Fear of Political Influence

CHAIRMAN'S VAIN PLEA FOR A MORE COMPREHENSIVE POINT OF VIEW

eloquent plea for the Uganda Chumber to rejoin the Association of Chambers of Commerce of Eastern Africa class and the Lat meeting of that body. He ground Chamber at a case of united action on East African economic questions and spoke of its desirability from the wider aspect of Imperial affairs at a time when other nations were looking towards Africa for territory.

an members opposed the proposal on the ground of "bitter experience" in the past, the fear of political influence in a body which should be strictly non-political and the dislike of racial bias.

President of the Associated Chambers addressed the meeting following the decision not to rejoin and denied that the Association was in any sense manufactured politics or that it had a racial bias. It was become of its complete impartality that the Association had reached a position of considerable importance and influence.

It appears likely that Congress will enact a neutrality bill without any restrictive provisions in respect of the trade in war materials.

"Provisional Agreement"

MISHAPS WHICH PREVENTED HIM FROM CORRECTING FALSE REPORTS

splanation of the circumstances which led to his dis-cassions with M. Laval in Paris in December, and of the nature of the Hoare-Laval peace proposal stated there, is given by Sir Samoel Hoare in a "personal statement" issued to members of the Con-arrative Association in his Chelsea constituency.

"statement" also relates how a series of mishaps pre-vented him from correcting the sensational and manage-rate accounts of the so-called agreement originated by octain French newspapers, and of pacing the actual facts before his Calmet colleagues. If he had been also to do so, he adds, there would have been no crisis at all.

UNIFICATION WHICH WOULD SAVE MONEY AND BE GENERALLY BENEFICIAL

It is the Association's firm opinion that in the interests of the whole population, regardless of race, as well as in the interests of the Imperial Government, steps should be taken at once to implement the Union of these territories.

foregoing occurs in a memorandum prepared by the Association of Chambers of Commerce of Eastern Africa as a reply to the Secretary of State of comments on a previous resolution by the Association which urged that the time had arrived when the community of econo-nic and social interests of the East African territories demanded a completely unified system of administra-demanded a completely unified system of administra-memorandum suggests that the Secretary of State had missinterpreted the Association's demand in believing that a Federal Consultration costing more than the existing systems was intended, whereas what is pro-posed is a unisted Gevernment under one Geverner which would avoid the unnecessary triplication of many pasts and services and therefore be the means of effect-ing a considerable saving.

It is emphasised that the proposal for Union has been based in part upon the unpert necessity "to lighten materially the burden of taxation upon the communities brought about by an unnecessary and unproductive elaboration and multiplication of the existing machinery of three separate dovernments.

Memorandum is careful to stress that the Association has approached the subject entirely from the commer-cial point of view having in mind the material benefits to the territories which would, it is believed, result from Union.

Political issues threaten to prolong the Naval Conference now that the technical problems are on the verge of solution.

In addition to the French attitude in regard to battle-ship tonnages, it is reported from Rome that Admiral Raineri-Bisica, who has gone to Rome to coasult Signor Mussolini, will return to London on Friday with instructions to decline to sign the Navall Treaty until the concentration of the British Fleet in the Mediterranean is withdrawn.

British Naval Conference circles do not believe that Italy will introduce political questions, but others fear that Italy will not lose the opportunity to attempt to obtain a settlement of this thorny aspect of the Abyssiman dispute.

JAFFER and HUSSEIN,

IMPORTANT

E would remind you that oiling and greasing can only be done by experts, people who understand the work and have had long experience in it.

We make a specialised study of this most important item of service, continually keeping our expensive equipment up to date, using the latest oils and greases produced and applying them in accordance with the tenets of the most modern schools of thought.

You cannot afford to have your car greased unscientifically in these advanced days when cars are called upon continually to perform with an hitherto undreamed of reliability.

We urge you therefore to let us attend to your car, throwing all the weight of our experience into the scales in your favour and turning it out in a way that you would scarcely have believed possible, so free will it prove from troublesome noises and wear and tear.

Reduction in Cost of Living in Nairobi

COMMODITY RETAIL PRICES SHOW DECLINE

Comparisons with Other Countries

INTERESTING TABLES COMPILED BY KENYA STATISTICAL DEPARTMENT

present average retail cash price of commodities in Nairobi shows a general decline, amounting in some cases to over 40 per cent., as compared with the prevailing in 1927, the peak year of prosperity. Tables have been compiled, by the Statistical Department, from prices supplied in respect of some 130 articles by representative Nairobi traders, and these show that there has been a continuous decline in prices.

Though the obtaining of complete cost of living tables, which would include rent, interest, rates and taxes, etc., has not been possible because of gaps in the records, the Department state that a fair indication of reduction is given in the lower costs for hotel and boarding house accommodation, and the average decrease in the wages of domestic servants.
