FORMOSA: BITTER PRIMA TO VISIT E. AFRICA

Russians counter mediation move

'ACTS OF AGGRESSION' BY AMERICA CONDEMNED

A BITTER procedural wrangle seemed certain in the United Nations Security Council yesterday, when it met to consider New Zealand's proposal for a cease-fire in the Formosa Straits and Russian charges of aggression against the United States.

New Zealand, backed by Britain, the United States and Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Government, has proposed that the Council should condemn the Russian counter move by presenting a resolution asking the Council to condemn "acts of aggression" in the area and to end her alleged interference in the Formosa Straits.

Russia has countered this move by presenting a resolution asking the Council to condemn "acts of aggression" in the area and to end her alleged interference in the Formosa Straits.

The Russian proposal is almost certain to lead to a fierce debate on whether the cease-fire or the aggression charges should have priority. This, in turn, is likely to lead to the invitation which the Western Powers hope the Council will extend to Communist China to send a delegation to the meeting.

Sir Godfrey urges racial unity

'More important than differences'

From One Minister of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, told a British radio audience that there was far too great a tendency to listen to the different groups led by their own leaders—on what united them rather than on what divided them, he said.

"The future progress of the African continent depends entirely on the degree to which we are able to bridge the racial differences which exist between the various peoples of the continent," he said. "It is to be hoped that the opportunities open to us in the future will enable us to build a united African continent which we associate with democracy, such as representative government, trade unionism, education and the like."

The behaviour patterns of different groups should not be based on conditions of environment, all of which are different, he said. "What the British are today is the result of the historical influences over the last 2,000 years which they have brought with them."

"The British are today in the best of the world's positions in which they have subjected the continent of Africa to a process of development which is unique in the history of the world. It is not only we who are trying to improve the African continent but the African continent is trying to improve itself."

"We are in fact trying to improve the continent of Africa as a whole and as a result of this we are bringing about a process of development which is unique in the history of the world. It is not only we who are trying to improve the African continent but the African continent is trying to improve itself."

Developing resources

"The greatest obstacle to the development of the continent of Africa is the fact that the continent is not being developed as a whole. It is not only we who are trying to improve the African continent but the African continent is trying to improve itself."

Future progress

"We must have a long and hard fight ahead of us if we are to bring about a process of development which is unique in the history of the world. It is not only we who are trying to improve the African continent but the African continent is trying to improve itself."

TWO KINDS OF PEOPLE

"THE world is divided," it always seems to me, into two sorts of people—those who are cheerful and those who are not. I have often wondered why the cheerful people are so cheerful and the cheerful people are so cheerful. I have often wondered why the cheerful people are so cheerful and the cheerful people are so cheerful. I have often wondered why the cheerful people are so cheerful and the cheerful people are so cheerful.

On a Test wicket taking spin...

ENGLAND BATTLE GRIMLY TO GET THE VITAL RUNS

And finish 93 behind with 7 wickets in hand at close

ENGLAND'S batsmen - particularly Hutton (103), but also Grimley for 77, not out) and Compton (102 out) had a brilliant day in the fourth Test at Adelaide yesterday. Facing top-class spin bowling, supported by brilliant fielding, England made 230 for three by close of play after a disastrous first day. In which the visitors lost five wickets for 100 runs. The first day's play was a brilliant display of the overcast total of 57 for 10, which was well within the range of a first-class Test match.

With three days of this to go, the match is now a close-run affair. Australia's bowling attack, which was beginning to take its toll, was again supported by the experienced wicket on which the Australian batsmen made most of their luck.

Life, lift lacking
Australia's batsmen were unable to get some assistance from the field. The batsmen, however, in particular, were disappointed in their delivery. That they failed to produce the usual standard of batting, however, is not surprising, as the batsmen were not in the best of health. Peter May caught
The opening batsman of the fourth Test at Adelaide yesterday was Peter May, who was caught out by the Australian bowlers. May was out for 10 runs, which was a disappointing performance for the opening batsman.

