FARMING INDUSTRY HAS LONG HAUL AHEAD

From the One Country Government... the first few years of the Central African Federation... the success which attends moves now being made in Northern Rhodesia to have European agriculture transferred under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government rather than that of the Northern Rhodesian Territorial Government.

There are strong arguments in favour of this change, not least the fact that the Federation will create a position wherein a concentrated agricultural industry in all three Territories of the Federation will be able to make the Federal area self-sufficient by 1960.

NORTHERN RHODESIAN COMMENTARY

of the Federal Government, has produced facts and figures which show that, while the European farming industry has high potential of expansion, its rate of development in recent years has been far below what might have been expected.

It is true to say that agriculture like all other Northern Rhodesian industries has suffered from being completely overshadowed by the immense development and the bounding prosperity of the copper mining industry.

Even this fact, however, can hardly excuse a position where in 1951 of 4,500,000 acres of land available for European agriculture, only 1,000,000 acres were producing anything at all.

Many of these smallholdings are owned by men who are still working in the copper mines and who are investing their surplus money on their farms.

Even African farming has had a poor record of progress. Of the country's estimated 60,000 small African holders about half live on submarginal plots of a few acres. Only a small proportion of them are engaged in agriculture. The principal crops are maize, beans, potatoes and groundnuts. Some European farmers also produce 50,000 pigs of various breeds valued at about £1,200,000. In 1952 the Federal area produced 9,750,000 lb of groundnuts valued at about £1,200,000. In 1952 the Federal area produced 9,750,000 lb of groundnuts valued at about £1,200,000.

Six embassies in Addis Ababa

With the raising of the Indian legation to Embassy grade, six embassies—British, American, French, Egyptian, Italian and Indian—are now in Addis Ababa.

The British Legation was first to be raised to Embassy grade, in 1949, when it was moved to its present site in Legation Street.

The French Legation was raised to Embassy grade in 1950, the American Legation in 1951, the Egyptian Legation in 1952, and the Indian Legation in 1953.

Farmer's farm club

At Kimilili in Northern Kenya, 120000 acres have been formed themselves into a farmers club on the lines of those which were formed in British East Africa.

The club's first year shows that any member who does not develop his land on a proper plan, or who fails to carry out Agricultural Department instructions, will be expelled.

UP-COUNTRY CRICKET:

KONGONIS AT KERICO AND LONDANI

Tourists win both matches

A KENYA Kongonis cricket side, consisting mainly of Nairobi players, visited Kericho and Londani at the weekend and, as usual on this up-country tour, played two enjoyable games in pleasant and hospitable surroundings. Victory was in each case incidental to the game itself but the tourists managed to beat Kericho on Saturday by 96 runs and Londani on Sunday by 125 runs in two matches by seven wickets.

At Kericho, on Saturday, the Kenya Kongonis were met by a local side which had lost but not three quick wickets before the Dawson side were put out for 30 in the fourth over. Dawson and former touring captain, African Ten player, making 40 in the first over. The Kongonis eventually declared with their score at 107 in 27 overs. Goudsbary and Hartley bowled steadily for Kericho, the former taking 2-3-15-1 and 2-3-15-1. Kericho, after being a quick wicket, was given a good start by Polson (25) and Muri (25) but they were out for 30 in the 7th wicket fall. The tourists' excellent spell of bowling by D. Dawson whose final figures were 15 overs, 11 maidens, 17 runs, 4 wickets.

ended at first by a little good bowling, gradually on top of the bowling to a stand of 105 for the second wicket. Dawson was particularly strong on the leg side and scored 40 in being finely stopped by the tourists. The tourists' first batsmen had D. Dawson and Hartley both contributing to the total of 105 for the first wicket. Dawson was particularly strong on the leg side and scored 40 in being finely stopped by the tourists.

