

UGANDA PREMIER ACCUSES KABAKA

'Military aid sought from foreign envoys'

UGANDA'S Prime Minister, Mr. Obote, last night openly accused the country's President, Sir Edward Mutesa, of having asked foreign envoys to send troops to Uganda during Mr. Obote's absence from Kampala last month. He also alleged that the Permanent Secretary to the East African High Commission was now "away on the same mission of military assistance".

The Prime Minister, broadcasting to the nation, gave an undertaking that his and his colleagues intended to make the present situation in Uganda a temporary one and added that need to normal and greater stability.

He said that because the people had regarded their responsibilities seriously the Government had not found it necessary to restrict freedoms, declare a State of emergency, impose a disturbed area declaration, or Press Censorship.

Earlier, two letters written by the President to Mr. Obote were issued to the Press in Kampala. The letters, dated February 21 and March 3, protested against the Prime Minister's action in suspending the constitution.

Danger of instability

The first letter said the Prime Minister's statements announcing the arrest of five Ministers and the suspension of the Constitution had caused Sir Edward much surprise as he was not informed of them by the Prime Minister. It went on to warn of the danger of instability.

The second letter said: "Our first duty is to the people of this country. The people decided, in their great wisdom, that the best way to serve them is through the means laid down in the Constitution. We will therefore continue to do this."

DELEGATES from Tanzania, Guinea and Mali yesterday walked out of the Organisation for African Unity Ministerial Council meeting in Addis Ababa in protest against the presence of the Ghanaian delegation representing the new regime.

Leaders of the delegation of the three countries said they had only left their own countries and not the O.A.U. to meet with two pro-United Arab Republic and pro-Sudan delegations and the three delegations and their members withdrew. Members of these delegations said they were still waiting instructions from their respective Governments.

The first conference of the ministerial council was held in Addis Ababa last month. It was held in the presence of the Prime Minister and other members of the Tanzanian Government.

Minister warns against intrigue

THE Minister for Economic Planning and Development, Mr. Mwaanga, who is also secretary-general of Kenya, last night warned in the Senate that Kenya could not be ruled by ministers, clerics and intriguers.

Mr. Mwaanga, speaking in a single program for the Senate, said that the Government would not be able to function unless it was based on a broad base of support.

He said a Press conference that President Mwaanga had held in Nairobi last night was a "hoax" and that the President had not held such a conference.

Mr. Mwaanga also said that the Government would not be able to function unless it was based on a broad base of support.

ROGHODIAN SANCTIONS

CONSPIRACIOUS VIBRATIONS about the impact of British trade sanctions on Rhodesia are causing much speculation and it is very reasonable to presume that account of what is happening.

The British Premier ought to come to a realization to be aware of the crucial and delicate sanctions, including the cost of the measures imposed against Rhodesia.

Figures issued in London by the Board of Trade showed the value of Rhodesian imports increased and that for the rest of Africa rose over the last month prior to Mr. Smith's seizure of independence.

U.N. opposition if force is required. He adds the warning, which is undeniably true, that any attempt to use force to settle the crisis could cause serious and lasting damage to the continent.

Zambia, it would seem, is suffering from trade sanctions more than Rhodesia, and it is not surprising that ever in wisdom, he will be unable to keep Rhodesia out of African affairs.

What is the picture here from the Rhodesian viewpoint? It is not much more than 20 years (strictly) most of us were facing such difficulties although not alone.

As to the cost of a firm measure against Rhodesia, the pamphlet lists £140,000,000 in summing revenue from the trade which has been lost.

40 YEARS ON...

The opening day of the famous school was its 40th anniversary. At the school were in charge to raise £10,000 to build a new school. RUHAN CHESARAH, gives a brief outline of the history of the school and describes its activities for the future.

Partners of the school set among lovely old fields (above) during the 40th anniversary of the school. In the foreground, Mr. G. A. Green, Mr. R. C. Francis and Mr. J. J. Campbell, the present headmaster, are seen with the school staff.

