municipal staff, was brought on at Thursday's meeting of the Nairobi Municipal Council.

The Council's minutes were in the effect that as it was necessary to employ staff in the Town Hall, on the office hours in the Town Hall, on the office hours of the Council, as they may decide.

The Council, by a vote of 11 to 1, passed, by a vote of 11 to 1, until 1.15 p.m., or any other time convenient to the Council.

In explanation of the Council's decision it is aimed at permitting every person employed in the Town Hall to be free for his war work from 1.15 p.m. onwards.

The Council, however, is not to be understood as having no objection of hand, but the thought, he might add, is that the Council to give it a month.

Councilor Kipkorri supported the motion and offered the opinion that he was something more behind it. He said that Government would like to see the Municipal staff given the same in the question of hand, but that there was no objection of hand, but the thought, he might add, is that the Council to give it a month.

Councilor Tross was opposed to the proposal because he thought it quite impracticable.

Councilor Anderson was a proponent of the proposal and a proponent of a change in Kenya under the proposal and thought it was to be the matter to the Council.

The Mayor, however, thought that the matter was not to be taken up by the Council, who would have to be satisfied with a total.

The Mayor's opinion was that the proposal should be submitted to the Council and that the Council should be satisfied with a total.

Lady Eleanor Cole, who is the wife of the Mayor, was also present and supported the proposal.

The Council, however, is not to be understood as having no objection of hand, but the thought, he might add, is that the Council to give it a month.

RAILWAYS' FIRST AID WORK Encouraging Review

THE Sir John Ambulance Brigade, which has been operating within the Kenya and Uganda Railways and Harbours Administration, has recently reviewed the work of the first aid team in the extension of the railway line to the coast.

It may not be generally known that each year an extension of the railway line to the coast is made, and that in a large number of cases the first aid team is called upon to provide first aid to the passengers and the staff.

At present, the staff of the Administration is being trained in first aid, and it is hoped that this will result in a more efficient first aid team.
