SIR WALTER MONCKTON, Minister of Labour, yesterday began negotiations with employers and union chiefs to end London's most disastrous dock strike for 28 years. His peace talks have resulted from an emergency Cabinet meeting at which plans for dealing with the strike were debated.

Sir Winston Churchill hurried from an official welcome to the Emperor of Ethiopia to attend the emergency meeting. He discussed with his Ministers later reports of the wet dock strike, involving 20,000 men and tying up 250 ships.

Traders have reported that food shortages are developing in the London area, and it was understood that the Cabinet 'strike plan' involved the possible use of troops to shift essential dock cargoes. But it was stressed that the plan would not be put into effect until it was considered that a state of emergency existed in the docks.

TO SPREAD DISPUTE Last 4,500 join London strike

UNION LEADER BLAMES COMMUNIST AGITATORS

THE Port of London became a silent witness yesterday when 4,500 tugmen and lightermen, the last employees to remain at work, joined the dock strike—bringing the total number of men out to more than 27,000.

One hundred and thirty-three ships are at a standstill, idling millions of pounds worth of exports and food supplies for Britain, Mauritius and Ceylon.

The London wharf strike was extended during the weekend, when ten more vessels were successively bringing the number of affected vessels to 233.

Mr. Arthur Dawson, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union, has blamed the Communists for both the dock and the wharf strike.

Mr. Dawson said that the Communists were not supported by the unions. He said that the conflict has arisen from a policy propagated by the Communists, whose aim was "continuous agitation".

For a long time it has been held that industrial policies have been projected by the Communist Party which are completely unworkable.

JOY NICHOLL Gets An Attack Of Pattern Fever

It usually starts with a casual glimpse at some of the latest magazines, where, dramatic hairdos, dresses, numbers or gay beach scenes—usually against a background of Mediterranean bathing boys—set a new fashioning.

The dream

ALREADY I see myself waiting prey with the idea of my own magazine, full of personal interests, the acceptance of a world, the admiration that I would like to see in my own magazine.

On all fours

AFTER an hour of crawling on all fours, resulting with some of about fifteen pages roughly marked with the necessary numbers, I had nearly finished.

The directions

HERE, represented by hand and feet of wonderful following track. None of the firsts have ever been to be compared with my own.

DIFFERENT WAYS WITH THE POTATO

SOME time back I gave you some little-known recipes for potatoes. Here is one for Potatoes Viennaise. Half a dozen potatoes in their skins but be careful not to overcook. Then peel and cut into thin slices. Chop some onion and place in a pan with a little oil. Served separately, potatoes or twice more, then serve. ## FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Bankruptcy warning by Japan

JAPAN will become bank-rupt substantially in the next few years unless the United States purchases more Japanese goods, according to the Japanese ambassador to the United States, Mr. Saito, in a speech last night.

Addressing the East Asia Club, Mr. Saito said that the country's foreign trade surplus had not been entirely in line with the government's policy. He said that in many ways, the country was financially unbalanced and both had to turn to the dollar market.

"Reliable partner"

Mr. Saito said that Japan can be relied upon to be a "reliable partner" for the United States only if the economic situation is maintained. He believes that the free world will not survive unless the possibility of Japan being forced into "conversion" to the dollar sphere is slighted.

He said that the Japanese economic collapse could have a devastatingly catastrophic effect on the world.

W. German call to cut trade 'barriers'

WEST GERMAN industrialists would welcome the abolition of many of the restrictions of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, according to West German industrialists in Cologne, the Federation of German Employers' Associations (Bund der Arbeitgebervereine) said last night.

There was no mention of grain. Britain offered to import in exchange sheep, citrus fruits and other goods.

Czechoslovakia agreed to export to the United States a number of types of machinery, electrical, hand and power tools, and engineering equipment.

Communist bloc seeking more long-term trade pacts with West

£78,000 TILE FACTORY FOR JINJA

THE Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Rumania for the first time have submitted lists of goods for which they wish to conclude long-term trade agreements with the West.

The lists were handed to delegates from 25 European Governments and the United States attending a meeting of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (E.C.E.) which has ended a week-long session. The Communist bloc lists have a value of £78,000, which has ended a week-long session.

Several delegates at one conference in the past have been led by Mr. Nikolaev (referred to as the Soviet Minister of Trade) to the Department of the Soviet Union of Trade.

Other delegates have taken the lists back to their respective governments. The exchange of trade lists was not the agenda of the committee meeting but it was a side effect of the talks.