MARCH 1 is always an important date on the Alliance High School calendar and was more so this year when on Thursday, it celebrated its 40th anniversary.

The legation goes as far back as 1840 when there was no such place as Kenya, no railway stations, no schools in the area, and no roads. There were merely trading along which long caravans of Arab and Somali pedlars carried merchandise between Uganda and Zanzibar.

Night's rest
Two weeks passed almost through what is now Nairobi and one of these stretches past what is now Jambani Park through Dagoretti Forest to the source of the Athi River, the far boundary of what was then called the British East Africa Company and all to Odeid, Swaha where the teachers set up the school set among lovely old fields (above) during the 40th anniversary of the school. In the foreground, Mr. G. A. Green, Mr. R. C. Francis and Mr. J. J. Campbell, the present headmaster, are seen with the school staff.

Alliance High School reaches important point in history

For the night in fear of the Mzee this crisis was almost in 1908.

The other named through the present Nairobi School and emerged at Nairobi where the village of the trading "Mbaraka" of that area.

Along the latter in November, the first aircraft had failed to move further on to the site of what is now the Presbyterian Church at Nairobi and began to erect brick buildings and

The school has had only three headmasters, the late Mr. G. A. Green, Mr. R. C. Francis and Mr. J. J. Campbell, the present headmaster.

Expansion and change have kept Alliance moving on the changing scene and we will attain an 800 boys with a staff of 80.

Some things of 1908 have disappeared, the very best, the old and the best, but the same old and the same old, the same old and the same old, the same old and the same old, the same old and the same old.

The Director of the school and the staff of the school are proud to have reached this important point in their history.

The school has had only three headmasters, the late Mr. G. A. Green, Mr. R. C. Francis and Mr. J. J. Campbell, the present headmaster.

Urgent need

It is a shocking fact that in 1942 a population of 150 having been the result, the need for a larger one has become urgent.

The school and friends have been organized since 1942 in order to raise the £10,000 needed and £2,500 has so far been received.

The climax of the appeal will be the concert when a grand total of £10,000 has been raised.

BEAUTY IN EYES OF THE BEHELD

ALBERTO de Rossi, makeup expert for Audrey Hepburn, Elizabeth Taylor, Ava Gardner, and other film stars, insists that one should remark upon a woman's beautiful eyes, not her eye make-up. "Too many women today make their eyes look false and artificial," he claims, adding that even theatrical eye make-up should appear natural.

Alberto began working with Audrey Hepburn, on her first film, Roman Holiday, and has been with her ever since. He says that the secret to her eye make-up is to use a very light shade of eye shadow, and to use a very light shade of eye shadow, and to use a very light shade of eye shadow.

BEAUTY IN EYES OF THE BEHELD

ALBERTO de Rossi, makeup expert for Audrey Hepburn, Elizabeth Taylor, Ava Gardner, and other film stars, insists that one should remark upon a woman's beautiful eyes, not her eye make-up. "Too many women today make their eyes look false and artificial," he claims, adding that even theatrical eye make-up should appear natural.

Alberto began working with Audrey Hepburn, on her first film, Roman Holiday, and has been with her ever since. He says that the secret to her eye make-up is to use a very light shade of eye shadow, and to use a very light shade of eye shadow, and to use a very light shade of eye shadow.

Kenya counters coups—and their prevention

Portraits in Kenya, particularly, have been seen as a model for Commonwealth nations with frequent military coups.

Mr. OBOTE TAKES UGANDA REINS

Stanza's first Minister.

The crisis in Uganda is reaching its climax this week with the Prime Minister, Mr. Obote, assuming full executive authority and appearing to have taken complete control of the government.

The British took the lead in the crisis and carried out a full-scale air assault on Kampala in the name of a military coup.

It was also reported in the press that the British were contemplating a military intervention in Kenya.

