PAPER ON CARPENTER REPORT Proposal for select committee rejected

AMPLE OPPORTUNITY TO DEBATE ISSUE

THE Kenya Government's views on the Carpenter Committee Report on African wages will be contained in a White Paper to be issued to the Legislative Council yesterday.

There would be ample opportunity for the White Paper to be fully considered and debated. The Government was about to determine what course to adopt in the light of the many and diverse opinions expressed in the report. The Minister described as "premature" a motion, put by Mr. Humphrey Slide (Abardere), calling for the appointment of a select committee to examine the report. It was stated that the Government would be taking into consideration the views of representative bodies in the Colony had been sought and collated. The Government was fully alive to the wide issues raised. "Already eight months had elapsed since the main part of the Carpenter Report was laid on the table. Consideration of all views before any decision could be taken. But we do not want any more delay than is compatible with the careful consideration of the important issues," Mr. Slone said.

Manpower insufficient for another 'Anvil'

MINISTER WINDS UP DEBATE

MR. BLUNDELL, Minister without Portfolio, winding up the Kenya Legislative Council debate on the Emergency, said that although there were 1,000 British troops going on for another Anvil, another Operation Anvil would not be practicable because of the shortage of manpower. He said that the Government was engaged in a series of minor 'Anvils' but that the 'Anvil' policy is not one which can be pursued indefinitely. The Government would not allow it and we cannot function properly and wendy to put more and more Africans in detention camps.

As reported in the East African Standard, Mr. Blundell said that the Government would not be engaged in a series of minor 'Anvils' but that the 'Anvil' policy is not one which can be pursued indefinitely. The Government would not allow it and we cannot function properly and wendy to put more and more Africans in detention camps.

Farm defence policy

Mr. Blundell said on a question of evaluating people from Kenya from the Government's point of view that it was not the Government's policy to accept in extreme circumstances.

"It is the policy of the Government to defend the farms from people in their own way and not to evacuate them. We shall only ask the provincial emergency committees to evaluate the situation in extreme circumstances."

In reply to an Opposition question on the Government's policy to prevent people from falling into terrorist hands, Mr. Blundell said that the Government was not in a position to prevent people from falling into terrorist hands and that further restrictions would be imposed on the subject.

Surrendering rising

The number of terrorists surrendering had risen from 20 in the week ending 22nd Sept. to 27 in the week ending 29th Sept. The number of surrenders had risen from 20 in the week ending 22nd Sept. to 27 in the week ending 29th Sept. The number of surrenders had risen from 20 in the week ending 22nd Sept. to 27 in the week ending 29th Sept.

DEATH OF UGANDA WARDEN

Maj. Kenneth de Planta Beaton

MAJ. Kenneth de Planta Beaton, Director and Chief Warden of Uganda's National Parks, died yesterday at Entebbe, Uganda, after a long illness. He was 52 years old. He was born in London, England, and served in the British Army during the Second World War. He was a member of the Uganda National Parks Commission and had been in Uganda since 1954.

COMMITTEE OF EIGHT ON SALARY REVIEW

A Select Committee of eight, including the Minister for Finance, Mr. J. M. Njiru, and the Minister for Labour, Mr. J. M. Njiru, has been set up to review the salaries paid to members of the Kenya Legislative Council. The committee will consider the salaries of all members of the Council and will recommend any changes that may be necessary.

HOLIDAY CLUB VENTURE APPROVED AT MTWARA

Dried fish industry suggested.

AN APPROVAL to a holiday club centre at Mtwara was given by the Township Authority after Mr. C. I. Harrison, founder-chairman of the Central Africa Dried Fish Angling Society, had proposed the project. The Authority agreed that the Tanganyika Government should be asked to waive payment of development premium and to arrange for the collection of the road frontage premium if any, on such terms as would not cripple the enterprise in its initial stages.

ALAMEIN MEMORIAL UNVEILED

Lord Montgomery on reasons why

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said yesterday when he unveiled the Alamein Memorial to the 13,546 men of the land and air forces who gave their lives in the Middle East in the last war, there were two reasons why we were so successful. The first reason was "because we were better than the enemy." He said the goal must be to have the best of the best in the Middle East.

One inch longer in the back

By Guy Bellamy

DANISH experimental breeding stations and the co-operative slaughter-houses have decided that the length of the world-famous Danish bacon pig shall be increased by about one inch along the back.
This will give five bacon strips or back rashers per pig, not to mention other

OWEN FALLS PLAN MAY BE EXTENDED

Demands for electricity greater than expected

A JOINTCAST proposal for another hydro-electric unit under Uganda Legislative Council approval has made a £200,000 fund and considered the raising of £1,000,000.

The Council agreed that the Government should raise the money to the Owen Falls Electricity Board, bringing the total amount available to £1,200,000. The Owen Falls project to £26,000,000. The additional money will cover the cost of the Owen Falls project for some time.

COUNCIL AM FOR AFRICAN CENTRES

Government aid to be sought

NAIROBI CITY COUNCIL will be asked to recommend recommendations by the Finance Committee on the provision of social centres and recreation facilities in the African locations.

The resolution recommends that the Government should be asked to provide a grant of £100,000 each, to be used for the provision of social centres and recreation facilities in the African locations.

£24,000 scheme

Two Church schemes, which the council will be asked to participate, cost £24,000 each. The first is for the provision of a social centre, and the second is for the provision of a recreation centre.

Five-year grant

In addition to the five social centres, the council will be asked to provide a grant of £25,000 for the provision of a recreation centre in the African locations.

Charge to the general body

The council will be asked to charge the general body of the Owen Falls Electricity Board with the cost of the Owen Falls project.