Successful meeting at Nakuru

A MOST successful motor racing meeting was organized and run by Nakuru on Sunday by the Hill Valley branch of the R.M.C. Motor sports and resulted in some keen and exciting events staged on 1 1/2 miles on dirt all the year round course that, at a cost of two hundred pounds, has been built in a most interesting and successful manner. The track is situated on a hillside that affords a most excellent view of the surrounding country.

On the whole, and especially for an initial venture the meeting was well attended and the motor sports and resulted in some keen and exciting events staged on 1 1/2 miles on dirt all the year round course that, at a cost of two hundred pounds, has been built in a most interesting and successful manner.

Carmody and Meuleman foil hopes of innings victory

HOPES that the M.C.C. innings side would quickly finish off their match with Western Australia at Perth yesterday were dashed when Ken Meuleman and E. J. Carmody engaged in an unbroken fourth wicket stand of 66 for 35 in their second innings and the visitors were left with only three wickets for 50 on Saturday.

When the opening side finished a first innings lead of 111, Carmody, joined Meuleman, who played a magnificent innings and, always sporting the moustache of the crick, he was a match for the visitors.

Conditions were better for visitors than for the hosts in the second, a view held by Meuleman, who was batting with Saturday's chilly weather.

Hutton does not play. Len Hutton did not play yesterday but was expected to play today. The strain which caused him to leave on Saturday, had not quite cleared away.

TERRORIST 'ARMY' ELIMINATED IN NAIROBI

Emergency review by War Council

7,000 ACTIVE MAU MAU: C-in-C's ESTIMATE

On the eve of the second anniversary of the declaration of Kenya's State of Emergency, members of the War Council last night reviewed the progress of the campaign against Mau Mau, in an interview with the Press at Government House, Nairobi.

The Governor, Sir Evelyn Baring, presided. With him were the Deputy Governor, Sir Frederick Crawford, the Commander-in-Chief, East Africa, General Sir George Erskine, and Mr. M. Blundell, Minister of Health. Gen. Erskine estimated the number of terrorists still active at 7,000, who probably had 1,000 precision weapons. But the generals were not concentrated in one place, he emphasized.

A system of large-scale recruiting had been closed to Mau Mau. He added the terrorist 'army' in Nairobi had been crushed. The gangsters in the coast, he said, Landisiboi and some others in the Nairobi settled areas.

The Governor said he could make a statement on the possibility of ideas of civil disobedience being fostered among Africans by 'white devils'.

Gen. Erskine said there was no doubt that the Mau Mau movement had been crushed. He said that the Mau Mau movement had been crushed. He said that the Mau Mau movement had been crushed.

Harry Johnston's Soccer school:

A 'WONDER' GOAL TO BE STUDIED

Right out of the text book

SOME of football's knowalls have been trying to conceive us for a long time that British players couldn't appreciate the gritty pastime work of the Continent. I think the 60,000 people who saw Everton beat Arsenal in a mid-week match a few weeks ago at Goodison Park would heartily disagree with that view. For the Everton goal that night (score: 4-0) was a beauty straight out of the text book.

The move, matched before late thrilling and successful at last and is one well worthy of close study by all young soccer players.

Here's what happened. Arsenal had made one of their regular breakaways, which looked very dangerous. John, playing his first match for Arsenal, struck through on the left.

THIS is the death of a season of action, specially written for the African continent by England and Blackpool centre-half Harry Johnston, in this season's 'Soccer school.'

Had ball and kept it

As the Everton side had possession of the ball, notice how they kept it. No wild kicking, but short, snappy, accurate passing. And see how easy John kept the ball with one eye to help a team mate in distress.

Johnston would have been left trying to beat Wain on his own if Fielding hadn't made easy by running into an open space to take a pass, and give Hickson that wonderful cross which stands a chance of stopping this type of move.

In the old story of the man who has lost his hat long the man who has lost it all the time, and the driver who runs by the man who has lost his hat, the man who has lost his hat is the man who has lost it all the time, and the driver who runs by the man who has lost his hat is the man who has lost it all the time.

Says farewell to Soccer in Kenya

George Kelly, popular R.A.F. centre-forward, was making his last appearance in Kenya football in the F.A. of Kenya Cup semi-final at Nakuru. The 30-year-old forward, who stands a good chance of being the next top scorer in the East African representative side in the coming season, was seen to have a last look at the stadium.

