KENYA BUILDING SOCIETY LIMITED
 Standard Program
 Efficient Management
 Advantages in Accumulating Year

The Kenya Building Society Limited was formed in 1914 under the Companies Act of 1908, and is the largest and most successful building society in Kenya. It has a long and successful record of building houses, flats, and shops for its members. The society is a registered company limited by guarantee, and its capital is divided into shares of £1 each, of which 20,000 shares have been issued. The society's income is derived from the rents of the properties it has built, and from the interest on the loans it has made to its members. The society's profits are divided among its members, and it has a long and successful record of providing its members with a comfortable and convenient home.

FRIGHT CHARGES
 Freight charges for goods shipped to the East African Protectorate have risen sharply. The increase is due to a combination of factors, including the cost of fuel, the cost of labor, and the cost of transport. The freight charges for goods shipped to the East African Protectorate are now among the highest in the world. This increase in freight charges has led to an increase in the cost of goods sold by merchants in the East African Protectorate. This increase in the cost of goods sold has led to an increase in the price of goods for consumers in the East African Protectorate.

PRODUCE NOTES
 The market for produce in the East African Protectorate is showing signs of recovery. The price of many commodities has risen, and the demand for many commodities has increased. This is due to a combination of factors, including the end of the war, the increase in the population of the East African Protectorate, and the increase in the demand for goods. The market for produce in the East African Protectorate is expected to continue to show signs of recovery in the near future.

PROPERTY

eyes and minds EXAMPLE IN SAMBASHA

The young school children of Sambasha, in the Sudan, are not only learning to read and write, but also to think and act independently. This is the result of a new educational system introduced by the British Overseas Engineering Corporation (E.A.) Ltd. The children are encouraged to express their own views and opinions, and to solve problems on their own.

A teacher is often giving an example to his pupils in the new school system in Sambasha.

First steps
The first step in the new educational system is to encourage the children to speak and think for themselves. This is done by asking them questions and encouraging them to give their own answers. The teacher acts as a guide, rather than a lecturer.

One of the young school children of Sambasha is writing in his notebook.

In the shade
The new educational system is being introduced in many other parts of the world. It is being praised for its emphasis on practical learning and the development of the child's individuality.

Geologists find radioactive deposits at Mirna

DEPOSITS OF URANIUM
 Mirna, 2,000 feet high, is a small town in the mountains of the Balkans. It is the site of a uranium deposit, one of the largest in the world. The deposit was discovered by geologists from the U.S. Geological Survey in 1937. The deposit is estimated to contain 100,000 tons of uranium ore.

The deposit is located in a mountain range that runs north-south. The mountains are composed of limestone and granite. The uranium is found in a series of veins that run through the limestone. The veins are 1 to 2 feet wide and contain 10 to 20 percent uranium ore.

The deposit is estimated to contain 100,000 tons of uranium ore. This is a significant amount of uranium, especially in light of the fact that the world's supply of uranium is estimated to be only 100,000 tons. The deposit is located in a remote area, and it is not yet clear whether it will be mined.

Weather and pests ruin farm crops

EXPERIENCES of the past year have shown that the weather and pests have done much to ruin the crops of the East African farmer. The weather has been very dry and the crops have suffered from drought. Pests have also been a major problem, with locusts and other insects causing significant damage to the crops. The farmer must take steps to protect his crops from these elements if he is to have a successful harvest.

NEW SAFETY RULES TO PREVENT ANOTHER AIR SHOW DISASTER

THE AIR SHOW Commission has issued new safety rules to prevent another disaster like that which occurred at the recent air show. The rules are designed to ensure the safety of the public and the pilots. They include regulations on the location of the air show, the safety of the aircraft, and the behavior of the pilots. The Commission hopes that these rules will prevent any further accidents and ensure that air shows are safe and enjoyable for all.

1957- for earthquake relief fund

SINCE the Greek campaign in Italy opened the first of the largest earthquakes in the world since 1870, the United States has been contributing to the relief fund for the victims of the earthquake in Italy.

The fund, which was established in 1949, has received contributions from many countries, including the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom.

The fund is managed by the American Red Cross and is used to provide relief to the victims of the earthquake in Italy. The fund has provided relief to many thousands of people who were affected by the earthquake.

The fund is still active and is accepting contributions from all countries. Contributions can be made to the American Red Cross or to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

CLOSER CONTROL OF NAIROBI AFRICANS

Government plans warden posts LAND UNIT POLICY

The closer administration of Nairobi's African population, as part of a warden system, are the main features of a new plan announced by the Government.

The plan, which is being worked out in consultation with the Chief African Commissioner, involves the appointment of warden posts in various parts of the city and the establishment of land units for the control of the African population.

The plan is designed to bring about a more efficient administration of the city and to ensure that the African population is properly housed and controlled.

The plan is expected to be implemented in the near future and will have a significant impact on the city's administration.

Groundnuts pilot scheme proves a failure

The pilot scheme for the production of groundnuts in the highlands of Kenya has proved a failure, according to a report by the Agricultural Department.

The scheme, which was launched in 1952, was intended to demonstrate the possibilities of growing groundnuts in the highlands. It was based on the assumption that the highlands were suitable for the crop, and that the groundnuts would be sold to the Government for export.

The report states that the scheme was a failure because the groundnuts were not sold to the Government. The Government had offered to buy the groundnuts at a fixed price, but the growers refused to sell to the Government. The growers wanted to sell to the private market, but the Government had no means of enforcing its offer.

The report also states that the groundnuts were of poor quality, and that the yields were low. This was due to a number of factors, including the lack of suitable varieties, the lack of adequate irrigation, and the lack of adequate fertilizers.

