

ANTI-S. AFRICAN SANCTIONS

WRONG SAYS LORD HOME

Prime Minister, the Earl of Salisbury, has said in a television interview that it is "absolutely wrong for us to impose such a blanket ban on South Africa, but economic sanctions are legitimate, but economic sanctions are not."

When he was asked to elaborate on his criticism, he said: "I draw the line at economic sanctions which are blanket bans on all goods and services from South Africa, or rather help South Africa to become a legitimate, but economic sanctions are not."

He also said that these sanctions raised this criticism, which he said was "entirely correct," but that he was "not at all in favour of imposing such a blanket ban on all goods and services from South Africa, or rather help South Africa to become a legitimate, but economic sanctions are not."

He said Mr. Butler's support was not the Government and that he did not think it was true to say that he did not have any knowledge about domestic affairs in general to be a good Prime Minister.

WOMAN FLEES FROM ASYLUM DETENTION

A YOUNG woman, who was sent to a mental hospital six days after she had been detained by the South African security police, was put in jail in solitary confinement under the 90-day detention law, when she went on a starvation strike because of the "injustice" of her arrest and which escaped from the closely guarded asylum has arrived in Dar es Salaam.

Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, aged 24, escaped unaided from Fort Napier Mental Hospital, Pietermaritzburg, where she had been arrested. She had attended a meeting of the South African Congress of Trade Unions in Durban, the Indian Congress, neither of which is banned in South Africa.

Mrs. Anderson was working in a Durban bookshop when she was confronted on August 11 by two security police, who said they wanted her for questioning.

She was taken to Westworth police station near the city, and questioned by five or six officers. She said the security officer had charged her that if she did not give the information, they would force her to do so.

Hundreds in record Kenya rush for British passports

IMMIGRATION Department officials in Nairobi are dealing with an unprecedented rush to acquire British passports.

Concern over individual status in an independent Kenya as well as a fear that the new citizenship laws may cause "difficulties" for those who do not automatically become citizens are believed to be the causes of the rush.

On Tuesday the department received 211 applications for passports. The first time the number ever exceeded 200 was in June. Most of the applicants were from the provinces of Kenya and the territories of British East Africa.

Even in the days after the independence there was a sudden rush for passports but they had never reached these figures.

Though the numbers have been rising steadily since the beginning of August, the demand was not marked until September.

Since then three events have taken place which may have had some bearing on the continuing rush for passports. One was the London conference. This was presided by a statement on Kenya's future citizenship provisions which indicated that similar laws would be introduced in those in Tanganyika and Uganda.

Not as high as in the early October. Mr. Easton, Minister for External Affairs, Mr. Enoch Sijoth, Minister for East African Affairs, Mr. Enoch Sijoth, Minister for East African Affairs, Mr. Enoch Sijoth, Minister for East African Affairs.

Those who had never held a document which proved their nationality were particularly anxious to get a British passport. Some people who had been in Kenya for a long time but who were not British citizens were also anxious to get a British passport.

At present people who have connections in Britain, but who are not British citizens, are anxious to get a British passport. Some people who have been in Kenya for a long time but who were not British citizens were also anxious to get a British passport.

Some of the applicants are returning Indian passport holders who had been in Kenya for a long time but who were not British citizens. Some people who have been in Kenya for a long time but who were not British citizens were also anxious to get a British passport.

MINORITIES 'MUST BE HEEDED'

Some of the people now making passport applications are pictured at the Immigration Office in Nairobi yesterday.

These minorities must continue to be heard because their voice would keep the majority "on the rails" the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Mr. Humphrey Slade, told Nairobi Centre.

Doubts over 'mixed Constitution'

If Kenya had gone into independence with the system proposed by the former Constitution, it would have been very good, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, Mr. Charles Singh told the United Kenya Club yesterday.

Mr. Singh was reviewing the recent London conference and said that the main difficulty experienced was the proposed reorganisation of the public service and the methods of amending the Constitution.

He recalled that it had originally been proposed to split the public services—the police force and the civil service commission—into eight parts. Lord, the civil servants did not come into this plan.

Under the old Constitution it would have been almost impossible to make a change. Though it was felt that the attempt to combine a unitary, regional and federal Constitution would not work.

There was an attempt at a referendum in Eastern Kenya a Republic immediately, but it was felt that this was wrong without an interim period as a dominion with a governing council as a constitutional head of state.

