East Africa to join Sugar Agreement

INCREASE IN TEA SALES QUOTA IS 5,275 TONS

TEA sold at Nairobi auctions this year would total just over 10,000,000 lbs compared with 9,900,000 lbs last year.

This was stated by the chairman of the East Africa Tea Traders Association, Mr. P. R. Leahy, at the association's annual dinner in Nairobi and he described the increase as a "mile achievement".

The association's aim was to organize and to maintain a sound market which would attract to it as much as possible of the general production of East Africa, and the neighbouring territories. For production of free order price, however, the association has used any form of competition to be placed on the market.

The Minister for Agriculture, Mr. McCreath, said there was more than ten times the area of land available for growing tea in African areas than in European areas. He said he believed that this land should be developed so that it could benefit the country's economy.

But it is not intended at developing this large potential in less than a year, he thought.

It is in fact three years, he said, and has achieved 18 per cent of the world's tea exports. The area of the world has done an extremely good job for the country's economy.

EAST AFRICA enters the Commonwealth Sugar Agreement on January 1, the British Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food has announced in London. A Ministry spokesman said that although the agreement was negotiated in 1951 East Africa had not been in a position to export sugar before. The area was now approaching the stage where it could do so.

The announcement followed discussions which Ministry officials have been holding with representatives of Commonwealth sugar exporting countries. It also said that the east African sugar quota bought under the terms of the agreement will be 248,500 tons next year—13½ per cent less than this year.

Buyers reluctant at coffee auction

"Standard" Correspondent.

Few bids were made at the coffee auction held in Nairobi on Tuesday. The market was reluctant to bid up to the reserve price.

Eldoret v. Nakuru as site for new school

The letter from Mr. G. Simpson, Chairman of the Nakuru and District Primary Schools Parents' Teachers' Association, indicates that there is still a considerable amount of discussion regarding the issue of site in connection with a further secondary school.

The recent referendum sent by Uganda parents sent clearly that proposal is unacceptable to those parents. They would prefer that money be spent on a secondary school...

PRINCESS IN UNIFORM

PRINCESS ANNE walks through the grounds of Buckingham Palace to a meeting of her Brownie pack. The 1st Buckingham Palace Pack was re-formed earlier this year at the request of the Queen, who joined the Girl Guides in 1937. Princess Margaret joined at the same time and is a member of the British Comradeship.

A pair of hair falling over her forehead gives the Queen the look of any young mother about to spend a carefree afternoon with her daughter. The Queen and Princess are pictured beside the lake at Frogmore, Windsor.

LATEST PICTURES OF QUEEN AND PRINCESS

ON this page are four of a new series of royal studies by Studio Lisa of London. Taken earlier this year and removed today, they show the Queen in informal mood in the two pictures below the Queen in preparing for a drive in the Berkshire countryside around Windsor, and standing in the sun outside Windsor Castle with the Princess.

K.B.S. widened area of radio reception

SEVERAL parts of Kenya which in the past were unable to pick up broadcasts from Nairobi have been able to do so since the introduction of the Kenya Broadcasting Service's new transmitters, the director of K.B.S., Mr. Patrick Aubrey, said yesterday.

Mr. Aubrey was replying to a question by a constituent, particularly in the case of the station which was set up in the Nyandarua area, that reception had been from some distance in the Nyandarua area, that reception had been from some distance in the Nyandarua area, that reception had been from some distance in the Nyandarua area.

The K.B.S. chief broadcasting engineer, Mr. J. M. O'Brien, said that the station which was set up in the Nyandarua area, that reception had been from some distance in the Nyandarua area, that reception had been from some distance in the Nyandarua area.

Local noise Mr. Aubrey, however, noted that in the district reception period between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. had been particularly good, and that it was in many other parts of Kenya, he said.

License drive Actual work of the programme was completed in about 24 hours, Mr. O'Brien said. The K.B.S. programme cost nearly KSh. 400 for the licence drive.

WEEK-END STANDARD TRAMPS AND LUXURY LINERS RELY ON MEN WITH A SIXTH SENSE

T. M. MERON, who travelled in the Braemar Castle from Tanga to Mombasa on her second voyage, believes the incidents arose with which great liners are confronted. But even greater fears are at the mercy of the weather, as was shown when the vessel sprang this week in a gale off the Swahili Coast.

"FULL AHEAD TWO." The ship's pilot, eyes wrinkled against the bright noon sun, looked ahead at the mighty beacons out to sea while the telegraphs rang on the bridge, giving the signal "Steam as you go," he called, and began the tricky task of manoeuvring the giant liner out through the narrow unweakened channel into the deep sea beyond. Not an easy job, as you might guess. It calls for expert seamanship and a sixth sense to warn against the temperamental things that some ships can do.

Two vessels ever behave in the same way. Even the most experienced skipper cannot cover all the secrets of nature and the sea, and it takes him a lifetime to do it.

All pilots must have a master's "sixth sense" which means he will have spent at least eight to ten years at sea. Then he is appointed a pilot and usually spends a time on land in the port where he is to work, so that he knows all about the harbour, its currents and its peculiarities. Then he accompanies a pilot on a few trips until the day comes when he braves his first vessel into port.

