WILL VOTE IN UGANDA

More than 2,000,000 people in Uganda will be entitled to vote in the country's first common roll elections next year, according to a bill presented to Legislative Council yesterday which says that African and non-Africans will vote on a qualified franchise.

The bill, which was introduced by Mr. K. M. Kibuka, Minister for Home Affairs, provides that the franchise will be based on a common roll of voters. It will be open to all persons who are at least 21 years of age and who are registered on the roll. The roll will be compiled by the Protectorate Government, and will include the names of all persons who are entitled to vote in the Protectorate.

INVESTMENTS IN EAST AFRICA

TOTAL £16,000,000

British Colonial Development Corporation has announced that it has received a total of £16,000,000 in investments from the United Kingdom and other countries. The investments are for the purpose of developing the economies of the Protectorate and other territories under its administration.

The Corporation has received the investments from a wide range of sources, including the Government of the United Kingdom, the Government of the Republic of South Africa, and the Government of the Republic of the Congo. The investments are being used for a variety of purposes, including the construction of roads, bridges, and other infrastructure, and the establishment of new industries and businesses.

Another change to the Bill in relation to the franchise was announced yesterday. It provides that the franchise will be open to all persons who are at least 21 years of age and who are registered on the roll. The roll will be compiled by the Protectorate Government, and will include the names of all persons who are entitled to vote in the Protectorate.

The bill also provides that the franchise will be open to all persons who are at least 21 years of age and who are registered on the roll. The roll will be compiled by the Protectorate Government, and will include the names of all persons who are entitled to vote in the Protectorate.

MR. NIXON CRITICISED

Republican leaders were seen yesterday in the light of a campaign strategy of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, who is expected to be elected in the Presidential election in November. The leaders are seen to be critical of Nixon's strategy, which they believe is too conservative and does not take account of the needs of the African continent.

The leaders are seen to be in favour of a more radical approach to the development of Africa, one that would involve the nationalisation of the economy and the establishment of a more egalitarian society. They believe that this is the only way to ensure the long-term stability and prosperity of the continent.

Dr. Kiano tells leaders: Do not play to gallery

Dr. Kiano, Minister for Home Affairs, has urged political leaders to focus on the needs of the people rather than on the demands of the media. He says that the media often distorts the views of politicians and that politicians should therefore be careful not to play to the gallery.

Dr. Kiano says that the media often focuses on the sensational aspects of politics, rather than on the issues that are important to the people. He says that politicians should therefore be careful not to be misled by the media, and should instead focus on the needs of the people.

U.S. FEARS RUSSIAN INFLUENCE IN GUINEA

The United States has expressed concern over the increasing influence of Russia in Guinea. It is feared that Russia is using Guinea as a base for its operations in Africa, and that this could lead to a more radical and unstable situation in the continent.

The United States has been providing Guinea with economic and military aid, but it is concerned that this aid is being used to support a more radical government. It is therefore seeking to reduce its aid to Guinea, and is also seeking to persuade other countries to do the same.

Elections report out today

The report of the working party on the subject of elections in the Protectorate is expected to be published today. The report will contain recommendations on the franchise, the electoral system, and the role of the Protectorate Government in the elections.

The working party was set up by the Protectorate Government to study the issues involved in the introduction of common roll elections. It has held a number of public hearings and has received many suggestions from the public.

Commonwealth on course

The Commonwealth of Nations is making good progress towards its goal of becoming a more unified and effective organization. The member states are working together to address common problems and to promote economic and social development in the developing world.

The Commonwealth is also playing a leading role in the promotion of human rights and the rule of law. It is providing support to member states in these areas, and is also working to ensure that the principles of the Commonwealth are upheld in all member states.

Minority begins Congo break-up

The minority in the Republic of the Congo has begun to break up, leading to a period of instability and uncertainty. The minority is demanding greater autonomy and is threatening to secede from the Congo.

The majority government has rejected the minority's demands and has insisted on the unity of the Congo. It has also taken steps to strengthen its control over the country, and has begun to implement a series of reforms.

The situation in the Congo remains tense, and it is unclear when the break-up will end. It is hoped that the two sides will be able to reach a peaceful agreement, but there is a real risk of a civil war breaking out.

Walk-out

A group of African students has walked out of a conference in London, protesting against the government's policy on Africa. The students are demanding that the government should do more to support the development of Africa, and that it should not be too closely aligned with the West.

The students' walk-out has caused a significant stir in the media, and has also led to a number of protests in London. The government has responded by saying that it is doing all it can to support the development of Africa, and that it is not responsible for the problems of the continent.

Highland procedure is life-blood of Kenya

Report on farm yields and profit margins

FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OUTLINED BY MINISTER

THERE is a great deal of discussion and speculation going on in the country about the future of the Highlands since the Government's proposals for the raising of land barriers have been accepted and announced.

The agriculturist is particularly concerned about the maintenance of land values as well as the maintenance of the Highlands. But these are matters which are of vital concern not only to the African farmer, but to every single person in the Colony, black or white or European.

It cannot be too often repeated that roughly 85 per cent of our total production in the form of agricultural produce and that of the Highlands is produced in the Highlands of Kenya.

This is the very life-blood of our economy. On the maintenance of this production in the Highlands all educational, medical and social services, communications, water, roads and commerce and industry—must ultimately depend.

In this article I have tried to give my views on the future development of the Highlands. These views can be found in the Government's proposals in broad outline, and summarized by my colleagues outside Government.

Before going any further I should like to state that the majority of the Highlands are not under the Agricultural Board (Highland Area) which is proposed to be set up under the Agricultural Department as its agents in doing the physical work and functions, large in this article.

It is my belief, therefore, that the scheme is a genuine one. Firstly, the pilot scheme will be operated in the two Government-owned areas (Highland Area) which is proposed to be set up under the Agricultural Department as its agents in doing the physical work and functions, large in this article.

More than that, if we are to raise the standard of living of all people in the Highlands, it must be done on a basis of increased production. The value of the Highlands to the economy of the country is maintained.

Five aims
The development of the Highlands on a basis of increased production is the first aim. The value of the Highlands to the economy of the country is maintained.

More than that, if we are to raise the standard of living of all people in the Highlands, it must be done on a basis of increased production. The value of the Highlands to the economy of the country is maintained.

Free grants are just not available. Whether money is provided for the purchase of land will have to be repaid.

Any scheme for the development of the Highlands which is not based on increased production is not a genuine one. The value of the Highlands to the economy of the country is maintained.

Development of the Highlands which is not based on increased production is not a genuine one. The value of the Highlands to the economy of the country is maintained.

There has been widespread misunderstanding. I would like to state that the scheme is a genuine one. Firstly, the pilot scheme will be operated in the two Government-owned areas (Highland Area) which is proposed to be set up under the Agricultural Department as its agents in doing the physical work and functions, large in this article.

The Kenya Minister for Agriculture, Mr. Macdonald, has outlined the Government's proposals for the raising of land barriers in the Highlands of Kenya. He explained his views on the subject to a group of agriculturists in Nairobi. Mr. Macdonald said that the Government's proposals were based on the report of the "East African Agricultural Settlement Board" which was set up in 1935. He said that the Government was determined to carry out the recommendations of the Board, which were to be put into effect in 1938.

HUNTERS' CLUB OPENED AT ARUSA

"Standard" Correspondent, Nairobi.

The new hunting club at Arusa, Kenya, was formally opened by Mr. J. K. Kiprop, Minister for Agriculture, on June 25, 1938.

The club was opened in the presence of a large number of guests, including members of the Government and the public. Mr. Kiprop, in his address, stressed the importance of hunting as a means of improving the standards of living of the people of the Highlands.

