President Roosevelt announced yesterday that he had recommended to Congress the name of Mr. John
Gibson as the United States
Ambassador to Britain.

It is reported from London that the first important feature of the new ambassador to the United States is that he was not a member of the British Empire.

Mr. Wavell created a precedent by being returned Governor of New Hampshire three times. It was while he was Governor of New Hampshire that he was appointed to the post of Governor of the British Empire.

NOTICE

THE DEFENCE REGULATIONS, 1939.

The Timber Industry

The attention of the public and particularly of savantists and planters, is drawn to Government Order No. 346, dated June 22nd, 1939, which reads: "... no sawmill shall accept any order for timber or enter into any contract for the supply of timber except with the consent in writing of the Deputy Commissioner and shall be obtained..."

Any person or firm supplying sawmills with timber without a permit commits a breach of the Defence Regulations which is liable to prosecution and, on conviction, imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or a fine not exceeding £200, or both.

Permits, subject to certain conditions, may be obtained by application to the E.A. War Supplies Board, Nairobi Central, P.O. Box 84, N. W. Swenish-Smith, G.M.S.F., Timber Controller, Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika.

African Standard SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1941.

A Falling Idol The news this week (and especially the dramatic announcement of the fall of Benhabib) has provided further evidence of lack of Italian zest for the war and has emphasized the empty retreat on all the African fronts. Because even allowing for a fundamental objection to the part of many Italians to fight the British and the discouragement that must have resulted from the early overwhelming British victories in Libya, it was not expected that so little resistance would be offered to the advancing Imperial forces.

The change in the outlook for Italy in six months has indeed been so complete that the news of Mussolini's ill-fated declaration in June he seemed not only to be on the point of acquiring another, almost without striking a blow. He counted on the collapse of British and French resistance, and he being followed in the space of a few short weeks by the complete capitulation of British and French forces in the East. It was shared not only by his Axis partners but by some still neutral countries in Europe. He had misjudged British character and resourcefulness, just as he failed to allow for the possibility of any large-scale resistance to his plans to overrun Greece. The whacking his army is receiving in Albania, the utter rout of his forces in Libya and the steady progress of the conquest of the East.

Italy's African empire has made him his realisation how utterly wrong his calculations were. He has been forced to withdraw his troops from the East and to concentrate on the defence of his African empire.

Few people will have any sympathy for this vulgar bragging in his downfall and even his Axis accomplices do not try very hard to disguise the contempt which his pitiable predicament has aroused. A recent contributor remarked recently, the situation for Hitler has sadly changed since Hitler and Mussolini met on equal terms in their armoured trains at the Brenner Pass and the recent journey to Berchingsgaden must have been gall to wormwood to the creators of Italian Fascism who, in days gone by, used to patronise his upstart minister. It is true that the wireless declared that Hitler had not reviewed the Italian record of recent months. "meetings" between the Führer and the Duce have never been held for discussing what is past, but for planning what is to come; but that declaration is not likely to deceive anyone, not even the hitherto docile Italian people.

Observers in Rome reported that at the outbreak of the war with Britain Fascist arrogance was at its height and although there was some talk of Mussolini's falling powers and the possibility of a change of leadership, the Italian people were still very confident and few Italians doubted that he would continue to the end. Italy bloodless victories and keep the nation out of the war. It is significant of the great change in the situation especially during the last two months

PETAIN WON'T BE FIGURE-HON

February 1st

Admiral Darlan arrived in Paris last night to continue his discussions with Laval. One report says that he accompanied Laval to the Vichy War Ministry. The Vichy War Ministry is in the hands of the Committee of Ministers. The Committee of Ministers will meet today and report on the results of the discussions. Reports from German agents state that Laval will not return to Vichy. The Government under Laval is given credit of policy, the French people are given credit of policy, over both occupied and unoccupied France.

No hint of Marshall's return has yet been made. Petain has not yet returned to Vichy. He has offered some sort of compromise. The most recent suggestion is that a discussion should be held between the head of the State, Laval, and the head of the Government, Darlan.