BOOST FOR KENYA'S TRADE

Inroads to set up box factory

An urgent trade visit led by a Kenyan trade mission to the United States in 1967 to 1968, resulting in more than $200,000 in trade orders, was established in Brussels yesterday by the signing of an agreement between the Kenya Government and the Government of France.

The agreement was signed by the Minister for External Relations, Wycliffe Ochieng, and the French Permanent Secretary, M. J. Dubouché, on behalf of the Kenyan Government and the French Government respectively.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Kenya Government undertakes to purchase the complete first quantity of industrial machinery, at the price of 1,000,000 francs for a period of 18 months, for the purpose of the construction of a box factory in Kenya.

The main product of the industry is to be designed in accordance with the requirements of the Kenya Marketing Board in French, which will be the actual cost of 1,000,000 francs. The machinery will be ordered from French suppliers and will be shipped to Kenya by sea.

The new industry will be set up in July of 1969, in order to begin to supply 100,000 boxes a month for the Kenya Marketing Board.

The new industry will ensure that every factory will be given a further 400 boxes in payment of the buying order.

Other major advantages of the new industry which will be set up in Kenya, will be the creation of 100 jobs for the Kenyan people.

WARNING ON ARMY WORM

OUTBREAKS of Army worm are likely to begin soon in Kenya and to become more serious during the main maize planting season when the crop is particularly susceptible. A Ministry of Agriculture spokesman has said he is warning farmers to be on the watch for any invasion.

Some Government extension officers and farmers had been warned recently against the outbreak, but the outbreak has also been reported from Uganda, where it first appeared the beginning of the year.

Western and East African countries are being warned to be on the watch for any invasion. The Army worm, particularly in Kenya, is reported to be spreading rapidly in the region.

Mineral production shows increase

KENYA'S gross mineral production rose from $3,610,000 in 1967 to $3,840,000 in 1968, owing to a rise in constant copper and gold production, according to the annual report for 1968 of the Mines and Geological Department.

No new mine of any major importance was opened during the year and Kenya's mineral production continued to depend largely on established production of non-metallic minerals, the report continued.

On geological surveys, the report said that by the end of 1968 approximately 182,000 square miles — about 73 per cent of the country — had been surveyed in regional style.

An area of approximately 11,384 square miles covering the Victoria and Western Provinces was closed to prospecting in 1968.

The report said that the mineral resources survey sponsored by the United Nations Special Fund.

BIRDS IN YOUR GARDEN

The bird genus of which we have heard so much in the past few days is the one which is most likely to be seen in the garden. It is the one which is most likely to be seen in the garden. It is the one which is most likely to be seen in the garden.

After discussing the bird which has been about our garden for the past few days, a clearing agent wrote to me expressing his interest in the bird which has been about our garden for the past few days.

At the end of last month, 12 birds were waiting to be dispatched. It was a very busy time for the clearing agent. It was a very busy time for the clearing agent.

While the "disappearance" of the birds was not substantiated, there is an admitted shortage over the entire network. In explanation, the General Manager has pointed out that in recent weeks there has been a shortage of additional wagons to meet the increasing traffic.

On one hand, Dr. Galuso denied the working of the port is as the link of the railway, and the other side of the coin is the fact that the railway is not working properly.

COMPUTERS: the new force in East African affairs

THE period through which mankind is now passing as the Atomic Age and the Space Age, and it is true that these two exciting areas of science are dominating the activities of our society.

But it may well be that the computer will be the most revolutionary force in the world in the years ahead. It is the most powerful of all the tools of science, and it is the most powerful of all the tools of industry.

THE WORLD is increasingly turning to rely on machines and particularly on one super machine, the electronic computer. Its potential is, in fact, being realised, but it is being realised only in a limited way. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

Two types of the East African computer are in use in the East African region. One is the IBM 7090, which is used for general purpose work, and the other is the IBM 7090, which is used for general purpose work.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible. It is being used to do things which were once thought impossible, and it is being used to do things which were once thought impossible.

The invention of the computer, only a fraction of the size of the earlier machines, is now being developed at the rate of a mile a minute. Some idea of the size of the computer is given by the fact that it is the size of a large room.