The last Kericho wicket fell in the 27th over as the stroke of time. At Londani, Sunday, the home side batted first in a 12-overs match. After playing two overs for 20 in the fourth over, Dawson and former touring captain, African Ten player, making 40 in the first over. District foursomes in retrospect

'Standard' Golf Correspondent

THE 20th event in the series of Nairobi District (Open) Foursomes competitions... The strongest club which has been around Nairobi—as witnessed by their competition record—is perfectly played and he should win many more.

Probably the best in pre-war days, Forrest was probably the best player in Kenya. Of course, a partner is also necessary for a foursome—and I sometimes think that that is what makes foursomes play so difficult.

But Forrest was one of the best foursomes competitors, both in and out of the country. His partner was not overlooked: R. D. Dawson, a wonderful player.

But, although foursomes are not as popular as they once were, they are still played in the Nairobi District. The best foursomes are those which have had a small margin of success.

Deserving mention are Kenyon, B. Patterson and Price of White Hill. Kenyon two downs in the earlier stages of the match.

STEP TO BRING HOME GRAVITY OF THE EMERGENCY

South Africa aid urged in approach to Westminster

BRITISH territories in Southern Africa should be urged to bring pressure on the Imperial Government over the South African Emergency but a rebellion in Kenya. This was decided at the end of a discussion...

The idea was suggested by Mr. H. C. Kirk and supported by Mr. R. N. Valby. They felt that the way the emergency could be convinced of the necessity was to lead a delegation through Tanganyika, Rhodesia and South Africa...

Dangerous point Look, this is a rebellion in Africa. Unless the situation in your territories brings pressure to bear on the Imperial Government, it is going to worsen. Time is becoming very precious because all the Africans in Kenya are losing confidence...

The resolution was carried by 27 votes to 11 and it was decided to send it to the Executive Members Organisation and the Electors' Union.

Storing up trouble 'We are starting up a lot of trouble by the present method of dealing with the Africans who look to Mr. Leitch for their future...

The Emergency was a most important issue at the discussion. Mr. Michael Blundell had asked the Executive Members Organisation for national government. All Members if it had been made...

Many of the measures asked had come too late their force had been lost. 'We have reached the point where there is no longer much occasion. Now we have to do on a pretty large scale things that would not have been necessary a year ago.'

Mr. Maiti has gained a great amount of sympathy...

that British justice is designed for a community 90 per cent of whom are not of our race...

Another Mr. Kirk said that security for the future could not be provided unless at least some capital left into the country...

There were two other things to be considered. The first was the attitude of the security forces who were very unhappy and discouraged.

There were two other things to be considered. The first was the attitude of the security forces who were very unhappy and discouraged.

Mr. Blundell said that it was up to the Trans Rona to clear out the Kikuyu. It is their duty to be loyal they could shift it by their efforts to help the Mau Mau...

Mr. Valby observed that when he was passing through Nairobi recently, he went round trying to assess the reactions of the community to the proposed...

Death of Eldoret founder of printing business 'Eldoret' Commercial Messenger's announcement...

Mr. Eberidge found out of the Galla Girls Hospital. He failed to receive the paper's support and after two years he was forced to cease publication.

Talking of HAIR... how is yours?

A great pity that a head of hair like this...

Too many men and women take their hair for granted. Only when it becomes dry and brittle or comes out on the comb, do they realize that, to look well, hair must be well. To understand hair health, you must understand how hair grows.

As you can easily prove by bringing a hair from your head and examining the "root", your hair begins beneath the skin. From a bulbous and it grows up through the scalp, drawing nutriment from special foods produced by the body and supplied from within.

10 Essential Substances
The hair's normal food consists of 10 separate substances to which Science has given such names as tryptophan, tyrosine and cysteine. A shortage of these can result in a hair that is brittle, falls out or grows in the form of those of the hair-raising disease, even gradual conversion into something falling hair which, if neglected, inevitably leads to baldness.

Now Science has discovered that in this kind of hair trouble (which is not for science has produced a remarkable treatment which will (1) give your hair new life, and vitality (2) act as a safeguard against unhealthy hair conditions (3) correct faults that have already developed and set your hair growing vigorously again.

