LAMU TAKES ITS FIRST STEPS OUT

THE PAST

LAMU, the district of which very little was heard during Kenya's past, is now drawing every effort to schemes for the island's future development.

Enthusiasm is being placed in what leaders in the district call "revolutionary planning to effect an educational, cultural and economic well-being."

Two months ago Lamu County Council approved a resolution making it the first Madrasa on the island secondary school. In three Madrasas, the children in the past learnt only religious lessons and recited the Holy Quran.

Most of the children attending are those whose parents, alarmed about the loss of standards, asked the Ministry of Education. Before the change there was only one primary school on the island.

On the road

The Assistant Community Development Officer for Lamu, Mr. David John, who is working out development projects and improvements at village level, believes that development will be on the road to advancement in a year or so.

There are plans in hand to start group-farming in the area and group-farming on Mandia Island. Group-farming is already progressing well in the area.

Four mobile tractors have been allocated to the island, which they grow cash and food-crops.

The soil's mixture of limestone and marine work. The marine work is being done by the Lamu Agricultural Co-operative Society, which is expected to be formed during the next month or so.

Resettlement plan

The secretary of the Lamu Development Co-operative Society, Mr. David John, says that there is a scheme under which it is being shifted to Lamu will be resettled on one of the islands where they will be encouraged to carry out group-farming.

One problem which remains is to persuade the women to do the heavy kind of remaining indoors all the day long as they may like to market and group projects.

In Lamu, with its almost 100 per cent Arab population, and where the main life and traditions follow the Arabic culture, women wear headscarves and go out only after dark.

Lamu's living in the past has been largely forgotten on experts of palm, coconut and nutmegs. These days must be taken on board for the Arabian Gulf.

Coconut leaves after a good nutmeg harvest. The Community Development Officer, Mr. David John, advises nutmeg trees grown by the islanders.

Miss Zaha looks in on nursery school children at play, supervised by Miss Zaha Fadhi (centre).

These tractors, built and handled have been made by means of the West Waukesha Co. Many from their sale is used to help local self-help projects.

At the Lamu Primary School, pupils put on an open-air variety show.

INQUIRY INTO FORGED NEWS PICTURE SOUGHT

LONDON has set up the British Government to set up a Daily Express team to establish a photograph of a woman in Ghana which has caused the editor to be taken to court. Lord Brodwick, better known as Mr. Piusan, has said the House of Lords that the photograph published in March 1962, was in fact a photograph of a woman in Togoland in January 1962.

The need to raise the matter because there was evidence that the "responsibility for the circumstances which led to the publication of this forged photograph was part of the operations of a wider circle, which would be the subject of an inquiry."

Lord Brodwick said that in a statement to the House of Lords, he was convinced that the Daily Express had acted responsibly in publishing the photograph, but that the Government should investigate the circumstances which led to the publication of this forged photograph.

The Daily Express had accepted the photograph and had published it in its newspaper on March 13, 1962. Lord Brodwick said that the Daily Express had accepted the photograph and had published it in its newspaper on March 13, 1962.

Canada's new-law serves Kenya's forest resources

Canadian Ministers have been reviewing in Ottawa a proposed Amendment to Kenya's Forestry Act in order to take the opportunity to visit Canada.

Early last month, the Kenya Government of Nairobi, Mr. J. B. Kariuki, and the Assistant Commissioner of Forestry, Mr. J. O. Ochieng, accompanied a five-man tour of Canadian Forestry Officials which took them to the Province of Ontario, King's University School.

The main purpose of their trip was to study the Canadian forest training facilities with a view to improving the local forest training in Kenya's two Forest Training Schools.

Further training in Canada led to a very high standard and the Canadian Government, through the Forestry Act, has made available a number of scholarships for training Kenya students in both professional and technical forestry.

On arrival in Ottawa, Mr. Robert A. Clarke, Mr. Robert and Mrs. George McLean, and Mr. M. C. Bennett, Chief of the Management Section of the Forestry Department, welcomed them cordially.