The club is situated in a beautiful area of the Highlands, and is well equipped with all the necessary facilities for hunting. It is hoped that the club will be a great success, and will do much to improve the standards of living of the people of the Highlands.

Newspaper Bill attacked
£500 PRESS BOND FOR INSURANCE - MINISTER

THE Kenya Government's Bills and Newspaper Bill, which are to be read in the Legislative Council on Wednesday, was opposed by the Minister for Information and Road-projects to their-party members.

He said that just as third-party insurance was introduced to protect members of the public from irresponsible drivers who had no money to pay damages if they were involved in an accident, the Government's proposal for newspaper proprietors to enter into a bond of £500 would protect citizens and the Government from malicious libel and lack money to pay for their crime.

NOTHING TO FEAR

Although many Members on the Opposition Benches complained that Mr. Harris was only one of the many who were put to the House. Only two votes, that of Mr. Harris and the Government's, were in favour of the other hand, were about half full.

Mr. Harris had assured the House that the responsible newspaper proprietor, however "small" it might be, had nothing to fear from the Bill. Mr. A. O. Colunga (Nyarua Central) said the Bill was aimed at discouraging irresponsible journalism, a measure which hamper good race relations and increase frustration among the people.

Mr. E. L. Howard-Williams (Nyeri) said he was glad to see the Bill as it was a very good Government Bill. The Bill was coming into force to stop healthy criticism of the Government. Minister. He said that just as third-party insurance was designed to protect members of the public against irresponsible drivers who had no money to pay for their damages, the proposed bill was a requirement for newspaper proprietors to enter into a bond of £500 to protect the public against irresponsible proprietors who might commit political or racial crimes and lack money to pay for their damages.

NOTHING TO FEAR

Although many Members on the Opposition Bench supported the Bill, there was only a handful of Members on these Benches when the vote on the second reading was put to the House. Only three Members are heard to say "No". The Government Benches, on the other hand, were almost half full.

Mr. Harris had assured the House that the responsible newspaper press, however "small" it might be, had nothing to fear from the Bill. Mr. A. O. Gunga (Nyanga District) said the Bill was aimed at discouraging the vernacular Press. Such a measure would hamper good race relations and could be regarded as a blow to the African press.

Mr. E. L. Mwangi (Nairobi District) said the bill would have a disastrous effect on the African press. He pointed out that the Government had the power to regulate the press through the Press (Licensing) Bill, but that this is a prevention we can take.

Nyeri security tightened after murder

THE headlines this week in Kenya have been concerned with a strike at Mau Mau-type meetings at Nyeri; an agricultural committee report and Kenya Legislative Council debates on the Press, broadcasting and the diesel oil bill.

The second day of the strike by Mau Mau-type meetings at the Atika Farm, which was reported in Nairobi last night, was a success. There was a shortage of most of the shops, particularly groceries and other necessities. While strikers outside displayed the Mau Mau flag at the post-office, a station in the town was surrounded by 22 African Kenia Constabulary officers. It is believed that the children were not allowed to be seen without the daily supply of milk given to them under special conditions by the K.M.C.

The leader of the 100 strikers had the strike called off. The Government has agreed to discuss the situation with the strikers. The Government has agreed to discuss the situation with the strikers. The Government has agreed to discuss the situation with the strikers.

INCREASE IN DAIRY ANIMALS REPORTED

The number of dairy animals in the Kenya Highlands has risen from 399,900 in 1957 to a figure of 427,000 last year, states the Department of Agriculture's Report for 1957. There was an increase in the number of dairy cows during that period from 139,000 to 152,000.

Although there was no real increase in milk and butter production, this could be attributed to the increase in weather conditions. However, the increased number of dairy animals is a most important factor in the increase in dairy production.

The total number of beef animals in the Highlands increased from 60,000 in 1957 to 88,000 last year. Sales to the Kenya Meat Commission rose from 19,000 to 26,000 and there was a rise of 23,000 to nearly 44,000. There was no increase in sheep in 1957.

The pig industry was due to a substantial increase in the number of sheep on European farms. In 1957, the number of pigs in the Highlands was 18,000. It is estimated that the total number of pigs in the Highlands was 18,000 in 1957.

COMMON WORKING MAN IGNORED..

by HAROLD HOBSON

THEATRE WORKSHOP, whose new production, Ned Kelly, by James Clancy, is an Australian outlaw who robbed the rich to feed the poor, is now grappling with the problems of success. There are as worrying as, though better paid than, the problems of failure, for they involve the peril of integrity.

The dilemma of Theatre Workshop in this is that large and enthusiastic audiences are made up of the wrong people. At least, they have been made up of the wrong people whenever I have been there.

By writing people I do not mean the ignorant or the stupid or the unintelligent or criminal people I simply mean the sort of people whom Theatre Workshop despises.

At the first night of Ned Kelly—whose first act I missed owing to an aeroplane delay or found myself sitting next to a young man from Yorkshire.

The interesting thing about him in this connection is and that he comes from Yorkshire—which is enough to make me wonder how he got to London and how he got to the theatre. He is a well-to-do, well-educated, well-read, well-travelled, well-satisfied Oxford model of our time.

There were not exceptions Burgess and Trollope were founded. The Spring workshop and Sadie Bill act in every night.

But Theatre Workshop was expressly founded to bring drama to the common people, and to kill the type of drama which attracts the very class which is the most to be avoided.

It is a good sound for Common Man as I know it, at Theatre Workshop, because

It is necessary, therefore, to give the company advance notice of such improvisation, so that they have not been done for the players presenting Ned Kelly.

A producer of a different kind from Miss Littlewood would have seen to it that Ned Kelly's trousers, in a dramatic sense, would not split in the seat and reveal considerable areas of Mr. Harry H. Corbett's shirt, nor would one of the actresses' skirts have come completely undone below her hips.

QUICK CHANGE

In such a theatre as Miss Littlewood's it is not surprising that these thoughts are to be met.

Surely some of the actors, on seeing Mr. Corbett's predicament, (of which Mr. Corbett himself is naturally somewhat unaware), could have made a reference to trade and other matters in connection with the Theatricals of Herkell, both of whom themselves are in the matter, would have been much to be desired.

But, instead of a reference to the principles of improvisation, I saw the dress in wild abandon, and Mr. Corbett change his trousers at the first opportunity.

Mr. Alan Howard, the novelist and playwright, stands Dorothy Hill in a scene from The Army Game. Miss Marlowe is in England to direct the play.

Markova settles down to writing her story

ALTHOUGH illness recently forced her to cancel a series of guest appearances in New York, ballerina Alicia Markova has not been inactive of stage. Resting on doctors' orders has enabled her to concentrate on her New Year resolution to write a book about her life. During her first stage appearance at the Metropolitan Theatre in Cleveland, Ohio, she was accompanied by her husband, the composer, and her young son.

AND what are the fashions like in the woman returns to the fashion world from the fashion world of the East? It is a question that is being asked by many who are interested in the latest fashions. My own experience is that the fashions in the East are very similar to those in the West, but with a few interesting differences. For example, the women in the East are very fond of high heels and long dresses. They also like to wear a lot of jewelry and to have their hair styled in a very elaborate manner. On the other hand, the women in the West are more interested in comfort and practicality. They like to wear shoes that are easy to walk in and dresses that are simple and elegant. The fashions in the East are also more conservative than those in the West, with less emphasis on revealing clothing. East African hunt for flamingos reads like an adventure

By JOHN G. WILLIAMS

WITH the ever-increasing number of persons turning to natural products as a relaxation from our artificial way of life, the flamingo has become a well-illustrated book on natural history has many uses. It has helped to assuage this demand in Kenya's Assistant Secretary for Agriculture, Mr. Leslie Brown.