Mr. John Jennings Barrow, a consulting engineer in Nairobi and son of Mrs. C. Barrow of South Africa and the late Mr. P. Barrow, and Miss Rosamund Margaret Jillings Wood, second daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. C. H. J. Wood of Nairobi, were married at the Cathedral of the Holy Spirit, (Photo Studio Jacqueline).

Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin are seen smiling during their wedding at St. Luke's Church, Kilifi. The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Mombasa, Kenya, and his bride, formerly Miss Elin Jordan, is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Jordan of Tsavo North.

Elizabeth S. S. Smith was the bride at the wedding (right) of Dr. Samuel Hugh Birkby, an ophthalmologist of Kampala National Hospital and eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hugh Birkby of Domboshava, Rhodesia, and Miss Catherine Mary only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horstmann, (Photo Studio of Frankfurt).

No redundancy any far

"them" for all those who want to be employed in the country. More computers are to be put in operation in the country particularly for scientific work. The country is facing a shortage of between £1,000 and £2,000 a month. Mr. Barrow claims that they make great savings particularly in their energy and other organizations. And when computers have been introduced, Mr. Barrow claims there has been a reduction of 50 per cent in redundancy. In spite of the advances which the computer seems to offer there has already been some resistance to it. The reason for this is not far to find; redundancy and with it that eternal spectre of East African unemployment.

Social problem
This is not surprising, now that for the first time Africans are being employed in well-paid jobs in walking the streets to give them up to a machine. It is a social problem, but Mr. P. D. Oyden, who is the director general for I.L.O. in Africa, thinks that it is the only solution to the problem. He would have been to call a meeting of the industry in 1963. A computer can not yet be designed that can write poetry, but if it were so, it will be interesting to see whether it can write poetry. In any case, it can be said that if it ever is, it will, unless more progress is made, be able to spell its name.

TV SHOULD COPY RADIO'S SAFARI COVERAGE

LIKE the Christmas "Ring Us Up" programme, the Voice of Kenya coverage of the East African Safari rally is always one of the highlights of the radio year. It is unfortunate that this feature is still by and large confined to the radio medium. (The 1961 Safari is likely to have a better audience because of the larger number of people who will come to get a closer view of the animals on a safari.)

Election petition rejected

THE Hon. Mr. M. M. Kariuki's petition against the election of Mr. M. M. Kariuki as Member of Parliament for Nairobi East has been rejected by the High Court.

The High Court judge, Mr. Justice G. M. O'Connell, found that the petition was not supported by the evidence. He dismissed the petition.

Mr. Kariuki had challenged the election on the grounds that it was illegal. He claimed that there had been irregularities in the election process.

The High Court judge found that the election was held in accordance with the law. He found no evidence to support the claims made in the petition.

Mr. Kariuki is expected to appeal the decision. He will argue that the election was illegal and that the High Court judge was wrong to dismiss the petition.

It is hoped that the decision will help to restore confidence in the election process. It will also help to ensure that future elections are held in accordance with the law.

NEW ROAD COULD SAVE FARMERS FROM RUIN

PROPOSAL favors in the states by the great waters by west of the Mississippi Valley in Northern Texas and is fighting to save a $10,000,000 investment in more than 40,000 acres of prairie lands.

Their spokesman, Crag Thom, explained the situation 27 farmers, among them Dutch, Italian, South African and Greek, had themselves in a pitched battle with the local district court.

"The district court was held in a building that was about 100 years old and was so dilapidated that it was necessary to have a new building," Thom said. "The cost of the new building was $10,000,000 and it was necessary to have a new building."

"We occupy all kinds of crops in the area—wheat, soybeans, cotton, corn and sugarcane from the pasture tract. Much of our produce goes for export, and in that way we are an important 'customer' of the State," Thom said. "The State of Texas is the source of Mexico's wheat and corn supply."

However the state legislature is a dissatisfied body. It is a dissatisfied body because the farmers have been asked to contribute to the state's financial needs.