CRACKS DISCOVERED IN METAL OF COMET

Fault accelerated fatigue

EXPERTS were closely questioned at an inquiry into the crash of a Comet jet airliner which has been formed during the manufacture of the plane.

Archie Hall, Director of the Aircraft Establishment, said that the investigation had shown that the wreckage of the Comet "is the best" that he had seen.

He said he believed they had been formed during the process of manufacturing because the metal was brittle to stop propagation.

Sir Arnold, chief witness of the inquiry into the two fatal Comet crashes, said that the investigation had shown that the wreckage of the Comet "is the best" that he had seen.

Starting point

Of the cracks, he said: "They were the most interesting feature. I do not think they caused the accident in any way, but they did cause the metal to be brittle to stop propagation."

Underwater tests

He said that in the light of what they had learned from the investigation, the Comet was not to be used until the investigation had shown that the wreckage of the Comet "is the best" that he had seen.

The inquiry was adjourned until next Monday.

Polio victim in respirator flies to U.K. from Kenya

WEARING a new type of metal respirator which has made possible his medical treatment, Bart Africa, a polio-victim, flew to London last Monday in a specially chartered plane to continue treatment in Britain.

He was Mr. Derek Westwood, 34, of Nairobi, who was flown to London by the Kenya Airways. He is being treated at the Royal Free Hospital, London.

Saved life

A Government medical officer said that the use of the respirator was a case which has caused considerable interest among the medical profession.

Encouraging chance

"It is a positive form of relief," he said, "and it is a definite advance in the treatment of polio. It is a very encouraging chance."

'Recovery' life

Mr. Westwood said that the use of the respirator had made it possible for him to lead a more normal life.

ROVER 'NINETY TESTED FOR THREE YEARS IN AFRICA. Three years ago we imported the Rover 75 - a car similar in design but less powerful, to the one which you are illustrated. It was put through the toughest test that any car could be given in Africa. Various details were not satisfactory. We returned that model to U.K. with a lighter report and suggestions for modifications. The next model arrived, was again extremely hard and proved to be satisfactory in every way. Today there is the Rover Ninety and so far our test has shown for perfection in its class but we are not settling. Since, running, smooth power, perfect control, luxurious comfort and immediate finish have always been Rover characteristics. The Ninety has all done and much more in particular. Available from stock, at £1065 in Nairobi, £1065 at E.A. Coast ports and £1065 in Kampala, any of our branches will be happy to put the Rover 90 through her paces for you.

Dobbie League: Airmen get nine goals v. Police

A NINE-TWO win over Dobbie League match on the previous Saturday night, Nairobi on Saturday afternoon gave R.A.F. (Eastleigh) temporary leadership of the league. They led 4-1, but the Police, who were a family man, were not a formidable force on the field.

A start from a missed penalty was the only goal scored in the first half. The second half was dominated by the Airmen, who scored five goals in the first half and two in the second.

Goals were scored by the Airmen in the 15th, 20th, 25th, 30th, 35th, 40th, and 45th minutes. The Police scored their only goal in the 10th minute.

The Airmen's victory was a significant one, as they had previously been runners-up in the league. This win puts them in a strong position to challenge for the title.

Hearts record their first Scottish League Cup win

The clash of League champions Wolverhampton Wanderers and last season's runner-up, A.F. Cup holders, West Bromwich Albion, was the principal attraction in the England League Soccer programme on Saturday on the same ground, Molineux, recently the scene of three straight goals.

The first goal was scored by Wolves in the 15th minute. Hearts responded in the 25th minute with a goal of their own.

The match was a closely fought one, with both teams showing their attacking prowess. Wolves eventually secured a 2-1 victory.

This win marks a significant milestone for Hearts, as they had previously been runners-up in the league. It also demonstrates their improved performance this season.

KUTZ BEATS CHATAWAY RECORD

VLADIMIR Kutz of Russia broke Chris Chataway's ten-year-old world record of 1:00.00 for the mile in 59.4 sec. in the international meeting between Russia and Czechoslovakia at the Trarby Stadium, Prague, on Saturday.

Kutz's performance was a remarkable one, as he had previously been a runner-up in the world record. His victory was a significant one for Russia.

The race was a closely fought one, with both runners showing their exceptional speed. Kutz's victory was a testament to his training and skill.

STRIKE MAY CLOSE LONDON FACTORIES Permanent damage to trade feared

EIGHTH PORT AFFECTED: 341 SHIPS DELAYED

A WARNING that many London firms would have to close down if the dock strike in Britain continues has been given by the London Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. A. V. Leigh, secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce, who gave the warning, stated that permanent damage was likely to be done to Britain's export trade and said that the authorities in Colombo were making a serious study of the situation.

A Ministry of Labour spokesman said that the estimated value of goods held by the strike was now £130,000,000 and 2,100,000.

The number of vessels affected has risen to a peak of 341—21 more than during the weekend—and an eighth port, Manchester, has been brought into the strike.

Some 150 factories have served notice that they are trying to spread the strike to Scotland and Mr. Jack Barrett, secretary of the union leading the strike—the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers—has gone to Glasgow to try to recruit support there.

Some dockers were refusing to work yesterday but the general situation in the strike showed no change.

Some 200 permanent dockers returned to work in London today, yesterday's reporting being the first since 1946.

There are 14,000 permanent dockers in London, about 10,000 in Liverpool and other ports, and 42,000 in all.

In addition, 4,000 dockers report to work on Saturday in London and 10,000 in other ports.

WOOL SALES CANCELLED

The Committee of London Wool Brokers has announced that the strike has forced the cancellation of the October wool sales.