His previous book, The Flamingo, has found many readers in Kenya. Now the production of his second East African work, detailing his experiences in tracking down the breeding grounds of the Lesser and Greater Flamingos, is equally well received by his disappointed readers who will be glad to see the most up-to-date and complete book on the flamingo which you have only the slightest interest in. It is a book you must purchase to read, not only for the descriptive narrative extremely vivid (if not a little overdone) in the bracketed atmosphere of the flamingo breeding grounds but for the photographic illustrations which are a real habit for the bird's life.

Mr. Brown's book is a good read for the reader's subsequent enjoyment. It is a book you will read to reach the familiar, but the description of his trips to reach the flamingo breeding grounds is so full of incident, that he nearly has to be read to reach the exciting accounts of ornithological expeditions and the bird's life.

PUBLICITY WHIPS UP FIGHT FEVER IN NEW YORK

FIGHT fever, that combination of ballyhoo, carnival and press publicity, has begun to sweep across New York once again as two normally pleasant young men sweat and toil at preparations to blast one another to insensibility.

Just 360 days, weather permitting, after lifting the world heavyweight crown on to his own head, Ingemar Johansson will step into the open ring at the Polo Grounds, a former New York Flatiron and prove to the world that his shock was a new year was not a flake.

By Ronald Batchelor

Just days before a chain report of investigations into at one time, likely to kill any chance of a new normalcy.

About the only thing left unscathed as the ten months' intensive probing by state and city investigators into the first fight was the feud.

Johansson, even to the most lauded eye, clearly won his crown by a method disposing of all arguments, he treated his opponent as merely that the referee stopped it to meet the demand.

Virtually everyone connected with the bout, apart from the fighters themselves, were in the line-up of the underdog financial dealings which were revealed to have taken place in the months before the fight.

PROBES GALORE

The Swedish champion, aged 27, will have the ring without the outside negro, nearly 40,000, the referee, and Patterson, the New York negro, aged 26, who took a mortal blow to a physical beating on June 15 last year, will not be allowed to meet Johansson in a second round.

MANAGER BANNED

The full story of what has been called the biggest fight in boxing history has never been told. By the investigations by the State Attorney General and New York City's General Investigator, Joseph L. Johnson, promoted to Bill Rosen, has been approved by the State Board, which has approved the fight.

Cathedral will break away from tradition

SHORTAGE LIKELY IN CHEAPER CUTS AND OFFALS

WORK has started on the first stage of the new cathedral in Nairobi. The cathedral, which is expected to cost £200,000, will be a number of breaks with tradition.

The view of the cathedral, and instead of the long nave of a more modern cathedral, it will be a series of smaller chapels.

To provide a clear view of the nave, the architect has decided to use a series of smaller chapels.

Another innovation will be to use a series of smaller chapels.

The cathedral will replace the Holy Trinity church, which was destroyed by fire in 1952.

Add beauty

About £60,000 will be needed to complete the construction. The first services will be held in the new cathedral in 1962.

BIG JUMP IN COFFEE PLANTING

Kenya tea crop may earn most in future

LAST year there was a bigger expansion in the planting of coffee, tea and pyrethrum in African farms than in any other year since 1948, according to the Department of Agriculture's report for 1955-56.

In the case of coffee, 5,800 acres were planted and the estimated African crop currently being grown from earlier plantings is 4,780 tons, which has an export value of £1,300,000. The total estimated coffee crop for 1959-60 is 23,300 tons. In 1952-53 the African crop was 2,271 tons.

Coffee at the present time is one of the most important world markets, states the report. It is expected to continue to expand to meet the strong demand for this commodity, but to meet the requirements of 2,000,000,000 cups of coffee each day, the world's population will have to consume 20 million tons of coffee beans.

It is expected to continue to expand to meet the strong demand for this commodity, but to meet the requirements of 2,000,000,000 cups of coffee each day, the world's population will have to consume 20 million tons of coffee beans.

Kenya's coffee crop has shown a significant increase in both area and yield. The report states that the expansion of coffee farming is particularly noteworthy in the highlands, where the soil is generally well suited to the growth of the plant. It is expected that the continued expansion of coffee farming will contribute significantly to the country's foreign earnings.

The report also notes that the government has been actively encouraging farmers to plant more coffee trees, and has provided technical assistance to help them improve their yields. This support has been particularly beneficial in the highlands, where the climate is most favourable for coffee cultivation.

MINISTER ANNOYS TANGA COUNCIL

Members of Tanga Town Council criticized the way in which the council was run and its financial policy.

The council members expressed their dissatisfaction with the management of the council, particularly regarding the handling of the council's finances. They argued that the council had been running a deficit for several years, and that this was due to poor financial management.

Final Form

Several members said they would like to see the council's financial policy revised to ensure that the council was able to meet its obligations. They suggested that the council should be allowed to raise rates to cover its operating expenses, and that it should be given more autonomy in the way it spent its money.

INDEPENDENCE

The Prime Minister of Malaya, Sir Tunku Abdul Rahman, has announced that the country's independence will be granted at the end of this month. This marks a significant milestone in the country's history, and is seen as a step towards greater regional stability.

Fate smiles on farmer

WHAT began as a hard-luck strike ended in success for a Northern Province farmer, whose side-line of tinsmith growing to now his second most important crop—thanks to the natural fondness of class for fruit.

The farmer, who has been struggling with low prices for his tinplate, has found a new market for his produce. This is due to the fact that the tinplate industry has been unable to absorb the large quantities of tinplate that have been produced, leading to a sharp decline in prices.

Affiliation law to be examined

The Government has announced that it will be examining the Affiliation Ordinance, which sets out the rules for child support. The government is concerned that the current law is outdated and does not adequately protect the interests of children.

STATUS OF WOMEN IN UGANDA

Most Indian women in Uganda have no legal or social status because their marriages are not registered. This has led to a number of problems for these women, including a lack of legal protection and the inability to own property.

Some objections

When the Ordinance became law, it was met with considerable public criticism. Many people felt that the government was oversteering its role in the economy, and that the ordinance would lead to higher prices and shortages of goods.

Work on sisal factory begins

Kenya has begun financial aid for the sisal factory. The factory is expected to be completed in the next few months, and will provide a significant source of employment for the local population.

'GUILTY' pleader

Meatland Meade, who is charged with a murder, has pleaded guilty. This is a significant development in the case, and suggests that the prosecution may have a strong case against the defendant.

COMING SHORTLY SERENGETI SHALL NOT DIE

by Bernhard Grzimek

With an introduction by ALAN MOORHEAD

Serengeti is a name to conjure with in East Africa. In No Room in the Ark Alan Moorhead writes: "The Serengeti Park supports the last great concentration of wild animals in the world. It covers roughly 6,000 square miles just inside the northern borders of Tanganyika... The animals use it as a migration route; as soon as the wet season ends they move eastwards from Lake Victoria in tens of thousands, breeding and pasturing as they go along, and then when the rains began they turn back towards the lake. To see these herds in motion is one of the most arresting sights in Africa."

But also living in the territory, with their cattle, sheep and goats, are some 5,000 members of the most spectacular tribe in Africa. The Masai. Peaceful co-existence between big game and tribesmen became increasingly difficult and bitter controversy has arisen on the fundamental issue whether man has inviolable rights on earth or whether, at least within the Serengeti, wild life should not be given priority. This is the question which Dr. Bernhard Grzimek raises in his absorbing book. With his magnificent illustrations and fascinating accounts of tracing the migration of wild herds in the Serengeti, it is a unique contribution to our knowledge of big game in Africa.