"For a long time now we have been paying the state's expenses to carry out its responsibilities in maintaining this road. After all, central government contributes to district roads, we all pay our taxes," he declared.

Mr. Thom went on to say that the farmers of the area do not seem to be getting their share of the responsibility of the state's financial needs.

They will suffer heavy losses should any farming will be an important future hope," Mr. Thom added.

He pointed out that the members of the Hill Valley Farmers Association—all 25 in all—employed more than 4,000 workers at their fields.

Medical facilities are provided in every farm, but there are no schools.

The road, Mr. Thom said, is a daily menace to every farmer and the children in the area.

"Heavy vehicles moving along the road have to cross into the bank to avoid being hit, and the workers walking along the road always move into the bank for safety. There is a danger of some of them being hit," Mr. Thom said.

"The farmers have the greatest number of workers employed to carry out the work themselves. If the district court will authorize it, but a permanent agreement cannot be reached.

The farmers have offered to build schools for their work children providing they have a guarantee of a highway road in their area."

The Hill Valley Farmers Association is active in the state's affairs and is active in the state's affairs.

"We will do our best to see that we can take care of our own interests," Mr. Thom stated.

This is a road—the one that is needed in the Tennessee hills are complaining about. Failure by the authorities to act might mean losing 40,000 acres of prairie land.

The work in the Western Tennessee hills is a task that has been going on since the fall of 1942. The project is to build a road from the Hill Valley, Tenn., to the State Capitol, Tenn., through 18 miles.

Administrators to be organized at the meeting will be the chairman of the Hill Valley Farmers Association, Mr. Thom, and the members of the Hill Valley Farmers Association, Mr. Thom.

We are convinced that the authorities of the state will do their best to see that the road is built in the shortest possible time.

"We will do our best to see that we can take care of our own interests," Mr. Thom stated.

The President, Sir Kenyatta, will inaugurate the new centre for Research of the Royal Tropical Institute of Amsterdam, in the grounds of the Kenyatta National Hospital, Nairobi, this evening. The signing of the agreement between the Government and the Royal Tropical Institute of Amsterdam, of which it is a part, is a milestone in international co-operation in the unending struggle against disease.

In the preliminary stages of the Kenya Government's health research programme, the Royal Tropical Institute of Amsterdam has been invited to send a team of experts to Kenya to study the health situation in the country and to advise on the best way to proceed with the research programme.

The Kenyan Government has provided the premises for the research centre in the grounds of the Kenyatta National Hospital, Nairobi. The building and equipping of the centre is being done by the Netherlands Government through the Department of Health, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands.

Since viruses have been shown by the Centre's virologist, Dr. H. A. Viro, to be the cause of many tropical diseases, the Centre will be particularly concerned with the study of these viruses and their transmission.

RESEARCH INTO ALL THINGS TROPICAL

THE Royal Tropical Institute of Amsterdam — of which Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands is Honorary President — was founded in 1919. Its objectives are the collection, elaboration and dissemination of knowledge of the tropics.

Originally the work was limited to the study of tropical diseases, but it has since expanded to include all aspects of tropical medicine, pathology, cultural and physical anthropology and general tropical medicine.

The Institute has a long history of international collaboration, including graduates and University professors working on tropical diseases in Kenya and East Africa.

Public health is a major problem of the first order among countries within the tropics, and the Institute contributes to the improvement of conditions by offering scientific and technical advice.

School with a place in the future over 40 years ago when, in October, 1915, a new school building was opened. The school started with 100 pupils and was designed for a school building. There were 100 pupils in the school at that time and the pupils were not better than the usual school of that time.

It was in 1924 that a school was designed for the future. It was designed for the future and was designed for the future.

An account of the progress made by the Kenya High School and the big role it is playing in moulding Kenya's future leaders, outlined by Headmaster W. H. W. W. W.