The diagram illustrates the move described in the attached article. The letters indicate the players. The numbers indicate the order in which the ball was touched. The direction taken by the players running into position.

ADDISON RETAINS KENYA SQUASH RACKETS TITLE

In great final with Flowerdew

W. R. ADDISON retained his Kenya squash racket title by beating F. D. M. Flowerdew, 3-0, 5-0, 1-0, 8-0, 9-4, in a thrilling finale to the 1953 event at the Nairobi Club.

The final, which lasted for just over an hour, was not only one of the longest but also one of the most tense in the history of a tournament where winners retained their title.

Eight Flowerdews, a five-time former champion, gave one of the finest exhibitions of squash in the end, and determination, and artistic presentation and Addison retained his title.

Johnston was the first game, 5-2, the second a very hard battle. In the 11 minutes, Addison eventually won 5-1. The third game also went to Flowerdew, easily 5-1. In both the games which he won, Flowerdew played brilliantly and produced some superb shots.

The Chamber’s whole attitude to inducement pay for overseas civil servants.

The Mayor, Councillor S. Alexander, addressed the meeting on the sub-committee’s report which approved in principle the payment of inducements to attract civil servants from Britain and other Commonwealth countries.

“We have a high proportion of the staff in the Civil Service who are in Kenya who would be attracted to other parts of the world if they were offered inducements.”

COMPENSATION TO VICTIMS OF EMERGENCY

£250,000 paid out by Government

AFRICAN MEMBER CALLS FOR ANOTHER 'ANVIL'

The possibility of rehabilitation loans and free grants to farmers who had suffered from Mau Mau was mentioned by the Secretary to the Emergency, Mr. E. J. Dettin, when the debate on the Legislative Council.

It was announced that £250,000 had been paid by the Government in compensation to victims of Emergency conditions.

The debate was on a motion proposed by W. E. Onakili (Mau), and accepted by the Government. "It has been made during the past year by the security forces towards the destruction of the Mau Mau camps, in confidence that Government realises the necessity for still greater efforts in order that the State of Emergency may be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion and is determined to make such efforts."

Mr. Michael Blundell, Minister without Portfolio moved on the debate last night. The motion was carried but was not pressed to a division.

"An African Member, Mr. I. Okwery, said he considered it was necessary to have another "Operation Anvil" in the Nairobi, where, he claimed, Mau Mau was again very active.

A suggestion was made by an Asian Member, Mr. Chaitan Singh, that the Treasury concerned with administering the Emergency should be thrown open to all races.

The Director of Medical Services, Mr. P. F. Anderson, referred to the island prison camps in Lake Victoria. A number of these had been built, made and used for the purpose of detaining Mau Mau prisoners. He said that the Government had been building a number of these camps in the past few months. ## £137,000,000 rise in Britain's reserves

REVIEW BY CHANCELLOR

BRITAIN'S reserves rose by £137,000,000 during the nine months ending last month, Mr. R. A. Butler, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared in London.

He said that the country had earned a surplus on current account of £134,000,000 in the first half of the year, netting £22,000,000 interest in deposits.

It had paid out a £250,000,000 to maintain countries of the Commonwealth and European Free Area, and had contributed to invest in the same areas.

These, Mr. Butler said, are the last months of London's claim as the world's leading financial centre.

U.S. stocks recalled that he thought that despite the fact that the U.S. had a trade deficit, the U.S. had a trade deficit.

COFFEE SUBSIDY FOR AFRICANS

£1,300,000 aid to 'cushion' Uganda producers

AFRICAN coffee producers in Uganda are to be cushioned against the drop in world prices by a £1,300,000 subsidy from the Trustees of Coffee Price Stabilisation Fund. It was announced officially yesterday that growers would receive 1/22 a lb. for unshelled, wet coffee, although the world market would cover only about 1/10 of this.

The new coffee buying season in Uganda starts in October and the new price range, based on 1/22 for unshelled, wet coffee, must be set immediately.

Record price to be paid for Uganda cotton

UGANDA'S cotton growers are to receive this coming season the highest price ever paid for their crop. It was announced yesterday that they will be paid 80 to 81 cents a lb. according to the zone, for clean cotton.

The new price, 28 per cent higher than last year, will put £4,000,000 into the pockets of African farmers if the crop reaches the 600,000 bale a year target.

World cotton prices have risen compared with a year ago, and the Uganda Cotton Board, which handles the whole of Uganda's cotton, is confident that it will be able to realise more than the price of 80 to 81 cents for the crop.