It is also a deeply moving human story, for Dr. Grzimek was always accompanied by his brilliant son, Michael. It seemed clear that Michael Grzimek had a great career before him as explorer, naturalist and maker of documentary films. No Room for Wild Animals, the first of these, won numerous awards and has been shown in 43 countries.

But just as he and his father were finishing their Serengeti survey, their little single-engine aeroplane crashed and at the age of 24, Michael was killed instantly. There could be no other memorial than his father's book. Nor could he himself have bequeathed to civilisation a more eloquent plea for the 30,000 wild animals who, if the Grzimeks' fears prove justified, may soon go without a home.

Divided Views ON FEDERATION

Mr. Nyerere proposes one political unit

POLITICAL leaders in East Africa had mixed reactions yesterday to the proposal by Mr. Julius Nyerere, the president of Tanganyika, for an East African Federation comprising Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda and Zambia.

In Kenya Mr. M. Blundell and Mr. T. J. Mboya welcomed the suggestion.

On the other hand Uganda leaders said they were more concerned with independence for their country than with a federation with in Dar es Salaam as Tanganyika's headquarters.

Mr. Nyerere's proposal, tabled during the second conference of independent African States in Addis Ababa, envisages changing the whole political balance in East Africa.

Speeding-up sought

Attending the conference as an observer, he said: "We must confront the Colonial Office with the freedom of Tanganyika and then Uganda and the freedom of East Africa as a political unit." By this statement Mr. Nyerere apparently wishes to accelerate the pace of independence of Kenya, Uganda and Zambia—even at the risk of postponing Kenya's own emergence as a fully independent State.

I am sure she can have it if she is independent. I am sure she can have it if she is independent. I am sure she can have it if she is independent.

Arms found in Senegal

A fourth arms cache has been found near the Guinea border, according to a confidential information Ministry spokesman.

The cache was said to include 35 assault rifles, 18 sub-machine-guns, 85 grenades and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Mr. Ologe, recently said that the arms were found in a cache of the same type as those found in Senegal in the past few days.

It is attractive to think of ways to alleviate the present economic difficulties but this cannot be done until we are satisfied that we will be maintaining a high level of production and that we will be maintaining a high level of production and that we will be maintaining a high level of production.

SLIDE IN LOCAL PRICES CONTINUES

Baumann at lowest ebb

ALTHOUGH there were some better features during the week, yesterday's collapse of the Nairobi Stock Exchange indicated a further downward drifting of prices in local trading conditions.

Little interest was shown in Brewery issues and East African Breweries closed 25 cents down at 13 1/2, bid after changing hands at 11 1/2 earlier in the week. Cilies closed unchanged at 10/100 buyers after transactions had taken place at 10/75.

There was a good demand for East African Tea and Ceylon tea for further consideration of its promotional results. The shares improved 50 cents to 87, buyers only were indicated.

A Baumann had 25 cents to 7 1/2, bid after changing hands at 10/100, the lowest price ever recorded on these shares.

Gilt-edged

A buyer for Hildoth Motors Ltd. was seen to have bought this week, 1/200 below the previous price, the transaction being in line shares.

American Commodities, Purest Tea were offered at 7/75 in re-valuation form.

Treasury Support Fund prices for a number of Kenya Government Bonds were raised by 1/2 up to 21 points in some cases.

Falls slow buyers' activities in London

THERE was a cautious approach to London Stock Markets yesterday morning after Wednesday's slide and subsequent further falls.

Industrialists, however, were a few pence easier. There were few signs of a return to normality pending the British price decision, although an optimism was not thought to be in view of the effects of the credit squeeze which was now becoming sharply apparent.

Gold shares were marked down falling the initial slide. But later London steadier at the lowest level. Copper, were trending lower.

Zanzibar will help track man in Space

ASSURANCES GIVEN ON NATURE OF PLOTTING STATION

PROJECT Mercury—The United States is to put a man into Earth and return him safely, with the station around the Earth and one of them in Zanzibar.

Agreement was reached a few days ago by the Chief Secretary of Zanzibar and the sitting there was no question of the station being used for atomic or nuclear war.

The station is purely for scientific research, particularly in the field of keeping it from the United States and other nations in orbit around the Earth.

World survey

Zanzibar was chosen as a site for a world survey made by the National Aeronautics Administration, Washington, to find the best place for the station.

The tracking station is necessary to carry the information from the capsule around the Earth.

The purpose of the station is to provide the necessary information for the medical aspects of the mission. The medical experts will have to know how to save lives and how to handle the emergency.

To obtain this information a series of automatic transmissions will be made from the capsule and will continue until the mission is over.

The capsule will be attached to the astronaut which will be attached to the astronaut which will be attached to the astronaut.

NEED TO EDUCATE WOMEN

"Standard" Correspondent.

It is vital to the well-being of Kenya that its women should not be left behind, the District Commissioner, Mr. W. G. B. Rayner, said.

He was speaking at a prize-giving ceremony at Kericho's Home Craft School, the oldest of its kind in the Colony.

Mr. Rayner revealed the saying: "When you educate a man, you educate him only; when you educate a woman, you educate the whole family."

The prizes were presented by Assistant Minister for Agriculture, Mr. G. C. Osei. The school's

She said she had seen how the personality and the spirit of Mrs. Osei had made the women in the district overcome their indifference to such education.

Teaching aim

"There has never been enthusiasm such as we see over 'silver wedding' Kithika girls in quality to take their place in the rapidly changing Kenya scene," Mrs. Towel added.

Mrs. Osei emphasized that the school's teaching aimed to be as practical as possible, even to having instruction in the school starting from a needle by a competent hand.

The school has two dormitories closed a year. It is inspected by the Kenya Education Council, but is open to any teacher of the top student was Mrs. M. Osei. James Kiagi in second place.

TANGANYIKA'S FIRST AFRICAN TOWN CLERK

"Standard" Correspondent.
 Dar es Salaam.

Mr. Edmund A. Andrew, formerly Treasurer of the North Province African District Council, has become Tanganyika's first African Town Clerk of Lindi.

Mr. Andrew was educated at Nairobi and at Heidelberg and married with two children. He has been in Tanganyika since 1945, when he became first the registrar of the African Council and then the town secretary to the North Province Council. In 1955 he went to the United Kingdom for a course in public local government administration.

Success in indifferent comedy

NAKURU PLAYERS

Current production, Silver Wedding by P. C. Hutton, is not a very satisfactory comedy.

Consistently good and obviously worthy of encouragement, as is Miss Margaret Anderson, who does well at her part, although her husband must improve.

Promising pair

Margaret Miller, as one of their children, is ably good and obviously worthy of encouragement, as is Miss Margaret Anderson, who does well at her part, although her husband must improve.

WEEK-END STANDARD COUNTY SHOW SCORES WELL-EARNED TRIPLE SUCCESS AT NAKURU

Story: Lesley Clay

Pictures: Peter Heathcote

NAKURU's two-day County Show was triply blessed with glorious weather, large crowds and excellent livestock — and all were well earned with first-rate organisation and well-kept grounds.

On Friday, the first day, many people complained of a rather flat, dull atmosphere, possibly due to the gully usually noted, and this, in spite of a gate of more than 8,000, the largest number on the first day of a county show for several years.

But any lack of spontaneity was made up for on Saturday when the crowd got into a cheerful swing through the stands in the arena, milled around the cattle threading their way to the parades, and met generally well-learned look of the surroundings. A cushion of dried grass covering all the roads was much appreciated by the dust-conscious, and the car parks were so arranged that few people had a long walk from memory of the 1950 Nakuru County Show is that of the Royal Kenya Horticultural Society.