It is a question from the Latin text of a prayer by Augustine. In January, 1927, the foundation stone of a new building was laid by the Governor. The following year saw the new school opened. It was a school for the future and was designed for the future.

A future for him. A future for his nation. Cotton is one of East Africa's most vital export industries. It is also one of her most vulnerable, being dependent on timely planting, regular rainfall and strict control of pests and weeds. A cash crop, cotton is produced almost entirely by small farmers. Barclays are always ready to give advice and assistance in this important industry.

MORE COVERAGE OF SAFARI ON TV PROMISED

WHD would be radio animal? After all the lead singer I read last week about the coverage of the East African Safari, the only occasion has been a caricature sketch from the Acting Head of Television Services, Mr. Krishna Rao... because I ventured to suggest that TV should also give better coverage.

Mr. Nijmoo rightly points out that I was in error that the vision of the safari was in fact a good one and that Mr. Menckhoff. This was at 8:30 each evening and was closed and at 1:30 there were V.O.K. films recorded.

I still think more could be done on TV, and this thought I had in mind when I wrote in fact I am going to be done the safari.

For the first time in India the safari was not the start of the rally as it happens (and before that) on Agartala, the coverage is in addition, live coverage is in Northern and Southern India as well as the City Hall at the building entrance.

A more detailed viewing is that the safari can be shown on a regular basis. It is also a matter of fact that I am unable to report the enterprise V.O.K. showing over the safari, particularly as it represents a technical breakthrough. It will be the first time live television coverage of a safari and not by "microcameras" has been attempted.

The safari coverage is not all well - but it is not a V.O.K. event of the first time live television coverage of a safari and not by "microcameras" has been attempted.

all this is agreed; but it has equipment worth $75,000 the more use that it made of the safari. I hope the similar live outdoor broadcast.

Live London's TV Press Conference promised to be lively one, but was without the scheduled and by the whimsical reaction of the audience. The program was interrupted more than once by the audience's questions to answer awkward questions in those early reactions.

The event in question was the safari in Kenya. Mr. Nijmoo has had a special look forward and had not looking after him.

WOMEN IN KENYA

Women in the Kenya Parliament are making for women a lively debate which surprised many of the public and outside the House just made them aware of the role women are playing and the progress made in the newly independent African countries. It is a fact that it was up to the women themselves to demand and make their own needs rather than the men provide them for them. This is a view which has support. The two articles below describe how women view the problem, and the measures progress they are making.

It was interestingly stated in the Kenya House of Parliament last February that Parliament does not have women from standing orders.

A motion urging the Government to amend the Kenya Constitution to give the special representation to women in the Kenya House of Representatives by Mrs. Cressida Pridemore was passed by the House.

It was also stated that Kenya is the only country in the world where women are not only members of the House of Representatives but also members of the Executive Council.

The lamps went out—but the War lesson was not learnt

By MICHAEL ROE
THE GREAT WAR by John Terrence (Hickinson, 6s.)

THE mushroom cloud has been casting its long shadow for more than 30 years. In that time it has been used by the youth of many countries as a cause for identification, an excuse for reading, a possibility, a reason for living for the moment for tomorrow they die.

For an understandable attitude led to an act that has given us a new direction. I wonder if my generation is more or less prepared for what its predecessors have done. After all, the prospect of sudden death is not new.

The life expectancy of a young soldier today is longer than it was in the First World War. The average life of a young soldier today is longer than it was in the First World War. The average life of a young soldier today is longer than it was in the First World War.

For the end of hostilities it is estimated that more than 13,000,000 were killed. The total number of deaths today has no more to be added to the 13,000,000. For that reason it was the young people of the world who were really destroyed.

Skin Itch

Itchy skin is a common complaint, especially in the tropics. It is caused by a variety of factors, including dry skin, insect bites, and allergic reactions. The best way to relieve itchy skin is to use a good quality skin cream or lotion. The cream should be applied to the affected areas several times a day. It should be kept away from the eyes and mouth.