After a short visit to the University of Toronto, the Forestry Department, they visited the Marquette Forest in Ontario and the University of New Brunswick.

After four days in New Brunswick, the party moved to the University of Queen's City under the leadership of Forest Officer Robert S. ... and were introduced to officers of the Ontario Forest Department and visited the Faculty of Forestry at the University of Toronto. The late

Map drafted

The information is analyzed at the Forest Headquarters in Nairobi. Maps are drafted according to standards and the information is used for planning to complete a computer program.

The contract to carry out this project was awarded to the University of Toronto in October, 1963. The project was completed in January 1965. The project was completed in January 1965.

Better by Bedford NORMAL or FORWARD CONTROL

petrol or diesel, basis of the most versatile and hardworking range of commercial vehicles in the world

BEDFORD LEADS IN DIESEL ENGINE DESIGN

End-to-end waterflow design solves all diesel gasket problems.

High-speed motorway work and heavy duty operation impose extra stress on the gas seal of modern diesels. End-to-end waterflow design solves this by offsetting all waterways between cylinder block and head. The cooling water passes from block to head through two special ports at the rear of the engine, outside the gasket area. Now the cylinder head gasket has only one function: to serve as a gas seal to the cylinder bore. This means that gas leaks are almost impossible, preventing blow-by if possible.

Balance of Payments

Kenya Shows Progress

Kenya's balance of payments has shown a marked improvement over the last year, according to a report by the Kenya Bureau of Statistics.

The report states that the current account has improved significantly, with a surplus of KSh. 100 million in 1965, compared to a deficit of KSh. 200 million in 1964.

The improvement is attributed to a decrease in imports and an increase in exports, particularly in the agricultural sector.

The report also notes that the services account has shown a surplus of KSh. 50 million in 1965, compared to a deficit of KSh. 100 million in 1964.

The overall balance of payments has improved from a deficit of KSh. 150 million in 1964 to a surplus of KSh. 50 million in 1965.

RESEARCH IN EDIN

John Elogu's Friday Diary

Kenya and the U.S. are in a state of tension, according to John Elogu, a prominent Kenyan lawyer and politician.

Elogu, who has a law degree from the University of Edinburgh, is currently in Kenya on a visit.

He has been observing the political and social developments in Kenya and has expressed his concerns.

Elogu has also been involved in legal cases, including one involving the University of Nairobi.

He has been seen at various public events and has been a vocal critic of the government's policies.

Cricketers scores

Mr. Kenneth Robinson, the former Kenya and East Africa Test cricketer, has been invited to give a lecture on cricket at the University of Nairobi.

The lecture is scheduled for next week and will be held in the Sports Centre.

Robinson, who has played for Kenya and East Africa, has a long and successful cricketing career.

He has also been involved in coaching and has been a member of the Kenya Cricket Board.

The lecture is expected to be a popular event and will attract a large number of students and cricket enthusiasts.

What's the correct time...?

The correct time in Kenya has been a subject of debate for some time. The country has been using different time zones, which has caused confusion.

The Kenya Bureau of Statistics has conducted a survey to determine the correct time zone for the country.

The survey has found that the majority of the population prefers the East African Time (EAT) zone.

A 14-YEAR-OLD boy from the Machakos area, who has been making an attempt to secure work in either his home area or Nairobi, has managed to devise a means of making something of a living. With pieces of scrap wood, string and a strip of old motor tyre, he has made a model of two dancers. By striking the model with the dancers' feet, it can be made to dance.

He has been seen at various public events and has been a vocal critic of the government's policies.

Markets found in six countries

At least six African countries will increase trade with Kenya as a result of the inter-continental market-hunting safaris of a group of Ministers. The countries, which will be taking part are the U.A.R., Sudan, Malawi, Zambia, Mauritius and Madagascar.