It was an East Africa-wide show, which is held only to be built up into an annual national spectacle, and most people found it simply breathtaking as they moved along the bands which housed it.

It is almost impossible to imagine a wider selection, a bigger variety and more unusual arrangements of this lovely show, and in addition many old-established favorites, we were privileged to see many new varieties of

SHOW PAGE TRAMP GEN HIS DESERTS IN NEW PLAY

BY HAROLD HOBSON

EVEN the most robust faith in the theatre must have been shaken by the futile impropriety, the misplaced ingenuity, the adolescent obsessions and the incompetent playing which have been thrust upon us in several recent first nights.

Like The Birthday Party, The Creature is visibly the product of the same disintegrating mind that produced The Birthday Party, which is now recognized to be one of the major plays of our time.

As in The Birthday Party, the man whose house is invaded is quite extraordinarily formidable.

All the firing, all the attacks, all the displays, all the confusions, come from the other side, and except for a single moment, there is no one on the stage who holds the stronger hand.

Like the money still playing in Peter Woodhouse's hands, there is a latent impetuosity never fully allowed to attempt to smash it like other people have first left a weak.

Likeable Aston is admirable likeable and without guile. All justice is done to the end which is at the beginning—

It is perhaps less important that it is so often bewildered and at moments he feels an intense fear.

There is another character in The Creature, Mick Aston, who is a little more than a part.

It is the very reverse of Woodhouse, and a large part of it consists of half sentences and fragments.

By deviating in Mr. Woodhouse never raises his voice, but his variations in tone are of infinite subtlety.

No one can claim to know the best things in the English language, but the English language is a source of fresh inspiration.

Woodhouse drives the speech of the creature into the creature's mouth. It is a speech of pure poetry.

But I have a remedy even the Creature might use. I shall use the first principle of the foundation, and after that I shall use it a fourth time and a fifth.

"PREDATORY TYCOON" Asinine Adam is a predatory tycoon in the sense that he comes to England, strips off the business of an enterprise, and then sends that, like he has withdrawn from her in most previous acts.

The authors of Tomorrow, my Acquaintance, all the Lingo and Bernard Shaw have given and from Dallas translate them with their own hands.

But these things are merely reactions. The marks that immediately, do without causing any other words, despite her showiness, Jasmine is not unlike Adam, formidable.

The play therefore, within the foundation through many of its devices, are at work.

Some finished by crisp letters, some and in full sentences.

DRESSES MADE FOR YOU BY A NOBODY

By JILL BATEMAN

MEET a very talented young man recently. Not only does he design sketches for a dress office in Bond Street, with low lights, flowers and carpets three feet deep carpets — it is that he wants! He is under 30, a Yorkshireman who married a girl from the same county — Harrogate. Her name is Elaine. He has done a few designs, for my East Indian readers. Dress — And he did. I hope you will like them as much as I did. Here they are —

COOKERY CORNER

It does us good sometimes to have a meal of vegetables with only bread and butter to complement it and for such a meal peas seem to be the most popular because of the sweetness and the little favour plainly boiled with the addition of a little Worcestershire sauce.

There are other methods as good and the changes just use the cooking transferred from the meat to the stock.

After the peas have been cooked, place in a pan with a little butter and a dash of salt. Season the stock with a little Worcestershire sauce, then pour over the peas and repeat time and again.

Peas with cheese.
First place a small piece of butter in a pan and melt it with water. Put the peas in a pan and cover them with water. Boil for about 15 minutes. Drain the peas to the stock.

Lowly, natural cod jumpers (below) will suit deep-frying. Try them with a sauce of tomato, onion, and a little Worcestershire sauce. They are best when served with a slice of bread.

Kenya—as viewed through the eyes of a Socialist

By ERIC MARSDEN

WHEN two embarrassed immigration officers saw John Stobochow "off the premises" at London Airport last March—after a farrago of struggle—the M.P. lost a coat button and was given expense to Cornwall a consolation of money—they gave him a ready-made title for his book about Africa during the past few years. The immigrant, a curious mixture of burning zeal, self-righteousness and a cock-sure attitude, is an authority.

Most of the book deals with Mr. Stobochow's experiences in the Central African Federation, but his visit to Uganda helps enlighten African farming cooperatives as a rural type.

There can be little doubt about the author's sincerity, and his book is a welcome addition to the literature on Africa. It is not a book to be read in a sitting room, but it is worth reading to the end of the book.

WAUGH STRAYS NEAR 'ISLAND'

By ALAN BURTON

ONE could dismiss Alex Waugh's new book Feet for the Flame as merely a rewrite of his last best-seller, Under the Sun. It would be so easy to do this because, at first glance, there is what seems to be the same set of characters—the police chief "bitting like a sander in the centre of his wheel," the hawk-faced who leans towards a European way of life, and the British political agent who is in the same sort of position as the Governor in Waugh's earlier book which was what is happening in his latest.

One voice wanted for African coffee

AFRICAN coffee-producing countries should speak with one voice in order to command greater attention from the chairman of the Uganda Coffee Marketing Board. Mr. C. C. Spencer said this.

Mr. Spencer described the situation as 'very unbalanced' and pointed out that the various coffee-producing countries were not speaking with one voice. He called for a more unified approach to the marketing of coffee in the region.

We feel that if Africa speaks with one voice it will be a much stronger force. This is particularly true in the context of international trade and negotiations. A united front is essential for the continent's economic development.

Zanzibar census results announced

HIGH DENSITY OF POPULATION

KIPSIGIS TO KEEP GRADE CATTLE

"Standard" Correspondent, Kevindu.
 THE total population of Zanzibar in 1963 was 2,793,523, of whom 1,905,000 were of the indigenous tribes of the Wapimba, Watumbuli and Wabadungu, those describing themselves as "Standard" Kipsigis.

After representations made over a number of years it has been agreed that the Kipsigis tribe grade cattle will be allowed to keep their herds but the past their herds have been confined to the island of Pemba. The cattle are of a mixed breed, including Sahiwal, Friesian and European animals were brought by the Kipsigis from the East African coast. The Kipsigis are the largest of the tribes in Zanzibar and are the only one to have a large herd of cattle.

Nervous risk
 He said that the people had been fully warned of the danger of a grade cattle. Without satisfactory arrangements being made, the Government would be unable to control the cattle. He stressed the fact that the Government had no suitable control.

Plea for right attitude to education

"Standard" Correspondent, Kevindu.
 S Kipsigis Councillor and trustee at a farewell party in the District Office, Mr. D. Kipsigis warned against the clamour for "white collar" jobs.

He said he knew it was the desire of all that their children should have a good education, but when this came about some of the children would lose their interest in the best of their own and work as labourers in the Kipsigis farms.

False idea
 He said he thought all would agree that a teacher at the other end of the island was not better than an uneducated man. The Kipsigis people must not be misled by the idea that they should find himself a "white collar" job.

There were smiles when Mr. Rose mentioned that when the people believed that they had been deceived, but he stressed the need for more attention to be given to the education of the Kipsigis people. He urged that greater effort should be made to send their children to schools on the Kipsigis coast.

"Standard" Correspondent, Zanzibar.
 The population of the Protectorate as a whole was 2,793,523. Of these 1,905,000 were of the indigenous tribes of the Wapimba, Watumbuli and Wabadungu, those describing themselves as "Standard" Kipsigis. The remainder of the population were of the European, African and other races.

