Locarno & Versailles Treaties Broken

CONCLUSIONS REACHED BY THE LONDON CONFERENCE

League Council Meets To-day

GERMANY THREATENS "ISOLATION" IF NOT TREATED SYMPATHETICALLY

While Germany threatens to "withdraw into isolation" if her "Peace Plan" which Herr Hitler, in a speech at Karlsruhe, described as the greatest offer that could have been made by any German, is not "sympathetically considered" the Conference of the Locarno Powers has unanimously agreed that the recent Rhineland action violated both the Treaties of Versailles and of Locarno.

Herr Hitler has refused Mr. Eden's suggestions for with drawal of all but a "symbolical" force from the Rhineland during discussions, and this deadlock invests with particular importance the mediation of the League Council which has been called for to-day, and which is expected to submit recommendations for appropriate action.

The firmness of the British Government has created an excellent impression in Paris, and the French are said to be "breathing more easily."

MR. EDEN'S PLEDGE AT LEAGUE COUNCIL MEETING

M. Flandin's Speech

FRANCE INVOKES AID OF GUARANTORS OF LOCARNO CONDITIONS

At Saturday's meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, in London, Mr. Anthony Eden pledged the support of the British Government to the other Locarno Powers and the Council "in all endeavours to establish peace and understanding."

M. Flandin, who spoke next, invoked the application of the law that when the Locarno Pact was broken it was the task of the guarantors to furnish the assistance stipulated to France and Belgium. The League, he said, would have to consider how to reinforce the guarantors' assistance.

A plan for the rebuilding of the structure of international law was made by the Belgian Premier, M. Van Zeeland.

ITALIAN VIEW

It is reported that the Italian viewpoint is that the gravity of the situation in Europe is caused by the policy of sanctions against Italy.

Meanwhile, in the Rhineland zone, both French and German forces are reported to be growing, while in Munich, Herr Hitler made an eloquent speech in which he propounded the slogan "German Freedom, German Equality."

Rhineland Forces Growing

(Reuter and British Official Wireless Service.)

London, March 15. It is revealed that Signor Grandi, at the League meeting of the League of Nations, stated that the policy of sanctions against Italy to which he attributed the gravity of the situation in Europe, is the gravest question was solved in accordance with the dictates of public opinion. He expressed an attitude of watchful reserve.

It is pointed out that for the first time Signor Grandi has been in a position to make a speech in the Rhineland, and it is now clear that he will not support sanctions against Germany.

It is authoritatively denied that Italy is negotiating with France for the withdrawal of sanctions.

London, March 15. The League Committee of Thirteen will probably meet in London next week at the request of the Italian delegation.

Locarno Committee. Heads of the League delegation held a 40-minute meeting at the Foreign Office last evening. The meeting adjourned until 5 p.m. The Conference of the League of Nations actually opened at 4 p.m.

When any decision are taken in Paris and that M. Flandin will go to Paris to consult the Cabinet. The discussion was also very much complicated. France said she was not seeking to replace the guarantee furnished by the disarmed nations but to bring about the object of the Conference, which was an end to the Locarno Pact. The statement was a clear appreciation of the situation.

Mr. Flandin, who followed, declared that the German proposal to establish peace and understanding among the nations of Europe was a most welcome object of the League of Nations. The future depends on the wisdom of our decisions.

They had likewise ignored the method of discussion with the signatories of Locarno. Germany preferred to describe what the Locarno Pact, which Hitler had renounced many times as having been freely negotiated. Not without reason the fact had proved itself for France and the demilitarized zone in the same footing.

FIERCE TACKLING BY DEFENSE

["Standard," Correspondent and Reporter.]

By beating Ireland to-day Wales won the international Rugby Championship. It was only a closely fought which won them the day, but it was quite sufficient.

Amazing scenes were witnessed at the ground. An hour and a half before the game was due to start the gates were so completely packed that thousands had to be turned away. The spectators encroached on the pitch itself. The "lock" was overpowered, and the first try was scored. The first try was scored in the 10th minute. The first try was scored in the 10th minute.

INCLEMENT WEATHER SPOLDS ATTENDANCE

Liamuro Gymkhana Club staged a very pleasant and enjoyable race meeting on Saturday afternoon at Mrs. Hill's paddock. It was unfortunate that the weather was not so favourable. It rained from the start of the afternoon, although quite a fair crowd was present. Rain fell about half past five, but it was a small shower towards the middle of the afternoon.

The racing was very good, and the going being hard-fair did not seem to affect the results. The programme and was left towards the middle of the afternoon. The programme and was left towards the middle of the afternoon.