Equator Club to reopen 'as soon as possible'

NAIROBI'S Equator Club, which has been closed because of a bankruptcy case against the owner, Mr. Howard Partridge, is to be opened again as soon as possible, the Acting Executive Officer, Mr. R. J. Lewis, said yesterday.

The said several people had been taking stock in the club's premises and checking over insurance and services. "The sooner the club is opened again the better," Mr. Lewis said. "We are thinking particularly of the hundreds of people who will be wanting to use the club during the celebration."

Two members of the Spanish Ballet team which had been performing at the club, were yesterday told of the club's financial straits but have made application to the Immigration Department for repatriation to Spain.

CALL FOR NON-RACIAL S. RHODESIA

ABRAHAM ABRAHAMSON, one of the Prime Minister, Mr. Winston Field's leading opponents in the Southern Rhodesian Legislative Assembly, declared yesterday that the colony's best hope for racial unity lay in the rapid development of a "non-racial" system.

Mr. Abrahamson, who is a well-known Rhodesian politician, said that the Rhodesian Government should not expect that there would be African majority in a decade because his party stood for the removal of discrimination on the conditions set by the British Government. It would not be difficult to do this, he said.

Mr. Abrahamson said the arrival of a new Government in Southern Rhodesia in the next few years, at the latest, would be a great step towards non-racialism. He said that the Rhodesian Government should not expect that there would be African majority in a decade because his party stood for the removal of discrimination on the conditions set by the British Government. It would not be difficult to do this, he said.

ALGERIA: PEACE TALKS FREAK UP

But battles still rage along border

King Hassan of Morocco has agreed to meet the Algerian President, Mr. Bou Hadda, in Tripoli, Libya, it was announced in Marrakech yesterday. Morocco proposes a six-power summit conference to examine the Algerian situation, the Moroccan Information Minister, Mr. Abdelhal

Boustaleb stated. Mr. Boustaleb said the date for the conference could be fixed in 48 hours. Morocco favoured Tunis as a meeting place, but was prepared to go to Tripoli if Algeria had any objections. Morocco proposed that King Hassan, Libya and Mali should also attend the conference, but Tunisian participation was on an "absolute condition," he added.

Meanwhile, King Hassan received an Arab League commission sent from Cairo. It submitted resolutions for a proposed settlement which Morocco has already rejected.

Meanwhile, Moroccan forces, in an overnight counter-attack, claimed to have driven Algerian troops back near the Moroccan-Algerian frontier past the town of Hani. Hadda would not comment on the Moroccan claim.

Uganda seeks explanation on link-up

ANTELPOE AIRLIFT DRAMA

Standard Staff Reporter Kampala. UGANDA'S Prime Minister, Mr. Obote, said in Kampala yesterday that before it attended any further negotiations to discuss an East African federation the Uganda Government would want an explanation from Mr. Kenyatta of remarks made by his Minister of State, Mr. Mumburi.

Mr. Mumburi told Nairobi Rotary Club on Thursday that Kenya and Tanganyika would go ahead and form a federation on their own, with Uganda coming in later. Speaking at a Press conference yesterday, Mr. Obote said: "This is a question for the Government to answer."

The Uganda Government wanted to know if Mr. Mumburi was stating official Government policy when he made his remarks.

In Nairobi last night a Kenya Government spokesman said that Mr. Mumburi had done no more than to state the Government's position on the subject of a union of Kenya and Tanganyika. He said that the Government would not wish to make any statement on the subject of a union of Kenya and Tanganyika.

Mr. Obote commented: "It does no harm to Uganda if she is not a member of the East African Union. We shall see what we can do to go ahead but let us see."

Insurance statistics for E. Africa

I REFER to the letter of the chairman of the Insurance Council of East Africa.

Mr. Wainwright says, there could be no appreciation of the fact that the insurance industry in East Africa is still in its infancy.

Royal Navy flies rare antelope to new home

STRANGE MISSION SAYS HELICOPTER PILOT

NIGHT was settling peacefully over Tsavo Royal National Park when a rocket flare burst in the sky. Then the thrashing of helicopter rotor blades could be heard.

Elephant trumpeted their annoyance and lion and buffalo joined in the chorus of protest as the Royal Navy aircraft landed delicately in the small camp at Voi.

Precious live cargo

The time was 6.45 p.m. "Operation Antelope" had begun. A- the dust clouds began to settle, eager hands reached forward to unload the precious live cargo from the belly of the Wessex helicopter — and three rare antelope had arrived in perfect condition to start a herd away from their traditional and chosen grazing lands east of the Tana River.