Official communications containing trade proposals have been received from the Sudan, which was visited by the Minister for External Affairs, Mr. Murumbi, and the Minister for Commerce and Industry, Mr. Njiru, and from the United Arab Republic after the visit of Mr. Murumbi, Dr. Kiiano and the Finance Minister, Mr. Gichuru. Development, Mr. Moya, and the Minister for Agriculture, Mr. McKenna, returned from a tour of the four other countries, and a spate of promises of increased trade.

At an airport Press conference, they said Mauritius, Madagascar, Zambia and Malawi all wanted to increase trade with Kenya and welcomed the suggestion that Kenya delegates should visit them to discuss details.

Manufacturers criticised

Even more opportunities existed for trade expansion than he had hoped Mr. Moya said. The first delegation of politicians, manufacturers and members of the Chamber of Commerce should be organised to go to Kenya on the next five weeks. His task would be to find markets for individual products within the new markets.

It was obvious that Kenya manufacturers had not looked carefully to find markets in the countries visited. Mr. Moya said. In many cases goods were being imported from outside Africa which were not as good as those made in Kenya. Shoppers had been surprised when they realised that Kenya made equipment.

Manufacturers have got to be more realistic, he said. They must not stand around waiting for the Government to find markets for them and protect their home market unless they act themselves. Mr. Moya said.

As an example, he said, Kenya had sent over 400 tons of oranges to the United Kingdom, but only 100 tons had been sold. The oranges were rotting in the docks. The Government should be better off Kenya making oranges for export to other countries.

Textiles and other manufacturers could compete very favourably with many goods from the East and Vietnam which were made better by hand.

Success certain

Mr. Moya said that Kenya was not a big country but it was approaching to the export drive. It was almost certain that Kenya's future would be bright.

The U.A.R. is a list of exports which Kenya has which can be used to expand its trade. It was almost certain that Kenya's future would be bright.

The move follows increased military activity in the Southern Sudan and reports of many deaths.

Island zoo's fame spreads abroad

The popularity of Sea-stone Island Zoo has steadily increased since the official opening last September. It has the largest wildlife population in the South Islands and is the only zoo in the region to have a large number of American visitors.

By JESSE JORDAN

Much bird-life

For those interested in birds, there is plenty of bird life at the zoo. The zoo has a large collection of birds, including many species of seabirds, and a large aviary where they are kept.

The zoo also has a large collection of mammals, including many species of seals, and a large collection of reptiles and amphibians.

The zoo is a very popular attraction for both tourists and local residents, and it is well worth a visit for anyone who is interested in wildlife.

The zoo is a very well-maintained and attractive place, and it is a pleasure to visit. The staff are friendly and helpful, and the animals are well cared for.

the rest - but never catch them in the National Parks, as they were previously reported to do.

As well as the two rhinos, already mentioned, there are five other top order mammals: four leopards, two cheetahs, two giraffes, four zebras, six topis, two ostriches and water-buffalo, wild-boar, rook, foxes and many more.

Two Bushbuckles are also kept in the zoo. They are a species of antelope which were introduced as prey for the lions. The first was shot in 1900 and the second in 1901.

The zoo is a very popular attraction for both tourists and local residents, and it is well worth a visit for anyone who is interested in wildlife.

will soon be started to make the scrubland grass and provide more grazing. As it is a natural feeding-ground for the elephants, it will be a natural feeding-ground for the other animals as well.

It would be a pity if the zoo were to lose its natural feeding-ground. It is a very important part of the zoo's environment.

The zoo is a very popular attraction for both tourists and local residents, and it is well worth a visit for anyone who is interested in wildlife.

Better driving - 5 AIM TO IMPROVE IT'S CONSTANT MOTTO

It's not just that many drivers regard the driving test as the only obstacle in their motoring life. They believe that having passed the test the job is far from over and their services over - but nothing could be further from the truth.

The motto of the Road Safety Council is "Better driving - 5". It is a motto which is constantly repeated in the many articles published in the magazine, and in the many leaflets distributed to motorists.

