

S.A. TAKE OVER BID' OPPOSED UGANDA plan for new Head of State

Challenge to U.N. say delegates

South Africa's Prime Minister, Dr. Verwoerd, to take over the British protectorates of Bechuanaland, Swaziland and Basutoland surrounded by South Africa and the other two members of the Republic's Party, when he opened the congress of the Transvaal Party (Full report in Page 7)

In London, the Labour Party immediately sent a two-member delegation to meet the Minister of State at the Colonial Office, Lord Londesborough, an assurance that they would be transferred while the territories were in Britain's custody.

At the United Nations Afro-Asian delegates expressed shock and concern. Several members present in the work the statement as a "challenge" to the U.N. One said it appeared a "thinly disguised attempt to annex the territories."

Witches fail in appeal against death

An appeal by three women against their conviction and sentence of death for the murder of Fatima Nyangun on November 3, 1961 at the Court of Appeal for Eastern Africa in Dar es Salaam.

The women, Hafsa Salim, Zainab Ahmadi and Zahara Ahmadi, who were said to be students, were convicted and sentenced on May 17, 1962 to hang for the murder of Fatima Nyangun, a student who was killed on the night of the death of the student.

The Mau Mau, a group of armed tribesmen, who were said to be members of the Mau Mau, attacked a police station in the area of the Mau Mau, and killed seven police officers and wounded several others.

No approach to Britain

A British Colonial Office spokesman refused to comment on the statement, saying the "offer" had not been the subject of discussions with the British Government or the Prime Minister in 1964, said there could be no question of the British Government agreeing to transfer the three protectorates to South Africa.

The British Labour Party, which is in opposition, said it was up to Britain to reject the offer. The Labour Party, which is in opposition, said it was up to Britain to reject the offer.

SABOTAGE ALLEGED

Italian oil firm loses £m. claim against B.P.

A ROME court has rejected an action brought by an Italian oil firm against the British Petroleum Co. in a long-drawn-out court case arising from the nationalisation of oil in Persia. The Supor Oil Co. claimed about £1,150,000 damages, alleging a sabotage and defamation campaign preventing the Italian firm from operating in Persia.

Supor got a foothold in Persia shortly after nationalisation and imported a quantity of oil to Italy. The British Petroleum Co. then the Anglo-Italian Oil Company—claimed ownership of the oil, on the grounds that Persian nationalisation laws did not apply in Italy.

A Rome court rejected the claim. Later, Supor filed a sabotage action to prevent the Italian company from continuing operations in Persia.

The Rome court also declared Supor's claim was not just.

GEN. DE GAULLE

President de Gaulle has come out strongly in favour of a cross-channel bridge with England. It was stated in Paris. The subject was discussed some weeks ago at a Cabinet meeting.

An Anglo-French expert report on the subject will be made public in a fortnight.

The French Government will follow the recommendations of the experts, which it is deemed favour a tunnel rather than either a bridge or a bridge-tunnel.

FOR Jaguar, it was a year to remember

During the year ended July 31, 1969, Jaguar's sales in the United Kingdom were expected to be about 45,000 cars, an increase of 4.5% on the 43,000 cars sold in 1968. The percentage increase in sales in the United Kingdom is a good reflection of the strength of Jaguar's position in the market.

Competition remains unrelentingly keen in the motor car market in the United Kingdom, but Jaguar's sales are expected to be about 45,000 cars, an increase of 4.5% on the 43,000 cars sold in 1968.

'To have way position on S. Africa'

President Nyverer last night called upon all nations to stop trading with South Africa. "There is no half-way, neutral position. Even a refusal to supply arms is not neutrality. It must be a forerunner of further steps," he told the Norwegian Students' Association in Oslo.

The President said international trading trade was the lifeline of South Africa. "By continuing apartheid, you are inevitably supporting acting against it."

African nations did not ask the rest of the world when taking positive steps against apartheid. "All on principles of humanity, should at least refrain from supporting the practice of apartheid. Neutrality on this issue is impossible."

