PREMIER'S STATEMENT ON BOMBED SHIPPING

"No Protection Without Direct Intervention"

INSURGENT PROPOSAL

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S CONCERN OVER THE AIR ATTACKS ON BRITISH SHIPPING IN SPANISH GOVERNMENT PORTS WAS VOICED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON BY THE PRIME MINISTER, MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN.

Many suggestions for affording protection had been considered, said the Premier, but protection under existing circumstances could only be provided by action that would be direct intervention—such as the posting of anti-aircraft guns at the ports, or action by British warships standing by merchant vessels. The position was quite different from that on the high seas.

The suggestion for being specially considered "were the provision of safety vans in certain harbours such as the port of Gijón, or the posting of anti-aircraft guns at the ports, or action by British warships standing by merchant vessels. The position was quite different from that on the high seas.

London, June 16.—The House of Commons today considered the Premier's statement on the bombing of shipping in Spanish ports. The Prime Minister said that the Government was deeply concerned by the attacks on British shipping in Spanish ports. In the progress of democracy more because of what developed from the Charter than any other instrument in it.

A product of dissatisfaction

by the landed gentry of King

John's day with the prodigious power of the bar, which impinged upon their own comfort, the Charter was in fact little more than a contract regularising the friction between King and barons, which they gave him service in return for.

One of the clauses here applicable to any lord who held a fief

of land, except perhaps the one

declaring that no freeman

should be taken or imprisoned, seized or outlawed or excommunicated or put in judgment of his peers and the law of the land. Even the interpretation of this clause is open to some doubt as it has been pointed out that "freeman"

in this context probably meant

some one we would now call a freelancer. Actually the Charter

WAY TO PEACE"

SAYS SIR W. LEAD

Tanganyika View Expressed in London

At the annual dinner of the East Africa Dinner Club in London, Sir William Lead referred to the "earnest and continuous body of people" who believed that prospects were poor unless they were enhanced by surrounding countries in a country under British rule and under "new law" as yet, after the events of the last year or so, believe that such a result would happen?

He is not rather believe that it is only by strengthening these nations which are imbued with a real will to peace that peace can be secured? he asked, adding the hope that in the very near future there would be an authoritative statement on the Mandates that would bring security to the Nations and new heart and strength to those helping to develop the mandated territories.

He said that he was not a pessimist, but he was not an optimist either. He was a realist.

300 Mosquitoes Will Die In Air Liner

Three hundred mosquitoes, at present happily buzzing about their cages in the London School of Hygiene, will on Wednesday meet a quick and painless death in the interiors of more than one transatlantic liner.

On Wednesday they will be taken to Hythe (Hants) and placed aboard the Imperial Airways flying boat Cometa. Then the interior of the boat will be sprayed with a non-inflammable insecticide from specially installed apparatus.

After the insecticide has been given time to do its work, ten prominent health and medical experts will be taken for an hour's flight.

They will then be able to observe the effects of the test, and it is expected, so how the chemical can be used for dealing with pests which enter the air liner during tropical flights without inconvenience to passengers or damage to the fittings.

If the experiment is successful the apparatus will be installed in all Imperial Airways flying boats operating on tropical routes.

Among the experts who are expected to attend will be Professor W. W. Johnson and Sir Malcolm Watson, of the School of Hygiene; Dr. O'Brien, of the Colonial Office; Major-General Sir J. McGower, India Office, and representatives of the Ministry of Health and the Imperial College.

"Accomplish" Who Worked Under Police Instructions

The "officious kidnapping case" went a stage further today when, at Oxford, John Bruce Thornton was committed for trial. He was pleading not guilty to two charges which were:

Being in possession of two automatic pistols and ammunition on Tuesday, May 24, with intent to endanger life; and

Between April 1, 1933, and May 24, 1933, instigating Arthur Geoffrey Francis Parham to conspire with him to kidnap Lord Nuffield.

Mr. H. J. Parham proceeded for the Director of Public Prosecutions, Thornton was defended by Mr. A. J. Plant, a barrister, from Birmingham.