The motto is a simple one, but it is a motto which is constantly repeated in the many articles published in the magazine, and in the many leaflets distributed to motorists.

LAST SUNDAY'S TV WAS GOOD VALUE BY ANY STANDARDS

It is hard to believe that the TV service in Kenya can keep up with the demand for entertainment. It is hard to believe that the TV service in Kenya can keep up with the demand for entertainment.

By Roger Howe

Consider the variety offered on that one day. First, a police programme, something to entertain the children, a musical programme, and a station with much better resources than V.O.K. might have been proud of.

Anyone who thinks that it is not only the children who are interested in the TV service in Kenya can keep up with the demand for entertainment. It is hard to believe that the TV service in Kenya can keep up with the demand for entertainment.

Other points in brief from the week's viewing. Kenyans making me laugh with his imitations of almost a "click" and a performance from Motry Douglas that made even Ben Carey worth watching. The few "toys" for a certain number of hours and the quality of questions in the Press Conference.

This was a nature programme that was a credit to the station. Next week Dr. Coe is to talk about frogs. I await with interest to see if he is brought forward to 9 p.m.

THE DAY MISS CHRISTIE 'KILLED' HER DETECTIVE

Who's the murderer? The thriller Ten Little Red Indians has proved so popular with audiences at the Donovon Music Theatre that its run has had to be extended by a week and will now close on Saturday, July 31, since committed a form of homicide on one of her most famous characters — Hercule Poirot.

When she was acting the follow for the stage she came to the conclusion that it would make a better play without any of the bits of a story which she had to leave out. She has now been going to see from the stage scene — a little woman that would not be missed.

None of these things has achieved the status of a best-seller, but they have not entirely to be despised. In fact, they have been more popular than Ten Little Red Indians, which certainly achieves a record number of copies, even for Miss Christie.

WATER PUMPING

A pop for the motorist

New East African road map published

A NEW Shell Road Map of East Africa

The new map has been brought up to date with the fact that the East African Commission and other Governments and States in the region have adopted new roads.

The formal and coloring of the map are the same as the previous issues, but a special feature is the covering with a plastic laminate which is simple to clean and is manufactured by the company.

This laminate allows the map to be written on, and labeled, and in wet weather and ground conditions required upon writing are not lost. The map also contains the standard features of a road map, such as the names of roads, rivers, lakes, and other geographical features.

At 1/2 per copy this map offers exceptional value to the East African motorist or tourist.

DRIVER PUTS HIS CASE

WITH insurance premiums going up substantially, fewer people will be able to afford to take out comprehensive insurance policies covering their vehicles.

On the other hand, some people are looking for ways to save. One way is to take out the minimum policy, known as a third party policy.

For a claim by a third party on a damage to his vehicle, the party at fault has to pay. This is the basic principle of a third party policy.

Even with the rebate of the previous issue, third party recovery against the insurance company is still a long process.

But in the absence of any evidence from the police or any other authority, the driver at fault has to pay.

In the event of a claim, the driver at fault has to pay the insurance company the amount of the claim.

1. The minimum amount of insurance cover should be for a third party policy, which covers the driver at fault for any damage to a third party's vehicle.

2. The driver at fault must pay the insurance company the amount of the claim.

3. In the event of an accident, the driver at fault has to pay the insurance company the amount of the claim.

4. All vehicles from outside Kenya whose drivers require third party insurance cover should pay for a third party policy.

5. The driver at fault has to pay the insurance company the amount of the claim.

NEW FABRIC—AND SHOE TRADE MAY BE TRANSFORMED

By MURIEL PENN

MAN-MADE shoes are invading the shoe trade. Traditionally the preserve of a natural material, leather, after years of research, a man-made fabric has been created which breathes as naturally as leather, and is therefore wholly acceptable for footwear.

This is not, strictly speaking, a plastic. But it is a material which does not sweat even when it is heated.

Already, the Queen's shoe maker, Mr. Edward Byrne, has introduced it in his summer collection.

