COFFEE

The Marketing Problem
Letters which appear in our columns are not necessarily the views of the Editor. The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed in the columns of the Standard.

There is little in common between the marketing problems of the mid-coffee of Kenya and the mid-coffee of Uganda. Though we believe that there is much in the Kenya Coffee Scheme which is worthy of adoption as an objective and practical one, we feel sure that coffee marketing could be carried out at least as satisfactorily by an East African Coffee Marketing Board which represented the elements of Government Production and Commerce. While it may be more increasingly important and indeed inevitable, to associate Government with the industry a case can still be made for placing the major responsibility at this stage for the operation of wide control in the hands of the planters and the traders themselves. The Kenya Government has set up a small Control Board which combines the production and marketing and with such a body as a nucleus the directive organization of the industry would be better one, than if the control system leads to the obliteration of specialized marketing facilities. We believe, and we think that the majority of people interested in coffee will agree with us, that the complications which we are all faced with in respect of markets, exchange, shipping etc., require a departure from the unrestricted exercise of commercial freedom which we have practiced, and that some measure of control which brings the State in as a partner in the industry is essential for the survival of the industry. To that end we also believe that the coffee market should be reformed. But we are not satisfied that this coffee question has been adequately studied or that the Kenya Government, in Government, production, finance and marketing in a joint East African Coffee Marketing Board, is making full use of all available channels and practices, have been properly considered before the Government was induced to introduce a change without proper preparation of the ground. The matter remains the same but the methods can be reviewed.

It is also argued that the fear of coffee marketing to be exported to the United Kingdom, which was one of the main reasons for rushing through the Kenya Coffee Marketing Board, is a far-sighted measure. Education In Uganda

REVIEW OF YEAR'S WORK

The Annual Report of the Education Department of the Uganda Protectorate for the year ended December 31, 1933, has in common with many similar reports these days, been largely enlarged in the interests of the public. It is a volume of 100 pages, and is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the history, policy and aims of the education in the Protectorate. It contains a number of tables, and a number of statistical tables, but all seem to give in full.

Under the heading "Outstanding Events of the Year" in the first chapter, the report describes the coming into force of the Makerere College Ordinance on January 1 by which the College passed from the control of the Department to that of the Council as a "specialized institution."

The report also mentions the death in England of Mr. A. J. Keith, Inspector of Schools, who was appointed to that office in 1928. It also mentions the appointment of Mr. J. M. Wilson, Vice-Chancellor and Master of the University of Edinburgh, as Deputy Director of Education.

There is a special mention of the work of the Education Officer in the Department during the past year, and it is stated that the fact that the school year was able to make a telling contribution to the work of the Department is a matter of little satisfaction to the Department.

Legislation and Finance

It is in the chapter on "Legislation and Finance" that the report is most interesting. It deals with the work of the Education Officer in the Department during the past year, and it is stated that the fact that the school year was able to make a telling contribution to the work of the Department is a matter of little satisfaction to the Department.

Soldiers And Summonses

One of the traffic summonses handed in Nairobi yesterday concerned a motorist who had been reported for driving an unlicensed car in Nairobi. Since the issue of the summons he had returned to his unit, and it was not expected that the case might have to be withdrawn.

Education

The report also mentions the death in England of Mr. A. J. Keith, Inspector of Schools, who was appointed to that office in 1928. It also mentions the appointment of Mr. J. M. Wilson, Vice-Chancellor and Master of the University of Edinburgh, as Deputy Director of Education.

TRAFFIC CASE POSER

Passengers in Unsafe Positions

What exactly does constitute the offence of allowing passengers to travel in an unsafe position on a motor vehicle? This is a question which has been asked by Mr. J. M. Morgan yesterday in the Budget. The Minister of Transport, Mr. H. H. Morgan, has replied that the offence is committed when a passenger is in a position which is unsafe for him or her.

Crime Imposed

Two offences of this nature were reported in Nairobi yesterday.

Insurance Of Coffee Crops

Arrangements have now been made for the supply of coffee crop insurance in Nairobi.

Savile Row Dresses The Americas

[From a correspondent.]
One thousand suits from London's Savile Row are crossing the Atlantic every month in spite of the war because of it, indeed. Most of them are going to Americans who have come to England, once a year. These measurements, made in London with their own, very very slight American bias, are of a type which is growing rather slender. In fact the only change of weight noted was a gain of an inch in the chest between the two measurements. Many of them have lost a piece.

After moving east, each suit costs about a pound more between £25 and £30. The water usually flows in the direction of London's London tailors; and one of them orders as many as twenty suits at a time.

Smart Argentine men are also following London fashions and a wealthy citizen of Buenos Aires has just ordered a suit of English cut made to his London tailor. The Argentine prefers all things English. He is a very tall man and he is very tall. He is very tall. He is very tall.