Investment in Congo possible

The Aga Khan left Kenya yesterday by air for Kampala to discuss the possibility of investment in the Congo. The Government of Kenya has been approached by the Government of the Congo to invest in the Congo. The Aga Khan, who is a member of the United Nations, is expected to return to Kenya tomorrow.

THE END COLUMN

RESTRICTIONS on trade with the Soviet Bloc by the European Free Trade Association are being reviewed. The report is expected to be published in London soon.

The Congo State passed a law to allow the sale of arms to the Congo State. The law is expected to be passed in the next few days.

Danger of border wars

Speaking of African unity, President Nyverer said that the present international boundaries in Africa were "the result of a process of imperialism which has led to the present situation. It is the duty of African states to work for the elimination of these boundaries and the creation of a new Africa based on the principle of self-determination."

He said some Western countries were trying to divide Africa into smaller states. "This is a dangerous game which could lead to border wars. We must work for the unity of Africa and the elimination of these boundaries."

THE AGA KHAN LEAVES

EMPLOYERS' INSISTENCE ON EDUCATION UPHELD

YOUR paper has of late been a battlefield for some of the opposing schools of thought regarding the nature of the right qualification for a specific job. What has dominated news in the retrogressive attitude of such people as Mr. F. Morrison M. Gitan Ali who are bent on the maintenance of the colonial system and consequent unemployment.

Family planning is a very important aspect of development. One may say that the concept of family planning is a very modern one. It is a concept that has been developed by the United Nations. The United Nations has been instrumental in the development of family planning. It has been instrumental in the development of family planning. EXPORT RISE FORECAST

But U.K. restraint on pay urged

A pessimistic look at British export prospects, coupled with a warning that wage and price restraint should be maintained, was the main message in the quarterly bulletin of the Bank of England.

The quarterly bulletin, looking at the world as a whole, it seems that trade will continue to expand, if not particularly quickly.

MUCH PROGRESS

Much progress has been made in the modernization of British industry.

That continuing restraint in incomes and prices is needed if these activities are not to be dissipated and the opportunity for laying a secure foundation for further growth is not to be missed.

Ronson Gas Candles

Have kept the essence of the candle. There's not the wax and the wick. And the wick is made of a special material. The result: they give a beautiful flame. And they burn longer than any other candle—down to the very last. They burn down to the very last. They burn down to the very last. They burn down to the very last.

CROWD WARMS UP TO PITCH

Police have to act at hockey Test

For the third time in succession, the All-India hockey team were held to a draw by Kenya Hockey Union when the Nairobi Test was played on Saturday. However, the high spirits of the Kenyan players when the fifth and last Test on Thursday it may be to share the honours in the rubber.

The match had everything—fast, exciting and outstanding hockey until three minutes before the end when suddenly play became rough and the events that followed were almost unprecedented in international hockey played in this country.

As the game was interrupted after the break it became difficult for the umpires to control it.

DEFENCES ON TOP AT MOMBASA

The third unofficial Test between Kenya and the Indian hockey team ended in a goalless draw at Mombasa Stadium on Saturday.

Kenya proved hard in the opening stages of the game and would have taken the lead in the first minute when Hillary Fernando got a fine cross in the Indian goal. Lakshmi made an excellent save.

Although Kenya had the early initiative, India took the lead in the second minute when they scored through the same goal by penetrating the same goal although they were held back by the defence.

Both teams relied on quick passes and quick counter-attacks. Kenya's defence was solid and the Indian players kept their positions better.

Kenya, on the other hand, seemed to exert more energy and to play more frequently and to fall back to get to the defence.

The Indian players were fair and the two teams finished the match in a friendly spirit. The referee, Mr. M. S. Singh, was fair and the two teams finished the match in a friendly spirit.