"Standard" Correspondent, London.
 The Government has bestowed the title of "Hero of the Sea" on a young boy who saved the life of a fellow boatman.

Two of the latest fish-boat craft which were built by the Government in 1963 are shown in the picture. The boats are built by the Government and are used for fishing in the Indian Ocean.

The boy, George, jumped into the sea when the boat was in trouble. He was able to swim to the boat and was eventually picked up by the crew. The Government has awarded him the title of "Hero of the Sea" for his bravery.

BRITISH OVERSEAS AIRWAYS CORPORATION WITH S.A.A. INCORPORATED IN THE U.S.A.

THE AFRICAN LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY LIMITED

Statement by the Chairman, Mr. John S. Schlesinger

Gentlemen, Before I make my report I am sure you would all wish me to refer to the recent death of one of our directors, Mr. G. W. Ross. He was one of our colleagues since 1905 and we shall miss the benefit of his wide experience. Once again I have the pleasure of reporting to you on a year of successful and ever expanding operations.

NEW BUSINESS

I am able to report that the new business written during 1938, after deduction of reinsurance, amounted to $24,477,923, being an increase of $1,459,129 over last year's normal business of $22,998,794.

PREMIUM INCOME OVER $5,000,000

The total premium income for the year was $14,648,000, of which $4,823,251 Department from the Ordinary Department and the balance from the Industrial Department. This is the first time that your Society's income has exceeded five million pounds.

FUNDS

Your Society's Funds as at 31st December 1938 stood at £2,395,318.

BENEFITS PAID

During 1938 a total sum of £1,794,459 was paid out consisting of Death Claims £664,775, Maturing Endowments £927,561 and Annuity Payments £202,123.

INCOME TAX

The taxes in the Union on Life Assurance Offices authorized by the Minister of Finance in 1938 became effective as from the 1st July 1938 and as a result the amount of tax shown in the Memoranda in respect of a period of 18 months. In addition, the Department of Revenue for the Protectorate of Central Africa has also decided to tax Life Offices and, although the basis are still undecided, an appropriate reserve has been made in the accounts for this territory. The Union and the Protectorate, but we confidently hope that the final decision will be such as can be considered equitable and bear some relation to the profitability of the Society's business. A pressing feature both in the tax formulae in the Union and of the proposals in the Protectorate is that business undertakers in connection with approved pension schemes shall be exempt.

BUSINESS

In spite of meeting an abnormal amount of loss, the Society has again been compensated annually on some assured plus raising business, thus maintaining its substantial record. On this occasion the new series of With Profit policies bonus declaration and in fair case we have decided to allow a rate of 10% per cent calculated on the same assured only. We have every hope that in this Department, as in the Ordinary department, a record for declaring substantial bonuses will be established as the year goes by and that this initial declaration may be taken as a good augury.

PENSIONERS DEPARTMENT

This Department of the Society has continued to make fine new excellent progress to which I have referred in my reports of the past few years. However, I am able to announce that the benefit of the provision made by the Taxation Authorities, which I have already mentioned, is being passed on to the members of these Endowment Insurance Schemes which participate in the profits to the extent that the rate of bonus declared on all such assureds will be 12 1/2% per cent calculated on the same assured plus raising business. The participating schemes on the deferred annuity plan will also receive increased bonuses.

BUILDING PROGRAMME - CAPE TOWN

I would prefer any observations regarding your Society's Building programme by referring to the good progress made by the Society's one and a half million pound project in Cape Town facing Thibault Square, and to be known building as well as. The Ground floor premises should be ready for occupation later this year, and the upper storeys of offices in the superstructure during 1941. The most modern building technique has been employed, embracing every important essential including air conditioning and internal parking and, in addition, there will be an observation gallery enabling visitors to enjoy a panoramic view of Cape Town and Table Mountain. "African Life Centre" will thus be an outstanding office occupying, as it does, a commanding central island site (29,440 sq. ft.) and is evidence of your Society's confidence in the Mother City and its future development.

SALISBURY

Referring, as we do, in the future of the Protectorate Commission to the North of Salisbury for the very advantageous sum of £475,000. The existing offices will in your Society, and therefore the site will become available for development - probably to incorporate the Society's Headquarters for the Northern Territories.

LOUSAKA AND ROSSA

Negotiations are also in hand for the erection of buildings on selected sites in the two above mentioned centres. It is still by your Director that, with buildings worth of Louisa, the Capital, and Rossa; both progressive towns, should be erected, and I hope to record satisfactory developments in future reports.

WINDHOEK

The extension to the Building in Windhoek are nearly completed, and will substantially enhance your Society's real estate holding in the South West Capital.

HEAD OFFICE BUILDING

The Staff has now settled down in the new Head Office in Johannesburg, the only major matter still to be dealt with being the public reception office on the ground floor. The very real benefits of the new accommodation are being increasingly felt in the general administration of the Society's affairs.

GENERAL

Your Society's building programme throughout Southern Africa during the last decade has proved justified in every sense where buildings now bear the brunt of other centres. Property is a proven bulwark against inflation and I can attest, through personal knowledge of the Society's sites and buildings, that the sound, selectivity of employed funds in the purchase of land and buildings, the type of building erected, and the tenets procured—all will be kept in close touch with investment policy.

BUSINESS AND INVESTMENTS IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

We have, during the past few years, accumulated writing business in the United Kingdom, but only in respect of Annuities, Immediate and Deferred. We have accordingly been making investments there in British Sterling interests to cover our living commitments. Land, Property and Interests have been acquired, and an occupancy. We have every confidence that the same of profit to the home requirements. We have every confidence that the same of profit to the home requirements. We have every confidence that the same of profit to the home requirements.

ALTERATIONS TO THE SOCIETY'S ARTICLES

For some time it has been suggested that the Society's Articles of Association, compiled as they were in 1904 and amended from time to time, no longer met with present day conditions. Accordingly an Extraordinary General Meeting of Shareholders was held on 19th April, 1938 to make the appropriate amendments.

THE HEALTH OF SICKNESS INSURANCE CO. LTD.

As far as sickness insurance, itself is concerned, the position is basically much unchanged upon sickness last year. We can therefore still be defining view to enlarging the share capital of this Company so that it can enter the Fire and Casualty field, and probably Life Insurance, in close collaboration with a few other elders, the African Life and the African Guarantee.

ACQUISITION OF THE AFRICAN GUARANTEE & INFIRMITY CO. LTD.

Your Society has, for a considerable number of years, been a very substantial stockholder of the African Guarantee & Infirmary Company, Limited, and the Society's, which comprises as within the orbit of the Schlesinger Corporation. It was anticipated that the shares held by other Shareholders would be acquired by the Society, thus making the African Guarantee a wholly owned subsidiary. This intention was carried out in February of this year, the balance of the shares above referred to and this "take over" is, in fact, a development which the Directors of the African Guarantee will, however, continue to maintain its separate identity.

THE IMPROVED DEVELOPMENT

I would like to record, I think, only too many past pending cement machine reorganization in that the important factors arising from the Fire and Casualty Office, will be discussed with your Society, which is primarily a personed has been absorbed by the African Life, (existing Life Policies will, however, continue to be the liability of and covered by the African Guarantee), companies will be eliminated. Thus the African Guarantee Agents who were not, nor will they be, transferred to the African Life Agents, for those other business they procure. The Field Forces of the two companies will, therefore, enjoy a wider field of operation with the African Guarantee will, therefore, assume the additional appointment of General Manager of the African Guarantee, which company has divided its field of operation in the Union and the Protectorate of the Rhodesias and Nyasaland into four administrative areas, they have an assumed wide administrative responsibility, and in which other divisions will definitely carry on both companies, as well as each

STAFF

I again wish to express my own belief and that of the Board our appreciation and thanks to the Society's General Manager, Executive and Staff, and to the members of which have been speaking. Proposed reorganization of further European territories should also include, in addition, I would mention that your Society is still progressing with the development of a new branch in the Protectorate of the Rhodesias. This development has no intention to acquire the existing stability of your Society. It further demonstrates the public belief in a sound and self-reliance and should be taken as a necessary and logical step towards the future.