It has been reported that Laval has virtually agreed to accept the terms of the armistice, but other reports state that he has refused to do so. The situation is very uncertain.

The message from the President of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt, is a strong one. He has urged the American people to support the British and the French. He has said that the United States will stand with them to the end.

The following communications were received from the President of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt, on the 2nd inst. He has urged the American people to support the British and the French. He has said that the United States will stand with them to the end.

WHAT IS THIS TANGIER? A Curious History. The 'Morocco crisis' first of the series of 'crises' that preluded the war of 1914. Last year the 'Morocco crisis' of 1931.

What is it all about? What is this Morocco which has dominated the tangier which we used to visit as Christmas time, and shall call the 'Morocco crisis' of 1931. The little Moroccan port on the Atlantic side of the Gibraltar Straits is a small town with a curious history (writes the Daily Herald).

Let's go back. There was a long time before the Roman came into Africa and called it Tingis. After the Romans fell before the increasing onslaught of Islam it was a Moslem port for centuries.

Next to the south-Spanish ports, Morocco and the rest were the richest in Africa. In 1620, Sir Charles II married a Portuguese princess—Catherine of Braganza. She brought as her dowry, Bombay and Tangier. Tangier became a British colony; might to this day have been a British naval base.

KING'S MESSAGE TO GENERAL WAVELL

THE great feat of the Army of the Nile in capturing Benghazi has brought General Archibald Wavell a message of congratulations from the King.

The King's message reads: "The capture of Benghazi is a notable landmark in the campaign in North Africa which has been carried on with such brilliance by you and the Imperial Troops under your command. I warmly congratulate all ranks of the Army and the other services on this success which will rank high in the annals of the British Army. Latest reports say that operations south of Benghazi are progressing very rapidly."

Very True Surprises
The campaign in North Africa culminating in the capture of Benghazi is regarded as an unexampled military achievement. Five major military experts point out that in each of the British command successes in capturing the enemy in the first attack the Italians did not even have time to use their tanks. At Benghazi the garrison was taken by surprise before the attack even at a point different from that which was to advance as far as Benghazi as the enemy had no air or attack on Italy had.

These Italian divisions were rapidly admitted that Benghazi had been captured. The British but they said their listeners to believe that the force of an attack was in the past and it has been reported that the Italian divisions the Libyan campaign have been in complete command by the Italian forces.

Elsewhere the news has been greeted with a chorus of delight from friends and allies of Britain. The United States newspapers have been full of praise for the "Remarkable victory for General Wavell."

The Athens radio said: "Our countrymen go out in great numbers to say that the capture of Benghazi had taken the words by surprise. The Italian army had been knocked out of the line. The capture of Benghazi had taken the words by surprise. The Italian army had been knocked out of the line. The capture of Benghazi had taken the words by surprise. The Italian army had been knocked out of the line."

In London it is not believed the Italian intended to defend Benghazi. Their great reluctance to give them time for the withdrawal of the rest but owing to the speed of their flight from Benghazi it is not thought they had time to send away many troops or much equipment.

The capture of Benghazi not only ends thirty years Italian domination in North Africa.

Greek Pressure Continues

ITALIANS SUSTAIN HEAVY CASUALTIES

Fighting in Albania is still being hampered by heavy rains and mud. The latest Greek reports show that the Italian troops are being defeated by the Greeks in such an engagement. The Greek forces are being hampered by heavy rains and mud.

Limitation Clause

The House of Representatives voted to limit the amount of equipment to be sent to Greece. The limitation clause would apply to any further defense appropriations. This action came after the House had passed a resolution that the limitation should be applied to the amount of existing equipment of the United States.

FORMER DUTCH PREMIER RETURNS TO HOLLAND

The Netherlands Government in Britain announced that it has been decided to invite the former Dutch Premier to return to Holland. The former Dutch Premier is a member of the House of Representatives.

New Chairman Of Reuters

The Board of Reuters has elected Mr. H. H. Bennett, former Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, as its new Chairman. Mr. Bennett is a member of the House of Commons.