JUMBO EXPOSES A FALLACY

Zoo Elephant Shows His Teeth

FOUND IN GAZE

London, March 16. Jumbo II, the Zoo's young African elephant, has proved the fallacy of a popular belief that elephants never show their teeth.

Two ridged ivory plates protruding at least an inch in width and between two and three inches in length were picked up in his cage. These plates are the milk teeth from Jumbo's lower jaw.

An elephant has twenty-four cheek teeth, that is, a set of six at each side in both jaws, but usually only one of the six teeth is visible. The remaining five are still covered by the animal's gums. But as soon as the exposed tooth becomes too worn to use it is thrown away.

It goes on until all six teeth have been used and then the elephant, like any other mammal is liable to become toothless.

The general belief that an elephant's teeth that they are not used, but are worn completely away. Until now no elephant has been "bitting" enough to have shedded teeth on the floor of the cage.

Jumbo II is about four years of age and is being reared most satisfactorily. When he arrived at the Zoo he was a small calf that was in danger of starving, but fortunately a female African elephant adopted him, and has taken the greatest care of him.

Germany Accepts League Invitation

ON CONDITIONS THAT MAKE MATTERS WORSE

Must Discuss Peace Plan Too

"RATHER LEAVE LEAGUE" SAYS FRENCH PRIME MINISTER

Hitler has accepted the League's invitation to attend the Council meeting, but his acceptance is on conditions which almost amount to a refusal. The first condition, which might be agreed, is that any discussions shall take place on a basis of equality. The second is that the Locarno Treaty shall be discussed at the same time as Herr Hitler's peace proposals.

M. Flandrin has stated that he came to London to have the violation of Locarno recorded, and would rather leave the Council than discuss anything else.

British quarters consider that the reply has put matters back to where they were before the invitation was issued.

Self Government Motion

Mr. High Collet proposed:— "That in view of the treatment meted out to General Lewin as Commander of the Defence Force, the Executive Council of the Kenya Defence Force should be empowered to meet and discuss the position of the Kenya Defence Force, and to advise the Government on the subject."

Major J. C. Gray proposed an amendment to the effect that the self-government was wanted, but he would not be achieved. It was obviously better to seek a measure of constitutional advance on the lines laid down recently by Lord Francis Scott, Captain Featherstonhaugh, and the other members of the Executive Council, who had been expelled from the Kenya Defence Force, and who had been expelled from the Kenya Defence Force, and who had been expelled from the Kenya Defence Force.

LORD DELAMERE and the making of Kenya

WHITE MAN'S COUNTRY

By ELSPETH HUXLEY... 'The Times'... 'The Standard'...

The Editor does not accept responsibility for the views expressed by his correspondents...

Executive Council

THE UNDERLINGS PRINCIPLE

To the Editor, 'E.A. Standard.' Sir—It is to be hoped that the inevitable newspaper controversy which is sure to follow this Executive Council resignation will be confined to the merits of the case...

This is a plea to the people of Kenya to remember that this question is of a very grave importance to all and to realize that the gentlemen who have resigned have given the public their clear and definite reasons for this action.

In reading the letter that appeared on this subject in the 'East African Standard' of 14th inst. signed by Major Leonard, I feel that it is a pity that the gentleman in charge of his department...

To the Editor, 'E.A. Standard.' Sir—Following on the resignation of the two unofficial members of Executive Council I suggest that all the Elected Members of Legislative Council should follow suit...

Important Discoveries affecting the health of children

The Results of Experiments (See "The Medical Officer," 20.2.32)

A previously unrecorded series of investigations was carried out in London Working Classes to determine the influence on the growth of children of various food supplements when added to the ordinary home diet. The following diagram shows the results obtained—

Vitrol was the only one of these supplements that produced what is generally accepted as the ideal rate of growth for these children. The full report of these investigations will be sent on application.

WHEN WE GO CALLING

Mrs. A. de V. Wade A VERY POPULAR LADY

"Dressed for home wear in the picture, I made a black outfit. Every evening, with white shoes and a pointed cap, she is at the office."

I have heard Mr. Morris, Director of Education, say in public that Mr. and Mrs. Wade were "the most popular people in Kenya, whose names were on everyone's lips." He meant it, too; he was not merely being over-polite.

Other people have said as much, and I have heard so many women speak in affectionate terms of Mrs. Wade, that I thought I would go along and see her.

She received me with the quiet dignity and charming simplicity which one has learnt to expect of her. It was a hot day, and her deep shaded verandah was delightfully cool with a suggestion that the sea might be found to have cooled it a little more than hard enough. The British may have been due in an enormous Laneskip on a verandah.