Of course, being on a bridge is nothing new to him. But how does a master feel if he knows that he is taking on a new pilot?

"His eye may be a little more wary, perhaps, but all good skipper's have common sense in their eyes, and are OK. The final responsibility, however it is shared, is the pilot's job to know the captain. He is still in command of the ship although he has a pilot on board, for the pilot is there only to advise. If the pilot makes a mistake, it is the captain who may have to face it.

There is a story of a master who took on a new pilot just outside a South African port. The skipper knew the channel like the back of his hand and he saw that the pilot was seriously taking the ship off her beam.

"An eye for an eye," said the pilot.

"Certainly," said the skipper.

"You're really plenty of eye for an eye," said the skipper, fully over the beam. "Go."

The pilot went the other way.

ANXIOUS CAPTAIN

Of course, the captain of a vessel must be in command of the ship. He is in command of the crew, and he is in command of the cargo. He is in command of the vessel's safety, and he is in command of the vessel's reputation.

will take her time about it. An order which would turn her round, may drive another around.

Very occasionally a ship will behave mysteriously and do the wrong thing, that pilots are always on the alert for odd behavior and able to put matters right.

STRANGE CASE

On a certain date in 1923 three tin vessels were at sea; one was about to enter Mombasa, the other was sailing off the coast of Europe.

A pilot boarded the Capitaine Blahouk the night of Mombasa and started to bring her in. As she rounded the berth the pilot gave the order "Starboard turn."

ELDAMA RAVINE

ELADAMA RAVINE is just a quiet backwater but in the last years of the 19th century it was a familiar place to men like Lugard, Jackson and Bates, who were opening up Kenya and Uganda.

STAR DESIGN

In order that the roof will meet the minimum of maintenance, it has been covered with copper sheeting. This is only one example of the way in which the building has been planned to achieve stability, durability and harmony in design with the school's motto: "Magna aedificatio, magna est gloria."

Outside the walls are situated six terraces in a natural slope, the walls are finished from the churches of Florence. Inside the walls are painted with the colors of the sea and the sky. The building is finished with a variety of attractive grates.

WHITENESS IS NOT ENOUGH

Decay reduced over 50% by using Ammi-ident

White teeth may not mean decay-free teeth. But now you can buy a toothpaste that has really been proved to lessen such decay. Years of research have led to the isolation of an ingredient. British scientists have subjected it to a series of strictly controlled clinical tests and proved that it reduces the risk of dental caries by more than half!

This ingredient is incorporated in a new dentifrice, Ammi-ident. By releasing the Ion of Ammonia, Ammi-ident fights the lactobacilli germs that are the chief cause of tooth decay. It removes stains and discoloration, too, leaves your mouth moist and healthy.

Go to your chemist today and buy a tube of Ammi-ident. There see for yourself how regular use will give you wonderfully white, decay-free teeth!

AMMI-IDENT—the ammoniated toothpaste that keeps teeth white, prevents decay.

WEALTH OF BRILLIANCE IN CHRISTMAS SEASON SKIES

THIS month's star map shows the sky as seen at 9 p.m. on Monday and four minutes earlier on the night, so it will coincide with the position at 8 p.m. on December 21 and 7 p.m. on January 5. As usual the constellations are numbered above the locations where they appear, and we start with the West or setting sky. Cygnus (1) still shows its upper part with Carriaculus (2) further to the South, while above them are found Aquarius (3) and Pegasus (4). The bright star Fomalhaut in the S.W. forms the lower of two Australis (5) while to its left, and due South, shines the even brighter Achernar, source or head of the long-winding "river" Eridanus (6). Lower in the S.W. we see the two Magellanic clouds (6 and 7), which we described last month.

Now far away to the N.E. we see two stars, Canopus, the star of Carina (9) and three times as bright as Achernar. Yet a bare 20 minutes later rises the brightest star of all, and double the brightness of Canopus, its only rival, namely Sirius the "Dog Star" in Canis Major (10).

These two stars, Canopus, the star of Carina (9) and three times as bright as Achernar. Yet a bare 20 minutes later rises the brightest star of all, and double the brightness of Canopus, its only rival, namely Sirius the "Dog Star" in Canis Major (10).

ONION continues the astronomy series with some observations of the skies of the Christmas season.

THE R.A. belt five to six hours stretching North to South across the Eastern 45° to 50° contains 17 of the 50 brightest stars, not including more than a quarter of all the very bright stars of the sky. This question of the brightness of stars keeps cropping up in these notes, and with this wealth of brilliance at present it seems an appropriate moment to explain the astronomer's scale of brightness or "magnitude".

The 50 brightest stars are averaged to give an arbitrary "first magnitude" of 1.6, while the mean of the faintest stars visible to the naked eye is called "sixth magnitude". So this turns out to be actually 100 times less bright than mag. 1.0, and the "6" may be some what mystifying until the reason is given. Magnitude 2.0 is chosen to be 2.5 times fainter than mag. 1.0, and so on. Hence the five faintest stars of the list are 2.5 x 2.5 x 2.5 x 2.5 x 2.5 brighter than 1st mag. and so on. The faintest star visible to the naked eye is 100 times fainter than 1st mag. and so on. The faintest star visible to the naked eye is 100 times fainter than 1st mag. and so on.