Mr. J. M. Dettin, Secretary to the Uganda Cotton Board, said that the Government was determined to ensure that the highest price was paid for the crop.

"IMPOSSIBLE TASK" ON ASIAN MANPOWER

If realisation was aimed at securing only the minimum of Asian manpower, it would be a "near-impossible" task, it was high to be expected, the Director of Medical Services, Mr. P. F. Anderson, said yesterday.

He said that the Government was determined to ensure that the highest price was paid for the crop.

400 SHIPS HELD UP IN SIX PORTS

TWO-THIRDS of Britain's maritime trade was at a standstill yesterday as strike dockers went on strike.

The strike, which was led by the dockers' union, has caused the country to lose a large amount of its sea trade.

The Government has called on the dockers to return to work, but they have refused to do so.

African trade union Bill in S. Rhodesia

STRIKE ACTION RULED OUT

A BILL to provide for the statutory recognition and development of African trade unions will come before the Senate in a select committee for consideration and report conference that this would be an historic measure. He said the Bill did not require the consent of the African unions to make that of the strike period.

The unions may justifiably object to the Bill as it would not only give them the right to strike but also to picket and to strike during the strike period.

Memberships will be open to all who are employed in the industry and who are not members of any other union. Mr. Todd said he would make a full statement on the Bill when it was presented to Parliament.

£1,250,000 GRANT FOR RHODESIA UNIVERSITY "No strings" to British gesture

THERE was no strings tied to the gift of £1,250,000 from the United Kingdom towards the Rhodesia University College, Sir George Whitehead, a former member of the Rhodesia Legislative Council, said a public meeting organised by the Rhodesia University Association in Salisbury. He said any suggestion that the fact that the university was in some way connected with the gift was entirely untrue.

CATTLE DISEASE WORST IN KENYA'S HISTORY

Kenya is experiencing one of the most serious epidemics of foot-and-mouth disease in its history. Thirty-three separate outbreaks have been notified, and there may be other cases. On Wednesday delegation by the annual meeting of production committees in Nairobi gave almost unanimous support to a suggestion from Mr. B. A. Hammond, the Director of Veterinary Services, that the levy should be made on stock to enable his department to import 80,000 doses of vaccine a year.

Mr. Hammond had suggested the scheme previously to members of the Nyeri Settlements' district, recommending a levy of one cent on each lb of beefsteak or meat produced. The farmers decided on Wednesday to leave the method of levy to be decided in consultation between the Kenya N.F.U. (Stock-owners' Section) and the Executive Committee of the Board of Agriculture.

Members also approved a resolution from Thika that stronger measures should be taken to prevent the spread of the disease in Kenya. In his address to the conference, Mr. Hammond likened the White Highlands to a rock in the middle of a pool, surrounded by something like 25,000,000 African-owned cattle.

There were 66 farms at present free from active infection, he said, and many in connection with active infection.

Individual farmers vaccinated their cattle, he said, it would cost them about 5/7 a head. The levy would enable the Veterinary Department to carry out both importation of the vaccine, and to use it strategically to control outbreaks more effectively than having to rely on individual farmers.

A total supply of 60,000 of perfectly adequate doses in African areas such as 1953 and 1954, he said.

5,000 doses a week was Government, should accept the suggestion of providing additional quantities of vaccine if the levy in any one year is insufficient to meet the emergency requirements, he said. Advice about the speed of application Mr. Hammond said that the vaccine was coming the

ENDING LAKE NAKURU DUST WOULD COST £200,000

NAKURU Municipal Council has informed the local government authorities that it cannot accept any commitment as far as the Nakuru Lake dust problem is concerned.

The Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Nakuru, Mr. Henry Deputy Mayor of Nakuru, said the probable cost of a scheme to prevent that coming into existence would be about £200,000.

On Crown land The lake was on Crown land in the County Council area and the Government was unwilling to sell the land.

Mr. Henry said he thought the Government's investment in the lake was probably amounting to £200,000 or £300,000, but he must do something to prevent these investments, he added.

SOTIK FARMERS SEEK ALTERNATIVES TO BILL

Right of appeal to court suggested

UNANIMOUS agreement was given to suggested amendments to clauses in the Agricultural Bill at the Sotik meeting, in spite of the Kenyan Farmers' Union. The meeting agreed that the Minister should refer the Bill to the courts for a decision on whether the provisions for scheduled crops not later than December 31 for the following year.