At a previous hearing, Lord Nuffield had been committed for trial in a case of a rather unusual nature involving a girl, who Lord Nuffield had said had been "A scheme of that sort could hardly be carried out without the assistance of a Major Ramson."

Thornton knew Ramson from 1927-1930, and their acquaintance was renewed in April of this year as a result of an article which Lord Nuffield had written in a newspaper.

"I was also told that the girl whom Lord Nuffield had written about had been kidnapped by Thornton and Ramson, who had been in contact with him in London."

Thornton's reply to the charges was that he had never met Ramson, and that he had never been in contact with him in London.

 Daniel Kamukama,
 4th June, 1929.

I submit that I have imported into the Uganda Protectorate and will part of cycles bearing a mark (shown your mark) in my possession or control. I do not wish to be taken as infringing the rights of the Raleigh Cycle Company in respect of such marks (Registered in the Uganda Protectorate as Trade Mark No. 11).

These cycle parts were sold only by the transaction of a well known firm, whose name I never gave to you, and I had no intention to infringe, and I did not know that the importation and sale of these goods constituted an infringement of your Company's trade mark.

I am very sorry that I have infringed your trade mark and I apologise to you therefore. I undertake to hand over to Mr. William S. Wright, L.R.B. Auctioneer, Kampala, your legal representatives, all cycle parts bearing the offending mark now in my possession or control. I do not wish to be taken as infringing the rights of the Raleigh Cycle Company in respect of such marks (Registered in the Uganda Protectorate as Trade Mark No. 11).

I further undertake never to sell any more of such cycle parts as further bearing the infringing mark. I agree to pay you the sum of £100 to cover any profits which I may have made on the sale of such cycle parts and any other damages to which you may be entitled, and also all costs incurred by you in the prosecution of this matter, including the costs of the "Uganda Herald" and the Official Gazette of Kenya and Uganda, and I consent to such publication.

A complete treatment of the economic policy of the Government during the period of economic distress every industry in the world took measures, by altering their methods of production, to protect their inhabitants—measures which are still in operation. The Colonial Empire has attempted nothing which might have the effect of tempering the blows of the depression. There have been serious problems connected with the colonial world in the purchasing of the West Coast of Africa; there have been troubles in Northern Rhodesia, East Africa, Tanganyika, and Nigeria; acute controversy in Zanzibar; a tremendous fall in the purchasing power of the cotton growers of Uganda and Tanganyika; distress on the sugar plantations of the West Indies; the position in the West Indies, however, is more likely to be acute because of the evolution of the sugar industry.

The House of Commons and the British public were profoundly shocked by reports of serious rioting in Trinidad. All parties in the House were agreed that there was justification for disaffection. The report was characterized by a large number of persistent and pertinent questions. The usual method of dealing with such questions is to refer them to a Commission, but in this case the Commission reported on the condition of affairs they had found in the Dependency. East African Mail

The Mail. SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1938. It is nearly a year since the first class postal matter is served of the type of those which are now being sent to certain to certain Empire.

We have said that it is possible to see the return of the first class postal matter in Nairobi four days later, yet this is a remarkable achievement and one which is of great benefit to the public.

It is interesting to note that the first class postal matter is now being sent to Nairobi four days later than it was sent to London.

Call For United Front In Great Britain

AS A DEMONSTRATION TO THE WORLD

London, June 12. Mr. Anthony Eden, addressing a meeting of the constituents of a reserved seat in Leamington on Saturday said he must stand for something good, and something which could rally to the banner of England all men of good will whatever their political views.

The signs of the times are only too plain to see. If we are to avoid catastrophe, then we can only do so by a gigantic united effort sufficient to shake the nations that still believe in power politics and that are engaged against will of the demonstrators.

The state of a nation could not properly be measured by armaments, more important was the moral fibre of the people maintaining them.