The Menus
Mrs. Wade came out in January 1928. Her husband was distressed at Kani, and they tried to make up with a visit to the coast. The latter was a wonderful contraption which made it possible to sail in the motor car. It has certain advantages over a motor car in that it will penetrate narrow paths where a car cannot possibly get. At that time they used to camp out for about a fortnight every month. In the early days travelling was very unpleasant by means of the old fashioned porters' method; then at the Colony's road system, developed, motor cars were substituted for porters, and finally came the introduction of the motor car.

From Kani they went to Kisumu, then to Nyeri, and thence to Lamu. At Lamu they collected many antiquities which now adorn her home. Mrs. Wade said she loved being at Lamu, but then she had said she loved being at Kani and at Nyeri and at Kisumu. So I suspect that she is one of those happy people who make heaven around them for themselves, without waiting for outside miracles to do it for them.

Nairobi Interests

She came with her husband, to Nairobi in 1928, and she immediately interested herself in the general life of the community. She loves her Nairobi interests. The League of Mercy, of which she has been on the Committee for ten years, has been Joint Hon. Secretary and President, and a very Hon. Treasurer for the third time, in perhaps the first on the list.

Closely following is the Punjabi Native Maternity Home which she has been actively associated for many years. "This was started by Lady Irving in 1927 and is part of her welfare scheme," said Mrs. Wade, "and it specializes in training native girls in maternity work. Girls are sent to the home for training by the Local Native Council and when trained they are sent back to hospitals in our own Reserve. The work is growing quickly; the home had to be extended last year and is being extended still more this year."

During the absence of Lady Byrne Mrs. Wade acts as President of the Nairobi Local Association. Indeed, there seems little work for the community in which Mrs. Wade does not take part. She is Vice-President of the Lady Northey Home for the second year, was on the Committee of the Hastings Athletic Society, and she also takes a very keen interest in the Cathedral of the Highlands, where she is on the Central Committee and is Chairman of the Cathedral Service Guild.

The Jubilee Medal

Perhaps the apex of Mrs. Wade's public work was when she was the Acting Governor when she was bottom at Government House during Jubilee Week last year. At that time she was awarded the Jubilee Medal.

During that period Mrs. Wade opened the Law Courts, the Municipal Offices, the King's Old Hall, and the trophies presented to them both in commemoration of these events were shown to me with pride by my husband. Among them was a very handsome pair of scales, made of Malabar, Coastal ebony, and silver, and a heavy five pound silver-which acts as a clear lighter.

Over the Hills
I asked her what her hobbies were and she told me she was very fond of tennis and trout fishing, she also plays golf (she says badly!), and is devoted to her garden, and the many birds which frequent it. She often feeds the birds with nuts—just they seem to thrive on over-feeding. When I saw her she was greatly excited by a pair of hoopoes which had been with her a fortnight.

At this point she switched the conversation from herself and her hobbies and showed me her husband's water colour, some of which brought a touch of lovely blues to this Kenya home. When they retire, she said, Mr. Wade will really get down to his painting, for which he has not much time now.

Her Other Hobby

That just shows what Mrs. Wade is like. One asks her about herself and she talks about her husband. Of course she may be right and he, in after all, her chief hobby.

"Anonima." In the morning women are wearing mouselines. With a suit in deep grey and crop the organic lines is mixed with floral granite and just enough to think up.

CATERING UP IN THE AIR

Luxury of Modern Air Liner

One of the striking aspects of air travel development from 1919 to 1930, has been the progress in the provision of luxury, as well as of speed and reliability, for passengers who make their journeys by air.

When the first air service was opened, just over sixteen years ago, travellers had to sit cramped and oily cabins and, if they felt they needed any refreshments while in flight, they had to furnish themselves with flasks and sandwiches before leaving the ground.

And Now
Today passengers flying regularly by the mid-day luxury service from London to Paris call for a cocktail or a glass of sherry as soon as they have settled themselves in their comfortable seats in the air-liner saloon. Then, while the steward is waiting the white-clothed stewardess serves hot or cold sandwiches, and by the time coffee has been enjoyed the Paris airport of Le Bourget comes into sight below. Which day that there is to remark the other day: "Paris, by air, is now just within any looking distance of London. Imperial Airways Catering Service, who is stationed in the London Airport, Croydon, is a woman who has had wide experience in modern high-class catering; while the chief cook at Croydon, is another woman expertly qualified for her task. Every dish served in the air-liner is specially cooked or prepared in the Croydon kitchen. No dried food of any kind is used. All dishes are prepared in the kitchen; they are placed in containers and transferred to the buffers of the air-liners, being served from their containers, which have been designed specially for their particular purpose.