Nairobi Festival scoreboards

OUTSTANDING performers among the fourth annual Nairobi Cricket Festival, which concluded on Sunday, was a record first wicket undefended partnership between P. Derrick (145 not out) and D. Wilson (149 not out) for Southern Province against Nairobi. Derrick and Wilson reached his hundred in 120 minutes and Derrick in 125 minutes. This pair had not only the highest partnership in the history of the festival, but also the highest partnership in the history of the festival.

Cricket:

SPRINGBOK TEAM FOR ENGLAND

THERE are no big surprises in the selection for South Africa's cricket team to visit England later this year, although two players who have played in previous Test series were not included in the 15-man squad. These were the experienced batsmen who played Australia, and D. G. White, who played in the previous Test series.

There were two narrow shaggy runs, with one being a sharp single, was sent back by Compton and only just completed his crumse at Harvey three and a half.

Number increased
The S.A. Cricket Board has increased the number of players in the 15-man squad to 18, with the inclusion of three new players.

The closing scores
Australia's first innings: 230 for three. England's first innings: 100 for seven.

Services unbarred
The services of the 15-man squad are now unbarred, and the team is ready to depart for England.

INVITED TO CEASE-FIRE DISCUSSION U.N. Council awaits reply from Peking UPPER TACHEN ISLAND UNDER BOMBARDMENT

THE United Nations Security Council has agreed by nine votes to one, to invite in the case of the Chinese Communists to take part in the cease-fire discussions on the Formosa Strait. The Council has adjourned indefinitely to await Peking's reply.

The President of the Council, Sir Leslie Munn, of New Zealand, said after the meeting that "everybody should be ready to discuss the matter in a spirit of good will in the order of its agenda. It was eventually agreed to discuss the New Zealand ceasefire proposals first and a Soviet China afterwards."

In the meantime, there was no sign of any easing of the situation in the Formosa Strait. According to reports reaching Hongkong yesterday, Nationalist Chinese troops on Upper Tachen Island in the recently captured Kiang Shiao Island. The reports said that a ceasefire had been agreed, but the Tachen group was being delayed, the upper island was fast becoming better equipped.

Four Chinese Communist warships left Nationalist-held Yumen Island, 32 miles north of the Formosa Strait. Other reports reaching Hongkong said the American Seventh Fleet was standing by North of the Formosa Strait to protect the Nationalist evacuation and to include a number of aircraft carriers, about an cruiser and a large squadron of the fleet. The Americans also have two transport ships on the Formosa Strait.

In London, delegations at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference were reported to be discussing behind the scenes the possibility of a more widespread ceasefire in the night-war Indo-China area, and it was felt that better results might be obtained at a meeting away from the atmosphere of the United Nations.

POSSIBILITY OF 'MORE WIDESPREAD CONFLICT'

NEW ZEALAND wants to bring the fighting off the China coast to a halt, but the present series of armed conflicts might well be a prelude to a more widespread conflict, Sir Leslie Munn, the President, told the United Nations Security Council in New York. "In our view, the present series of armed conflicts might well be a prelude to a more widespread conflict," he said. "The United Nations Security Council is designed, and indeed called upon, to be a body which is to be considered primarily in the context of the United Nations."

The President of the Council, Sir Leslie Munn, said that the United Nations Security Council is designed, and indeed called upon, to be a body which is to be considered primarily in the context of the United Nations.

Mr. Munn, the acting head of the Soviet delegation, then requested the Soviet Union to make a contribution to the United Nations. He said that the United Nations Security Council is designed, and indeed called upon, to be a body which is to be considered primarily in the context of the United Nations.

President Eisenhower, "directly" announced to Congress, "openly" announced to the Chinese people, that the United States will not give up its sovereign rights to the Formosa Strait. He said that the United States will not give up its sovereign rights to the Formosa Strait.

DEFENCE PLANS FOR AFRICA

Union views outlined to Commonwealth Premiers

PLANS for the defence of the Middle East and the African continent as a whole, were put before the Commonwealth Premiers' conference in London yesterday by the South African Deputy Prime Minister, Mr. Charles R. Swart.