Not Decisive

Mr. Eden stated that England was divided. Certain foreign countries believed the centre had got outside had been made by the majority here. England was never less divided than today. He said that the British people had a right to demand that Germany had a right to demand that France should stand against the fact of the Bank had enabled her to become again a formidable power.

Great Britain wanted peace but she was not equipped with the means of the peace. It was not to be the expense of the British people. The only way to ensure the peace of the world was to ensure that the peace was not broken by the use of force.

THE CATTLE

It has become a habit to write that each exhibition of cattle-keepers at successive Farmers' Shows in the "best year" of the 1933 Show, this year can be said without the slightest doubt to have been the best in the country.

As between the various breeds, the Friesian, both pedigree and mixed, figures most in the top honours. It provided the greatest number of entries, and the quality of the specimens was generally of a high order. The Friesian was the only breed to be shown in the Grand Parade.

The Friesian section was particularly well represented. The following are some of the exhibits that were shown:

TRADE STANDS AT THE EXHIBITION

A Remarkable Range of Exhibits

The Trunk Section at the Nakuru Show was a most popular feature and drew many an enquirer. It was the opinion of many, better laid-out and designed. This enabled the various stands to be set in a compact area; each section having its own place. This visitors were able easily to find the stands they desired.

And further out which shows great weight on the back of the trunk. The trunk is made of the finest material and the Cuckoo-hat made with light rollers and a pusher. It is very necessary to have such a heavy roller as it is a great help in the trunk. The trunk is made of the finest material and the Cuckoo-hat made with light rollers and a pusher. ### HORTICULTURAL SECTION

The visitors were first, disappointed to find that the Horticultural section was not as large as they had expected. The quality was, however, high, and the exhibits were well displayed. The Horticultural section was not as large as they had expected. The quality was, however, high, and the exhibits were well displayed.

THE FIG SECTION

The exhibit in the fig section was very interesting. It was a collection of figs of various varieties, some of which were very rare. The figs were displayed in a most attractive manner, and the visitors were much interested in them.

THE FARM PRODUCE SECTION

The exhibit in the farm produce section was very interesting. It was a collection of various farm products, including wheat, corn, and other crops. The products were displayed in a most attractive manner, and the visitors were much interested in them.

Black-out Makes Town Invisible From Air

To Approaching Planes

FOR AN HOUR ON THURSDAY NIGHT THE MOON, SHINING OUT FROM TIME TO TIME BETWEEN THE CLOUDS, PROVIDED NAIROBI WITH ITS ONLY ILLUMINATION. FROM THE GROUND THE CAPITAL APPEARED A TOWN OF THE DEAD, A FEW DIM-LIGHT GAS CREeping BLOWING THROUGH THE DARKENED STREETS, HEIGHTENING, RATHER THAN LESSENING THE ILLUSION; FROM THE AIR NAIROBI WAS INVISIBLE.

It was East Africa's first experience of an anti-air "black-out," and it was attended with complete success. Two Royal Air Force "blimps" in one of which was His Excellency the Governor, circling above the town, reported that from several thousand feet, and from a few miles distance, the town was completely invisible.

Damage done to the town by the "black-out" was between six and eight per cent. The "blimps" were seen from the air and from the ground. The "blimps" were seen from the air and from the ground. ## Doctors Report Enquiry Results

OPTIMISM OF FINANCE MINISTER

Investigations of the psychological treatment of criminals have come to this conclusion:

The more human behaviour is studied the more difficult it becomes to determine normality, and the more probable does it seem that there is no such a "normal" standard.

Psychological treatment is unnecessary and undesirable for the majority of criminal offenders.

The talk of the investigators, results of whose work will be revealed to the Prison Commissioners before long has been to select those who might benefit from mental treatment and to discover how many patients have in fact benefited.

The work has been purely experimental, and as a result, the selection of prisoners who might benefit from treatment has been left to the discretion of the Prison Commissioners.

Results of treatment

Mr. Danzig pointed out conditions of the mental centres, and he hoped that the depression in the minds of these men would be relieved, and that the policy of maximum security in British and Empire prisons would be replaced by the policy of minimum security.