The wool sales of London will take the next series of London wool sales on November 2nd and would last for three weeks.

The Ministry spokesman said that the value of imports held by the wool brokers is £79,000,000 and £100,000,000.

The wool sales are expected to be held in London and other ports.

THE LIMIT FOR EXPORTS

Wanted that many firms in London would have to close down, Mr. Leigh said that he was sure that the strike would do more to close factories than it would to close ports.

The value of the goods held by the strike is £130,000,000 and 2,100,000.

The number of vessels affected has risen to a peak of 341—21 more than during the weekend—and an eighth port, Manchester, has been brought into the strike.

COAL RATIONING STARTS IN U.S.

Production was stopped at the Colver factory of Jaguar Cars in London today, as a result of the coal strike.

The factory is one of the largest in the world and produces cars for the British market.

Coal is used in the production of cars and the strike has forced the factory to stop production.

Case for Kenya Agriculture Bill PROPOSALS TO GO TO SELECT COMMITTEE

The Minister for Agriculture, Maj. F. W. Cavendish, moved the second reading of the Agricultural Bill in a speech lasting nearly two hours in Kenya Legislative Council yesterday.

The Bill is to be sent to a select committee at the end of the debate, which will be continued today.

Dealing with the constitution of the proposed Board of Agriculture for the Scheduled Areas, the Minister said there were 12 members who were making their livelihood in agriculture the more sound the advice was likely to be.

From the Official benches, Lady Shaw (Diflora) welcomed the legislation as intending to promote the full wealth of Kenya's agricultural resources.

Mr. Dhillon, the U.S. Secretary, said that the Bill was a good one and that he would support it.

Indian concern for dependent nations

COLONIAL IDEAS 'OUTDATED'

INDIA has the United Nations the concept of colonial territories of the non-self-governing territories of the present-day drama of the world. Mr. Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, the Indian delegate, speaking in the general debate on information from non-self-governing territories on the Trusteeship Committee of the General Assembly, said: "We earnestly hope that the process of development in these territories will be hastened so that in a very short time these territories will take their rightful place among independent nations and contribute to the welfare of the world organisation."

Mr. Patel said that India voluntarily accepted the trusteeship of the "C" territories.

Harry Johnston's Soccer school: AN UNEXPECTED MOVE WILL PAY In taking of free-kicks

THE indirect free-kick from inside the penalty area always gives rise to a number of problems, both for the defending side and for the team about to take the kick. But one can generally rely upon the attacking side to think up some new ideas in this direction. As soon as a free-kick of the kind is awarded in a friendly competition, the match there is at once a great deal of interest in the position in the penalty area. The attacking side will try to delay the taking of the kick, and the defending side, at least, of their forwards will try to get back and help to take the goal.

That's what happened at Turf Moor the other week when Chelsea were there. Jimmy McIlroy, Burnley's inside right, took the kick. Unexpected move I've seen Jimmy in this situation before. Sometimes he would back-kick the ball to a colleague standing in the vicinity, but on a short pass for a teammate. This time, Jimmy did not back-kick. He took the ball a few yards and then kicked it into the goal.

It was in the seventh of an article, specially written for England and Scotland, which Jimmy Johnston, of this season's "Soccer school" ... as a result, as though to take pain, but as Jimmy was still in the right foot right after it, and with a sudden kick made of the foot he "bounced" the ball right into the hands of the defence on the far side of the goal.

There Billy Gray, the right winger, closing in step in with the drop. A wonderful long deflection prevented a goal! But it could just as easily have gone in.

A quick thinker This, I think, was typical of Jimmy Johnston's game. The Irish international footballer, who could have been a top back and chipped the ball over the defence... but they would then have anticipated the move. As it was, McIlroy went until the referee had signalled a Chelsea player back into play, then, removed the signal to take the kick from the centre, and the ball as though nothing had happened, still landing near the middle move right out of the bag. It was an overture of good luck. It can prove a winner.

Three takes the same technique.

BOXING:

Easy 'work-out' for Barry Brown

A Barry Brown, New Zealand member of the British Empire welterweight boxing title, beat Ray Bion, of Philadelphia, at Sydney on Thursday, the referee stopping the fight in the fourth round. Brown was well ahead on points in the scheduled 12-round contest when the referee intervened. Brown, making his first appearance in Australia, provided little more than a workout for Bion, who defends his title against George Barnes, the Australian champion, on November 24.

Competition for Olympic hymn

The International Olympic Committee has announced a competition for "Olympic Hymn" for the 1956 Olympic Games. The hymn will be used at the opening ceremony of the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, in 1956. The competition will be judged at Monte Carlo next March or April.

The diagram above depicts the chance of success in the taking of free kicks, as described in the accompanying article by Harry Johnston. The defender, in this case, is shown in white. The attacking side is shown in black and the attacker (Jimmy Johnston) is shown in black. The diagram shows the path of the ball and the direction taken by Harry Johnston in his position.

Better value for money in new popular models

FROM JOHN MASON, LONDON

THE Earls Court Motor Show this year is every motorist's car show, at which the would-be owners of any car, from an economical four-wheeler to a large limousine, take a keen interest in the 500 glittering models from Britain, the United States, Canada, Germany, Italy, France, and Czechoslovakia.

Germany is represented by Benz, Mercedes-Benz, Porsche, and Volkswagen. France by Citroën, Peugeot, Pinard, Talbot, Renault, and Simca; Italy by Alfa Romeo, Fiat, and Lancia; Czechoslovakia by Škoda.