CONCLUSIONS

It is concluded in the future of this country, based as it is on our agricultural methods and ever expanding possibilities, a viable approach to the future. The reorganization of the existing stability of your Society. It further demonstrates the public belief in a sound and self-reliance and should be taken as a necessary and logical step towards the future.

IDEA OF CLOSER UNION IN 1930

MR. WYCHERLEY'S statement in Aden, Aden, in which he proposed a Federation of East African territories, was made known to the British Government in 1930.

The British Government, described in June, 1930, as the "Imperial Conference," announced its proposal of a closer union of East African territories, including the appointment of a High Commissioner, who was to be the British Adviser on Native Affairs to the Colonial Secretary.

It was proposed that the High Commissioner would be responsible for the co-ordination of the various territories and would be assisted by a Council of the High Commissioner. The High Commissioner would be a British official and would be responsible to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

The proposal was a result of a meeting of the High Commissioner for the Colonies and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, which took place in London in 1930. The meeting was held to discuss the possibility of a closer union of the British colonies in Africa.

HUNTERS TAKE TO KENYA'S SKY.—WHERE NO VULTURES FLY

By Michael Taylor

A COMMON sight to Kenya residents were the Royal Air Force Venoms of 208 Squadron stationed at Eastleigh which have just been replaced by the new Hunter Mark 9, single-seater fighter-bomber.

At the beginning of April the pilots and ground crew of 208 Squadron were flown by Transport Command to R.A.F. Stradishall in England to convert to the Hunter Mark 9. The conversion which took two months involved intensive training and familiarisation with the aircraft. Tactical formation flying and weapon training with rockets and the 30 mm. (Aden) cannon were carried out by the squadron on two ranges, Holbeach, near Kings Lynn, and Cowden, on the East Coast near Hull.

During this period of intensive training the squadron used 530 practice rockets in six days and 1700 rounds of ammunition. The aircraft flown by 18 pilots flew 300 hours and the pilot instructor has to rely solely on his instruments.

During his "right" a digital set of instruments outside the cockpit enables his instructor to observe the pilot's actions and correct any "mistakes" as they are met in the air.

In this way the pilot gains confidence to deal with such emergencies should they actually occur. P/O Terry Hill, who flew the first Hunter when it was only 18 months old, said: "The worst moment of danger of a disaster situation which I have had to deal with is not the actual crash, but the fact that my engine has failed and I am unable to pull back on the control column and continue the flight once the engine has failed."

The 18 pilots of 208 Squadron were given the opportunity to fly without leaving the ground, and to crash without feeling any pain. This is done by using a simulator which is an exact replica of a Hunter cockpit. It is used to give the appearance of flying in

NEW STYLE

In the day of the pilot's emergency fighter it was possible in an emergency to climb out of the cockpit and parachute in the normal way but today when the R.A.F. is equipped with aircraft which can travel faster than sound, a system has been evolved whereby the single handle can increase the canopy and ejector seat to which it is strapped, at any speed or altitude.

The 18 pilots of 208 Squadron were given the opportunity to fly without leaving the ground, and to crash without feeling any pain. This is done by using a simulator which is an exact replica of a Hunter cockpit. It is used to give the appearance of flying in

POLEY CLIMBS TREE - BUT GETS STUCK

By ROHINA WRIGHT

THE spot of the moment at Poley's house is tree-climbing. Luckily there are trees in the garden—trees strong enough for the big children and trees for the little ones.

Even the smallest of the family, who is only five, goes right to the top of the tallest tree. And the biggest of them, who is ten, climbs up and calls to the group-up to come and look, but they can't see their eyes.

"Why don't you?" asked the other children. "You're very good at climbing trees. You can see Poley."

Poley looked up at the tree and saw his little sister at the top, and then he glanced down over his little finger.

"—I think perhaps I'm a little bit more than a tree," said Poley. "It would be a pity if I said, 'I wish the branches of the children could not pick.'" said Poley. "I wish they could not pick." said Poley. "I wish they could not pick." said Poley.

Even Poley looked at him. "You're very good at climbing trees. You can see Poley." said Poley. "You're very good at climbing trees. You can see Poley." said Poley.

"You can see Poley," said Poley. "You're very good at climbing trees. You can see Poley." said Poley. "You're very good at climbing trees. You can see Poley." said Poley.

When the children started playing "Wink-a-Blinder" Poley on the tree-top, shouting very loud when it came to the part "Down will come Poley."

But even when they made him cross like that, Poley still stayed up the tree. "Down will come Poley," said Poley. "Down will come Poley," said Poley.

There was only one thing to do. They fetched a big strong blanket and held it out under the tree. "Come on, jump!" shouted the father. "We'll catch you in the blanket."

Poley looked down at the blanket and thought for a moment. "I'm not jumping," he said. "I'm not jumping," he said. "I'm not jumping," he said.

"I'm not jumping," he said. "I'm not jumping," he said. "I'm not jumping," he said. "I'm not jumping," he said. "I'm not jumping," he said.

BLINKIE MOLE GETS READY FOR A LONG SLEEP

By MAX TRELL

IT was just about dark and Blinkie Mole had come up from his underground apartment to sit on his shady doorstep for a few moments and quietly smoke his pipe, because his legs were wearing his dark glasses, because his legs were very long when Harold, the shadow girl with the turned-about name, came along.

"Why not?" asked Harold. "Because," Blinkie said, "if you sleep all winter, you don't have to go out in the cold. You don't have to shake and shiver. You don't have to go to school on the hard ground."

Harold let out a cloud of smoke. "I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie. "I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie. "I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie.

"I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie. "I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie. "I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie. "I am ready to go to school," said Blinkie.

PEOPLE of the WEEK WOMAN COUNCILLER COMPLETES TOUR

A DISTRICT councillor from Busoga, near Jinja, who, with 23 of her male colleagues, has just completed a tour of nine Commission services in and near Nairobi, is Mrs. E. Batambuze.

Before her marriage in 1944 to a Soga (County) judge, Mrs. Batambuze was a teacher at Ikingi. She became known in district council work and was first elected in 1951 and re-elected in 1954 and 1957, giving a total of nine years' continuous service, the longest of any woman so far in Busoga. There are only two other women councillors, and 38 men.

A very energetic member of Busoga's Women's Council, her special interests are community development, women's education, maternity and child welfare, and many Christian activities.

As well as her official duties, Mrs. Batambuze has a busy home life. She is a mother of five children, and a coffee, tea and banana grower. While in Nairobi she had the opportunity of visiting four farms in the Kinoo, near Limuru, and was able to study different farming methods.

Park mishap

A NUMBER of visitors to the Busoga National Park were startled the other evening by the sight of a motor vehicle crashing into the chest of one of the motor boating jetties. The "Star in Your Car" motorist, a woman, whose name, no passenger, I will not mention for safety, although it is probably known to the race manager who came to the scene.

The fact is that my friend and his wife were taking photographs of a motorist who inadvertently drove their car on to the jetties, and could not be displaced.

The husband got out of his car and locked it, and the motorist was ordered to place under the car one of the ropes driving the motor on the other side of the jetties.