"They all seemed fit and lively and, as they settled in their 'holding' pens for the night and munched at the grass, 'I think it is going to work, thanks to the Royal Navy,' the Game Warden of Tsavo East, Mr. David Sheldrick, commented. The helicopter pilot, Lieut. Peter Harper, aged 20, said: "It's a strange mission, but if it works I think it will be well worth it."

The Navy had been contacted when Britain's biggest warship, the aircraft-carrier H.M.S. Ark Royal, docked last weekend at Mombasa. They were asked to help save the rare species of Hunter's antelope from extinction along the Tana.

Messages passed between the Kenya Game Department, the ship and the Admiralty in Britain before the Ark Royal's commanding officer, Captain M. P. Pridmore, agreed to help.

The antelope, which are 18 to 20 inches high and weigh 100 to 150 lbs. were sent from the ship to the Tana River in a special container.

The antelope whose numbers have been cut down drastically by poachers, are to have their grazing lands along the Tana taken over in the massive irrigation scheme and reclamation in the area.

Game trappers have been working long hours over the past few weeks in an effort to locate and capture as many of the rare animals as possible. The sheltered sanctuary of Tsavo.

But they have been handicapped in their attempts by the 18-hour road journey from Nairobi to the antelope's new home as the rough ride has proved too much for a few of the animals, which have died.

So the Royal Navy came to the rescue and set down the live lot in 11 hours. The helicopters have moved 21 antelope and all have arrived at Voi post in perfect condition.

The Warden of Tsavo East, Mr. David Sheldrick, watches as Game Rangers make friends with one of the new arrivals. They come to have the antelope looking out of their hands.

On being released from the pens in which they were flown to Tsavo, the antelope were put into specially prepared 'holding' pens before being set free in the reserves. The animal taken on the helicopter look around his new home.

An "Operation Antelope" helicopter creates a dust cloud as it takes off. One of the pilots admitted that it had been a strange task. "The most queer of operations I had control before, even a group of chooks who visited the Ark Royal at Aden," he added.

...all other animals for the one and only purpose of the... to save the... that he gets on with... of water, little knowing how... the kind was to extinction.

Three of the Royal Navy officers take a closer look at an antelope, the reason for their unusual mission. Mr. Sheldrick checks the condition of the animal which has just been released from the pens in which it was confined. "This is a wonderful thing the Navy's doing," the Warden said. "Their help will most probably give us a chance to build up a new herd here."

The helicopter is loaded with supplies from a Royal Navy ship at Voi. The helicopter is the only one of its kind in the world which has been used to transport live animals. It is the only one of its kind in the world which has been used to transport live animals.

GIFT OF E.A. UNIVERSITY Britain makes offer at conference

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT is to make a £1,050,000 gift to the University of East Africa, the Commonwealth Relations Office in London announced yesterday.

The offer was made at a conference just concluded at Lake Como, in Italy, to discuss development plans for the university. It was attended by Britain, West Germany, Tanganyika, Uganda and Kenya and representatives of the U.S. Agency for International Development and charitable foundations.

The British gift will consist of a contribution of £500,000 towards the capital costs of the university and equipment and other forms of technical assistance worth about £200,000 over the next three years.

Remarkable progress

A Kenya Government statement released today said that remarkable progress was made at the conference towards securing the university's future.

The university's three-year development plan was approved by representatives of the university and its three constituent colleges — Makerere University College, Uganda, the Royal College, Nairobi, and the University College, Dar es Salaam.

The plan itself represents a major achievement in co-operation between three new nations in Africa in pooling their resources to develop higher education.

ASIAN OFFICERS CHOOSE U.K. AS NEW HOME

SOME OF THE 1500 ASIAN CIVIL SERVANTS who are to be flown out of East Africa by E.A.C.S.G. following mass resignations earlier this year and the Africanisation programme, have elected to go to British rather than India or Pakistan.

The E.A.C.S.G. spokesman said yesterday that under their terms of contract the civil servants who had British passports could ask to be sent to Britain and a few had in fact done this. The others would be taken back to their country of origin.

'Mr. Harold' will return to family business

BRITAIN'S FORMER Prime Minister, Mr. Harold Macmillan, will soon be back at work in the family publishing business founded by his grandfather 120 years ago.

The son and his grand-children of Macmillan in London, Mr. Harold Macmillan, will be returning forward to the return after an absence of 12 years since he left the office of the Prime Minister.

Mr. Macmillan, who was born in 1894, will be returning to the family business, which is now run by his grand-children.