BRITISH-ISRAEL NOTE

THE SHEPHERD CALL.
 The East African Standard on the 15th day has published an editorial article on the subject of the 'Shepherd Call'. This article is a plea for the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine. The author argues that the Jewish people have a right to their own state and that the British Government should support their wishes.

Continuation of the editorial article on the 'Shepherd Call', discussing the political and social implications of the proposed Jewish State.

His Familiar Brisk Stride can be Yours!

Imagine yourself a pleasant evening and a brisk stride the same morning. At the club or hotel ask for Johnnie Walker by name—and keep to it. When entertaining at home, see that the famous square bottle is on the table. It is not only that you will enjoy your evening more because you are eating Johnnie Walker wine. The distinctively strong and refreshing taste of Johnnie Walker gives you definite evidence of the purity and age of the fine whiskey from which it is so skillfully blended. And so whether you will be glad that you have Johnnie Walker.

JOHNNIE WALKER
 Born 1820—still going strong

Her charm is complete . . . she uses Atkinsons Eau de Cologne

When other women will, she is vital and alive. When they are hot and tired, she is cool and fresh as a wild rose on an English summer morning. For whenever she goes there is a freshening aura of Atkinsons Eau de Cologne, that exquisite fragrance which, for over a century, has made lovely women lovelier. Atkinsons distil this superb Eau de Cologne from the blossoms grown in their own orange grove. And surely have discerning women found an Eau de Cologne to equal it—none so refreshing, so fastidious, and so perfect.

"Persil has made a wonderful success of this old blouse."
"Yes, indeed! It certainly looks like new - yet I thought Persil must only used for white things!"

"I used to think so too, but fortunately I started to use Persil for washing all articles, both white and coloured. And I found Persil a safe for coloured articles, as it is for the white wash. You see, Persil makes the marvellous process of removing all dirt from fabrics without harmful scrubbing or scouring. This thorough cleaning makes white things sparkle and coloured articles the new."

PERSIL

for a brighter whiter wash and for coloured too!

FERTILIZER SUPPLY DURING WAR-TIME

By V. A. Beekley, M.C., M.A., Senior Agricultural Chemist, in the E.A. Agricultural Journal.

THE use of manures and fertilizers in Kenya is still only in its infancy. The coffee industry as a whole has been the quantity of both organic and inorganic fertilizers generally much less.

As regards phosphate the position is easier. The coffee industry uses mainly bone meal, the potash supply of which at present exceeds the demand.

The main nitrogenous fertilizer used is sulphate of ammonia. Short while ago this was very scarce, but within the last week or two a shipment has arrived.

It can confidently be expected that prices will be appreciably higher. Fertilizer costs will be greater, while crop and insurance have gone up considerably.

It is possible that there will not be a free export of sulphate of ammonia from Great Britain, but most of the combined sulphate available will be absorbed by the Government.

It will become more and more difficult to obtain fertilizers to look to the waste products of other industries.

Let us now turn to the potash. It is well known that potash is one of the most important of the elements of soil fertility.

It is found that a bulk of potash is derived from the waste products of the glass industry.

It is possible that there will not be a free export of sulphate of ammonia from Great Britain, but most of the combined sulphate available will be absorbed by the Government.

South African Scene A Review of and opinion in the Union from JOHANNESBURG

AFTER the hitch, caused by the inability of the British Government to provide an account of the time taken for the reception of children evacuated from England is again making progress in South Africa.

The Act of South Africa's "Child Ghosts" landed at Cape Town from England about the middle of this month. They were a party of nearly 200. They were in charge of their mothers, relatives or friends, and were accompanied by the official Government estimate. A number of the children were to be taken to Rhodesia and two small parties to Natal and Uganda will be landed at Port Elizabeth, pending arrangements for their transport further afield. Although known as the "Children's ship" in oblique terms, the liner which brought these children was named "The Child's Home". It carried 650 adults as well. She had an uneventful voyage without either an accident or a moment of alarm. The children were all safe from babies to those nearly finished school. Arrangements for the reception of children under the Government plan are being speedily taking. Recently Mrs. Harry Lawson, who is in charge of the children at the Home of Professional Nurses in South Africa and who is in charge of the children who are sent to her, has reported that she expects an early date. At present, however, the children are still on the voyage out.

An attempt will be made to ensure that all children from the Home of Professional Nurses in South Africa and who are sent to her, has reported that she expects an early date. At present, however, the children are still on the voyage out.

Mr. Stephens on the 11th, the Registrar of the Police Department, University College, said that some time ago he received a letter from the Department of Education, saying that the Department had completed that soldiers were being transferred to the University of the Cape of Good Hope. He said that this letter came as a shock to him, as he knew very well that the students who were being transferred to the University of the Cape of Good Hope were being transferred to the University of the Cape of Good Hope. He said that this letter came as a shock to him, as he knew very well that the students who were being transferred to the University of the Cape of Good Hope were being transferred to the University of the Cape of Good Hope.