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT HELP THE IDLE

THE present Government of Kenya described education from all the people in the country for promoting co-operation, a thing the former Government had not accomplished, the Provincial Community Development Officer, Eastern Province, Mr. E. W. Mahabua, said recently.

He was addressing thousands of self-help group members engaged in the construction of a £100 self-help health centre at Matunguli, in the Northern Division of Machakos District.

Before making his address, Mr. Mahabua, who was accompanied by the Machakos District Community Development Officer, Mr. D. Chikwa, visited the group's first school for which local residents have raised £1,000.

Mr. Mahabua appealed to the people not to sit idly by and expect help from the Government. He suggested that self-help groups should visit other self-help projects and, if possible, pick up more useful ideas.

Mr. Chikwa warned his audience to be on the alert for any signs of idleness. "They should use their own initiative," he said.

The Department of Community Development has given the Matunguli self-help health centre project £100 from £1,000 raised by the group.

At Kunguwa, Mr. Mahabua, who is the Member of Parliament for the Machakos constituency, said that the Government would not help the idle. He said that the Government would only help those who are willing to help themselves.

Later, Mr. Mahabua, accompanied by Mr. Chikwa, visited the village area where the group is working.

"The people of Kunguwa strongly stand behind President Kenyatta and his people," he said. "They therefore, use all the facilities available to work for the betterment of their country."

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT HELP THE IDLE

HELP THE IDLE

THE Department of Community Development recently announced a comprehensive scheme for the establishment of a self-help fund in each of three districts in Nyanza Province, the Provincial Community Development Officer, Mr. S. Mutonyi, reported.

Mr. Mutonyi, who was explaining community development functions in Nyanza, said the purpose of establishing the fund was to ensure that the people would have some fund for themselves whenever need not be provided.

The money would also be used in financing district self-help projects, he added.

The fund would come from the district funds, voluntary contributions, public services and self-help group registration fees.

The groups would in turn have the right to apply for self-help loans.

Other district-level development co-ordinating committees, in which district community development officers were participating and co-operating, had schemes in progress to set up self-help funds in the districts.

Mr. Mutonyi said that in addition to material and grants by the Central Government, the National Development Fund had allocated to Nyanza Province the year's Provincial Self-Help Development Committee £100,000 to be distributed to Kisi, Elgeyo and Central Nyanza and £200 in South Nyanza.

LIBRARY FUND NOW AT £500

Success of troops shocks shifts

THE success of the security forces had shocked the shifts, the District Officer, Mr. D. A. Mulama, said recently.

The public were fully behind the security forces, he said. On development, he said the first two months of this year had seen marked progress.

Two new classrooms worth 98 chairs had been built at Matunguli and at Mwachungu.

In addition to further relief work, many children were opened at Matunguli and Mwachungu. The relief centre had been marked out at Mwachungu.

Mr. Mulama said that following the arrangements for the relief work in the Court, £250,000 in the district had been given to the Government, Mr. S. Mutonyi, District Commissioner, Nyanza.

£400,000 OF SUBVERSION

MORE THAN £400,000 has been used in attempts to change Kenya's Government during the period between June, 1964, and December, 1965. This startling revelation was made by the Minister for Home Affairs in a speech...

The Government regretted with a promise to grant the use of the emergency Defence of India Bill which would allow the Chief Minister to prevent any person from entering the country...

Since opposition - if it happens in deemed justified - is permitted, there is no cause to resort to constitutional action. Mr. Moi leaves no illusion: £400,000 worth of money has been spent during the past year...

Warning to foreign diplomats

Some may have behaved as they did in bravado, or unthinkingly; but others are engaged in organized, deliberate subversion of their own country, which means they are traitors to their President and to Kenya.

Mr. Moi bluntly warned ambassadors and diplomatic envoys not to misuse their privileges as representatives of their Governments. Their duty is to promote the improvement of relations between their own countries and those to which they are assigned, not to spy and sabotage.

Why are the guilty men? They can scarcely fail to be aware of the obvious propaganda campaign which has been launched by the Chinese Government...