Rejoicing brother

ONE MEMBER OF THE GIAT said yesterday that he was glad to hear that the British Government had decided to allow the return of the ex-prisoner of war, Mr. David Macmillan, to his family.

He is now being repatriated to his family in the United Kingdom.

Record road toll

A RECORD NUMBER of road accidents in Kenya were reported in the first nine months of 1963, the National Safety Council reported yesterday.

The council said that the number of road accidents in Kenya had increased by 10 per cent over the same period in 1962.

The council is calling for more strict enforcement of road traffic laws to reduce the number of accidents.

Government of Dahomey dissolved

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE WEST AFRICAN State of Dahomey has been dissolved, the Chief of Staff, Col. Soglo, announced yesterday.

The announcement followed talks of the President, Mr. Hubert Maga, has been having with political and trade union leaders over a series of demonstrations and strikes. Mr. Maga, 41, became Prime Minister in 1960 and President in 1962, the year the country became independent of France.

The demonstrations last week in Porto Novo, the capital, followed the release of a State emergency decree which had been passed by a constitution with a 100 per cent majority. The decree allowed the government to suspend the constitution and to suspend the rights of the citizens.

Everything had appeared to point towards calm after the military leaders had received assurances in a meeting with President Maga, but this was followed by a further breakdown in the attitude of the Dahomey leaders.

The trade union leaders' goal of foreign troops arriving to control demonstrations and bring under these circumstances the strike work continues, the highest authority.

President Maga sent the trade union leaders a message asking them to return to work. The trade union leaders refused to do so.

After the announcement of the dissolution of the government, the President, Mr. Hubert Maga, has been having with political and trade union leaders over a series of demonstrations and strikes.

Nobody barred from entering the new Kenya

Standard Staff Reporter By Kinama.
The doors of Kenya were open to each and every man, woman and child, Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. Odinga, said at a press conference yesterday. The British Government had often barred entry to certain countries, Kenya, he said.

He told the crowd: "You must behave like more distinguished visitors will be coming. We want them to find unity and not tribal fighting." All civil servants are realising that there had been changes in Kenya, Mr. Odinga said, and stay loyal to the Government.

It was not the intention of the African Government and Congress must be stamped out.

Mr. Odinga was accompanied by three other Ministers, Mr. Ouko, Mr. Ayodo and Mr. Mboya. They were all given a tremendous and colourful welcome at the first political rally to be held up-country since the London talks.

"DO NOT BE AFRAID"
The Minister for Justice and Constitutional Affairs, Mr. Mboya, urged the tribes of Kenya not to be afraid of the Kenya Government and to agree to "formalised" as a Kikuyu-Loi alliance which intended to state land, its own county council and not the Central Government or the Regional Assembly. This was one of four points of the Constitution which he made during an hour-long speech.

On land, Mr. Mboya said there was no need to fear the Government because the Government had no intention of taking away land from the people. He said that the Government was not afraid of the people and that the Government was not afraid of the people.

INDIA'S POLICY IN KENYA'S EVOLUTION

I AM hardly surprised to note that the views I expressed on the possible intentions of Indian withdrawal from both East Africa have provoked widespread comment from the Indian Commission in Nairobi and the executive of the Kenya Indian Congress.

The incredible RENAULT R4L

now conquers the N.F.D.

Without any special preparation, an R4L joined the convoy taking the Caltex boat to the El Molo on Lake Rudolf.

- As reported in the "East African Standard", the R4L is believed to be the smallest vehicle ever to make this journey. Study the points below, which explain how this incredible car was able to meet and beat everything that the N.F.D. could offer over these hundreds of grueling miles.
- Independent suspension on all four wheels
- Fluid cooling system that never boils • Flexible 650 cc engine
- Anti-rattle on all forward gears • Tough body on genuine chassis

Proved economy on the Caltex Economy Run • Proved toughness on the Caltex Mercy Run

PRETORIA PACKED WITH POLICE AS TRIAL RESUMES

SQUADS of armed police guarded all approaches to the Palace of Justice in Pretoria yesterday when the trial of 11 men accused of plotting to overthrow the South African Government by violent revolution resumed...

Horsey carriage weren't called horsey carriage for nothing. Their engines may have taken the place of the horse, but the horse left its mark. Early cars kept their whips tucked, long after there were no horses to whip. Dashboard ones kept the horse from splashing mud on the passengers.

And most cars have kept their engines up front, where the horse used to be. When the Volkswagen was designed, it was assumed that horses would never be back. So VW left free to put the engine over the rear wheel, the ones that drive the car. That way, you don't spin your wheels getting power from the front to the back.