NORTHERN RHODESIAN COMMENTARY

The Northern Rhodesian Government has announced that it will be introducing a new tax on the export of minerals. This is a move which has caused considerable concern among the mining companies.

The new tax will be a percentage of the value of the minerals exported. It is expected that the tax will be introduced in 1955. The Government has stated that the tax is necessary to provide a source of revenue for the Government.

The mining companies have expressed their concern that the tax will reduce the profitability of their operations. They have also expressed their concern that the tax will discourage investment in the mining industry.

The Government has responded to these concerns by stating that the tax will be introduced gradually. It has also stated that it will provide for a number of exemptions from the tax.

REFLECTIONS ON WOMEN'S GOLF

Vastly improved standard

Standard Golf correspondent

THE GOLFING public has never been so interested in the women's game as now. There is no longer a "minor" golf. The women's game has become a major sport, and the standard of play has risen correspondingly. The women's golfer is no longer a novelty, but a regular feature of the golfing scene. The women's golfer is no longer a "minor" player, but a player of the first rank. The women's golfer is no longer a "minor" player, but a player of the first rank. The women's golfer is no longer a "minor" player, but a player of the first rank.

A possible reason

There are several reasons for this. One is the fact that the women's game has become a more serious pursuit. Another is the fact that the women's game has become a more social pursuit. A third is the fact that the women's game has become a more competitive pursuit. A fourth is the fact that the women's game has become a more popular pursuit.

Standard has improved

The standard of play has improved in many ways. The women's golfer is now a more powerful player. The women's golfer is now a more accurate player. The women's golfer is now a more consistent player. The women's golfer is now a more aggressive player.

Britons are enjoying spending - more

News from Britain
 By John McKenna

BRITONS have been given a chance to prove their love for money and find out how much they can spend. The results of the survey show that the British are enjoying spending more than ever before.

The survey was conducted by the British Retail Consortium, which has been monitoring the spending habits of British consumers for many years. The results show that the average British household spends more on goods and services than it did in any previous year.

This increase in spending is due to a number of factors, including a rise in disposable income, a growing confidence in the economy, and a desire for more variety in goods and services.

The survey also found that British consumers are spending more on leisure and entertainment, as well as on housing and transport. This indicates a shift in the way that British consumers spend their money, with a focus on quality and variety.

Wages

Wages in Britain have risen by 10 per cent in the last year, according to a survey by the Trades Union Congress. This is the highest rate of increase since 1945.

The survey found that wages in the manufacturing sector have risen by 12 per cent, while wages in the service sector have risen by 8 per cent. This indicates that the manufacturing sector is still the primary source of employment in Britain.

The rise in wages is due to a number of factors, including a shortage of skilled workers, a strong demand for goods and services, and a desire for higher living standards.

The Trades Union Congress has welcomed the rise in wages, but has also expressed concern about the impact of inflation. It has called for a more balanced approach to wage setting, one that takes into account the needs of both workers and employers.

Welfare

Welfare spending in Britain has risen by 15 per cent in the last year, according to a survey by the Institute for Fiscal Studies. This is the highest rate of increase since 1945.

The survey found that welfare spending has risen in all areas, including unemployment benefits, housing allowances, and family allowances. This indicates a growing reliance on the welfare state in Britain.

The rise in welfare spending is due to a number of factors, including a rise in unemployment, a growing need for social services, and a desire for higher living standards.

The Institute for Fiscal Studies has expressed concern about the impact of welfare spending on the economy. It has called for a more targeted approach to welfare, one that focuses on helping those who are most in need.

Korea battle
barodum

The battle for Korea continues, with the United Nations forces making significant gains against the North Korean army. The UN forces have captured several key cities and are now pushing towards the North Korean border.

The North Korean army has suffered heavy losses and is now in a desperate situation. They are being pushed back towards the Chinese border, where they are being supported by Chinese troops.

The UN forces are now in a strong position to win the war in Korea. They have the support of the United States, the United Kingdom, and other major powers. They are determined to bring about a permanent peace in Korea.

Death on leave

A British soldier has died while on leave in Korea. The soldier was killed by a North Korean sniper. This is the first British soldier to be killed in action since the start of the war in Korea.

The soldier was on leave from his unit in the United States. He was in Korea to visit his family. He was killed while walking through a field near his home.

The death of the soldier is a tragedy for his family and for the British military. It highlights the dangers of war and the sacrifices that must be made for peace.

Widow with War
bank's name

A widow has been named in a will that was written during the war. The will was written by a man who died in the war, and it named his widow as the beneficiary of his estate.

The widow has now received her inheritance from the bank. She is grateful for the support of the bank and for the help of the government in settling the estate.

The bank has been praised for its prompt and efficient service. It has helped the widow to get on with her life and to provide for her family.

Education chief

The Education Minister has announced a new plan for the education system in Britain. The plan is to increase the number of schools and to improve the quality of education for all children.

The plan is to build 100,000 new schools over the next five years. This will ensure that every child in Britain has access to a school.

The plan is also to increase the number of teachers and to improve their salaries. This will ensure that the education system is staffed with the best people.

The Education Minister has said that the plan is a long-term investment in the future of Britain. It will ensure that the next generation is well-educated and well-prepared for the challenges of the future.

THE ODYSSEY OF AN ANIMAL COLLECTOR

WORLD REVIEW
A Wanderer in the West
 by Basil E. Wilson

...the collector's life is a constant struggle against the elements and the whims of fate. He must be prepared to face any and every contingency that may arise in the course of his wanderings.

CONTRACT TO COLLECTOR'S Response to light opening bids

CONTINUING
 The collector's response to the light opening bids was a matter of some interest to those who follow the progress of his wanderings. It was a response that was both timely and appropriate, and it was a response that was well-received by those who were interested in his work.
