...match at Tottenham proved one thing—that Italy, under the World Football Cup, has almost conquered the world and that it would not be long before it would return flag from Portugal last May.

The Italian victory in the tournament was a great step towards the goal of world domination. It was a triumph for the Italian people and for the Italian football team.

The Italian team, under the leadership of coach Nereo Rocco, was a well-oiled machine. They played with skill, speed, and precision. They were a team that was not to be underestimated.

The hat the Princess wore and Christmas in London shops

PRINCESS MARGARET, who is to marry soon, is expected to wear a hat of black lace and a fur stole at the christening of the Duke of Edinburgh's daughter in London, which will be held at the Palace of St. James on December 23rd.

The hat is said to be made of black lace and to have a small plume of feathers. It is believed that the hat will be made by the London milliner, Philip Trepanier, who has also made hats for the Duchess of Devonshire and the Duchess of Norfolk.

The Princess is expected to wear a black and white dress with a small plume of feathers in her hair.

One large hatmaker says that the Princess will wear a hat of black lace and a fur stole. He says that the hat will be made by the London milliner, Philip Trepanier, who has also made hats for the Duchess of Devonshire and the Duchess of Norfolk.

How to safeguard your skin

To talk of Beauty Culture and how to apply cosmetics is in itself a wide subject.

For we women have all, and few have the same texture of skin as the problem is how necessary it is to apply to beauty to enhance them to convey the impression that at all times they are in the "pink" or "rosy" condition.

It is not to be thought, however, that one can get by without a little help from the "pink" or "rosy" condition.

For we women have all, and few have the same texture of skin as the problem is how necessary it is to apply to beauty to enhance them to convey the impression that at all times they are in the "pink" or "rosy" condition.

THE VOICE OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

WHAT does American business really think?

That question posed on the floor of the United States Senate in 1911 by a perplexed Senator from Minnesota, was answered directly in the formation of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America as an organization which can and does speak for American business.

By Herman W. Steinkrous

Senator Charles McNichols was the man who posed the question. His conclusion had arisen when he received telegrams from widely separated chambers of commerce all over the world to visit him and support a similar sense of indignation. "How can we really think," he asked, "that our Government represents us and that our Government representatives are responsible to us?"

Always ready

Editors of American magazines in an organization that would not only represent the business community but also the Congress authorized the formation of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is a voluntary association with a designated field of activity which is to represent the business community in this country before the United States Government. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has long been recognized as the official representative of business in matters relating to business and industry. Its primary objective is to represent business in its relations with the Government.

large corporations, and a formal board of directors. It is organized to represent the interests of business in its relations with the Government. It is organized to represent the interests of business in its relations with the Government. It is organized to represent the interests of business in its relations with the Government.

RAILWAYS LOSE ON GROUNDNUT CUTS

Cover sought from O.F.C.

DROUGHT CREATES NEW CHECK TO KONGWA PLANTING OF 1950 CROPP

THE railway losses on Tanganyika of the Overseas Rail Corporation's decision to restrict its rolling stock to the minimum to be developed by 1964 was described by the Director-General of Transport, Sir Reginald Hodge, East Africa Commissioner for Transport, in a statement.

It disclosed that at the time when the planning of industry was in progress the period and all capacity of the railway system was generally considered to be sufficient to meet the Central Line's requirements.

It is now clear that the railway system is being developed in a manner which is not in accordance with the original scheme. It is, therefore, necessary to judge, rather than to plan, the railway system in the future.

African wage structure 'is complicated'

MEMBERS of African labour in Northern Rhodesia, a document prepared by the East African Marketing Development Council from the subsidies submitted by African labour to the Government in 1947, is introduced by an important paragraph.

The complicated structure of wages in the East African territories and the fact that they are not uniform in any one territory, is a feature of the African wage structure which is a result of the fact that the African labour market is not a single market but is divided into many different segments, each with its own peculiarities and its own special requirements.

Higher in towns

The report states that while general industry and commerce, as a whole, are higher in towns than in rural areas, the wages in the towns are not uniform. It is noted that in some towns the wages are as high as in some rural areas, while in other towns they are as low as in some rural areas.

The report also states that the wages in the towns are generally higher than in the rural areas, and that the wages in the towns are generally higher than in the rural areas.

The total bill

THE total bill for the year 1947-48 for the East African territories is estimated at £1,000 million, of which £500 million is for the Government and £500 million is for the private sector.

The report also states that the total bill for the year 1947-48 is estimated at £1,000 million, of which £500 million is for the Government and £500 million is for the private sector.

WHY EAST AFRICA'S TEA CROP WAS REDUCED

Disagreeing, adverse weather conditions, closer attention to improved production and manufacture of tea, were mentioned for reduced tea crop yields in Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika in 1965. These graphs also value graphs represented in reports on the subject by Mr. E. R. Thomson, East African Commission.

The production totals were 100,000 tons for Kenya, 100,000 tons for Uganda, and 100,000 tons for Tanganyika. Actual returns for the year compared with the previous year's output were:

1965 Crop	1964 Crop
Kenya	100,000
Uganda	100,000
Tanganyika	100,000

Weather conditions were poorer than those of the previous year. The amount of rain was less than 100 inches and continued rain from February to August, which was a wet season, was not as heavy as in previous years.