Other points receiving agreement were that a farmer after three years and five as in the Bill, that the Minister should not have power to set a land development scheme without the approval of the Agricultural Research Department, Kabete.

Tanganyika inquiry into coffee tax

£53 A TON 'HARSH AND UNFAIR'

A COMMITTEE of inquiry is touring Tanganyika to investigate the effect of the 25s a ton coffee export tax on non-African producers. The committee was appointed by the Government to investigate the vigorous protest against the export tax. The Tanganyika Coffee Growers' Association, which handles the African coffee exports from the Territory, said that the tax was 'harsh and unfair' and would seriously affect future coffee production.

The delegates were sent to the various areas to discuss the tax. After the talks, the committee reported to the Government. The committee comprising the African and non-African producers, the chairman, Mr. J. T. Taylor, the chairman, Mr. J. T. Taylor, the chairman, Mr. J. T. Taylor, the chairman, Mr. J. T. Taylor.

Profits ploughed back A large proportion of estate owners had taken over neglected former estates during the past few years only. Any profits made were to be ploughed back into the estate, which was to be managed by the estate owner or a trustee.

Injuries to development It was claimed that the effect of the proposed taxation would have deleterious effects on the development and expansion of the coffee industry in the Tanganyika Territory for the following reasons: the coffee tax was a heavy burden on the coffee producer; the coffee tax was a heavy burden on the coffee producer; the coffee tax was a heavy burden on the coffee producer.

Loss of farmers In the Territory many of the non-African producers were inclined to either leave the land or to commercial banks. The loss of farmers was a serious problem for the Government.

MEN WHO BELIEVE THE DESERT COULD BLOOM

"HOPE it will not be long before the British Government does what we have asked it to do: that is, to start a pilot, cattle scheme with indigenous cattle in the Ghazal area where we are certain of water. Then, from there, push outwards to the south and east as new water is found, as we are confident it can be. As reaching the country, the Kalahari is rich and we believe that with energy and development it can add from 20,000 to 40,000 tons of meat a year to Africa's increasingly inadequate food supplies.

This is the story—in words and pictures—of a British Government mission to the Western Kalahari Desert in Bechuanaland, the members of which came to the conclusion that this remote and sparsely populated part of the African Continent could become a rich ranching area.

Bechuanas cattle grazing on sparse vegetation near Yama. The country north of this area provides better grazing and Ghazal already supports several small ranches.

The mission travelled in this remote and sparsely populated district. The area covers some 50,000,000 acres of Crown land. Despite a two-year drought, the emission was rolling year-like country supporting perennial vegetation. They saw, too, Bechuanas cattle and wild game, including large herds of Springbok, in good condition.

Mr. Arthur Gubbins, former manager of the Gezira Cotton Board in the Sudan and a member of the Royal Commission on Land and Population in East Africa, led the mission, and its other members in addition to Colonel Van der Post, included Mr. C. T. Fitch, an expert on birding in the United States and Director of Extension to the State of Arizona, Mr. Brian Curry, of Kenya, Chief Bailiff, of the Tlokoane Estates of the Bechuanaland, and Chief Bailiff of the Bechuanaland.

On-the-spot assistance came from Mr. Cyril Chapple, who worked for the Colonial Development Corporation, founding a cattle ranch in the route of the mission, and Mr. John Marwick, who was born in the Kalahari. From Blacking the expedition travelled up the Molopo River forming the border with South Africa, struck northwards through the Kalahari Desert, Sandfontein and Ghanzi. This took them near the South-West African border.

Ghanzi is a small but flourishing European settlement, and the mission visited several small Fitch, Director of Extension to the State of Arizona, Mr. Brian Curry, of Kenya, Chief Bailiff, of the Tlokoane Estates of the Bechuanaland, Colonel Laurens Van der Post, Governor, Bechuanaland, and Mr. Arthur Gubbins, Bailiff.

Some of the settlers engaged from the Union in the days of Cecil Rhodes. As has been mentioned, the Kalahari is rich a real desert, since much of it is covered with trees, bush and grass, but there is no surface water except occasionally in swamps after infrequent rains. Hence this remote and rarely visited part was called the Great Thirstland by early explorers.