British Navy Shells Genoa

An Admiralty communique announces that the British Navy has shelled Genoa at dawn this morning. The shelling of one of the most important seaports of Italy is regarded as a further proof of Britain's naval supremacy in the Mediterranean.

The Admiralty communique does not give any details of the bombardment, but merely states that at dawn this morning one of the most important seaports of Italy was shelled.

Genoa is one of the most important commercial cities of Italy with a population of 600,000 and having an important and well-trafficated naval base.

It is a big industrial centre in Northern Italy. No further details of the action have yet been available.

No Night Raids On Britain

The usual artillery preparations had been made for the night raid. The British forces were also a surprise of the raid. The raid was carried out by troops moving in the night.

No Tunis Naval Base For Nazis Says Weyand

General Weyand said that France would not permit Germany to use the Tunis naval base for the landing of German troops.

Interest in London is already beginning to shift to Abyssinia which with the fall of Benghazi has been deprived of all communication with Italy. It is possible that Italy will attempt to establish a new base in Abyssinia.

A military operation in Cairo is expected to be carried out in the near future. The operation is expected to be a surprise attack on the Egyptian forces.

Several thousand prisoners have already been taken and others are still being taken. The British forces are expected to capture the remaining prisoners.

A German Troika
In London the words have been recalled of an article in the German newspapers in which the German High Command is reported to have said that it would happen only as a result of a complete and total defeat.

General Weyand said that France would not permit Germany to use the Tunis naval base for the landing of German troops.

Intensive Raids By R. A. F.

NAZI AIR CHIEF WARNS GERMAN PEOPLE

Details were released in London that the R. A. F. has carried out intensive raids on German air bases and shipping. The raids were carried out by the R. A. F. bombers.

General Weyand said that France would not permit Germany to use the Tunis naval base for the landing of German troops.

SMOOTH-ON IRON CEMENT

Smooth-On No. 1 is an Iron Cement sold in powder form and used by mixing with water.

It is unequalled for stopping leaks of steam, water, fire, gas or oil.

While in this action that makes it valuable for many household uses, such as stopping leaks, repairing cracks, building handles, etc.

When hard it has the same expansion and contraction as iron, keeping the leak tight at all temperatures.

Smooth-On No. 1 may be applied to any metal—iron, steel, copper, brass, lead, aluminum, or wood, etc.

Rejoicing, Confidence, Warning Against Over-Optimism

BALKAN DEVELOPMENTS: A HINT TO BULGARIA

Prime Minister Mr. Churchill, made an important broadcast speech to the British House of Commons last night which revealed the recent victory by British forces and death with possible developments of the war.

Mr. Churchill's speech had which might be called a world audience, though it was addressed primarily to the British House of Commons.

Mr. Churchill's speech was a rejoicing over the recent victory by British forces and death with possible developments of the war.

How Navy Battered Genoa

ITALY KNOWS NOW WHERE ARK ROYAL IS

Further details of the bombardment of the Italian port of Genoa by the British Navy were given in an Admiralty news release last night.

More than 200 tons of shells were sent into military targets in and around the port. Vice Admiral J. S. Nevill, C-in-C, Mediterranean Fleet, said that the British Navy had inflicted heavy damage on the port of Genoa.

The Rising Tide of Hated Nazis Growing

DETENTION OF NAZIS GROWING DAILY

February 10. Showing the rising tide of hatred against the Nazis, the following items of news have been collected in the last few hours.

NORWAY. All schools are closed to accept the Youth Campaign in Oslo. Teachers are ordered to stop the Youth Campaign. It is causing intense irritation in Oslo and many parents are sending letters for claiming exemption for their children. A list of names of the Youth Campaigners has been prepared. The Nazi authorities have started to check up on private phone talks, many of which are secretly recorded.

WAR RISKS INSURANCE
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Twenty five people, after two hours' talk yesterday at a public meeting held in Nairobi on February 4, voted for the abolition of the 1934 War Risks Insurance Ordinance, and will the same time they voted for the enactment of 1941 War Risks Insurance Ordinance to replace it. I am sorry to hear that you have not been able to publish this. I am sure that you would have done so had you been able to do so. I am sure that you would have done so had you been able to do so.