KENYA GIRLS AND THEIR OUTLOOK

LEDA PARIANT sends her survey on teenagers in Kenya with this article on what the girls think about one of their interests and ambitions.

LAST week in this survey of teenagers I tried to make the boys of Kenya better known. Now my readers will understand the girls' outlook on what the same "teenage" meant and so enable us to decide whether there is more to them than meet the eye.

Although boys and girls share a number of basic views, reading this article you will find a number of differences. For instance, only a quarter of the girls admitted that they were not at school. Which bearing in mind that they are more independent of their families than the boys, this impression is somewhat surprising. It is only a few girls who are not at school because they can't afford to go, but they can't afford to go because their parents are not at home.

One girl put it in a nutshell when she said that when their parents are "absent," advice is usually "valuable."

The majority of the girls like living in Kenya, but they are not as unanimous as the boys in this and considering that only 50 per cent of them want to go on living in this country after school, it is not surprising that 40 per cent of the boys will do for work.

ENOUGH FREEDOM

The girls mainly think that their parents are "fairly" to "reasonably" strict but a few reasonably girls had a few remarks on the subject of their parents' "best and inferior" treatment. "We strike a happy medium," one girl said. "I am very strict with my boys but I am very lenient with my girls."

Although 60 per cent of the girls thought their parents give them enough freedom, 40 per cent of the girls who don't think that their parents do not think that another girl admitted that her parents don't understand her. "I don't understand me, but I don't understand them," one girl said. "I don't understand them, but I don't understand me."

PLENTY OF IDEAS

Another suggestion is that parents shouldn't worry about their children's "teenage" life. "I don't understand me, but I don't understand them," one girl said. "I don't understand them, but I don't understand me."

Typical in popular with most of the girls and here the writer attempts to score.

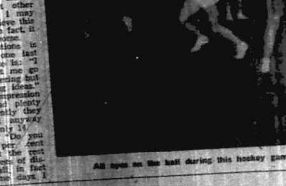

Nobody wants to be a housewife

On some days I don't see the girls who are in school, but I think a very reasonable reaction. I see the boys, 90 per cent of whom are not at school, and I think a very reasonable reaction. I see the boys, 90 per cent of whom are not at school, and I think a very reasonable reaction.

One or two girls who are in school, but I think a very reasonable reaction. I see the boys, 90 per cent of whom are not at school, and I think a very reasonable reaction.

The most puzzling girl I found was the one who had been in school and had become a journalist. All I can say is that she is a very good girl.

that she must have quite a capacity for practical. I expected the word "housewife" under the "future occupation" heading, but I don't think I could have expected this occupation worthy of a girl.

They wanted in their choice of occupation. "I want to be a doctor," one girl said. "I want to be a nurse," another girl said. "I want to be a teacher," a third girl said.

More than half the girls of Kenya prefer sports to anything else. One girl said that she had been in school and had become a journalist. All I can say is that she is a very good girl.

Asked to give the names of three friends who are in school, one girl said that she had been in school and had become a journalist. All I can say is that she is a very good girl.

PASSPORTS AND VISAS ON WAY OUT

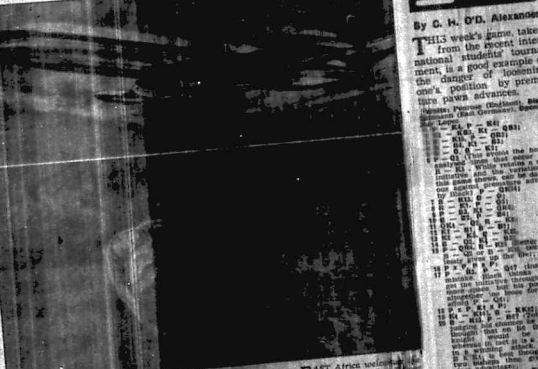

CHARLES MASON suggests that passports and other travel documents will soon be things of the past—today's "Mafia" feature.

SCORES of Indians emigrating to Britain recently lost time, freedom and money because their passports were not in their pockets. Many of their passports were falsified, bought at a high price—order the visa was forged in the name of the holder.

On arrival at British ports they were taken into custody until the whole matter was sorted out. Many of those who were not Commonwealth citizens were allowed to return to their own countries. Some were sent to detention camps. Others were sent to the United States.

It is not only the British who are suffering from this. The United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and many other countries are also affected.

It is a pity that the United States and other countries are not taking more steps to prevent this. The United States, for example, is not taking any steps to prevent this.

Air lines cut paper work—and costs makers and business travelers alike. An international airline official said to "The Times" that the use of a new type of transport service—airmail transport—will cut the time taken to get a passport to a destination.

Time for change. Anyone who has ever taken a passport to a foreign country will know that it is a long and tedious process.

Passports—among other things—are a nuisance. They are a nuisance because they are a nuisance.

THIS week's game, taken from the recent international student tournament, is a good example of the danger of overlooking one's position by over-ambition.

