JAPANESE GOVERNMENT BEGINS 'SQUEEZE' ON FOREIGN FIRMS

THE Japanese Government has begun its long-expected crack-down on foreign business. Twelve firms—five of them British—are being rationed or deprived of the foreign currency they need to keep going. A series of Crippian controls manipulated by a Finance Minister who worked for Goering during the war is channelling the money to the firms Japanese competitors.

Several concerns will be forced out of business. An American with a subsidiary shop he started 30 years ago has been told he can have no more pounds or dollars for foreign purchases.

Three Japanese competitors have been granted an equal allowance.

Foreign realists judge that the Government has graduated to the next stage in its exclusive rationing business. Last week the C.M.P. had to give out 700,000 yen for the purchase of 700,000 yen worth of goods.

It has promised to the British Embassy that it had not cut any good. The Japanese Finance Minister will be in London next week as an Embassy representative.

British cotton exports fall sharply

BRITISH cotton textile exports to the main Commonwealth markets last year were only a little over half as large as those of the previous year.

Announcing this, Mr. F. H. Beckett, chairman of the Dominions section of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, said—particularly in Australia and New Zealand—for the whole of the year.

These import quantities had the effect of reducing the value of British exports to the United Kingdom market to a record level.

Exports of U.K. cotton and rayon to the Commonwealth were valued at £1,000 million in 1951, compared with £1,000 million in 1950.

QUESTION: Is Shell X400 just for new oil only?

SHELL X400 MOTOR OIL

ANSWER: It is best for all uses. It is ideal for running the new engines (it's only enough to generate new surface and improve them by its thick, stable oil film on the running parts, greatly close and seal the gaps and prevent the formation of new ones. In both cases the result is clean, low running.

THE U S PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION

THE stage is now set for the inauguration of Mr. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was elected 33rd President of the United States on November 4 by the largest outpouring of voters in American history. The ceremonies will be in Washington, D.C. at noon on Tuesday, January 20. Fred M. Vinson, Chief Justice of the United States, will administer the oath of office to the President-elect.

Thousands will witness the ceremonies attending the new President's inauguration into office. Washington hotel managers have reported a flood of requests for rooms, especially in hotels facing historic Pennsylvania Avenue along which the inaugural procession will move. In the parade will be floats representing the 48 States and various national organizations, marching bands and military units. Another highlight of the day will be the inaugural ball.

Until 1952 Inauguration Day was March 4. The date was changed by constitutional amendment in order to advance the Chief Executive's entry into office. President James Monroe was the first to deliver his inaugural address and take the oath of office standing on the eastern portico of the Capitol building. Since his time it has been customary for the ceremony to be held there in the presence of a large gathering in the plaza.

Immediately following the President proceeds to reviewing stands in front of the White House and watches the inaugural parade.

A major aim of the nation's new leader in world affairs will be for peace. President Eisenhower has said: "Peace with freedom and justice is the goal of peoples over the world. A goal elusive and never yet developed. Man has attributed to being that goal in sight—patience, determination, faith, fortitude. The United Nations was built upon these attributes. In it lies our major reliance for peace today." (U.S.I.)

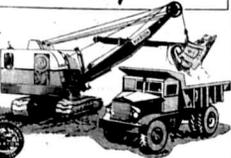

ISSUED specially for the occasion is the portrait of the new President seen immediately above. Fielder, educator and statesman, Mr. Eisenhower led five nations in fighting aggression, directed a great university. Top right is a study by Karsh of Ottawa, reproduced by Camera Press, London, of Senator Richard Nixon, the new Vice-President.

On the right, the White House home of U.S. Presidents since 1800, and below left, the Capitol in Washington where the oath of office will be taken.

WHY GEORGE GERSHWIN'S TUNES LIVE ON

THE American composer making the greatest impression in Europe at the moment is George Gershwin.

Fifteen years after his death his music continues to enjoy a popularity which is increasing all the time. His compositions on several occasions have been produced by Gershwin's opera company, which was organized in 1925 in New York and moved on to Berlin, where it was directed by the composer until the September Festival of the Theatre, and then to the Grand Theatre, Prague and the United States.

WHAT is the cause of this phenomenal success? Is it an innate gift? Or is it the result of hard work and the fact that George Gershwin's music is so much more than the work of a single person in a particular genre?

ing of his best tunes. They are Broadway successes. They are familiar with the more elaborate pieces, such as the "Rhapsody in Blue," "An American in Paris" and the "Piano Concerto." And they recognize that his work may be the cause of the continuing success of his music in music.

George Gershwin died on July 11, 1937, in his thirty-ninth year, but his music has never been forgotten. His compositions have been performed in every city where there is a radio, stage or television, in motion pictures, play recordings and concert halls.

Gift of song

WHAT is it that Gershwin's music has done for us? It has given us a gift of song. It has given us a gift of melody. It has given us a gift of rhythm and cadence of song.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

BEFORE the spring months begin there is still time to look at some of the new offerings among which two novels by American authors are of considerable interest.

NOVELS BY AMERICANS

UNION REVIEW by John Hume Burns. A City of Children, by John Hume Burns. The Girl in the Green Coat, by John Hume Burns.

BOTH of these new novels are distinguished by being hard work and of a high standard of literary quality.

WHEREAS this novel is confined to the usual, conventional, and generally unexciting and unoriginal material, the other is a study of the human mind in a way that is both new and original.

number 11, writing in 1930 described his working method in these words:

"The composer, so far as he is concerned, is not a writer of music. He is a writer of ideas. He is a writer of melody. He is a writer of rhythm and cadence of song."

First hit

But Gershwin's first hit was "Swanee Song," which was the first of a series of songs that he wrote for the Broadway musical "Blue Bird."

'LONGSTOP' FORCES ACCOUNT FOR 25 Enemy on run—Commander

By the Staff
AFTER 24 hours of tension and a Kikuyu had been contacted—men of 'Operation Longstop' yesterday evening reported to be moving forward into the Aberdare region for a small gang they contacted on Saturday night. The total 'bang' in the four-day operation is 25, of whom 10 have been caught by the 'Longstop' main party in 'I' Force. Several of these prisoners had been run to earth as the Masai morani do with their native plants. They were found in the Masai area and were armed with their traditional weapons, the long heavy Masai spears, short spears, daggers and clubs and the long bow with the arrow. The plan to which the 'Longstop' force was directed was to clear the Masai region of an opportunity to clear a route to the north.