WIRELES
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—Why is it that the wireless is so unpopular here? I am sure that it is not because of the high cost of the apparatus, but because of the high cost of the electricity. I am sure that it is not because of the high cost of the apparatus, but because of the high cost of the electricity.

MUNICIPAL STAFF
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—I would like to support Mrs. W. Ward and Mr. Zambor in their contention that the salary of the Municipal Staff is too high. I am sure that it is not because of the high cost of the apparatus, but because of the high cost of the electricity.

LABOUR RETURNS
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—A claim of savings in paper is made as a recommendation of the new system of labour returns in Kenya and Uganda. I am sure that it is not because of the high cost of the apparatus, but because of the high cost of the electricity.

KENYA NATIVES
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—I have been waiting for the third and last issue of the Kenya Natives and it appeared today. All three issues are very good and I am sure that they will be of great interest to all who are interested in the welfare of the natives of Kenya.

SAVING
To the Editor, "E.A. Standard"
Sir—I should be very much obliged if one of your more intelligent correspondents would explain to me the meaning of the word "saving" in the context of the Kenya Natives. I am sure that it is not because of the high cost of the apparatus, but because of the high cost of the electricity.

"Here, then, we see the beginning of a new era in the operations and the chastisement of wrong-doing which resulted on that though the British God grant slowly they proceed exceedingly."

America's Aid

"While these auspicious events have been carrying us across by stride through what many people thought a grave period in May and June (and this position was indeed grave) to one which permits us to go forward with confidence of our ability to discharge our duties no matter what might happen in the future, a mighty tide of sympathy and goodwill must have been building up for some time. The tide had begun to flow across the Atlantic in support of the world cause which is at stake.

"Disappointed Americans have come over to see things here, and to find out how the United States can help us best and soonest. In Mr. Hopkins with his frequent companions during the last three weeks, we have the envoy of the President—the President who has been newly re-elected by the people of the United States. I have welcomed the President's envoy with the warmest of hearts. I have welcomed the President's envoy with the warmest of hearts. I have welcomed the President's envoy with the warmest of hearts."

"I have been very much pleased to see the President's envoy with the warmest of hearts. I have welcomed the President's envoy with the warmest of hearts. I have welcomed the President's envoy with the warmest of hearts."

"I cannot tell you how the matter will go, but at any rate we shall do our best to fight for the cause of Mediterranean."

"I dare say you will have noticed a very significant air action fought recently over the fortress of Crete. The Germans sent an entire gawdawler equipped with 40 bombers to Sicily, seriously injured our new aircraft carrier Illustrious and her crew. This wounded ship was sheltering in Malta harbour, they concentrated on the island, but were not able to do so. The aircraft carrier Illustrious was damaged, but she was not sunk. She was damaged, but she was not sunk. She was damaged, but she was not sunk."

U.S.A. IN BRITAIN Public Backs Lease and Lend Bill

THE WAR IN ALBANIA
Italian Attacks Weakening
WORKING-CLASS AREA OF ATHENS BOMBED

February 12. A national debate on the Italian campaign in Albania is being held in London. The speaker is General Sir Philip Clavin, who has been in command of the British forces in Albania since the outbreak of the Italian attack on the country on April 7. He is expected to give a detailed account of the progress of the campaign and the difficulties which the British forces have encountered.

February 12. Mr. Wendell Willkie had a long conference with President Roosevelt at White House. He is expected to return to the United States tomorrow. Mr. Willkie is expected to discuss the situation in the United States and the possibility of increasing American aid to the British.

February 12. The latest reports on the fighting in the Balkans indicate that the Italian campaign in Albania is being weakened. The Italian forces are being pushed back in several places, and the British forces are making gains.

February 12. The United States Senate has passed the Lend-Lease Bill. The bill authorizes the President to lend or lease to other countries such military and naval equipment, aircraft, and other supplies as he deems necessary in the interest of national defense.

February 12. The British Government has announced that it will provide a large amount of aid to the Greek Government. The aid is intended to help the Greek forces in their fight against the Italian invaders.