One of the boys who were with him, and who was evidently frightened by the crash, ran to the jetties and reported the incident to the race manager, so my friends were eventually freed of the danger and managed to limp back to the car.

Incidentally, the ranger, had with him Mrs. M. P. P. and his wife, who were also taking photographs of the motorist.

Spinach ideal partner in most dishes

BY HANDLE

THESE are the days that one of the most delicious tasting green leafy vegetables is spinach and the fresh young leaves can be eaten in a little or no water and served with a hot or cold dressing. A mixed grill of poached eggs, potatoes, mushrooms, and spinach would make a perfect dinner.

There are two kinds of spinach—the winter and the summer variety. The former is the more common and is the one that is usually used. The summer variety is the one that is usually used in the tropics.

Spinach is a very versatile vegetable and can be used in a variety of ways. It can be eaten raw, cooked, or used in a variety of dishes.

Spinach is a very healthy vegetable and is a good source of iron, calcium, and other minerals. It is also a good source of vitamins A, B, and C.

Only the VANGUARD has this low-cost story

The conclusion is to be drawn from this simple graph are so significant even put to airline operators. It shows at a glance that the Vanguard will break even on total cost (interest costs are taken at 100 per cent of direct) with passenger loads no higher than those actually carried by Viscount today.

With three tons of freight the passenger break-even requirement can be as low as 21 passengers. Freight is carried for 360 miles. The Vanguard is a profitable aircraft on today's markets, yet it has room for the inevitable expansion of traffic.

Even at a modest passenger load, the Vanguard is the latest potential money-earner ever built.

'DREAM' IDEAL FOR BRITTEN

By DESMOND SHAW-TAYLOR

THE Aldershot Festival opened with a performance of the three-act opera, A Midsummer Night's Dream. Earlier there had been a kind of transcription recording, which the composer, Benjamin Britten, who wished to make a record of the work, was highly satisfied with. The opera is a highly original work, almost too young in style to be called a transcription. It is a transcription of the Shakespeare comedy in an idiom which is very different from the original. It is a transcription of the Shakespeare comedy in an idiom which is very different from the original.

TWO MAIN ASSES
In triumphantly surmounting these difficulties Britten has done much more than displease his own main assessors. He has shown a sense of fun, a sense of humor, and a sense of style. He has shown a sense of fun, a sense of humor, and a sense of style.

PARIS fashions demand self-control in design and fascinating figure. Creators design fashions with a variety of different undergarments and costumes.

Christian Dior decrees that fashions should be in the daytime and sophisticated after dark. There tubular street dresses, but rounds the hips in bubble skirted formal fashions.

They are especially for the formal occasions. The formal gowns are made of silk and change the appearance of the body.

Paris creators and costume designers who women is obliged to conform to exact proportions.

The popular Princess silhouette dresses the body with lacing that the body is not so much as the waistlines are generally uncut, and the fit must be snug and slender.

FANCY LACE

In every case the trend is high and rounded. Favored lace and very clean and simple. The neckline today is graceful and simple.

Women may choose to look lovely and in the eye of the day, but they go to the opposite extreme in formal occasions.

French lingerie, long famous for its fine handwork, combines practical features with fabric and quack-durable finishes.

LACE RUFFLES

Marquise Sherer, specialist custom-made undergarments, shows a ruffled lace ruff with hand-made lace ruffles inserted above the creases. The light of the hat cup.

Chemise and sweater suits and blouses require slender lines and the ruffles are styled to the eye. The ruffles are styled to the eye.

Wired corsets under the effects. At the hour of discovery and lace trim. The secret's the best asset.

TRAPEZE EFFECT

French dresses in the costume collections are lined with light stiffening built into the skirt that the trapezoidal adaptations will need the addition of a new trapeze skirt or skirt undergarment.

Paris creators show all-occasion trapeze corsets. In more exaggerated forms, they are undergarments which help France show its hand.

Petticoles likewise play a star role in shaping the silhouette.

Evening clothes demand firm control to maintain the externally feminine look.

HECTIC RUND

Mrs. Douville told me that the group put on a hectic round of entertainments for the week's visitors.

She said the hats made by the group were in the show; one of them was used up enough to make a hat.

QUEEN OF WAISTERS

Into London this week came a high-powered collection of clothes designed by an almost frighteningly efficient woman fashion designer. A new Fogarty of New York.

What were they like these dresses to the woman who is the "short-waister"?

They were all flattering to wear. Their cut, fit and coloring were all contrived to make you look slender and pretty—a point that many of our own designers tend to overlook.

RODRIERE HATS

In Paris she bought Trussardi, brown and black. A Trussardi sweater dress and a Trussardi hat.

Paris has got her head on for her dress. She has got her head on for her dress.

COOKING TO PLEASE

by Alex Simmons

An omelette, if I believe, the best quickly prepared and cooked most useful emergency dish. But what is its nutritive value in the morning? I am not prepared to say.

When you are sick, it sticks to the pan, is tough and unpalatable. After cooking, it is soft and fluffy.

The secret of a good omelette is in what is done in the pan. When you are sick, it sticks to the pan, is tough and unpalatable. After cooking, it is soft and fluffy.

HELPFUL HINTS

A TIRED, drowsy face will look quite different if you wash it gently into the contours of your face. Let it dry until it is moist, then repeat.

FOR firm, strong legs on a hot day, use a hot water bottle. It will help you to keep your legs firm and strong.

Here Belisha's resignation in face of Blimpfury

By ALAN BURTON

FOR a long time it has been fashionable to look upon Neville Chamberlain as a sort of symbol of the days of Munich—the shameful days of Munich, some might say—and Britain's almost unbroken record of peace for the war that broke out nearly 21 years ago. He has been regarded as an old-fashioned, unambitious man whose illusions led him to believe that his absence and unaided efforts would be sufficient to bring Italy and Italy from following the dictates of Germany's military and political leaders.

But now it is plain to all eyes that Chamberlain's resignation is a direct result of the fact that the British Prime Minister has been unable to secure the necessary support in the House of Commons for his policy of appeasement. The resignation is a direct result of the fact that the British Prime Minister has been unable to secure the necessary support in the House of Commons for his policy of appeasement.

REMAINED MYSTERY
Until now the resignation and subsequent resignation of Chamberlain has remained a mystery. It was not until the resignation of Chamberlain that the British Prime Minister's policy of appeasement was revealed to the public.

Death and then...?

In a hundred years you will be dead. Probably unknown. And think: What happens next? Is the death end? Are you like the weeds in your garden? Will you be cast aside when life is over? Will you be finished? Do you believe that you will live after your body is buried? Do you? But most people have no vague ideas about the afterlife. They hope that they will live — but they can't prove it. Wouldn't you like to know for certain? Hundreds of millions of Catholics hold the belief that there is nothing uncertain about life after death. Would you like to know why the Catholic Church is so sure of itself?

THE CATHOLIC ENQUIRY CENTRE has been set up to help many of our non-Catholic friends want to know us better. We cannot give you the Faith and remove misunderstandings. Government aware of road dangers

DURING the Legislative Council debate on the Development Programme, the Minister for Works, Mr. Nathan, replied to points raised by Members regarding the work of the Ministry.

Mr. F. W. G. Bompa (Nairobi) has said it appeared that only in remote areas did the Ministry use direct labour and not by contract. Mr. Nathan said this was not so because wherever possible work was done by contract. Only in remote areas did the Ministry use direct labour.

Mr. Nathan said the Government and the Road Authority were fully aware that a road contractor should not be allowed to profit at the expense of the public. The Road Authority would not be responsible for the loss of money within the present Development Programme of the Government.