Mrs. A. de V. Wade

DRESS PIRACY

Leading Designers' Views on Legal Ruling

A decision of outstanding importance to dress designers was handed in the Courts in London early in February. Mr. Justice Clouston in the manner Division distinguished with care the opinion of Mrs. Margaret Lillian Hurley, of King's Place, Road, W., to restrain them from alleged infringement of copyright of a dress designed by Mrs. Hurley. Mr. Justice Clouston's ruling applied only to the particular dress concerned. He held the dress could not be copyrighted as it was a reproduction from a sketch.

Leading London dress designers expressed the greatest concern at this legal ruling, for as one of them expressed it, it leaves the way open for all dress pirates. "The case was in the nature of a 'test case,'" and it had been hoped that a definite ruling would be given. The views followed:

Norman Hartnell
Mr. Norman Hartnell, the English dress designer, "For the first time in the history of dressmaking in this country it is the leading British designers have just put up a special collection solely for American and Continental buyers in an endeavour to extend the influence of British designs. They can be assured that British designers will be keen to deal with British firms. It is full confidence of getting valuable models when they know that they are open to the activities of organized bands of 'style' pirates." The situation had become acute. It is no uncommon thing for pirates to make the rounds of the theatres copying designs specially designed for stage and window, a few days after the first night, can be seen in the windows of cheaper shops. It is possible to register designs in London, but it is a process which takes as long as three or four months, by which time the design would be almost out of date."

Mr. Edward H. Wynne, general manager of Moore, Hoville, and Co., dress designers, "The Franco-style piracy is officially recognized as coming direct from London since the free in the world of fashion design the growth of piracy has increased rapidly. It is high time that something was done to meet an important and constantly growing industry."

Molyneux
Captain Molyneux, designer of the Duchess of Kent's wedding gown in 1926, "The amount of trouble involved in combating style piracy is not justified by results. It is much too difficult in this country to go any definite sort of ruling."

Victor Stiebel
Mr. Victor Stiebel, a leading London designer, "The amount of trouble involved in combating style piracy is not justified by results. It is much too difficult in this country to go any definite sort of ruling."

Judgment Given

Giving judgment, Mr. Justice Clouston ordered that the dress in question in the case of a red and white dinner gown—should be displayed in court by a manufacturer. "Whether I should have been able to have approved this evidence so easily if instead of the dress being put upon a young lady of appropriate shape and colour, it had been held up by the seller, I do not know." He suggested that it was almost impossible under modern conditions, to produce a dress of such a high standard of originality that it could be protected under the Designs Act, and that some innovation, perhaps suggested that one could be brought under the Copyright Act.

The second part of Mr. Ed. Barry's report on Grassland Improvement in Kenya... deals with the "vast areas of grass Savannah" which are available in generally low rainfall and drought are produced... This type of grass is not only largely occupied by native and semi-native tribes; and there are a number of European farms, especially in the Nanyuki and Mandera districts, which contain... conditions of grass and grazing. Drilling Fertilisers With the Seed

(From extracts from a report of a mission delivered by Dr. George Dunlop of the Department of Agricultural Instruction, as published in "The Scientist")
Since the first world war work has been carried out on the nutrition of farm animals, with particular reference to the nitrogen content at the beginning of the century. The most important discovery of a number of years ago was that the nitrogen content of the soil is of great importance in the nutrition of the animal. This discovery has been confirmed by the work of the Ministry of Agriculture.
In the March 1935 issue of the Journal of the Department of Agriculture, Kenya and Nyasa, the following article was published: "The practice of drilling fertilisers with the seed is one of the most important methods of soil enrichment. It has been found that this method is particularly suitable for the application of nitrogenous fertilisers. The results of the various experiments carried out in the various countries of the world are as follows: (1) The purpose of drilling in (b) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (2) The purpose of drilling in (c) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (3) The purpose of drilling in (d) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (4) The purpose of drilling in (e) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (5) The purpose of drilling in (f) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (6) The purpose of drilling in (g) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (7) The purpose of drilling in (h) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. (8) The purpose of drilling in (i) is to place the fertilizer in the soil near the root of the seed. Recent Advances in Animal Nutrition

RECOMMEND FOR WHEAT AND BULLS

Dr. J. A. Scott Watson, M.A., M.Sc., Director of the Department of Agricultural Instruction, in the Journal of the Ministry of Agriculture, Kenya and Nyasa, has published a paper on "The Nutrition of the Bull". The paper discusses the requirements of the bull for various nutrients, including protein, energy, and minerals. It also discusses the importance of the bull's health and the role of the farmer in providing a balanced diet. The paper is a valuable contribution to the knowledge of bull nutrition and is highly recommended for all those interested in the subject.