Civic Pride

February is notoriously one of the worst months in Kenya from the point of view of the effect of weather conditions on the physical well-being and mental outlook of a great many people, especially the white population. The countryside is for the most part parched, there is a lot of dust, the days are usually stifling, the nights (especially with black-out restrictions) are dark and clammy and life generally is more than a little trying. Under these conditions even small troubles are inclined to assume the proportions of major catastrophes and grievances which in happier conditions could be ignored or calmly dealt with appear to be almost overwhelming.

We mention this because it is possible that the weather conditions which we have had at this time of the year has had some thing to do with the rather sweeping condemnation of some of our newspapers indulged in by a correspondent whose letter appeared yesterday. On the other hand the writer was not at all correct when he said that Nairobi is not as clean a town as it should be and that more could be done by the municipal authorities than at present being done. It is true that the town conforms to ordinarily accepted standards of hygiene and cleanliness. Most people will agree that Nairobi is not an unattractive town and visitors from many parts of the world speak with admiration of our wide streets, the cleanliness of our parks and the general architectural layout. Certainly the capital has been improved in almost every way during the last decade or so but there is much that still requires attention.

Behind the rather attractive facade is a great deal that is ugly and unpleasant, much that suggests the need for greater care and supervision. It is unfortunately not too usually seen anything of these alleysways misnamed sanitary lanes but here in the very centre of the city are conditions which urgently call for improvement. Many residents will agree with the opinion that the most attractive collection of refuse because it is unfortunately so unknown to the old papers and has been known from the dust carts into which it has been too carelessly deposited, or which because of rain water has become a collection has missed the carts altogether. Bad enough at any time, this sort of thing becomes more than a nuisance in a season of the year when rain is not normally expected.

Then again in the suburbs there is much evidence to road verges, too many weeds where part of the road should be and generally an unkempt appearance which is not in consonance with the best ideas on how a modern town should appear.

Incidentally reference to the fact that it is not directly connected with public health but which is certainly of concern to the ratepayers. It is the serious deterioration of the edges of some of the macadam roads which adds to the already difficult traffic problem in the town and which constitutes a source of danger to everyone using the roads. Very often this could be avoided by timely patching but in some instances the process of deterioration has been allowed to continue so long as to necessitate costly major repairs.

There are many ways in which even in the abnormal conditions of today the town of Nairobi can be improved without a great deal of additional expense. We are sure that one of the public utilities is labour saving. The reply to that can only be that Government's view apparently continues so long as to require that the labour problem if it exists at all is exaggerated out of all proportion to the facts.

IN A COMMENTARY on the day's news, Mr. George Stearns, of the B.L.C., drew attention to the fact that the Italian forces in Libya, as in the Eastern part of the Mediterranean, were under great pressure, that it was to be expected that the Italian forces in the next few days or weeks would be forced to evacuate the East of Romania, Greece and Yugoslavia and where Italian troops were engaged in the Balkans, they would appear on the shores of the Aegean sea and possibly on the shores of the Black Sea.

Enlistment Design

"Such attempts may be intended to be simultaneous and at one and the same time the British and the Mediterranean may be faced with an encircling movement which threatens to close off the Western and Eastern entrances to that great inland sea. The design is stupendous but so is Mussolini's resources and he has claimed to transform the Mediterranean into a 'Mare Nostrum'."

Mussolini's pretensions on the waters of the Mediterranean, as the British Fleet of Africa have proved to be utterly worthy of their origin. The history of the Empire of Mussolini has been written in war and engaged in sand and there is hardly a day when the Italian Fleet does not seem to be engaged in some form of war. It may be that the designs of Hitler encompass the destruction of our Fleet and of our allies in the Mediterranean and that our fleet in force in a sea over which they have no control will prove equally futile."

Netherlands East Indies Negotiations

February 12.

The position of the Netherlands in the East Indies has been made more understandable in Japan, after the officials by Dutch officials that negotiations with Japan are in economic matters which are being conducted on behalf of the Government and not by the Netherlands Government and not by the Netherlands Government.