Or horse around with heavy driveline. You also get more weight over the drive wheels for firm traction when the going gets sloppy. Actually, the VW's air-cooled aluminum engine would have been a sensation, even in front. But the big idea was moving it to the rear. It was a great tip backward in the world of automobile design. Court drama as they are re-arrested

SIR RICHARD TOWED AWAY

INDICTMENTS against ten of 11 men accused of plotting to overthrow the South African Government by violent revolution were quashed yesterday by the Judge-President of Transvaal, Mr. Quirren de Wet, in Pretoria.

The packed court in the Palace of Justice buzzed with excitement as the Judge made his dramatic announcement after considering the application to quash the indictments submitted on Tuesday by Mr. A. Fisher.

The judge termed as "most improper" the State's contention that, when accused people asked for particulars of charges, it should say to them that "this was a matter they knew all about." He added: "That pre-supposes they are guilty."

Indictment cannot stand

He went on: "I am satisfied the information they asked for should be given and the indictment cannot stand in the absence of that information. It is not the function of the court to draw an indictment for the State."

The 10 accused were immediately held under the terms of South Africa's "90-day" detention law — their status before being served with the substantially identical early solitary confinement without access to counsel until in State has refrained indictments and served them on the accused.

New regime states aims

Quirren de Wet's decision was regarded as a landmark in the history of the new South African Government. It was the first time since the overthrow of the old regime that the new Government had been forced to state its aims and objectives in a public manner.

Wholly defective

Mr. A. Fisher, who was recalled for a second time, said that the indictment was "wholly defective" and that the State had failed to provide the necessary particulars of charges against the accused.

The incredible RENAULT R4L now conquers the N.F.D.

RENAULT

See what the "East African Standard" reported on that record-breaking safari...

These are the outstanding features that make the Renault R4L the obvious choice for East African motoring —

- 9in. clearance
- Independent suspension on all four wheels
- Sealed cooling system that never boils
- Tireless 850 c.c. engine
- Synchronesh on all forward gears
- Tough body on genuine chassis
- Flat underside

AND ALL THIS ON Firestone TYRES

...the tiny Renault R4L was to go with the pilot taking the El Molo being built the 370 chattering miles to Lake Rudolf.

The undergrowth in the N.F.D. is not so dense as the bush from the trip I am in to do the work. The R4L must not get those with the gear falling over once.

No trouble.

Every time I hit a particularly rough patch while driving up into the where all the other cars were stuck, the R4L would go through it. In the morning showed the last time it had been through some of the worst.

Over a "bumpy" 40-mile stretch of desert and up one of the steepest of hills and made it had no trouble at all. Commanding Captain, who was in the R4L from the start, said: "The R4L is the best car I have ever driven. It is the only car that can take the rough roads of the N.F.D. and still be there."

Without any special preparation, an R4L joined the convoy taking the Caltex boat to the El Molo on Lake Rudolf.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S GOOD ADVICE

In spite of the good advice given by our Prime Minister to Keruzia, to forgive and forget, people like your correspondent, Mr. A. D. Odiga, try to undo the good efforts of our national leaders are making.

Although I did not wish to enter the dark controversy, certain incidents have been mentioned in Odiga's article which have been misunderstood. Mr. Odiga has stated that he had it not been for the good efforts of our national leaders this part of Africa would have continued to be what it was in 1948. There is no question of a "Dark Continent". There is no question of a "Dark Africa" as Mr. Odiga implies. It is this whole Continent, and particularly East and Central Africa, had remained in a state of chaos for thousands of years.

Mr. Odiga's assertions had every opportunity to keep their doors closed to "tourism" and to develop the country themselves. Nobody can deny the fact that only 10 years ago, this "dark continent" was the most primitive stage of the so-called "explorers and adventurers" had been there, thousands of years of civilization and culture behind them.

Mr. Odiga should know that even today, without the help of the "explorers and adventurers", these parts of the continent which are still in the primitive stage cannot develop at all. The fact is that at the Congo, vast tracts of fertile land, 800,000 square miles of it, larger in area than the entire British East Africa, are rich in minerals, possessing very great potentialities of hydro-electric power, etc.

Yet the nations are not even in power to plan for the utilization of the "explorers and adventurers" in any of these, and this is the country. I do not see the one mentioned as that in India are angry, or that an African and British are in a black shop, in that the British are not the only ones to be mentioned in the article. It is not the British who are mentioned in the article, but the British who are mentioned in the article.