Additional factors, which contribute to the reduction in tea production, are the lack of adequate fertilizers, the use of old-fashioned tea bushes, and the lack of adequate irrigation facilities.

Higher standards

It is anticipated that considerable attention will be given to the improvement of tea production and the manufacture of tea in East Africa. This will be done by the use of modern tea bushes, the use of adequate fertilizers, and the use of adequate irrigation facilities.

The report contains orders, which are in force for each territory. The tea production in East Africa, and the use of modern tea bushes, the use of adequate fertilizers, and the use of adequate irrigation facilities.

New Honces

Since the decision by East Africa to join the International Commission for the Study of the Tea Crops of East Africa, a number of new honces have been announced. These include the honces of Kenya, Uganda, and Tanganyika.

The honces are: Kenya, Uganda, and Tanganyika. The honces are: Kenya, Uganda, and Tanganyika.

Country	Tea Production (tons)

Jos conference reviews African land utilisation

The African Land Utilisation Conference at Jos, Nigeria, which concluded its deliberations with a plenary session yesterday, has recommended that the governments of the participating countries should take steps to encourage the development and utilisation of the land resources of their respective countries.

Dr. J. O. Osofo, Secretary to the conference, stated that the conference had been held to discuss the land utilisation problems of the African countries and to recommend ways and means of solving these problems. He said that the conference had discussed the land utilisation problems of the African countries and had reached a consensus on the need for a coordinated approach to land utilisation in Africa.

Percent lands

Dr. Osofo said that the conference had agreed to set up a committee to study the land utilisation problems of the African countries and to recommend ways and means of solving these problems. He said that the committee would be made up of representatives of the governments of the participating countries.

Incentives

The conference also agreed to recommend that the governments of the participating countries should take steps to encourage the development and utilisation of the land resources of their respective countries by providing incentives to private investors.

MECHANISATION JUMP IN SOUTH AFRICA

Highly mechanised agriculture is being practised in the Transvaal province of South Africa, according to a report from the Department of Agriculture.

The report states that the use of tractors and other heavy machinery has increased significantly in the Transvaal province in recent years. This has led to a marked increase in agricultural production and efficiency.

Conservation methods for Africans

The United Nations has published a report on conservation methods for Africans. The report emphasizes the importance of traditional conservation methods and suggests ways to improve them.

The report also discusses the need for modern conservation techniques and the role of government in promoting conservation efforts among Africans.

The report concludes by recommending that governments should provide training and support to Africans in conservation methods to ensure the sustainable use of their natural resources.

Do Kenya women lack femininity?

It would seem that the Kenyan women have a very good idea of what femininity is. In fact, they are a beautiful society with a good deal of feminine grace and poise. They are well-dressed and well-groomed, and they are well-mannered and well-behaved. They are also well-educated and well-informed, and they are well-organized and well-coordinated. They are a credit to their country and a credit to their race.

It is true that some of the Kenyan women are not as well-dressed and well-groomed as they should be. They are not as well-mannered and well-behaved as they should be. They are not as well-educated and well-informed as they should be. They are not as well-organized and well-coordinated as they should be. But this is not true of all the Kenyan women. Many of them are very well-dressed and well-groomed, very well-mannered and well-behaved, very well-educated and well-informed, and very well-organized and well-coordinated.

ENTERPRISE LACKING IN NAIROBI CHRISTMAS WINDOW DISPLAYS

The Christmas window displays in Nairobi are lacking in enterprise and imagination. They are too plain and too simple, and they do not reflect the spirit of the season. The displays should be more elaborate and more creative, and they should be a reflection of the city's culture and heritage.

Better toys

The toys available in Nairobi are of a high standard of quality and design. They are well-suited to the needs of children and are a great source of entertainment and education.

Originality

The originality of the Christmas window displays is a key factor in their success. Displays that are original and creative are more likely to attract attention and to be remembered.

In 1950 you must pay to see the lions

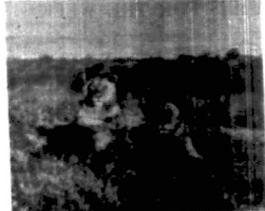

A LARGE herd of elephants crossed from the Nynga and easterly past the Railway Camp which is known as Nariva. This was a diary note by Andrew in 1950, and he would be surprised to see the changed scene brought about by the rapid development of Nariva in the space of 10 years.

National Parks

In three years
National Park was established. It was a great step towards the conservation of the country's natural resources. In 1950, the park was only a few acres of land, but today it covers an area of 1,100 square miles. The park is a vast and beautiful landscape, with its mountains, rivers, and forests. It is a place where you can see the lions and elephants in their natural habitat.

Alternative road
The new road is a great improvement on the old one. It is a straight and level road, and it is much easier to drive on. It is a great relief for the drivers, and it is a great benefit for the country. The new road is a great example of the progress that has been made in Kenya.

bacterial infections in farm livestock

In certain circumstances, notably in cases of 'lumpy skin disease' and 'shearhead', the bacteria of the genus 'Circovirus' can be spread to other animals by means of their saliva, sweat, and milk. The disease is usually fatal in young animals, but can be cured in older animals. It is a highly contagious disease and is very common in many parts of the world.