The Central Government is temporarily suspended in London as a free Government and is only responsible for the Netherlands East Indies is the representative of the Crown. It is stated that certain Japanese officials in Japan explain the position to the Japanese Government.

The position is now thoroughly understood in London.

New Purchases Director

February 12.

Mr. Arthur Purvis as Director General of the British Purchasing Commission in the United States, has arrived in New York. He was starting to leave for his post, he said: "We have got to turn them into a fleet."

Thailand Armistice

February 11

The extension of the armistice between France and Thailand and China was proposed by Japan after the first meeting of delegates of Japan, France and Thailand had been accepted by the two Governments concerned.

RHOESIAN AIRMEN IN BRITAIN

February 12.

Britain has just received 100 Rhodesian Air Force pilots from the Southern Rhodesia. They have all been trained in the United Kingdom and are the vanguard of a stream of Rhodesian pilots who will be sent to the squadrons of the Royal Air Force.

AMERICA VIEWS BATTLE OF BRITAIN A Three Phase Contest

Now that the Lend Lease Bill has passed through the House of Representatives of the United States, and is before the Senate, the views of Americans on the battle of Britain are no longer in doubt. On the contrary, they are more definite than ever. On the part of America, it is believed that the battle of Britain is a decisive battle, the result of which will determine the fate of the world. The Lend Lease Bill, which is now before the Senate, is a measure of the utmost importance. It is a measure which will enable the United States to supply the British with the materials and equipment which they need to win the battle of Britain. The Lend Lease Bill is a measure which will enable the United States to supply the British with the materials and equipment which they need to win the battle of Britain.

But that the battle of Britain is a decisive battle, the result of which will determine the fate of the world, is a view which is shared by many Americans. It is a view which is based on the fact that the battle of Britain is a battle which is fought on the air. It is a battle which is fought on the air, and it is a battle which is fought on the air. It is a battle which is fought on the air, and it is a battle which is fought on the air. It is a battle which is fought on the air, and it is a battle which is fought on the air.

LABOUR RETURNS Explanation of Post Card Details

As some public confusion appears to exist regarding the instructions on the front of the Labour Return postcard in respect of "regimentation" the following explanation has been made by the Public Registration Department. In a number of cases where a man has been overseas his name, the more he has served, the more he has served, the more he has served. Subsequently when the man returns after a period of service his name, the more he has served, the more he has served, the more he has served. It is a matter of fact that the man who has served in the Labour Return postcard is a man who has served in the Labour Return postcard.

THE BATTLE OF THE SEXES

THERE is no really outstanding film most week, but the majority of them will make quite pleasant light entertainment. The most popular, I would say, should be:

THE DOMINANT SEX (Playhouse)

Director: Herbert Brenon.

Players: Phillips Holmes, Diana Chupfuff, Romney Brent.

This is a frivolous but fundamentally sound treatment of the spiced battle of the sexes rather heavily biased toward the male side of it...

when you know that it all goes to show that she should have things their way—and it is most amusingly presented against pleasing settings with a cast of most capable...

THE BIRMINGHAM DAKOTA (Capitol)

Players: Wallace Berry, John Howards, Dolores del Rio.

If you are a Wallace Berry fan then "The Man From Dakota" is the film for you...

But excepting through battlement is no part of romance. A woman, hand and foot, and a man, hand and foot, are only some of the things they...

Spencer Tracy in "Eugene O'Neill"

PERNIX FROM HEAVEN (MGM-Play)

Director: George Cukor.

Players: Bing Crosby, Katharine Hepburn, George Brent.

Whenever it rains, it rains pennies from heaven. It is the story of a man who is the luckiest man in the world...

Little Edna follows the lead girl of "The Married Man" in a much less convincing way than in "The Married Man"...

An entertaining and amusing picture, but it is not as good as "The Married Man"...

THE SAINTS IN LONDON (Empire)

Director: Michael Curtiz.

Players: Greta Garbo, Sally Gray, David Niven.

Perhaps you don't know that Greta Garbo is not a native-born American but a Swedish girl who came to America with her mother...