This treatment is called Silvolene and consists of a combination of tryptophan, cysteine, cystine and all of the organic substances essential for the growth of hair. Merged into the body, Silvolene carries on where Nature never got, feeding the hair with the vital nutriment it needs.

If you are suffering from severe dandruff, greasy scalp or falling hair, you must take a course of Pure Silvolene. There is no other product in the world like it. For the reasons given, Silvolene Hair Tonic Lotions will be the most effective treatment. And Silvolene Lotion with O.D. in the "right-eye" design for every type of hair. It will give your hair a beautiful, healthy appearance, a well-defined, natural look, a new brilliance and life!

Remember the Silvolene product, the one you want for a better to-day. For there is no other product in the world which does what Silvolene can.

More game with strict control

With strict measures being taken under the Game Act, game in the Bulwer Controlled Area is increasing.

The area covered by the game control is particularly well stocked with topi, haribon, and other game birds. There were two generations of topi in the area in 1953. The topi population in the area is estimated to be about 1,000 birds.

Haribon were first noticed in the area in 1953. They are now breeding in the area and are expected to be present in large numbers in the area in 1954.

The programme, which included songs by Messrs. Bellis and Bransford, covered the first four years of the Scout and Guide movement in Kenya. The first Scout pack was formed in Nairobi in 1910, and the first Guide troop was formed in Nairobi in 1912.

AT CHRISTMAS TIME WHEN THE BERRIES ARE RED

At Christmas time in Kenya, the bright red berries of the coffee tree are the most suitable for growing coffee.

Like every coffee farmer in Kenya, Mr. Asgard has experienced the past years with a good coffee crop—last year it brought the price an average of KSh 4 in a ton and an estimated 20 per cent in value of Kenya's total exports.

made of horizontally placed steel poles. This is a long and wear-tiresome business, and in order to save labour, Mr. Asgard has a machine which will copy the coffee beans direct to the drying tables.

Four stages

It was a pity, he remarked, that the machine did not take a greater interest in the coffee. It was not a machine, but a great deal of improvement on the old-fashioned mechanism.

The coffee beans, he explained, go through four stages when drying. The first stage, the "black" stage, and finally the "berry" stage, when they are ready to be put into sacks and sent to the market. The berries which are laid out on steel trays material on the tables take for an average, six to seven days to dry. The African labourers turn the beans continually throughout the day to cover the steel tray surface to keep the heat even. When there is particularly heavy rain, the berries are covered with a sheet over the table, but all over the world coffee farmers do this.

The coffee farmer, Mr. B. Asgard

Saving

Even though the bad years Mr. Asgard has had his berries and soil in coffee for he is never happy unless he is doing new ways of improving both the machinery conditions on the farm, and the quality of the coffee. It was able to see that the machine was a great improvement on the old-fashioned type in the respects which he considers most vital.

The walk was stopped to examine the machine. The inventor, Mr. Asgard, however, perfect the machine and method of transport for he is never able to give much time to individual attention and supervise the work that is going on in the bushes. As an expert, one day he had the work ground after the farmers had finished their day's work, and found that they constituted no less than 20 per cent of the total day's working. Which just shows what can be saved by careful supervision!

Right at hand, he said, but the most of years he had to go to the market to buy the machinery. In 1952 he spent the money to get a tractor for the management of a large coffee farm. It was a tractor with a winch, and he has been using it ever since. The tractor is a 10-horsepower model, and he has been using it for the past few years.

Mr. Asgard helps the tractor along its way through the coffee bushes.

Here the pulped coffee beans were being covered by a continuous flow of water moving through the inclined wooden division. It is the same time graded by means of a heavy and better grade of coffee to stick to the belt and the lighter to flow over the top. Several Africans were helping the beans on their way by walking through the chute and carrying them to the ground.

Later we boarded the lorry loaded with the coffee done at the factory, and here they were in the hands of a lorry driver, sent specially to Mr.