British car exports in July are a total of 3,000 cars to 160 countries, more than ever before. The car show, however, is even more popular than ever, despite more and more competition from popular cars like the economical German Volkswagen and the Italian Fiat.

Most advanced cars
The United States has a very generally best range of cars, considered that every one can be used in Britain and that it is represented in all 150 countries. It also has the most advanced cars in the world, including the world's first four-wheel drive car, the first car with a four-wheel steering system, and the first car with a four-wheel drive system and a four-wheel steering system.

Five forward gears
The Cadillac, Chrysler, and Ford have five forward gears. The Cadillac has a 5.7 litre V8 engine with 235 b.h.p. and a 3.9 litre V6 engine with 165 b.h.p. The Chrysler has a 5.7 litre V8 engine with 235 b.h.p. and a 3.9 litre V6 engine with 165 b.h.p. The Ford has a 5.7 litre V8 engine with 235 b.h.p. and a 3.9 litre V6 engine with 165 b.h.p.

Ford refinements
In the new Ford Mustang, the front end is reinforced with a steel reinforcement. The Mustang is a 2-door hard-top car with a 2.8 litre V6 engine with 145 b.h.p. and a 4.7 litre V8 engine with 205 b.h.p.

Do not take the car show too seriously

Vauxhall display the Cresta

Improvements in the overhead intake are improved engine foot and a larger rear window. Both the three-cylinder model have more powerful brakes and all models have a "steering rack" type of handbrake.

"Aerodyne" car has been added to the Morris range. This is the new Vauxhall Cresta, which fits in the gap between the Atlas and the Prisma. There is also a re-designed version of the Prisma itself.

Vauxhall have introduced mechanical and styling changes to the new Vauxhall Cresta, which is in effect a deluxe version of the Atlas.

The well-established two-litre four-cylinder Cresta has a new aluminium wheel trim, lighting and a new steering column. The Cresta, which is in effect a deluxe version of the Atlas, has been improved in a number of ways.

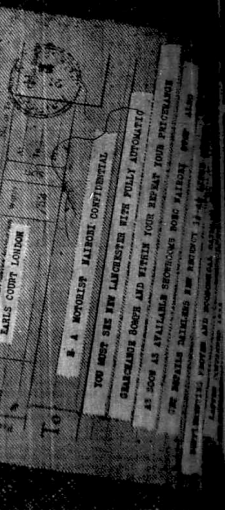

All controls are rear of the seat, the gear change is attached to the hand-rod side of the steering column, the lower working shafting signals on the other side of the column.

The new Cresta is available in two versions: a four-door saloon and a two-door coupé. The four-door saloon is available in two versions: a four-door saloon and a two-door coupé.

The Vauxhall Cresta is a four-door saloon with a 1.8 litre four-cylinder engine with 100 b.h.p. It has a top speed of 100 m.p.h. and a 0-60 m.p.h. time of 15.5 seconds.

Show business voted 'successful' INDUSTRY TO PRODUCE 1,000,000 VEHICLES

FIELD-MARSHAL VINCOUNT MONTGOMERY fulfilled his important engagement last week as he opened the Motor Show at Earls Court and he unveiled the 21 Alaskan snow-trail.

Trade buyers flocked to the Show from almost every country in the world.

Most of them reported that their original intention had been to spend their inspection of the exhibits over two days but that there was so much to see that they would have to stay for about a week.

There were 15,119 visitors on the first day, the price of admission being £1 before 2 p.m. and 19/- afterwards.

The comparison with 27,728 visitors on the first day of the Show last year when prices were respectively 10/- and 27/6.

Export buyers
 Enquiries came from 148 foreign countries, a mark of success for the show which was held at Earls Court in the Imperial War Museum grounds. The show was held at Earls Court for the first time since 1947.

The Ministry of Motor Vehicles and Transport announced at the opening of the Show that 32,547 cars were exported in the first nine months of the year, 30,000 more than in the same period last year.

Australian first
 The biggest export market is still Australia but Sweden has displaced Canada from second position. The United States third last year but New Zealand has become the third best market.

The value of car exports from January to September this year was £31,628,314, more than £11,000,000 higher than in the same period last year.

Business at the Show was generally well maintained.

Outstanding orders and immediate orders for cars to be shipped from the United Kingdom during the next 12 months total about £100 million, more than the greatest number of British cars ever exported in a single year.

Delayed 1959
 Field-Marshal Montgomery told the Show that the Government had decided to delay the introduction of the 1959 tax on cars until 1959.

delivered against orders cancelled and in markets where there is no longer a demand.

Given a continuation of world economic activity there is every reason to hope that the export trade will be better next year.

32 British makes
 The list of car exhibitors at the Show includes 13 British and Canadian makes, six American, six French, three Italian and one Czechoslovakian. There are 27 British makes.

Some of the developments to be seen include the use of plastic bodies, the progress made with turbo dies, lower prices, more models of certain makes, the increasing use of the universal all-door, all-glass, all-steel body among the manufacturers and a further move towards some form of automatic transmission. The British cars that dispose with the clutch pedal

Tubeless tyre exhibited for first time

WITHOUT doubt one of the greatest boons to motorists who have toiled through mud is the new tubeless tyre exhibited at the Motor Show.

Before the Show opened, the Goodrich Tyre and Rubber Company, in Detroit, announced that it had developed a tubeless tyre for first on the market without a heavy test setting as a motor vehicle.

The new tyre has treated the tread with a special compound to hold the compound in place. A special procedure has been adopted and the tyre can be mounted on a standard rim.

Normal procedure can be retained quickly with special equipment. The new tyre will cut the wheel. As a test, some models have been driven for 25,000 miles with small nails embedded without any puncture having developed.