The game was played between two students. The first player made a move that was not the best move. The second player took advantage of this and won the game.

GROUP BEGUN IN 1916

By W. GOUZIER, Secretary, Nairobi Chess Club

MANY people in Kenya, and particularly in Nairobi, have a fair knowledge of the existence of a local chess club.

The Nairobi Chess Club was formed on March 16, 1916, by a group of enthusiasts who met at the time of the 1916 chess tournament.

The club has since then grown and prospered. It has held many tournaments and has a large membership.

WINE AND MAN MATURE IN THE SAME WAY...

Philosophy between wine and man, based on the fundamental truth that wine is a living thing, is as quite irrefutable. At times it threatens to lead us to tortuous and confused extremes, but it is only by progress from the wine to the man, wine needs careful attention.

At the birth or the time of fermentation, in the early days when it is susceptible to a "chill" or a "frost" that will allow it to develop to the full, it is latent personality.

KENYA NATIONAL STADIUM Down-to-earth plan

THE first steps toward the construction of a Kenya National Stadium, to be built in Nairobi, were taken some months ago. In the meantime, consideration of the practical aspect of the proposition has been removed from using the existing East and West buildings to provide a temporary facility to an all-weather project. The latter now appears to be the most likely eventual conference and approval of a land grant is now awaited. This grant will consist of a 22-acre plot "situated from 1.8 3/4" of the intersection of the Mombasa Road and that leading to Wilson Avenue. The land was first offered to the Football Association of Kenya some years ago, who drew up a highly ambitious scheme for a £100,000 undertaking toward which 30 wealthy gentlemen would make the major financial contribution.

Original scheme At that time (1951) A.P. President of the Football Association of Kenya was senior Post Office official, Mr. Albert Mwangi, who later became P.M. of British Columbia. He was most fully assisted, but without success, by being persuasive and while the scheme looked like "a pipe dream" it would probably have become a concrete undertaking had not Mr. Driver been transferred to the West Indies, and, as it is a simultaneous, the credit support ceased upon it. Had the scheme gone through it would, by now, be a concrete reality, project, paying off its liabilities. Now, however, as the then "Minister of the Interior" (Mr. Mwangi) has been replaced as an architect's drawing board.

STANDARD OF SHOW ENTRIES IMPROVES

OFFICIALS of the 1958 Nairobi Pattock Show and Sale to be held at Mitchell Park on Monday say that the quality of entries they have seen on farms is higher than last year.

There will be several new exhibitors this year, as organized by the Royal Agricultural Society of Kenya. For the first time, the butcher's trade is to be invited to send entries to the show. These will be judged in a new class, and book for three new classes. Two are devoted to carcasses and one to the carcasses of lambs, which will be judged at the Kenya Agricultural Show at Athi River in January by the Government meat inspectors.

Another innovation will be the inclusion of the bulls in this year's new class. The bulls will be judged in a new class for exhibition and sudden only.

Principal awards

In the cattle section there will be 12 exhibitors with 77 entries and in the sheep section 12 exhibitors with 28 entries. There will be three sheep classes. These will be the three open classes. There will be three open classes. There will be three open classes. There will be three open classes.

LEARN MORE TO EARN MORE. Are you prepared for the opportunities ahead? Are you attracted to post that continent which will mean so much to you?

WHILST Maitland is holding its conference on "Eggs and Man in Africa", I would like to mention meteorological data...

In 1957 I asked the Met. Office Nairobi whether regular records were kept on sea temperatures.

My interest was aroused by the effect on sea fish, to which I am an amateur. The reply was that the Met. Office was interested and I was very gladly sent a thermometer.

My records were by no means scientific, being taken at the forenoon in a very rough motor launch, being taken at the barrier reef and in Mt Kenya Bay...

It is a well-known fact that the Gulf Stream is the greatest factor in the weather over the western round the British Isles, owing to its temperature.

It is not possible that the changes in temperature of an ocean current may influence the weather above? One degree Fahrenheit in blood temperature, over 48 of an area, will be sufficient to start one's health.

It is not possible that to so great a degree were taken regularly, at all different depths and correlated with the other factors, such as barometric readings, etc. one might learn something more about the variations in temperature...

The winds that blow from India to East Africa are controlled by changes in temperature, and vice versa, and they cross a great ocean, where the temperature may be 42 BLIND.

Memorandum, Dec. 9, 1959. Uganda's Fort. RECENTLY you published a most misleading story from your correspondent in Kampala under the heading "7,100 needed to save fort".

He states that "the fate of Kampala's Old Fort built on top of the hill in the belief and proceeds to talk about a building which he seems to think is the old fort. I regret that the man on the spot should be so little acquainted with the history of Kampala."

The facts are that what is known as Loggia's Fort is not a building but a flat-topped hill on the hill from which the present Kampala takes its name. It was built and made into a fort, with battlements and trenches in 1847, when Capt. Lord Gough, the British East Africa Company's representative, arrived at Nakba...

CUSTOMS ON XMAS GIFTS

WORLDWIDE is not possible for the Customs authorities to allow a little latitude in the examination of Christmas parcels? It is only common sense to have been made more explicit and labeled and the contents of which are clearly stated on all parcels at this time of year because of the large X-mas parcels.