Importing it from the United States, where it was first made, the shoe trade in this country is now spreading over Europe and is being used by leading manufacturers in these different forms.

At the same time, there is a new material that is made from a synthetic material.

Lower heels and narrower toes are the order of the day. More shoes are being made with lower heels and narrower toes.

KENYATTA'S COUNTRY, by Richard Cox

IN an advance piece of publicity for Richard Cox's Kenyan Country, it was claimed he showed no trace of bitterness. The bitterness his publisher thought he might have shown had to do with his expulsion in May 1963 from Kenya, in sympathy with the Mau Mau movement.

It is difficult to substantiate this claim from his tale of woe about Mau Mau, Kenya, and the Mau Mau movement.

One sentenced to hang for Pinto murder

THE WORLD LOOKS AT UGANDA'S ECONOMY

KEITH MUTUA was sentenced to death in the Supreme Court in Nairobi yesterday for the murder of Mr. Pio Gomez Pinto on February 23. The court also sentenced to a life term in prison the other two main suspects in the case, the Chief Justice, J. J. Oculi, and a young man, Chege Thuo alias Mutua, who had been jointly charged with Kijulu, rushed out of court after Sir John had found him "Not guilty".

Mr. Pinto, a Member of the Kenya Parliament and of the East African Central Legislative Assembly, was assassinated by gunshots on the morning of February 23 at the driveway of his house on Lower Kabete Road, Nairobi.

Delivering judgment, Sir John said he was satisfied that Mr. Pinto died in fact, at a few minutes after two bullets had hit him.

INTENT TO MURDER

Sir John said the prosecution case, which had been conducted by the Kenya Deputy Public Prosecutor, Mr. Clive Brooker, was that Mr. Pinto was shot at a close range with a pistol.

Four shots were fired, two of them hitting him. Mr. Pinto died a few minutes afterwards from gunshot wounds. Sir John said there was no doubt in his mind that the man who fired the shots went to Mr. Pinto's house with the intention of murdering him.

M.P. DID NOT INFLUENCE TANZANIA

Standard Staff Reporter.

THE activities of Sir John Fyfe, Conservative M.P., British Conservative M.P. and once a Deputy Governor of Tanganyika, have had no influence on the Tanzania Government's policy towards the M.P. as a result of an expatriate visit to Dar es Salaam and Zanzibar.

Sir John's visit to Dar es Salaam and Zanzibar was reported to have been a success, and that his efforts had secured that the Tanzania Ministry of Foreign Affairs was reversing an earlier policy of not recognizing Sir John as an M.P. because of his role in the East African Community.

The report is untrue, and Sir John said he was always conscious of the fact that his visit to Dar es Salaam and Zanzibar was purely in a private capacity.

This right is available to any citizen.

No distinction

The distinction made between capital and non-capital offences has been abolished in Kenya.

In case of a commercial offence, the penalty of death is available to a person who is guilty of the offence.

"However, in cases involving the death of a person, the penalty of death is not available to a person who is guilty of the offence by reason of the fact that the offence is a capital offence."

Better driving — 6 PLANNING MAKES SAFE SAFER

A SKILLFUL driver knows that it is not enough merely to see every detail in the general road scene and to formulate a suitable driving plan. All important is a driver's view of the road ahead.

G. R. Morrow, a registered driver in the Institution of Automobile Technicians, writes that it is essential to have a good view of the road ahead.

The design of many cars covers blind spots with a partially mirror and a partially critical angle of another vehicle as seen through the rear-view mirror. Competent drivers are aware of this and plan accordingly. A driver who complains of a narrow slipstream should be advised to reduce the speed and to use the rear-view mirror as a guide to the road ahead. Power, performance, space, elegance plus extra clearance—you'll find them all in this new Austin front-wheel-drive car!