QUICK-FIRING CRUISERS

Three Royal Navy cruisers are being built and are fitted with three-inch anti-aircraft guns with a fire rate equal to that of modern machine-gun units. The cruisers are being completed since July 1956. The development of the new cruisers is a result of the need for a target 12 miles away.

U.K. LEADS THE WORLD IN SPORTS MODELS

British cars to go into series production with five brakes and 160 h.p. The "T" type which was first shown at Le Mans. The first year and gained first place.

The sports cars on view at the Show were the first of the Triumph, M.G., Sunbeam Austin Austin Healey and Jaguar—all without doubt, substantial British claims to lead the world in this field.

The Jaguar have been shown a more powerful engine (160 h.p.) and a 6-litre engine has been fitted to the Austin Martin sports saloon.

Another attractive car in the high performance category which will catch the eye of prospective sports car drivers is the Bristol 400 saloon and convertible.

For the first time the Lagonda is being shown as a four-door saloon.

Exports rise
 Speaking at the annual dinner of the Motor Manufacturers and Traders' Society, Mr. A. E. Wright, the President, said that the value of car exports had risen 30 per cent since July 1956.

In addition, they would produce about 100,000 tractors.

Exports, at the rate of £20,000,000 a year, were a quarter higher than those of the next best exporter. This had been

EAST AFRICAN REPORTS ON NEW CAR FEATURES

Agents 'not despondent' over dock strike delay

Will the dock strike in England will delay the arrival of new cars in East Africa, a local news item of the larger distributors and agents in Harare showed them to be not over despondent. Many of the cars produced last year will be coming in with only minor modifications but there are others entirely new to motorists such as the Ambassador again, the Austin A50 (the Cambridge) and the Austin estate car converted from the Consul and Zephyr Six.

The Ambassador. This grand model British cars will continue in the Company range. It has major modifications in 1944 but a new motor, the 40-hp. and the 44-hp. engine.

The Cambridge. The new motor will be 44-hp. and the 40-hp. engine. It is believed that considerable improvements in the interior will be made. The front suspension will be changed to a coil spring type car.

PROGRESS MADE TALKS TO END STRIKE Union officials see Labour Minister GLASGOW REJECTS CALL TO JOIN DISPUTE

After a meeting at the Ministry of Labour in London yesterday on the dock strike it was announced that some progress had been made towards a settlement.

The meeting was attended by officials of the main unions and the National Amalgamated Stevedores' Association, the Minister of Labour, Sir Walter Douglas, and the Labour Minister, Mr. Ernest Bevin.

The dock strike leaders, criticised by a Government spokesman and ready to fight over the main points of a "buckler" overtime should be compulsory for more than 200 ships in eight major ports. It was stated that more than £1,000,000 in losses had already no break yesterday in a parallel strike in London which has caused a shortage of work on 100 more ships.

IMPORTERS WORRIED BY DELAY Orders for East Africa held up

The hold-up in agricultural machinery and spare parts due to the dock strike is causing grave anxiety among East African farmers and importers. Tractors and implements are piling up on docks at wharves in England while farmers' orders keep arriving in suppliers' offices.

One of the largest suppliers in Nairobi said he already had orders for 30 tractors but because of the strike nothing was out of the way. UGANDA CRICKET SIDE SELECTED To meet Kenya next week

FOR their match with Kenya at Nakivubo Stadium, Kampala on November 7, the Uganda Cricketers' Association has made four changes from the side which drew with Tanganyika last month. Every effort has been made to ensure that the strongest possible side takes the field against the Colony XI. There are no new caps but Stephen Hines, P. Mansfield and C. D'Souza are dropped in favour of Wild Handley, J. Johnston and Q. Qaidir.

The batting order now stands: 1. W. Handley (Kampala Sports Club), 2. Q. Qaidir (Singapore), 3. M. Mansfield (Singapore), 4. P. Mansfield (Singapore), 5. W. J. Johnston (Singapore), 6. W. J. Johnston (Singapore), 7. W. J. Johnston (Singapore), 8. W. J. Johnston (Singapore), 9. W. J. Johnston (Singapore), 10. W. J. Johnston (Singapore).

The Kenya Cricket Association has invited Uganda to play in Kampala on November 7. Uganda will have a strong team, including W. J. Johnston, P. Mansfield, C. D'Souza, and Wild Handley.

Five young batsmen being brought up to the standard of county cricket in the East Africa tour in Kenya. The five batsmen are: W. Handley, J. Johnston, P. Mansfield, C. D'Souza, and Wild Handley.

DR. CRAVEN CRITICISES THE 1949 ALL-BLACKS

'Warped outlook' led to Test defeat

DR. DANIE CRAVEN, himself a famous South African Rugby Union international, has issued a lively controversy as a result of comments contained in his book 'Springbok Story 1869-53', published this week. He writes that although the 1949 All-Blacks were the strongest team that ever toured South Africa in his time, they failed to win a Test match during a tour which was warped, in his opinion, by a warped outlook.

Dr. Craven writes: 'The All-Blacks of 1949, in my opinion, were the strongest team that ever toured South Africa in his time. They were the strongest team that ever toured South Africa in his time.

Land appeal for Somali tribe rejected

GOVERNMENT'S DUTY TO WAKAMBA AND NANDI

DISSENTING strong appeals from the (tribal) benches, the Kenya Government yesterday declined to recommend its decision on Somali stock farmers.

A motion, expressing regret that the Government had accepted the majority recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture, was defeated by 26 votes to 14 in the Legislative Council.

The Government did not wish to concede they were wrong, particularly as they did not know what recommendation was made for the Nandi and Wakamba.