My parcel, patiently while a parcel marked "Check it out" was sent to the Customs office instead of the post office through the parcel which has been issued at length in a parcel which was marked "Where's the check?" W. K. FORBES.

road that was to become the main thoroughfare in Uganda until superseded by the road built by Capt. Pringle, with the assistance of the expedition, followed St. Paul's route through Soga.

All first parties were known as follows — the first was a party of 10 men, led by Capt. Pringle, who had had good reason for this decision. Of all the tribes with whom the pioneers had to come to terms, the most dangerous to them were the Mursi and the Suri. In 1954, they terminated the Mursi, cutting great swaths in their way to spread the bush and to build huts. The Mursi and Suri women and their children were taken there; some in front of the camp for safety.

FLAG REPLACED

This incident — the Mursi threat and the nervous misadventure of the expedition — the time had come to review the progress of the expedition. Frederick Jackson was accompanied by Ravine and the many other members of the I.S.E.A. Company, only leaving the camp after a long and arduous journey. His flag was replaced by the East African flag.

The first camp on the way with the William Mackinnon second in command to Capt. Pringle, who had decided to return to Kampala from Machelo. Jackson was over-convicted.

In addition to looking for East Africa he was appointed to make treaties with native and to assist in the construction of the expedition. When he reached Uganda he found the expedition in the forest. He found the expedition in the forest. He found the expedition in the forest.

1914—the year the world became aware of 'total' war

By J. HUMPHRIES

FAMOUS dates in history are few and far between. One thinks of 1066, 1789 and 1914 and perhaps a few others which have become widely known as a result of inauguration or termination of an epoch. Mr. J. James Cameron, the well-known Press correspondent, has chosen in 1914 to draw a detailed picture of the year. He has tried to draw a picture of the transition from a time of belief in peace and progress to the strident, unyielding little or no prospect of any return to the old, easy confidence which we have. For a moment or two we have seen the world as it is, and we are reminded that that fatal year it seems hard to grasp just how confident and happy the old world was.

A large part of the world was something which was remembered in the British Empire spirit of the United Kingdom was subdued. There were a

MASTERLY TALE ABOUT ISRAEL

By DEREK COOPER

DESPITE the fact that it is written in the days of stress and violence, my memories are mainly of friendly dinners and talk over coffee in pleasant villas or on the slopes of Mount Carmel.

Among my closest friends here was a former, clever, honest but a little perplexed by doubts, doubts, and death stalked in the strange shadows.

Today, the light shone more brightly in the night and I felt happy. But the main objective has been to write a book about the life of Israel.

The story of the Hebrew and the history of the Jewish people is a story which is not only a story of the past but a story of the present.

Increased interest
The fact that the story is told by the present Premier of Israel, increases the interest of the reader in the subject.

Contained in the 260 pages is a collection of the most interesting and dramatic events of the Jewish people's history.

Heaven's blessing upon the author, the present Premier of Israel, has written a masterpiece of history.

HOW BRITAIN HELPS EDUCATION IN COMMONWEALTH

MORE THAN 150 delegates from 16 Commonwealth countries met in London last week for the annual Commonwealth Education Conference.

The conference was the first since the war. It was held in London at the invitation of the British Government and was attended by representatives of the Commonwealth countries and of the United Kingdom.

The conference was held at the Royal Albert Hall and was attended by representatives of the Commonwealth countries and of the United Kingdom.

THE EARL OF HOME, SECRETARY OF STATE FOR COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS, DESCRIBES THE GREAT CONTRIBUTIONS MADE BY THE PEOPLE OF BRITAIN TO MEET THE EDUCATIONAL DEMANDS OF COMMONWEALTH COUNTRIES, AND OUTLINES THE VOLUME AND QUALITY OF THIS CONTRIBUTION. HE SAYS IT IS NOT GENERALLY APPRECIATED.

Education is essential in the commonwealth and Commonwealth countries should be made to realize this fact. The British Council, London, is the main body responsible for the promotion of education in the Commonwealth. It is a non-profit-making organization which carries out on behalf of the British Government, the duties of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in the Commonwealth.

In addition the council is also responsible for the recruitment of teachers from the Commonwealth countries and when recruited by the governments concerned, are concerned with the training of local teachers. British Council experts have been awarded to the new South-Eastern Institute in India and to university posts in Pakistan.

A Clean Fresh Mouth All Day Long!

Mentaxol keeps your mouth clean all day long. It prevents mouth odors, fights tooth decay and combats common gum troubles—many of which occur in those who brush their teeth regularly.

I have said enough to convince you that in the development of a clean mouth is the development of a clean mind and a clean body. British Council experts have been awarded to the new South-Eastern Institute in India and to university posts in Pakistan.

Del Monte QUALITY

The recent relaxation in import restrictions on food products from the United States brings Del Monte products once again to Best Africa after an absence of 18 years.

What's the secret of Del Monte flavour?