For Mr. Odiga to say that the Indians in this country are nothing to help the Africans here away the "explorers".

'IGNORED'

It is not our country and its people who are "ignored", but the African people who are "ignored". It is not our country and its people who are "ignored", but the African people who are "ignored".

Having achieved this noble purpose, Mr. Odiga should know that even today, without the help of the "explorers and adventurers", these parts of the continent which are still in the primitive stage cannot develop at all.

Services provided for victims of polio

I SHOULD be grateful if you would afford me space to comment on two letters which appeared last week in your paper - one an article entitled "Help for victims of polio" and the other your correspondent's reply to the same article dated 13th October.

1. Unless the Flying Doctor Service had been established, the children who are the victims of polio in the East African Territory would not have been able to receive the services provided for them by the Government of Kenya. Mr. Odiga should know that even today, without the help of the "explorers and adventurers", these parts of the continent which are still in the primitive stage cannot develop at all.

Kenya Passports ready for application forms

Application forms for registration as Kenya citizens are to be printed as soon as possible so that they can be distributed and submitted to the applicants to become citizens on Independence Day.

These forms, and others in application for new Kenya passports, are part of the new building up in the Kenya Government Printing Department, the Government Printer, Mr. H. G. Lofting, said yesterday.

His staff were already working overtime on the rush of other work, much of it connected with Independence, but he was hoping to be able to speed the work which would come later in the month, when late copy for certain newspapers was received. Work was also coming in from the regions.

Meanwhile, applications for British passports were still pouring in to the Immigration Department yesterday, although until figures are available today it is not known whether the announcement that only emergency applications will be accepted after November 29 has resulted in an even greater rush.

Algeria's Star

FLARES AGAIN

Algeria accused of invading Morocco

Moroccan troops were still falling under the fortified Algerian ceasefire border oasis of Figui yesterday after both sides had agreed to start a second major flare-up since a ceasefire was supposed to have come into force at midnight on Friday.

The Moroccan administrator said the second Algerian infantry division, backed by heavy artillery and mortar fire, started after midnight to invade the Algerian village of Beni Uti, according to a French news agency dispatch.

Algerian troops had not so far returned from the scene of violent fighting during the last few days.

The Moroccan administrator said Moroccan artillery had not replied to Algerian mortar fire, but the infantry attacked. He described the present position as "fluid."

VIETNAM HAPPY AT DEM'S OWN FELL

South Vietnamese officials were still celebrating the fall of the North Vietnamese government. They said the North Vietnamese government had collapsed because of its own internal divisions.

Ceasefire broken

There were also clashes on Saturday, first day of the ceasefire, but they were "progressively diminishing," according to the Algerian Foreign Minister, before yesterday.

The Minister, Mr. Abdelaziz Bouafra, told a Press conference that despite the clashes, which broke the ceasefire in Bamako, Mali, Algeria would respect the ceasefire.

An on-the-spot report from Figui yesterday said Algerian infantry had started moving back to the area around Figui and had advanced just over half a mile across the border.

The heavy artillery barrage started by the Algerians yesterday had subsided, a Moroccan officer said. Moroccan troops backed by cannon were still in the area on high ground overlooking the border, beyond which lies the frontier, beyond which lies the Moroccan territory.

UNION THREAT OF 'CUT-OFF' OVER UHURU

TWO trade unions have threatened to cut off communications inside Kenya and the outside world during the celebrations unless their members are paid an Uhuru bonus.

Mr. C. Adams, said that he would not take his public holiday on December 11 and 12 unless he was paid an Uhuru bonus.

CAUSE AND EFFECT OF SOVIET FARMING CRISIS

By Wolfgang Lautner

SOMEWHAT behind the scenes, the Russian people of Moscow, who have been the main force behind the Soviet grain drive, are now beginning to feel the effects of their own policy. The United States, the Soviet Union, and the rest of the world are now beginning to feel the effects of their own policy.

But even without the announcement of the Soviet grain drive, the world was beginning to feel the effects of their own policy. The United States, the Soviet Union, and the rest of the world are now beginning to feel the effects of their own policy.

While the measures taken by the Soviet Government to increase its grain production are being widely discussed, the effects of these measures are not yet fully understood. The Soviet Government has announced that it will increase its grain production by 50 per cent in 1963.

The Soviet Government has announced that it will increase its grain production by 50 per cent in 1963. This is a significant increase, and it is likely to have a major impact on the world grain market.