The Government also stated that it was not its duty to establish a reserve for the Somali stock farmers.

Urgent review of Kenya manpower to be sought

THE Government is to be asked to make an immediate review of its manpower in Kenya, the Mr. C. G. Usher, Governor, said yesterday in a speech in the Legislative Council.

Mr. Usher said that agriculture and commerce were increasingly being neglected by the Government.

He requested the Government to review the policy of manpower and administration, and to make a study of the manpower situation in Kenya.

He said that the Government should be asked to make a study of the manpower situation in Kenya.

BIG FUTURE FOR MOMBASA PORT

New manager impressed

M. A. H. BARRY, chief ports manager of the East African Railway and Harbours Administration, has said that the working of the Port of Mombasa would continue to be difficult for some time, particularly with the construction work being carried out.

"The port is now too early to say how well the new pier will perform and what date for the start of the new pier will be. It is, however, safe to say that the new pier will be completed in time to meet the needs of the port."

Mr. Barry said that the new pier will be a major step in the development of the port and will be a major step in the development of the port and will be a major step in the development of the port.

INCREASE IN ACTIVITIES OF RED CROSS

Further teams from U.K. soon

The Red Cross in the metropolis is "Active in Peace, as in War" is being well maintained. Examinations in the first aid and home nursing classes are being held at a rate of one every two weeks with a high number of students. It is also being held for the purpose of the Red Cross in the metropolis.

Mr. Barry said that the new pier will be a major step in the development of the port and will be a major step in the development of the port.

WOMEN'S CLUBS HELP WAKAMBA PROGRESS

By Alastair Matheson

FOR the first time in their lives, some 3,000 women are learning how to make it is happening in Wakamba, the country of the Wakamba tribe which stretches out east of Nairobi.

The Wakamba women have never before been able to do so as they have not had any kind of post-graduate education.

Thanks to the 19 women's clubs in the district which are being set up by the Government, the women are now learning to read and write and to do many other things.

Home-made

Home-made goods are being made in the Wakamba district. The women are learning to make things like soap, paper, and other useful articles. They are also learning to do many other things which will help them in their daily lives.

They queue

And when Mrs. Penwell visits the clubs, she finds the women are very keen to learn. They queue up to get their lessons and to see the progress of their work.

Mrs. Patricia Penwell, who comes from Johannesburg and is the wife of the District Commissioner, Mathoko, is the moving spirit behind the organization of the 70 strong women's clubs in the Wakamba. Below she is seen measuring the lengths of material to sell to women at a club in the Mathoko area.

clubs, for which the women pay only a few shillings for material of special (handmade) cloth. Others are held in the district school for women. The clubs are just being started and are very busy.

The clubs are usually in charge of the women's work. They are very busy with their work and their families. They are also very busy with their own work and their families.

Sisal

Mr. Young, District Commissioner in Kisumu, has been very busy with his work. He is also very busy with his own work and his families. He is also very busy with his own work and his families.

Mrs. Penwell shows photographs with some of the members of a club in the Mathoko district. Below: African women at their home-made work.

Wakamba families find their work very busy. They are also very busy with their own work and their families. They are also very busy with their own work and their families.

Enthusiasm

Some clubs, more fortunate than others, have their own money. They are also very busy with their own work and their families. They are also very busy with their own work and their families.

Egg circle

This method of collecting eggs is very popular. It is also very busy with their own work and their families. They are also very busy with their own work and their families.

The best in Kenya are being made. They are also very busy with their own work and their families. They are also very busy with their own work and their families.

Mrs. Penwell admires a table cloth embroidered by one of the club members. Below: a club in progress at Kangundo.

London Went French

By DOROTHY BARKLEY

A GROUP of Frenchmen swept into London a short time ago, announced. "French Forthright" veered a wand and conjured up a chic little louch of Paris.

Explaining that they had not come with British products, but to give the population the preview of the things which will be in vogue this year—which makes the 50th anniversary of the Exposition Coloniale, the friends-and-neighbours treaty between the two countries—provides a good opportunity for a trade mission in London. So they sported the big stone moustaches to be designed "à la française" for two weeks as a recent lather, complete with striped awnings, suddenly appeared in "Kensington," a French milliner introduced a selection of modern furbies and hats. Champagne waited. (Glasses?) Champagne was even a wise guess—getting into the bottle while you made most of the French magnates and who have been there and everywhere. Miscellaneous notes over to die copies of her memoirs.

The story was crammed into the doors with entrance left unimpeded by.

One interesting store department was in "Kensington," a dictionary furniture department, "the" a long visit to France and brought back a fine selection of modern furniture and pottery. There were a couple of plastic models, a porcelain, black with white flowers, from any style, but included some of marble, but included blue and plates, including blue reproductions of Picasso pieces.

The wine sculptures, by artist Andre Bakst, were before for their originality. It would have been impossible to survive the Fortnight without hearing the name of Dior. It cropped up with the display of his new jewellery to London.

Women Of Venice

By EILEEN ANDERSON

I HAVE BEEN looking my fill on exquisitely quiet colours in the dazzling beauty of Venice. The Venetian women are perfectly dressed for their surroundings. In a dream city, where the sun strikes hard on marble pavement and sky-blue water, they look cool, elegant and artistic as the wonderful paintings in their art galleries.

There was also green, and very attractive, every imaginable colour except the crude blues. Never once did I see a colour that was anything but tasteful and delightful to the eye. They had much more sense than them, green were verging on blue. They are soft and subtle colours. They are beyond description. The Venetian dresses themselves, though to the far side of art and fashion.