The factory

At four o'clock all the African girls picked the coffee beans who arrived with the lorry from the coffee field. They were sent to the factory, and the girls were sent to the factory to pick the coffee berries. The girls were sent to the factory to pick the coffee berries. FOUR WAYS TO COOK CABBAGE

By Diana Nielsen

MOST people have only one way of cooking cabbage and that is why everyone in the family despises it so much. Nevertheless, there are several different ways to make it more attractive.

This is a Danish recipe for Stewed Cabbage. For four people wash and cut up a large cabbage into shreds, then take a big saucpan and put in the cabbage, either in one or two gallons. (If you can't soare so much a little less will do.) Let that stew for 15 minutes. Then put in the shredded cabbage, stir occasionally to prevent it from burning. In about half an hour it will be evenly tender. To this add two cups water or one cup vinegar and half a cup of sugar. Let this boil for two hours with the lid on, taking care to stir it often. Before serving taste it to see if you need a little more sugar or vinegar as the amount required varies according to taste.

YOU NEED BISMAC

IS YOURS A GOOD BABY

Is your baby healthy and happy? If so, you are probably using Bismac. It is a safe, effective medicine for babies. It is available in all chemists and druggists.

Another idea

CABBAGE in White Sauce is another simple recipe. To this you boil a cabbage the usual way, but make a white rice sauce. Strain the cabbage and put it up in small pieces. Then mix with the sauce, adding a little sugar. Before serving taste it to see if you need a little more sugar or vinegar as the amount required varies according to taste.

If you're used to making Scandinavian cabbage, you'll find this recipe a little different. It is a safe, effective medicine for babies. It is available in all chemists and druggists.

Wool Put Waves Into Hair

If your hair naturally curly? If so, then you are perhaps you are one of the millions who derive their hair-curl by artificial means.

Whatever your lot, most women seem to believe that curled or wavy hair is more becoming, even though Nature might have destined otherwise. And, of course, hair which has some curl in it offers so much more scope for styling and change of appearance.

When nowadays are perhaps hair-owners are more concerned with the appearance of their hair than with the health of it. The fact that hair is made of protein and that it is subject to natural and lasting effects which follow today's trend for artificial means, and clearly, too, since its latest treatment, is a fact which is not generally appreciated.

For this admirable aid to glamour, women have had to thank the chemists who have developed the real research on the structure of wool fibres set to the invention of cold permanent waves. The fact that these waves are permanent after only a few washings is a discovery as not so astonishing when you are aware that sheep's wool and human hair are chemically almost alike. For that reason, the wool treatment can be applied to human hair, with the necessary adjustments to suit the structure of the hair, for far more money and time are devoted to the treatment of human hair than to that of wool.

But how does the cold "perm" work? Both hair and wool are made up of a complex structure of protein fibres which are held together by disulfide bridges. These fibres are composed of minute particles or molecules, each of which is made up of a long chain of amino acids. The structure, linked together lengthwise by means of bridges or bonds at intervals.

If wool this is an asset, for it means that articles of wool clothing will retain their shape and the give of wool carpeting will spring back after being crushed by feet or furniture. Yet when it comes to curling it is a disadvantage.

It is quite easy to twist a strand of hair round your finger because of the chain-like structure of the fibres. When you release it, the fibres spring back to their original position. This is how your hair fibre is held in its natural state. It is only when you apply heat to the hair that the disulfide bridges are broken and the hair is set to the new position. At the same time, the hair is set up within the fibre and the hair is to become permanently curled. The bridges, however, stop the curling from setting up. Therefore, it is necessary to break down the bridge structure and allow the chains of amino acids to slip past each other. This is done by the use of a chemical solution which breaks down the disulfide bridges. This is done by the use of a chemical solution which breaks down the disulfide bridges. This is done by the use of a chemical solution which breaks down the disulfide bridges.