LIKE any skilled chef, DEL MONTE keeps the exact recipe a closely guarded secret... however, the following facts are widely known:—

DEL MONTE chooses its fruits and vegetables only from clean, sunny areas, from years of experience, they grow best and develop the finest flavor.

Certain products freeze and taste best when grown on soils composed chiefly of specially treated volcanic ash.

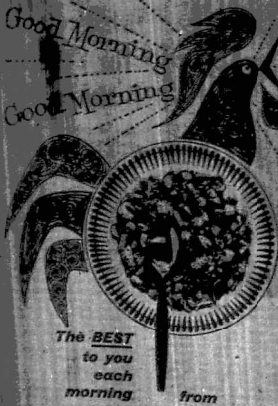

Warm weather tempered with cool nights and occasional frosts from the Pacific Ocean add a special flavour to our fruits and vegetables.

It is not surprising that grocers are finding that customer's repeat orders for DEL MONTE products are depleting their shelves faster than overseas shipments are replenishing their stocks.

SHOW PAGE GILT REMOVED FROM KING'S GINGERBREAD

By HAROLD HOBSON

The night I saw Richard II Mr. John Justin spoke of Richard like an earnest investor balancing his stock. Exchange pluses and minuses.

Taking the text of Shakespeare at a working level, Mr. Justin played a series of variations on it by lengthening some lines and shortening others. This was particularly noticeable in two of the best scenes in the play.

On the coast of Wales Mr. Justin declaimed: "I'll all the water in the trough trade you."

Can you tell the ballad from an erudite king? Having presented his scene with an extra and here Mr. Justin no doubt had finished in reading, but I confess that we are wretched. In a world of modern, foreign bombs and parties, one feels more at home than a matter of simple entertainment; that is, the genuine time of Shakespeare's greatest verse.

Now the interesting thing about this is that I am not sure that any of the verse was not deliberate.

The play of "Val Mary" Old Vic production, presented by Mr. Justin not to be very much about the music of his friend, Richard II is the most honest one of Shakespeare's stories. His plangent lamentations penetrate the brain. They are spots and lamentations.

FACIAL ACTING
Unfortunately for a new young actor these spots and lamentations have been in recent years cut by some of the more "sensitive" managers of our stage.

One of our best, Mr. Justin has a fine and moving voice. He shows the light emphasis move by the instigation from the costume he put, when he sets his mind to it, to deliver an eloquent speech with fire and feeling.

Nevertheless, he could not, in the sheer matter of making-making hope to witness a great to equal, Cleopatra and Antigone, Antigone, Othello and Hamlet.

Mr. May has been very much concerned with Richard's golden words, and his decorative language. What is interesting here — and that case it is to be noted — is that he is not Richard's own but Richard's own.

The number of Gloucester hangs over this production and from the moment that Richard is doomed to pay for it in the moment of his first entrance. Physically he ties from the bowels of the stage, but apparently he is already making that.

His reply, she instantly upon him, the face of his body when he walks and when he speaks.

His face is wide open, and when he speaks he looks to be searching for words, and when he speaks he looks to be searching for words.

Visually this is a striking performance. As I have shown, it is not to be taken as a matter of course, but it is a matter of course.

STYLES TO SUIT EVERY FACE

Season stars high hats and Russian helmets

By PEGGY ANDERSON

WHILE Kenya women are fortunate in their own designs at reasonable cost, those who have to make individually and immovably fastidious choices are those who have to choose from the vast range of styles which are available. A one-woman business which created models here and there, and then went to Britain and another French shop which makes hats to order has had a rather miserable existence.

However, hats are imported in such variety of styles, materials and colors that few women are likely to find difficulty in finding a hat to suit them. However little they may like the prevailing London hat, they have seen few people in London yet wearing the high hat which is popular in the States. The hat which is popular in the States is the one which is popular in London.

HUNTER BUILDING HOTEL BY MANYARA LAKESIDE

The "Standard" Correspondent, Arusha, describes how a Tanganyika white hunter is building a hotel to attract tourists to one of East Africa's finest—and least visited—game areas, Lake Manyara.

A MODERN hotel with every convenience is being built in Tanganyika in the heart of some of the finest game country in the world. Situated on a rocky headland almost a thousand feet above the Lake Manyara Game Reserve, the hotel commands a view with few rivals anywhere for scenic splendour.

For the person who wants to see Tanganyika game without the trouble of going to the hotel site with the razzed eye and weary legs, it is possible to see most of the major species of game from the hotel site with the aid of the spotting telescopes which it is intended to install on the edge of the cliff are in use. It will be possible to gain close-up.

The man behind the project is Mr. Russell Hunter-Douglas, the well-known white hunter whose safari firm leads the Royal Appointment to Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Along with his wife and the owners of the hotel, Mr. Hunter-Douglas is building the hotel almost close to stone. It will be a modern building, with a dining-room and a bar, and will have lounge, a bar, and a swimming pool of about 1,000 square feet of floor space.

Behind the hotel is a large area of land which will be used for the hotel and for the game reserve. The hotel will be built on a rocky headland almost a thousand feet above the Lake Manyara Game Reserve.