Young George Sanders, with minor parts, comes on the scene in the last act...

national credits who would be deflected into foreign lands...

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

This is the story of a sufferer who had very high blood pressure. It is typical of many others of his age who gradually acknowledge the relation and symptoms which they owe to "Physician" Tablets.

When everything else failed, I had very high blood pressure, a tired heart and felt absolutely without energy. I started taking "Physician" tablets, an never tired now and was young again.

The strength of "Physician" Tablets reduce the strain of high blood pressure—they act on the hypertension of blood pressure in middle age and thus prevent premature aging. At the same time they fortify the action of the same organs. If you take the tablets REGULARLY, the results will astonish you.

UGANDA COTTON

To the Editor:—The "E.A. Standard" of the week-end issue of 21st January, 1941, contains an article in which the Government's re-opening of Uganda cotton season for Thursday, January 30th is being discussed.

According to your correspondent's report after stopping buying for six weeks it was re-commenced at 14 cents. I am aware of the facts but the Uganda Government has not solved the problem of maintaining the price of seed cotton at 14 cents.

Comparing these figures with the 1940 prices, it is clear that the Government is not to be the cheapest starry-eyed buyer in the world. One does not know what is meant by pig position.

When generally speaking on a normal time, oil in Kenya starts by being sold at 10/- per ton.

It is a pity that the Government is not to be the cheapest starry-eyed buyer in the world. One does not know what is meant by pig position.

Very few people will have any sympathy for this vulgar brag that the world is against Italy. His Axis accomplices do not try very hard to disguise the contempt which they possess for the Italian people.

It is only two months ago (December 7) that the British advance guard of the Italian army in Africa was at that time in a position to have made Egyptian territory in the west.

All that time an Italian force of about 60,000 were well inside Egyptian territory. In the west they were in the hands of the British.

It is not difficult to imagine the house built on trees and that he heard him woe chuckle as they sensed the scorn and contempt in the Prime Minister's words.

All of which suggests that the new Secretary of State has initiative, is ready to take chances and is quite prepared to flout precedent when he feels that the end justifies the means.

Observers in Rome reported that the outbreak of the war with Britain Fascist arrogance was at its height and although some of the Italian press had begun to show signs of falling powers and the passing of authority to younger, more virile hands...

SPAIN'S RESOLVE IN THE WAR

Rejoicing, Confidence, And Warning Against Over-Optimism

February 10. (The Prime Minister, Mr. Winston Churchill, made a speech in the House of Commons on the subject of the Spanish situation.)

The speech was a rejoicing over the Spanish situation, a warning against over-optimism, and a statement of the British position. Mr. Churchill said that the Spanish situation was a "great and historic moment" and that the British were "glad to see the Spanish people standing up for their freedom and independence."

ITALIAN ATTACKS WEAKENING

Working-Class Area of Athens Bombed

Drone-bombing of rain in Athens has not prevented the Greeks from consolidating their newly-gained positions. There are also reports of Greek successes in the Aegean Sea by enemy tanks and armoured cars.

An American communications officer said that the Italian attack on the working-class area of Athens had taken place in two days. He adds that Greek jets set out a blast of flame which destroyed six tanks. The Italian commander was killed and the drivers of all six tanks were taken prisoner.

Albanian reports say that an attempt by the Italians to counter-attack on the central front in Albania had ended in disastrous defeat for the enemy. The Italians inflicted heavy losses in men and material.

Fighting in Albania is still being hampered by heavy rain and mud. The latest Greek reports show that the Italians attempted two desperate counter-attacks in the central sector and that they were repulsed with heavy losses. The Greek army is still pushing at this important sector. The counter-attacks were led by Black Shirts who tried to break through the Greek forces.

The Albanian press stated on Friday that large forces of Italian infantry were being driven off the downs by the devastating fire of the Greeks. Afterwards, the Greeks captured many prisoners and a considerable quantity of war material.

The Italian press in Albania is still pointing at this important sector. The Italian press in Albania is still pointing at this important sector. The Italian press in Albania is still pointing at this important sector.