THE COUNCIL OF LEAGUE NEGOTIATIONS IN LONDON

Locarno and Versailles Treaties Broken

MR. EDEN'S PEACE PLEDGE

Germany's Uncompromising Attitude

FRANCE INVOKES AID OF GUARANTORS OF LOCARNO CONDITIONS

While Germany threatens to "withdraw into isolation" if her "Peace Plan, which Herr Hitler, in a speech at Karlsruhe, described as the greatest offer that could have been made by any German, is not "sympathetically considered," the Conference of the Locarno Powers has unanimously agreed that the recent Rhineland action violated both the Treaty of Versailles and of Locarno.

Herr Hitler has refused Mr. Eden's suggestions for withdrawal of all but a "symbolical" force from the Rhineland during discussions, and this deadlock invests with particular importance the meeting of the League Council which has been called for to-day, and which is expected to submit recommendations for appropriate action.

The firmness of the British Government has created an excellent impression in Paris, and the French are said to be "breathing more easily."

Saturday's meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, in London, Mr. Anthony Eden pledged the support of the British Government to the other Locarno Powers and the Council "in all endeavours to establish peace and understanding."

Mr. Flandin, who spoke next, invoked the application of the law that when the Locarno Pact was broken it was the fault of the guarantors to to-day, and which is stipulated to France and Belgium. The League, he said, would have to consider how to reinforce the guarantors' assistance.

A plea for the rebuilding of the structure of international law was made by the Belgian Premier, M. Van Zeeland.

ITALIAN VIEW

It is reported that the Italian viewpoint is that the gravity of the situation in Europe is caused by the policy of sanctions against Italy.

Meanwhile, in the Rhineland zone, both French and German forces are reported to be growing, while in Munich Herr Hitler made an election speech in which he pronounced the slogan "German Freedom, German Equality."

Herr Hitler has accepted the League's invitation to attend the Council meeting, but his acceptance is on condition which almost amount to a refusal. His first condition, which might be agreed, is that any discussions shall take place on a basis of equality. The second is that the Locarno Pact should be discussed at the same time as Herr Hitler's peace proposals.

Mr. Flandin has stated that he came to London to have the violation of Locarno recorded, and would rather leave the Council than discuss anything else.

British quarters consider that the reply has put matters back to where they were before the invitation was issued.

Berlin, March 12. Germany threatens to withdraw from the League of Nations if her peace proposals are not accepted. The League Council is expected to meet on Saturday, March 13, to discuss the situation in Europe.

Powers begin at 5 p.m. at the Foreign Office, with Mr. Anthony Eden presiding. The delegates are Mr. Eden and Lord M. Balfour (France), Mr. Flandin and Count Loucheur (Belgium), Mr. Van Zeeland and Count Loucheur (Belgium), and Mr. Flandin and Count Loucheur (Belgium).

A communique issued at the conclusion of today's conference states that the Powers unanimously recognized that the re-occupation of the demilitarized zone violated the Treaty of Versailles and Locarno. It is for the League Council to decide on the point, but in the mean time the heads of the five delegations will meet again tomorrow to discuss a detailed study of the situation.

The Conference of the Locarno Powers adjourned at 7.45 p.m. without having reached any settlement. Negotiations will continue tomorrow.

Belgium "Symbolism" In reply to Mr. Eden's representations Herr Van Zeeland, Belgian Premier, declared that Germany was not to be held responsible for her aggression after the Rhineland had. He repeated that the League Council should be a symbolical nation, and would not be established until the Franco-Belgian frontier pending negotiations.

Britain had suggested to offer the withdrawal of all but a symbolic number of troops from the demilitarized zone, and an agreement to be signed at least during the period necessary for the negotiation of a permanent agreement for the regularization of the international situation.

League Action London, March 13. The deadlock revealed by Herr Hitler's reply to Mr. Eden's invitation to the League Council is expected to be a serious one. The Council will be called not merely to consider the question of the violation of the Locarno Pact, but to discuss the measures which are appropriate to the circumstances.

A special committee, say the Danish, Portugal, Spain, Turkey and the United States, are expected to be appointed to assist the Council. The committee would have its headquarters in London, and its members would be appointed by the Council.