—that gives you everything: a healthy shoe with WEAR. In Clarks Torflex shoes the whole foot is moulded in leather. Not only the upper, but the sturdy inner sole are leather, genuine and true-breathing. Clarks Torflex Sole and foot add months of extra wear to the life of a healthy shoe. Flexible, resilient rubber is welded to the upper—impervious welded—its own little insole, peed from the toe or in the heel. No two ways about it, Clarks Torflex Rubber Sole gives assurance twice in wear.

Gun booms out in the midday sun

HONGKONG'S 100-12 day gun which booms out the time will strike more softly in future. Residents of the New Point area have complained that the signal gun is frightening their children with its noise.

The gun, made famous by reference to it in the film 'The Last Days of Pompeii', is operated by the Mid-Hong Kong firm of Chinese Engineers.

There is also the question of the gun's location. It is situated in a residential area, and its noise is a constant nuisance to the people living there.

DIESELS PROVE POPULAR ON KENYA FARMS

While economists' statements on world recession claim with a gay abandon that it has passed, farmers in Kenya have a different story to tell.

Markets for primary products may be open, but the up-country farmer is now faced with the fact that he must increase his efficiency if he is going to stay in any sort of comfort.

With the use of safe fuel, naturally, any potential buyer of a new tractor is a farmer, not a speculator.

First, how after a high price, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Secondly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Thirdly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Fourthly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Fifthly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Sixthly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Seventhly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Eighthly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Ninthly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Tenthly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

Eleventhly, a tractor is a farmer's asset, not a liability.

UASIN GISHU FARM WITH A DIFFERENCE

For many will the owners of Kenya. Today we start a series of articles showing attempts on farms from 25,000-acre to 100-acre.

DANIEL BENDIS, a farm of 2,000 acres, is situated on the edge of the Rift Valley, 25 miles from Eldoret, in a pleasantly tree-dotted area. The farm is planted with the traditional Kenya coffee of the District, with thick bushes and the thickly forested Timorosa Hills.

The farm is famous for its specialty in a small country hill station. A Mandi coffee farm, indeed, has a farm with a difference, particularly in three ways:

1. The use of a special fertilizer which has been found to be the best for coffee. 2. The use of a special fertilizer which has been found to be the best for coffee. 3. The use of a special fertilizer which has been found to be the best for coffee.

STRENGTHENED BY GAME OF CRICKET

By ROB MANFIELD

IN some parts of the world there is always cricket, at any hour of any day. For, as the Commonwealth has grown and developed, so has cricket, until now the Imperial Cricket Conference represents the interests of some 300,000,000 people. Nothing has benefited more than the game itself from the Commonwealth interchange of skills, concepts, and personalities.

Perhaps nothing is more attractive than a West Indian batsman of the top class, nothing more seductive than a spin-bowler truly in South Africa's tradition for such.

From India and Pakistan we have a purely Test batsmanship and from New Zealand we have the game blazers. The top class batsmen of the Commonwealth are the cricketers of M. P. Donnelly and G. S. Sobers.

FEATURING SPORT

And again, because there is Australia, a team's oldest opponent, the same Test series of them all, with the games fought always with an inspiring zest, as much in the attitude of the crowd as the players.

When the Hamilton Club imposed its 10-year reign on English cricket, it was a new breed of technique and leadership, it could not have imagined that Birmingham Down would in spirit, recreate the new scene.

Later from 1917, Laker's and the Maitlandshire Cricket Club were to assume the burden of giving the game assistance and leadership, it could not have imagined that Birmingham Down would in spirit, recreate the new scene.

HIGH-COURING DOCTOR

However, it was not until 1910 that the M.C.C. agreed to arrange and finance tours abroad by English teams. So a second debt is owed by the Commonwealth to earlier pioneers, such as John White, A. Shaw, Arthur Shrewsbury, R. S. Latham, and the remarkable George Parr. Nottinghamshire's first international, which was famous All-England XI, played this first international (or Test) match in 1859, against the Americans in New York.

Cricket's modern age might be dated from 1914, for it was then that the most compelling spirit in the game's history made its appearance—Dr. W. G. Grace. Not in 1870 as it is often said, but in 1914, when he set the pace for the century.

Grace created one batting record after another, many of which were to stand unbroken well into this century. When 47 years old the doctor scored his hundredth century and he was still going strong in 1931, when West Indies came to India as his birthplace. Sir Walter, captain of the first West Indian XI to tour England in 1900.

Constatine's brilliant performance were almost equaled by that sports-giant, captain George Chatterton, and by batsman when I could have watched, like Hazlett and Henderson, in this life and death struggle—George Hadley.

Hadley scored a century in his last century and he was still going strong in 1931, when West Indies came to India as his birthplace.

Modest young man the golden boy of football

By JOHN MACADAM

AT the age of 19, Jimmy Greaves, inside forward of Chelsea and England, is a cracker described as the greatest association football player, in his confidence with the ball, since the immortal

He has been largely in the front of a game, apparently since he was 11. In fact, he was only 11 himself, then in Hants, when he was first called into a false sense of his ability. He was then called into a false sense of his ability. He was then called into a false sense of his ability.