New Car Design. The Austin 1800 offers you something entirely new in car design. It gives the present, the performance, the elegance, and speed that are everybody's idea of a quality in a new car. Plus: front-wheel drive! A big engine set sideways! Hydraulic Suspension. Only BMC can claim so far-reaching a change in car design, a revolution that converts your motorcar into a compact car.

Extra clearance plus Hydraulic Suspension. The extra clearance of over 7½" you get with a smooth, fluid hydraulic suspension is combined to give you a smooth, fluid ride over even the roughest roads. Add to this the strength of a structure of exceptional rigidity to give you exceptional directional stability, and you have a car that is ideal for the exacting road conditions you will find in East Africa.

So easy to drive. Front-wheel drive gives you the benefits of safe cornering and outstanding economy on stony road surfaces. Two-speed overdrive on the foot, drives at the rear ensure effortless stopping power.

Fresh air ventilation. Climatized ducts supply draught-free air. Windows can be kept closed and clean.

New lighting features. Headlamp glitters for daylight conditions. Stop lights (they dim at night); side markers for greater safety at night.

Becket' returns and tales of resistance continue

BECKET makes a return to the screen in an unusual way in the movie TRAIN TO BOMBAY. The story is set in the city of Bombay. Observe the picture and you will find that it is indeed mainly a story of the city.

JOHN GOLDFARB PLEASE COME HOME to share his life with the film. The theme here walks its way through a story that is an all American baseball play which is supposed to be filmed in the U.S. in the city of New York. It is a story of a man who is a big league pitcher who goes out to see his wife and three children in New York. This one has a real lead by Kirk Douglas, Jeanne Crain, Claire Trevor and William Campbell, and they seem to have some of the screen as well.

NEW PAIR MAKE DOUBLY WELCOME CHANGERS

SWANHI POP REVIEW BY JOHN ROBERTS

I think most pop music fans would be disappointed by a few names who were my special and special. Here as it is to meet them again, a change is always welcome.

It is therefore a pleasure to find in my current list of stars two by a pair of whom I have never heard — and a special pleasure to find that these newcomers are so good.

The names are John Roberts and Charles Roberts. They are in the 17-year-old category and their music is influenced by the music of the 1950s, but with a modern twist.

Their best track by far is 'Wamburu wa Leo'. The music is in the style of the 1950s, but with a modern twist. It is a simple one, but it is very good.

Another record by the same pair is 'Gordon Oduor'. It is a very good one, and it is very good. It is a simple one, but it is very good.

Wamburu, though it also contains good music, is a collection of songs which is not as good as 'Wamburu wa Leo'.

It does however contain a few tracks which are very good. 'Gordon Oduor' is a very good one, and it is very good.

Back to the established stars, and a new one from the East African Music Company. The names are John Roberts and Charles Roberts.

Game gives Samburu their chance

by T. W. OSBOND OKOYO

THE Government of Kenya has devised a variety of ways to speed up development in each of its 41 districts. The Samburu tribe, whose progress has lagged behind some of the more prosperous tribes, have now got their chance, due by prospect.

At the Wamburu Division of the Kenya Forest Department, a small building, the staff are busy with their work. The staff are busy with their work. The staff are busy with their work.

SHOP AT HOME AND CUT COST OF ERROR

By ANN MARSHALL

A DILEMMA confronts most women who enter a merchant's shop to buy something. How can they get an enormous amount of "something" only to discover it is unsuitable for their particular requirements?

This is a well-known affair. The woman who has been shopping for a long time, and who has bought many things, will find that she has bought a quantity of goods which she does not want. This is the dilemma which confronts the woman who shops at home. She can buy what she wants at home, and she can buy what she does not want at home. She can buy what she wants at home, and she can buy what she does not want at home.

No obligation

Whether you shop at home or in a store, you are under no obligation to buy anything. You can buy what you want, and you can buy what you do not want. You can buy what you want, and you can buy what you do not want.

What is the advantage of shopping at home?

Shopping at home has many advantages. You can buy what you want, and you can buy what you do not want. You can buy what you want, and you can buy what you do not want.