Simple clothes
THE clothes themselves were simple. You don't need much of the blue of a good dress. A hand-made skirt and blouse were top fashion. Blue were with green, green with terra-cotta, and blue with black and white.

I pined for a pallid cast for my eyes. Yes, really, I had soft as silk and light with narrow, thin, but hand-made. I pined for a simple cap, made of lace, but I found it had disappeared. I looked at my lips and pined for a red lip.

I liked the Italian of old and—shoulder back, head high, straight as lightning bolts, but extraordinarily graceful. They just have to know a little of regular shape round their shoulders for the occasion.

Meal for two
Another way to use the ham is to use it and give extra meat to a soup of other meat. One good way is to Marrow. For two people mix a tablespoon of cooking oil and butter each in a small saucepan and fry a couple of onions in it. Don't add salt and add half a ounce of meat. Fry for five minutes. Then add a couple of slices of ham and a couple of slices of carrot and fry for five minutes. Then add half a pound of small pasta, or better, there is a very good one in the market.

Italian men
AND last, but by no means least, the Italian men. They are smooth and clean-cut, and when they meet about the most charming thing about them is the way they can mention the events of the day. They are talking, dining and drinking every time.

WAYS WITH THAT OLD HAM BONE

OFTEN in the grocer's shop you will find hanging up the relic of a raw ham. All the best part has been sliced away for those whose imagination only runs to hickory.

It will look pretty dried up and uninviting. But the world looks the better for you, as you are likely to find it cheaper. Anyway do not pay more than £2.75 a pound and that only if it has a good ready look left on it, even though it is a bit lean and tough looking.

Meat saw
Firstly, slice off half-inch thick pieces as far as you can, put off the fillet-rod, hick and treasure it with the rest of the kitchen. Use and incidentally, see that you will have in a small ham and so save this ham. Your stove won't fry or grill, otherwise you would have had them. You do to broil them, but that is a trying job with a tablespoonful or two of water, cover with the lid of a saucepan and set on a low heat for half an hour. Then take the lid and raise the heat to evaporate any surplus moisture.

Surgical
That's one meat that will last in your freezer the next operation is a surgical one. Slice off the hick and put off any edible-looking morsels. Then you can find that should be quite a bit of ham. Fry for five minutes in a pan, and you can save you a bit of water, but if you have a ham and a couple of slices of ham and a couple of slices of carrot and fry for five minutes. Then add half a pound of small pasta, or better, there is a very good one in the market.

Shoes?—Ugh!
DISLIKE—no, I hate—like Italian shoes. No one will survive to see any more of them in these long, narrow, pointed affairs. As for the two-tone effects seen by the majority, let's think about them.

Around And About

THE SOUTH AFRICAN Minister of Economic Affairs, Mr. J. H. Lawrence, has issued a poem-chronicle of his story that he found a snake sleeping in the bush after a long day's tramping through East Transvaal.

It was the poet of James O. A. Campbell on the subject of the South African poet, writes: "I have been thinking and writing in my spare hours, and have now written a poem, 'The Snake and the Hunter', which I have sent to Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Campbell, and I hope they will like it."

The poem is as follows:

Without a smile
A snake on a log
A hunter on a log
The snake was looking at the hunter
The hunter was looking at the snake
The snake was looking at the hunter
The hunter was looking at the snake

ELEPHANT HUNTERS WHO BECAME LEGENDARY

There died in Britain this summer two of East Africa's most famous Elephant Hunters.

W. ROBERT FORAM of Nanyuki has written two articles of appreciation to their memory. His first is tribute to W.D.M. (KARAOJIA) BELL. In a week's time he will write of F.G. (DEAF) BANKS.

South African War, where he was taken prisoner but managed to escape, and about time returning to British East Africa to become a professional elephant hunter for close on 25 years.

Yaching

DURING the First World War, the Royal Navy was awarded the Military Cross and a bar, and was five times mentioned in despatches. After retirement his chief hobby became yachting.

PROBABLY none of the greatest athletes in Africa have more about the name of a hunter than the late Mr. W.D.M. (KARAOJIA) BELL. He was a professional elephant hunter for close on 25 years.

For approximately 25 years he made his home in Nanyuki, where he was a professional hunter, and when he retired he was already aged as an elephant hunter. He was mentioned in the Despatches of the King for his 70th year when he was at his beloved home in Nanyuki.

THEY PLAYED A GRIM GAME OF HIDE-AND-SEEK

Four Days Spent In A Hole In The Wall

THE PRIVILEGED NIGHTMARE

With FREED ROMILY already on his way to freedom, MICHAEL ALEXANDER tells how the attempt by the other Prominent to escape ended in a dramatic discovery.

It was a grim and wearying game of hide-and-seek that was played in the cell of a prison in the heart of the city of London. The game was played by a group of men who were being held in custody for their part in the escape of a prisoner named Michael Alexander. The game was played in a hole in the wall of the cell, and it was a game of hide-and-seek that was played for four days and nights.

Nervestraining

The game of hide-and-seek was a nervous and straining one. The men who were being held in custody were all of them men of high social standing and high intelligence. They were all men who were used to the best of everything, and they were all men who were used to the best of everything.

He peered in

He peered in through the hole in the wall and saw the other men who were being held in custody. He saw them all, and he saw them all in the same way. He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way.

He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way. He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way. He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way.

He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way. He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way. He saw them all in the same way, and he saw them all in the same way.

Kenya survey by Mr. Lennox-Boyd

STEADY PROGRESS MADE AGAINST MAU MAU

THE Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lennox-Boyd, told the House of Commons in his first five-minute speech after returning from East Africa, that "steady progress" was being made against the Mau Mau terrorists in Kenya.