However, often he performs the measure of his ability, success, as his tally of goals scored in 1957, when he was 19, was 21. He was then called into a false sense of his ability.

Greaves, who married an 18-year-old girl, is now 22. He was then called into a false sense of his ability.

EARLY START

He was brought into the first team of the club in 1917, and scored in his first game, against the West Indians in 1917, the slight but with the correct hand he stands at 1 foot 8 inches and weighs 14 stone.

England were the valley cricket team and were six goals to two. Greaves scored and England's goal by his incredibly quick footwork and that outside scorers' habit which he was entitled to take a goal which the England goalkeeper saved.

He was then called into a false sense of his ability.

JIMMY GREAVES IN ACTION

Fast bowler shortage a problem to India young Nawab of Patiala, whom young son is now retaining India's contribution by paying for Buses.

India's tour of England in 1950 was disappointing in some respects, but it revealed all that was good in the Test appearance of Manchester.

He is of the class and pure style to follow worthy in the days of Vijay Merchant and Vinoo Mahankar, but India's future problem will surely be her shortage of fast bowlers.

In the past, the Punjab was India's speed arsenal and it was from there she discovered the big, strong Mahomed Nisari, perhaps the best fast bowler to have played for his country.

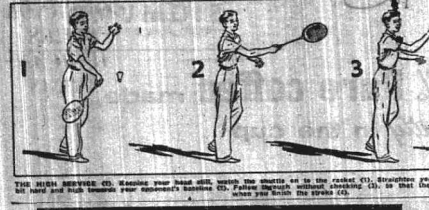

Pakistan has reached her cricketing maturity with truly remarkable speed, and joined the Imperial Cricket Council in 1952. Already she has beaten England on a Test match.

Indeed cricket may be said to have been conquered temporarily by that of England's Akeem-Bohler. The physical resemblance is not, but the methods are similar. Greaves is a fast bowler, but the winner, very to be remembered for his part in Pakistan's victory over England at the Oval in 1952.

Having an immaculate record, he has taken only 13 wickets for 50 runs in the first Test, but he has been the great individual achievement of the season.

Whenever the compass points of Commonwealth cricket there will be found efficient and long wicket-keepers and fast bowlers. It is one of those things that is missing from the cricket of the Commonwealth in an area which, more than any other, has had the most important influence in the world.

Weddings of the week

THE Holy Ghost Church, Mombasa, was the scene of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Hamish Campbell-Gillies (right).

The bridegroom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Campbell-Gillies, of Kilimo, Tanganyika, and his bride was formerly Miss Inar Ferguson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ferguson, of Dar es Salaam.

The bride chose a beautiful dress of white lace and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. (Photo: A. F. Mawhood, Mombasa).

Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Nicol (right) sitting down the side of St. Francis' Church, Nairobi.

The bride, formerly Miss Greta Dorothy Hayes, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hayes, of Wellingborough, the choice a particularly good one, blue, white and short lace veil.

The bridegroom, who works at Glaxo, is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Nicol, of Dundee. (Photo: Gladys Le Regent).

Sgt. Wood, who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Wood, of Canterbury, is in the Royal Corps of Military Police and has been serving at Headquarters, East Africa Command, for more than two years.

His bride, the former Miss Linda Ann Herbert, is the only daughter of R.Q.M.S. and Mrs. W. Herbert, of Stockton-on-Tees. Her father is a Brigadier General and is now serving at Headquarters in Nairobi.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward David Deutz (right) were married at St. Andrew's Church, Coburn, Surrey.

Mr. Deutz is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Z. Davis, of Weybridge, Norfolk, and his bride is the former Miss Dorcas J. Cantell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cantell, of Coburn, Coburn. (Photo: Reynolds, Photo).

THE wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Polzoli (above right) took place at the Church of Mission, Weybridge.

The bride, formerly Miss Elizabeth Walker, is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Walker, of Weybridge. She chose a dress of white tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mrs. Constance Polzoli and the late Mr. Polzoli, of Weybridge. (Photo: Frank Gillingham).

Mr. and Mrs. James (left) (below) were married at St. Theresa's Church, Nairobi.

The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James David, of Nairobi, and his bride, the former Miss Julia E. Brennan, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brennan, of Nairobi. (Photo: Frank Gillingham).

ADEN BOXERS DEFEATED BY KENYA

Plucky display by promoted second strings

AN A.B.A. of Kenya boxing team defeated the Aden Combined Services side by eight bouts to two in their match in the Nairobi City Hall on Wednesday night.

RESULTS

Freightlight Baboon Rama (Kenya) A.B.C. vs. P.A. Ramad (Aden) A.B.C. Ramad stopped Rama by second round.

Non the less, the Kenyan team, as a whole, were the superior side apart from any fortuitous Hard-hitting and generally fast, they were of their best against Aden by the short rounds, the referee stopping to save the contest on four occasions.

Two of the best contests

The two contests that Aden did win were the full distance bouts from the first to the fifth round. In fact, that the victors' best bouts really were the two that they lost.

RESULTS OF F.A. CUP REPLAYS

Following are the results of Kenyan F.A. Cup second-round replays with third-round opponents of the winning teams.