The question of defence in the Commonwealth in particular and the Western world in general, was discussed after the British Minister of Defence, Mr. Harold Macmillan, had outlined United Kingdom policy. The Prime Minister of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, Mr. Geoffrey Huggins, took a major part in the talk.

Mr. Swart is understood to have been keen when the South African Deputy Prime Minister, Mr. Charles R. Swart, took a major part in the talk.

It was felt to be significant that the only African to talk with the South African Deputy Prime Minister, Mr. Charles R. Swart, was the South African Deputy Prime Minister, Mr. Charles R. Swart.

Further stage in Cocos Isles plan

BILL TO CHANGE AUTHORITY

THE House of Commons on Monday night gave an unopposed second reading to a Bill authorising the Queen to place the Cocos Islands under the authority of Australia. Agreement for the transfer of the 27 islands from the control of Singapore was reached by Britain and Australia in 1953. Mr. Henry Hopkinson said that the 200 people who lived on the islands would retain British citizenship but in addition would have the right of acquiring Australian citizenship.

The rights of the Cactus family, which was granted perpetual lease of the territory by Queen Victoria, would remain unimpaired.

'No colour bar'
Examining the origin of the transfer, Mr. Hopkinson said British Chiefs of Staff considered the development of an air strip in the Cocos Islands would be a valuable base in any campaign in South East Asia. But they could not recommend the development in line with the strategic ground plan.

Mr. Hopkinson understood the maintenance of the air strip but considered it desirable that she should administer the islands by view of the east movement. Mr. John Duxford, former Labour Minister of State for Colonial Affairs, said the islands would receive much better treatment from Australia than South Africa. But the House would be no colour bar in the islands, he said. (Herald)

More Europeans v Europeans

Mr. Godfrey Higgins, Prime Minister of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, said that the arrival in Britain for the Commonwealth Bill had more Europeans than any other Commonwealth country. In a television Press conference he said: "We are doing very well. But unless we can do better than the Africans, we will not be able to get on." He said that the British Government would be able to compete with the Africans, but that the Africans would be able to compete with the British. He said that the British Government would be able to compete with the Africans, but that the Africans would be able to compete with the British. RAILWAY REVENUE UP 20 PER CENT

£150,000 under estimate: More passenger traffic

The approximate total revenue of the East African Railways during December was £1,230,862 compared with £1,019,772 for November and £1,230,864 for October. The total revenue for the whole of 1931 was approximately £12,314,640 compared with £11,500,000 in 1930—an increase of 7.1 per cent and about £150,000 more than estimated. Earnings from rail goods traffic during 1931 amounted to £1,199,200—an increase of 1.5 per cent over November and about 3,000 tons greater than in December 1930. November's revenue of 17,574 tons was the highest for any month since January 1925. Over the whole year, railings by tonnage were up 1.5 per cent and by value 13 per cent and there was an appreciable increase in road traffic revenue and in that from the marine services. An increase of 12 per cent was reflected in the earnings from passenger traffic.

Goods raised

Passenger earnings were approximately £210,000 more than in 1930, showing a 23.1 per cent increase. It is interesting to note that the total passenger earnings were £420,000 more than in 1930. The substantial improvement in road traffic revenue, being a substantial improvement in 1931 over 1930, was due to the increase of the year, an improvement which is attributed to the fact that in December itself, the revenue from rail goods traffic was £1,292,000 approximately, compared with £1,241,000 in November, 1931. The total revenue for the month was £1,230,862 compared with £1,019,772 in November, 1930. The estimated revenue for December and the whole year is as follows:

PRINCESS MARGARET: HER 24 Crowded Years

At the age of 24, Princess Margaret can look back on a life filled with more drama and turmoil than almost any child of her period in history. As a member of a monarch's family, she has lived through more than 15 years of wars with World War II, and the reign of Elizabeth II, she has been closer to the drama than most others of her generation.

It is to be true that intimate association with events of world-wide importance has not meant that Princess Margaret should have a good life. The people of the world who have had to know her will tell the same story. Her public duty at the age of 15 has long demanded that she should have a character that must approve of her as a real person, not just a figure in a pageant.