World swim mark for British girl

Stella Mitchell, of Britain, set a world record of 222 minutes 54 seconds in swimming the six mile distance in the sea off the coast of Britain, Sweden, and France last week.

Stella Mitchell's time of 222 minutes 54 seconds is the longest time ever recorded for a woman swimming the six mile distance in the sea.

Stella Mitchell is a 20-year-old girl from London, England. She has been swimming for many years and has set several other records.

EASY WIN FOR EASTLEIGH IN BOYES CUP

EASTLEIGH SERVICES commemorated Battle of Britain Day by knocking the Kenyan out of the John Boyes Cup last night, but there was little of a battle about their easy 5-0 victory.

It was a clear case of how it was done for the Kenyan rather than the other way round, as the Kenyan players were not even allowed to touch the ball.

Eastleigh scored five goals in the first half and two in the second half. The Kenyan players were not even allowed to touch the ball.

P. P. TOPS Premier will Mr. Ngei to talk

The last time in Mombasa probably the Premier of the Government, Mr. P. P. Ngei, called on his responsibility to visit the party, Mr. F. J. Ngei, who had been elected to the party, to see the one-stage scheme of Union.

At the same meeting the Prime Minister, Mr. Kenyatta, making his first visit to Mombasa, of the Prime Minister welcomed Mr. Ngei to Mombasa and told him it had been decided to go to London for the independence conference.

Mr. Kenyatta said he had chosen the Mombasa to make this announcement without having warned Mr. Ngei beforehand as he did not want any acts of revenge.

He said that Mr. Ngei's action was like that of a man returning home. The Government was not "Kenya's Government," it was an African Government, and it would be a great pity for a man like Mr. Ngei who had shared imprisonment with him, to be outside the Government, Mr. Kenyatta said.

Many Kenyas had been imprisoned because of Mau Mau, he went on, but he urged them to forget this as he did not want any acts of revenge.

In the old days when things went wrong it was customary to blame the Europeans, but that could not go any longer, so it was up to all the people to work hard and see that things went well. Mombasa, Mr. Kenyatta said, had often been very fortunate but if the people would work hard then they would be able to get on their feet.

He expressed his confidence in the Government and its policies with the police and the army, but he said that if there were any acts of violence, he would be ready to take any steps necessary to maintain law and order.

He also mentioned the need for a strong police force and the importance of maintaining law and order in the country.

He concluded his speech by expressing his confidence in the Government and its policies, and his hope that the people would work hard to build a better future for Kenya.

Kenya moves closer to independence by Kanu

A KENYA statement announcing the decision by the East African States to support the independence of Kenya by three Kenyan members of the British House of Commons, Mr. E. K. Baines, Mr. J. R. Kenyon, and Mr. J. R. Kenyon, is reported to have been taken without consulting the people and was therefore null and void. The members issued a strong warning to the President of the British House of Commons to transfer Khatu just for the sake of the independence and safeguarding his position.

Mr. Baines declared: "There is no point in trying to save a dying party. Kenya's move is a step towards the independence of Kenya, and it is a step which should be supported by the British House of Commons. It is a step which should be supported by the British House of Commons. It is a step which should be supported by the British House of Commons."

Mr. Kenyon said: "The independence of Kenya is a step which should be supported by the British House of Commons. It is a step which should be supported by the British House of Commons. It is a step which should be supported by the British House of Commons."

EAST AFRICA'S 'TRAD' MUSIC IN DEMAND

PEOPLE in the recording business—who last night saw Kenya's Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. K. N. Kioko, in the East African—think that indigenous music from the three East African States may eventually make a bid for a place in the international market.

Dr. Kioko, who was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Kioko, and their children, arrived in Nairobi on the night of the 21st. He was met at the airport by the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. K. N. Kioko, and the Minister for Education, Mr. J. M. Njiru.

Dr. Kioko said that he was pleased to be in Nairobi and to see the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Dr. K. N. Kioko, and the Minister for Education, Mr. J. M. Njiru.