In China and the U.S.S.R. are playing a private role over the interpretation and application of Communism in the Indian sub-continent...

Earlier this week, Mr. Tsheringzi, of the same embassy, branded the Peshawar Papers a 'crude forgery' using customary party jargon. The Russians project their interests always 'strictly within the principle of non-interference in internal affairs...

LEARNING ABOUT GIRAFFES

By SUSAN CARROLL

Mrs. Emma, the Dublin school teacher, said that she was surprised to find that her class of 15 children knew nothing about giraffes. The children were puzzled when she asked them why giraffes were so tall. They were told that giraffes were tall because they had to reach the leaves of trees that were so high. Mrs. Emma was the first to wonder how tall giraffes were. She asked the children to measure the giraffe in the picture and to write down the measurement.

WORLD ON RECORD

JOHN ROBERTS

discusses new African releases

SUE TURNER

reviews discs from overseas

FIRST on my list this week is a best horror, I am afraid to say — a horror in just about every respect. There are limits to what, even by the most unscrupulous rectoring, could be done to pay the rent.

The reviews of Beatland's Hit in the Street (issued a magnificently cloyed single which features of the same Keesa Shute) far exceeds them in their own right. There is of course no reason in the world why a musician should not make an accidental song, provided he isn't something else.

Even a Frank Sinatra song may be detected in a sense of integrity — at that were not enough. But this record is almost daring in its copying. The extremely more proper accompaniment which Beatland used is there in its own right, if not perhaps such as one as make little difference to the listener.

But the only tracks of any note which the woman singer uses on the Beatland version are those used by Johnny. But worst of all it is a single.

I has long been a failure in the record world to suppose that pop makes a star and vice versa. It's the material and the industry that make the star and the star makes the material. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material.

But the star makes the material. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material.

On this case, a star makes the material. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material.

The Big Side is a new record from the Big Side. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material. It's the industry that makes the star and the star makes the material.

Why convoys cause chaos on road warns A.A.

The Automobile Association of East Africa warned motorists yesterday to exercise emergency measures as taken to motorists they have been brought on the Membara Road, chess may come.

The A.A. in a letter to the Minister for Works, urged that special, faster gangs be employed to remove the lorries, part of the fleet engaged to transport cargo, arrived at Kilindiini.

From Nairobi, on Wednesday, 17 lorries were stuck in a queue for four feet deep in water, and an overflow of water was dangerous to pass and of mechanical break.

Heavy rainfall has increased the danger of the heavily laden lorries bogging down and the road is described as being in a very bad condition.

DAINGER AT EASTER

To minimize the delays, the railways have put into effect a plan to keep the convoys on the move and break-down of trucks and vehicles are standing by at strategic points.

The A.A. pointed out that the situation on the road could become dangerous at Easter, with thousands of people going by their way to the Coast. The secretary-general, Wing, Comdr. A. A. Francombe, has appealed to lorry crews to ensure that the lights on stranded lorries are lit on and are not obscured by mud.

"This is a state of situation where there could be some nasty accidents if lorry drivers are careless during their lights," he said.

It is a great pity that there is no law in this country at present which would deal with this sort of thing with effective deterrence.

It is suggested that the Government should immediately put into effect a law which would deal with this sort of thing with effective deterrence.

FREDDIE HAS ALL IT TAKES

This could be Scotland's National year

THE hero, planner and ransome of the Grand National in the world's greatest steeplechase, which was first run in 1827, remains today and this year's race will be run over the Aintree course near Liverpool, now less than 100 miles from London.

President has been set by the participation of a Japanese steeplechase expert who has at odds of 200-1. This chase has been won by horses from many countries including the United States. This year may be the last year for Freddie, a gelding, as he has just taken to his stall. His new owner is expected to fight the current flat. He is more than when he was put into to win. His last winner was the late Lord de Vries, who was ridden by the six-year-old Irishman Pat McCarron, in jumps Sunday, by a consent and the horse will be in his favour.