Born at Glamis

Princess Margaret was born at Glamis, Scotland, in 1930, the second daughter of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

PHYLIS DAVIES, English feature writer, contributes this article on Princess Margaret who this week starts her tour of the West Indies.

...the round of public duties then which through history events had fallen to her. The first six years of her life were spent mostly at her parents' London home, 14 Piccadilly, from where windows across Green Park, could be seen Buckingham Palace, the London residence of her grand parents, King George and Queen Mary. The gardens of her home, the height of London style in the 1930s, were laid out by the Princess Margaret at play with her baby sister.

A HOUSE BUILT FROM TWO ARMY HUTS

THIS is the story of one family's enterprise. It tells how they created a long, handsome white house with a silver roof of much hard work and ingenuity out of what has grown a home of one pretentious frame.

'MASTER MOVES' GET THE GOALS

Don Revie's clever technique

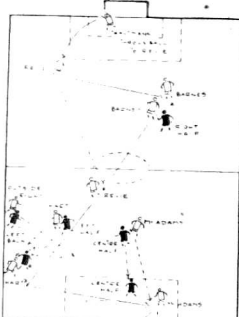

MANCHESTER CITY are one of the most talked about teams of the year. Last season they were way down the table. This season, with practically the same side, they've got a lot of their earlier sparkle, but everyone agrees they are playing a far finer football, culminating in last Saturday's Cup victory over neighbours United.

What is the secret? It is the fact that Don Revie will not let the opposition get into the game. This deep, steady, counter-attacking forward line has been very much in the news since the Glasgow Hibernian, Celtic, and Rangers sides have been playing against them.

Plays scheming game
Revie and played half-back and forward with great make him their own forward line. He plays a scheming inside forward's game. The game from behind his own forward line, and it is every player's job to know whether to let the centre-half go, or whether to double the job to a wing half or inside forward.

Well-defined passes
The ball is carried forward in short, well-defined steps. Don Revie will not let the opposition get into the game. This deep, steady, counter-attacking forward line has been very much in the news since the Glasgow Hibernian, Celtic, and Rangers sides have been playing against them.

World famous fight
It was reported that on February 18, Patterson would have a knockout bout in Milan with the champion, Dolio. It is believed that Patterson will have a knockout bout in Milan with the champion, Dolio. It is believed that Patterson will have a knockout bout in Milan with the champion, Dolio.

EUROPEAN PENSIONERS' PLAN OUTLINED

Proposals for increases

PROPOSALS for implementing the pensions of retired European officials, in view of increases awarded to serving officers under the Military Service, have been made by financial authorities in all East African Territories. It was reported at the annual meeting of the East African European Pensioners' Association, held in Haig House, Nairobi, on Thursday night.

The annual report of the executive committee presented by the secretary, Mr. H. H. Pease, revealed that last year's proposals had been formalized. It was proposed that the pensions of officers who retired after January 1, 1946, should be increased to the same extent as that in the pay of serving officers. A similar increase for a variable number of living allowances would initially be a per cent of the resultant figure.

Immigration Amendments WELCOMED

Fears of Asians proved wrong

THE amendments to the regulations were welcomed by Mr. C. H. Singh, Member for Central Area. He said that the East African Standard deserved the thanks of the community for the sympathy and understanding which it has shown in dealing with this difficult problem.

Although, he stressed, the Kenya Government has imposed restrictions on free immigration by marriage from India, that is, by preventing all immigration by this means have proved unworkable.

No hardship

Mr. Chandra Singh believed that the new regulations were necessary to enter the country only of those who were of legal age and that the marriage laws should be amended so that Hindu girls were allowed to marry before the age of 18, and many of them did not have the necessary financial resources, which would mean that they would find a suitable match before marriage.

He approved of the remaining amendments, which included the removal of the restriction on the number of husbands who had previously been married, and the removal of the restriction on the number of wives, which would mean that they would find a suitable match before marriage.

One Solution To The Problem Of Saturday Mornings

JOHN CHERRY describes a visit to the Kenya Arts and Crafts Studio in the Arboretum, Nairobi, during one of the Saturday morning art classes for children.

WHEN I was in Venice in 1950 I went to an exhibition of modern art which significantly I thought was free of which currency restrictions being what there was why I went.