The Minister, who had previously made a barrage of questions (reported below) and said could no longer obtain supplies and assistance as and when required and to fight for them. The more vigorous cooperation with the Government shown in the Reserve and the increased strength and efficiency of the Kenya Guard, assisted by the security forces, is beginning to be felt.

As the campaign against the Mau Mau, the terrorists would become more vulnerable and less determined to fight. He would not attempt to forecast the end of the Mau Mau, but said that the Mau Mau had been reduced to a small number of hide-outs.

Mr. John Dugdale (Socialist) asked if the Colonial Secretary had been reported to have said that in Kenya that he favoured an extension of the franchise to white settlers. Did he not feel that the Labour Members thought it would be better to give the franchise to white settlers and their descendants than to give it to the Mau Mau? He said he did not know of any such proposal. He said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

Mr. Lennox-Boyd replied that the report was correct. In the instance of the Mau Mau, he said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal. He said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

Question time in the House of Commons

MR. LENNOX BOYD HOLDS THE FLOOR

ONLY a day after he returned to London from his visit to East Africa, the Colonial Secretary, Mr. A. Lennox-Boyd, held the floor for the first time in the House of Commons. He was the central figure in an hour and a half of question time in the House of Commons. He had to answer more than 60 questions, all directed to him by his constituents.

Among the points raised were the following:—
Answering a series of questions from the Royal Commission on Land and Population Mr. Lennox-Boyd said that the Government had not yet decided whether to accept the recommendations of the Commission. He said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

Mr. Lennox-Boyd replied that the report was correct. In the instance of the Mau Mau, he said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal. He said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

Mr. George Grigg (Cons.) asked for the percentage of income, including an allowance for the cost of living, for the African, Asian and European communities in Kenya. Mr. Lennox-Boyd replied that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

Mr. Lennox-Boyd replied that the report was correct. In the instance of the Mau Mau, he said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal. He said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

of confidence among some European settlers, who had sold their land to the Mau Mau and said that they were in Kenya to stay and that they had not returned to face the security of their homes.

DETENTION CAMP

NEED REGISTRED

The Minister said that those who had returned to Kenya would be allowed to return only after they had been registered in a detention camp. He said that the Government was not prepared to consider such a proposal.

Binny-Bunny Gets A New Jacket

MRS. BUNNY strolled and stretched until she had made a dear little yellow jacket for Binny. It had six buttons down the front and a large patch on the back.

lay down in a corner on a cozy bed of hay. Then she said "Binny-bunny" in great pleasure.

"I must be going now," said Binny, "otherwise my mother may be cross, and not be tender enough to collect the coat. But it won't be there!"

"Oh, Binny-bunny!" he cried. "It's not gone! It's just that the Bagdamins wasn't playing tricks!"

"Where CAN it be?" they both asked each other. "They ran out the house, and when I'm in a hurry," said the Bagdamins, "I must be going now."

"They looked all about it," and all of once Bagdamins tried to find the buttons close to the tree.

"What... what... what?" they all asked each other. "They were worried, indeed, and together they ran out the house, and when I'm in a hurry," said the Bagdamins, "I must be going now."

The Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lennox-Boyd, told the House of Commons, in his first full-length speech after returning from East Africa, that "steady progress" was being made against the Mau Mau terrorists in Kenya.

The Minister, who had previously faced a barrage of questions (reported below) said gangs could no longer hold their own. "The mounting cooperation with the Government shown in the Reserve and the increased strength and efficiency of the Mau Mau units, the security forces, is beginning to tell," he continued.

As this cooperation gathered momentum the Mau Mau would become more vulnerable and less determined to fight. He would not attempt to forecast the end of the Mau Mau insurgency but said it would still remain a bloody and singularly brutal murder of a few days before had shown.

Mr. John Duggdale (Socialist) asked if the Colonial Secretary had been reported correctly as having said in Whitehall that "it is not realistic to expect that the Mau Mau Members thought it would be extremely unfortunate if there was such an extension during the present difficulties."

Mr. Lennox-Boyd, replying that the report was correct, said: "In the assurance I have given to those European settlers and their descendants there would be no doubt that no greater disservice could be done to the Mau Mau than to attempt to depress the need for European settlement."

The Minister also considered it to be his duty to help restore confidence in Kenya. He had found a certain lack of confidence in Kenya.

Question time in the House of Commons

MR. LENNOX-BOYD HOLDS THE FLOOR

ONLY a day after he returned to London from his visit to East Africa, the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Lennox-Boyd, held the floor in the House of Commons. He had to answer more than 100 questions all directly related to the Mau Mau situation.

Among the points raised were the following:—
A number of questions on the Mau Mau Commission on the Civil Population Mr. Lennox-Boyd said that the Commission had not yet received its report and that it would be completed as early as possible.

Mr. James Griffiths (Lab.) asked the Colonial Secretary: "What is the Commission doing to help the Mau Mau? I understand that the Commission has been set up to investigate the Mau Mau situation."

Mr. Lennox-Boyd: There is a delay. Very many of the Mau Mau are still in the hands of the Mau Mau. I am writing the report. I am certain that the Mau Mau will be dealt with very shortly.

Mr. Lennox-Boyd promised to make a statement on the visit to East Africa, particularly to Kenya, after several Ministers would be interested in it.

Mr. George Grendah (Cons.) asked the Colonial Secretary: "I am interested in the Mau Mau situation. I am sure that the Mau Mau will be dealt with very shortly."

Mr. Lennox-Boyd: I am sure that the Mau Mau will be dealt with very shortly. I am sure that the Mau Mau will be dealt with very shortly.