Apart from the few tiny settlements of European and coloured farmers it is inhabited only by scattered families of Bushmen, who have learned to survive on tamarina melons and water stored in ostrich bladders, and Hottentots, who live near the few wells of safe drinkable water-point. Underground water, however, exists in some parts of the Kalahari and, provided for the development of adequate water supplies, cattle production could be found. The Kalahari offered good possibilities for the development of adequate water supplies, cattle production

A Bushman settlement visited by the mission during their Kalahari journey is seen above. Colonel Van der Post, who had visited this area before, is seen with some of the Bushman children. The Bushman language, consisting mainly of various dialects, is extremely difficult to learn, and the missionaries are almost non-existent. The track below is typical of those in use by the mission's transport.

An unusual sight in Bechuanaland—the Molopo River, above, in winter over a snowdrift after a heavy fall of rain. Sporadic and a few weeks in the 1934 season of water for most of the year, except when the rains fill up the river and flow (shown below). The picture below shows a snowdrift of Ghazal with the windmill which draws up the water from the bottom.

Several cattle ranches are run near the Ghazal settlement, which there is a permanent water supply and fairly good grazing. A herd of African cattle, Mr. Taitavai, (right) in the photograph on the left, shot with Mr. Van der Post. Others in the photograph are Mr. Taitavai, (left), Mr. Marwick, Mr. Marwick, Chief Bailiff and Mr. Brian Curry.

Does Hell Fire Really Exist? NORWAY FACES THE PROBLEM

DISCUSSION of whether hell fire really exists and whether the execrable fate of damned or impenitent sinners is eternal physical torment has flared up again in Norway.

In spite of a Government non-interference declaration last year, which laid down that the doctrine of everlasting hell fire punishment was to remain open to various interpretations, the Government has now taken steps to clarify the position.

In Parliament

THE whole question is due to be debated in Parliament this autumn. The argument started in the spring of 1953, when Professor Ole Halvorsen, Director of Theology and at that time one of the members of Norway's two training colleges, made a theological "fire and brimstone" sermon during a religious service.

He translated those of his congregation who were saved with hell opening up at their feet, and those who were not up on the spot. Those who were not, he declared, might walk in to the everlasting fire, and those who were not, he declared, might walk in to the everlasting fire.

GHOSTS GUARD SECRETS OF PIRATE TREASURE

THE ghosts of ten good men, established - and they had just dug on the coral island of Turneffe Cove British Honduras, 300 years ago, still successfully guard the secret of a pirate treasure hoard.

Local fishermen speak of strange voices and disembodied souls glowing eerily in the night and will go so near the hoard after sundown.

The legend

IT IS BELIEVED here that the ten men were famous citizens of Belize (which was not at that time in the half of a century they were forced to die the pirate's death - and that their own graves in the pirate field and the legends are not forgotten.

Disappeared

THE lure of gold had lured other adventurers in this remote area for a century and a half. In 1717, a party of 10 men disappeared from the coast of Belize, and their bodies were never seen again.

Missed link

IT IS BELIEVED that the missing link in the story is the fact that the 10 men were not British but were of mixed blood, and that they were of the same race as the 10 men who were seen in the pirate field.

Disappeared

THE lure of gold had lured other adventurers in this remote area for a century and a half. In 1717, a party of 10 men disappeared from the coast of Belize, and their bodies were never seen again.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

OUR Christmas book always seems to begin late in East Africa because the London publishers have the habit of increasing their stock popular books until the autumn publishing season.

It is not about that start until after the summer holidays, the result is that overseas readers have a thin choice.

However, an excellent variety of books in the form of letters has arrived in the last mail.

JOHN CHERRY discovers that WOMEN ARE INDETERMINATE

I HAVE an extremely charming sister of whom I have been extremely fond ever since I first set eyes on her a few hours after "she was born" when I was still a small boy.

She is small and dark, with a mouth that is a shade too big and eyes which are a shade too small. She has the air of a little girl who has been a little too long in the world.

But I share with her the admiration of her mother and father. I have always been a little bit of a dandy, and I have always been a little bit of a dandy.

I have always been a little bit of a dandy, and I have always been a little bit of a dandy.

I have always been a little bit of a dandy, and I have always been a little bit of a dandy.

ONE of the less popular of our authors of the period—Polemone—has written a book which is a study in the life of the late Lady Mary, the wife of the early eighteenth-century philosopher Lady Mary Wortley Montagu. The title her work is "The Letters of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu to Anne, Queen of Great Britain." It is a study in the life of the late Lady Mary, the wife of the early eighteenth-century philosopher Lady Mary Wortley Montagu.