The pictures were completely beyond my comprehension. I was not at all certain whether or not, by mistake, they'd been hung the wrong way up. And if they'd been on the ceiling, I'd probably have thought to be the better to understand them. What, although the authorities don't like it, is what they do in the British Chapel in the Vatican.

It was a very interesting thought for the time being, as I was in a small town in the hills. It was a very interesting thought for the time being, as I was in a small town in the hills.

A mother escorts her daughters for the classes

A child's instructive process and Mrs. Shillingford's instructions in drawing, painting and paper.

draw the children's attention to the children's own work. They then draw a picture of their own.

But—remembering my own experience in the world of art—they were all given up to be artists? I asked.

Appreciation

The answer was no, they weren't. But they will—of any one should give up with a sense of artistic appreciation. They won't be artists.

One of the children had gained a Christmas dinner, consisting of the "casserole" and the lamb. When a dinner is given, the children's imagination is first stimulated before actual painting starts so that they can see in their mind's eye the picture they intend to make.

Pictures

The older children, of course, create pictures more to the last, understanding—either sketched first and then painted or painted direct on to paper.

"...and, my dear, ... a release do I go from here?"

"...a little yellow in this corner"

"This particular spot requires concentration."

Four-year-old

But now I know that such children do have a meaning for the other day in Nairobi I saw one in process of execution. The artist was four years old.

Now that may be an interesting thought for the time being, as I was in a small town in the hills. It was a very interesting thought for the time being, as I was in a small town in the hills.

The Emergency

Due to the Emergency, parents are naturally loath to leave their children alone. They cannot come and play for hours, but for their own sake, and again, you are parents who are concerned.

How much fun is a dog's life?

A dog's life can be a lot of fun. Or it can be pretty grim. It really all up to you. Your dog doesn't ask much of life. A roof over his head, as many walks as you can give him, and meat of all, someone to look up to—preferably you.

But he also needs sound care and conditioning. He must have sufficient vitamins and minerals every day if he is to enjoy his life and to be healthy. Your dog will be better off if you give him the best of care.

There's another thing about these tablets, too. They have a dog-antacid. It means that your dog will be better off if you give him the best of care.

Premiers back economic plan
REVIEW OF PROGRESS
BY COMMONWEALTH

The past two years had economically been most successful for the whole Commonwealth. Mr. B. Butler, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the Commonwealth Prime Ministers conference in London, with Mr. Peter Thorneycroft, President of the Board of Trade, of the economic and financial situation in the discussion later the Ministers met to discuss the document adopted at their last Commonwealth development conference. The Prime Ministers agreed that the policy of internal economic and social development, and a general economic policy of collective approach to problems, had all paid good dividends.

They reaffirmed that this would continue to be the policy. They appreciated that expansion of trade, but they were in a strong position to take risks that Mr. Butler said in the review that as far as Britain was concerned production, investment and export should be encouraged. The increase in productivity had not been as high as they were able to achieve. There was a high level of imports which was necessary to meet the needs of the Commonwealth.

Free trade was the improvement in 1953 and 1954. The trend of my enquiries in London had nothing whatever to do with surrender terms. It was a very satisfactory, he said. He would repeat the welcome of his visit to the King of the Congo. He would also repeat the welcome of his visit to the King of the Congo. Soviet plans increase in arms budget
COUNTER TO GERMAN REARMAMENT MOVEMENT

The Soviet Union has announced that it will increase expenditure on arms by 20 per cent of the total Budget. This is the first for two years following Soviet warnings to the West that the proposed rearmament of West Germany would be met by strengthened forces of the Soviet Union.

It is hoped that the outcome of the Washington meeting will be a substantial agreement on the part of the American Government to reduce the stock of nuclear weapons and to reduce the stock of nuclear weapons and to reduce the stock of nuclear weapons.

CHINESE BLUNTLY REJECT U.N. INVITATION
Refusal to attend cease-fire talks
MR. CHOU BRANDS U.S. AS AGGRESSOR

COMMUNIST China has rejected the United Nations' invitation to attend the Security Forum cease-fire. She said she would send a representative only to discuss the Soviet resolution - which seeks to freeze the representative of the Chinese - and only has been driven out of the Security Council.

