The African Ex-Soldier

One day in 1944, when troops of the 11th East African Division were their way to the top of a steep, razor-edged, forest-haunted hill in Burma, they found within a few yards of their present bivouac position, a young African graduate. He was dead, shot at close range by a German machine gunner. In peace time the lad would have been a promising officer in the remote Siamburu country. When his battalion crossed the Isthmus of Suez, the young African graduate was a sergeant-major, and machine-gunner, and by his side, as a sergeant-major, a son of the African bush, went off by himself to find the enemy. He told nobody his intention. He just persisted, working his way up the slope, taking advantage of every bit of cover with the aid of a live coil of Nature, to deal with the enemy himself. He had worked out in his mind, simply, without ideas about courage or gallantry and facing what was a certain and almost certain death, emerged from cover high on the mountain and charged the enemy alone. He had no arms. Not infrequently British people, especially those who are so close to the front line, are told that the only way to get to the top is to go up like a mountain. They never see the mountain, they only see the top. The only way to get to the top is to go up like a mountain. They never see the mountain, they only see the top.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS

OVER 30,000 natives of East Africa are still waiting for their share of the £22,897 White Settlement. The money is here but it is being held back by the Government. We are appealing for funds to help pay these people.

Resistance Campaign To Be Organised

After a debate lasting for just over an hour, the annual meeting of the Executive Committee of the African Union for East Africa was held at the Standard Hotel, Nairobi, on Tuesday evening.

A NOBLE CAUSE

Major General Hawkins has just received a letter from H.E. the Governor, Sir Philip Mitchell, in connection with the £22,897 White Settlement. The money is here but it is being held back by the Government.

Rescue Party

The British Government has been asked to release the £22,897 White Settlement money. This is a noble cause and we are asking for help to get it to the people who need it.

“We Must Fight For Self-Government” Says Elected Members’ Leader

ELECTORS’ UNION CONFERENCE OPENS IN NAIROBI

WE have met the slightest intention of allowing white settlement in the country to be liquidated today, tomorrow or any other time” declared Sir Alfred Vincent, Leader of the Elected Members, opening the third annual conference of the Elected Members’ Union in Nairobi yesterday.

Backing The Elected Members

The National Executive Committee which began in Nairobi yesterday its annual conference, has issued a statement which is a plea for the Elected Members’ Union to back the Elected Members’ Union in its fight for self-government.

And Lux is so simple to use—it dissolves easily and quickly, forming a rich copious lather that needs only squeezing through the fine fabric.

BRITAIN'S UNEXPLODED BOMBS

These are still 200 unexploded bombs in Britain which were dropped during the war, 23 of them in London.

The War Office has notified all Army disposal units to remove their bombs. Laying operations have already started in St. James's Park...

The exact location of unexploded bombs cannot be given. A War Office official remarked: "We are not going to alarm people who have been sitting on a bomb for about four years."

A leading authority on bomb disposal work told me that he did not anticipate much trouble in removing the majority of the bombs. He said that we are much better equipped now than we were in the early days.

The most difficult bombs to deal with are the smaller size ranging from 200 to 1000 lb. These are generally set with clockwork fuses and in most cases will have exploded their own fuses long ago.

The biggest problem of the bomb disposal department is not the bombs dropped by German planes but the land mines sown by themselves along the frontiers.

Thousands to be attended to. Finding land mines is much more difficult and dangerous than handling unexploded bombs. Another problem is the shortage of skilled men.

"Educative Influence On All"

(By WICKHAM STEED)

THE first week of the life of the United Nations Organisation has been a dramatic one. No better proof could be given of its vitality than the fact that it has already held its first assembly in which the United States, Great Britain, France, China, and the Soviet Union were represented.

Two resolutions appear to be of special importance. The first is the one regarding the maintenance of the General Assembly as a body of delegates representing all the nations of the world.

The second is the one regarding the maintenance of the Security Council as a body of five permanent members and four non-permanent members.

The Security Council is a body of five permanent members and four non-permanent members. The permanent members are the United States, Great Britain, France, China, and the Soviet Union.

"AND AT WAR" Britain's Record Of Her Farmers' Vital Work

DESPITE World War II, Britain is dependent on overseas supplies for 60 per cent of her food.

What of the future? Agriculture in Britain has had to evolve rapidly to meet the conditions which exist in the World War I situation.

It was not until the end of the war that the need for the land had to be made urgent for the country.

But perhaps the most dramatic aspect of British agriculture was the reclamation of waste lands.

The restriction of grassland through ploughing and the lack of improved breeding stock were severe handicaps to the dairy farmer.

The tractor was always the great drawback. The continuous demand for fuel was severe.

COOPERS' DIP is indubitably pre-eminent in every sheep country in the world.

Since the introduction of Coopers Sheep Dipping Powder in 1844, it has become universally known and has long been recognized by flock owners as the perfect long sheep dip.

Other sheep dips have been offered to farmers from time to time but after trial there is none to equal Coopers.

Make sure of success in your sheep dipping by using the world's favourite Dip—COOPERS DIPPING POWDER.

The annual sales throughout the world today are sufficient to dip over 400,000,000 sheep, which is conclusive proof of its supreme merit.

BOOK REVIEWS:

D-Day in 1808; An Editor On South Africa; Essays Written In Kenya

BOOKS have had an immense popularity during the war—alike among the general public and among the literary and intellectual circles. The war has brought to the fore a wide variety of popular and scientific books, and the public has been reading more than ever before. It is not surprising, therefore, that the war has also brought to the fore a wide variety of books, and the public has been reading more than ever before. It is not surprising, therefore, that the war has also brought to the fore a wide variety of books, and the public has been reading more than ever before.

ABOUT SOUTH AFRICA

Editors have been long to write books. But not till they were asked to do so by the Cape Times, and even then, only a few. The Cape Times, however, has been a number of years ago, and it is now a well-known fact that the Cape Times has been a number of years ago, and it is now a well-known fact that the Cape Times has been a number of years ago.

HERRINGS CAUGHT BY "ASDIC"

Scientists of the British Ministry of Aircraft Production have discovered that herring shoals can be detected by the use of "ASDIC" (Airborne Surface Detection Indicator) equipment. This discovery is significant because it allows the Navy to detect and track herring shoals from the air, which is a major source of food for the population of many coastal areas.

DRESS REHEARSAL

"Herrings, whatever are you up to?" "I see your garden, Mr. Gerald. I don't know, you are lame." "Strictly speaking, I'm not. Just locked in for an hour or so on my way North. But what's the game?" "You do indeed, Sir. If, as you might say, my little one looks, I came across it only last week, and I'm measuring it against the day when things got back to normal." "Good work, Herrin. And now, do you mind pouring me out a cup of non-industrial coffee, and an equally mythical liqueur. And, since this is a special occasion, you might have one yourself, and we'll drink to the Day."

SUNLIGHT SOAP

... with its extra-soapiness will soon be back to save you labour!

A KENYA BISON

Kenya is again in the spotlight, this time for a different reason. A bison has been sighted in the Kenyan bush, which is a rare occurrence. The bison is a large, shaggy animal that is native to North America. Its presence in Kenya is a mystery, and it has attracted the attention of many people.