AUSTERITY IS OUT FOR CHRISTMAS

Britons make merry EVERYTHING EXPENSIVE, BUT EVERYBODY IS LIGHT-HEARTED

GRIBBLING to enjoy hardships, making ready for their respective Christmas parties, Britons are enjoying the festive spirit that Charles Dickens endorsed in the words that accompanied our Savings Austerity is not for the season of a week.

Christmas illumines the atmosphere of London's streets more than the lamps that gleam through the fog. The streets are thronged with the throngs of children, as if for the first time since before the war—the most desirable playthings of these have never seen.

But such and plentiful Christmas lavishly advertised traditional Christmas purchases staged in special performances for the festive season.

At Sandringham, the King and Queen will spend Christmas with their children. The Queen will be accompanied by the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent.

CHRISTMAS TIMETABLES
Bus and shopping arrangements

WARNING FOR KENYA PIG FARMERS

Britain will want improved quality

MR J. H. SOUTHALL, general manager of Uganda's Ministry, confirmed the results of his discussion with the Kenya Ministry regarding the sale of pig breeding stock and the export of piglets to the United Kingdom.

Close relations now being established between the two countries will be a benefit to both.

MASSEY-HARRIS

A Hammermill

proved efficiency—economy—reliability

The Massey-Harris A Hammermill has been a favourite for 20 years. Simple and practical, it offers a low cost way of producing home-grown animal and human food. For size or materials, it is the most efficient. The heavy cutting knives change the whole milling nature of the machine. Power requirements are 10 to 15 H.P. for 4 to 6 bags per hour depending on size of stones and level of grinding. It is simple to operate, requires little attention, and is a heavy-duty machine with a robust blower and leading attachment.

4 Amps capacity now available including larger models for 20-25 H.P. Tractor Power.

A Bright Suggestion
"Let's have an Amstel!"

Our production drive beats all records, but so does demand

Do you get confused when you see the name Amstel? It's not our name, but the name of the beer that we are advertising. It's a name that is known all over the world. It's a name that is synonymous with quality and excellence. It's a name that is a guarantee of the highest quality of beer that you can buy.

It is our name, but we are not the only ones who are proud of it. We are proud of it because it is a name that has stood the test of time. It is a name that has been passed down from generation to generation. It is a name that is a source of pride and honor for all who are associated with it.

Holy Year begins tomorrow

MONSIGNOR SERIO P. F. NEDDEI, secretary of the Vatican Holy Year Committee, says that about 5,000 pilgrims from 20 nations will be in Rome for the opening of Holy Year.
About 10,000 people here at all times are expected to visit Rome during the Holy Year, he said.

Secret excavations
The estimated 100,000 people who will be expected to visit Rome during the Holy Year have been told that secret excavations will be carried out in the city.

UGANDA'S 10-YEAR DEVELOPMENT
Estimates of probable costs revised

UGANDA is alive by itself. It is vital, and in my view, in spite of its insects and its diseases, it ought in the future to be one of the most important of the East and Central African possessions, and perhaps the financial driving wheel of all this part of the world. My personal plan is...
Mr. Winston Churchill in 1964. Forty-three years later the Legislative Council of the Protectorate approved a ten-year development plan submitted by Dr. R. B. Werthington, scientific officer for the East African High Commission. Its function—in the words of the Governor, Sir J. Hobbly, was to "show... rather than that of a light-house marking the harbor, it is to be a lighthouse showing the way to a port which is to be built towards it."

Division of expenditure
For the purpose of the revision, the original estimates of expenditure were divided into three main categories: (1) the cost of the physical development, (2) the cost of the administrative and social services, and (3) the cost of the maintenance of the existing infrastructure.

Limiting factors
In the production, drive and great cost of the physical development were (1) lack of funds, (2) lack of technical staff, (3) lack of natural resources, (4) lack of transport facilities, (5) the need for a large and efficient staff, and (6) the need for a large and efficient staff.

Gov'tor's comment
In a dispatch to the secretary of the East African High Commission, the Governor of Uganda said that in spite of the magnitude of the task of development in Uganda, the original estimate of the cost of the physical development was revised downwards by 20 per cent.

Atomic 'miracles' untrue

EARLY reports that atomic energy radiations had marvellous growth-producing effects on plants and animals have not been backed up by tests, according to the United States Atomic Energy Commission.
Scientists collected for the Atomic Energy Commission a wide variety of reports on the effects of atomic energy on plants and animals. The reports were made by the public-health materials department of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Cattle unchanged
There have only slight effects been noted in a herd of cattle accidentally exposed to atomic energy in the State of Nevada. The Atomic Energy Commission says that the cattle have been returned to every respect to the normal state.

Positive returns
Despite contrast with the Commission's original estimates, the Atomic Energy Commission has reported that the results of its research have been positive. The Atomic Energy Commission has reported that the results of its research have been positive.