China's uncompromising rejection of the Security Council's invitation provoked with bitter disappointment the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference in London. Mr. Holland, Prime Minister of New Zealand, who long as the shooting continues, will have to be heard.

INDIA WARNS PORTUGAL ON 'REPRESSION' IN GOA

'Must bear full responsibility'

INDIA has appealed to Portugal to appreciate the historical developments that have taken place in the Indian sub-continent and the peoples' desire to throw off the colonial rule. A semi-official statement released in New Delhi said that in a N. 2 to the Portuguese Legation in New Delhi India stated that she had hoped that after the recent Indo-French agreement, withdrawal of France from her territories would have been approved by the Portuguese Government. However, she pointed out that she had recognised the "legitimate aspirations of the Portuguese settlers in Goa" and that she had been working to ensure that the Portuguese authorities were labelling their actions as repressive measures.

VIOLATION OF BAN CHARGED DENIED

BRITAIN has said Russia is not the world treaty stage germ or warfare except in regard to a Note delivered in Moscow, British India Government that the recent Paris Treaty ended the 1925 Geneva protocol violation of the use of germ weapons.

Similar replies were sent by the other signatories of the Paris Treaty when Russia announced its decision to withdraw from the Geneva protocol. France, Italy and the British Government. The British Note said that when the protocol was ratified Russia herself joined Britain in insisting that the right to retaliate in kind should not be interpreted as an authorisation to use such weapons against them. Both countries "thus reserved the right to manufacture and stock weapons".

Teigrams quoted The New-Unionist has charged with the attitude of Moscow in 1942. It quoted a warning telegram from Churchill to the British Government welcoming Britain's assurances that she would use atomic weapons only if the State used it against her.

The bar of retaliation, not the only ground, provided the basis for the effective prohibition of the use of atomic weapons in the body of the treaty. It stated that the use of atomic weapons was not a subject of the Geneva protocol. There was, however, a commitment of the Soviet Government to abstain from the use of atomic weapons, or still less to assist in the development of these weapons. (Reuter)

AIR TRAGEDY STRESSES NEED FOR FLIGHT PLAN

Six lessons to be learned

A RECENT aircraft incident in Kenya which ended in the death of the pilot emphasizes the need for all pilots to take advantage of the Air Safety Organization provided within the East African Territories, the Director of Civil Aviation, Mr. Stanley W. Collins, states in a circular.

The reference is to the crash of the aircraft of the Kenya Airways, a Douglas C-47, on the 27th of January, 1955, near the town of Mombasa, about 100 miles from Nairobi. The pilot, Mr. J. H. M. Smith, died on the 28th of January, 1955, and the aircraft was destroyed.

Lessons of time

"In this instance," Mr. Collins says, "the pilot failed to make a landing at the first suitable place. The result that may be expected, on action as taken by the authority to render assistance until three days had passed."

Mr. Collins also stresses the importance of the flight plan being filed in the office of the Director of Civil Aviation, Nairobi, and the need for the pilot to be in possession of a valid licence and to be in possession of a valid certificate of airworthiness.

THE PYRAMID OF HOUSING PROBLEMS

It has always seemed to me that a guiding factor in dealing with African problems is to take what is never Western methods so that the old idea probably sound in itself, become.

In this way, too, the colour and the tradition of African way of life will not be forgotten in our effort to bring the advantages of modernization to the continent.

It would appear that the problem of housing in the African continent is not only a problem of the African continent but also a problem of the world.

It is a question of housing which has been raised in the interior of the British west coast.

Then, in the early 20's, the African continent was the first to be hit by the housing problem.

As head of the Kenya African National Union, the health of the African continent is a matter of concern.

The housing problem in Kenya is a problem of the African continent.

It is a problem of the African continent, and it is a problem of the world.

The housing problem in Kenya is a problem of the African continent.

It is a problem of the African continent, and it is a problem of the world.

It is a problem of the African continent, and it is a problem of the world.