WOMEN TOLD 'THERE'S A JOB TO BE DONE'

ALTHOUGH the increasing number of problems implicit in the Emergency day talking points all over the Colony, there are, in fact, many other urgent problems unrelated to the present situation which must not be overlooked. One of them is the great increase in population and for the purposes of this article, it is the female population.

In 1948 there were 10,500 European women of 20 and over in Kenya, about 2,800 of them in Nairobi. At the end of 1953 there were approximately 14,000 in Kenya, about 5,000 in Nairobi. Taking 1950 as a rough average, an increase of 30 per cent, one must take into account the fact that of that 1948 figure a good number of women have left the Colony, so in fact, the increase is still more arresting.

Things they miss

HOW are those women being absorbed into the life of the community? Perhaps we are being asked to help them. They are being absorbed into the life of the community. They are being absorbed into the life of the community. They are being absorbed into the life of the community.

THIS is exactly what happens during the course of permanently waving hair. The hair is soaked in a solution which breaks down the disulfide bridges. This is done by the use of a chemical solution which breaks down the disulfide bridges. This is done by the use of a chemical solution which breaks down the disulfide bridges.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS

HISTORY - ANCIENT AND MODERN

The previous work of Mr. Arthur Bryant has been characterized by its brilliant presentation of facts in a readable period. But he has now struck out on a much vaster canvas which holds promise of a masterpiece more than life to detail.

UNDER REVIEW
The History of England, The Making of a Nation by Arthur Bryant
Report on Indo-China, by Bernard Newman

back into the legendary past, beginning with the time when the British Isles were part of the continent of Europe... The Making of a Nation has covered in some detail the tribal life of the ancient Britons... As a genre one would expect this study of the earliest history of the British Isles to have a somewhat epic quality...

TWO further volumes are promised, the second covering the Later Middle Ages the Elizabethan period and the 17th century, and the third, commencing with the War of the Roses and ending with recent times... On the record of his past achievement and of this first volume of his new work, it would appear that Mr. Bryant's new series will be a most welcome one...

Mr. Bryant's new series will be a most welcome one... The overall impression is one of the great benefits brought by the French administration in many fields, especially health and education... The book is illustrated with 48 excellent photographs...

The Staff Quarters of Nairobi's New Nurses

she one woman "on the spot," Miss McKean led the way to her own suite... She was a charming, alert and attractive woman in the sitting-room. Her looks gave an impression of a woman who had never before left their house.

Speaking to some of the young girls on their different surroundings, she said she hoped that once their presence in Kenya will offer them the hospitality which is almost a by-word throughout the world... It was not surprising that the Matron should be anxious for her charges although the benefits were so very young to be in such a responsible role...

THE THINGS THEY SAY...

Being quotations from B.B.C. talks
ONCE the children are off to school and the man off to work, the house becomes an eerie place... The new hospital will not be opened until late March or early April, and until then it will remain a silent but forlorn place...

"Given the deplorable conditions of all existing societies, these conditions have been planned so that the staff of this hospital will take the staff from the Princess Elizabeth and her family... Before leaving it was taken over to the Matron's house where I met Miss Whamond...

ON THE SCREEN IN NAIROBI

PLAYHOUSE

IN Tenth Street, Jim Crawford makes a triumphant return to the studio where he first won fame... When I heard that it was hoped to erect a playhouse locally it seemed to me that there would be no lack of value... The playhouse will be at once the most advanced and the most complete in Nairobi...

THE PEOPLE OF ISRAEL

By Cyril Dunn

Cyril Dunn, 'Observer' correspondent, gives his impressions of the youthful State of Israel after a recent visit to that country. 'Nooboy', he says, 'knows Israel who hasn't been there!'

Liess was one of the most important factors used in ancient Israel and she was grown in abundance. From the westwards, however, this substance is imported. It is still used even on a large scale and the industrial processing of the produce of these areas is one of the main activities of the State. The picture shows some of the fields around the State, typical new settlements.

No smiles

CRASHING by air surfaces... The impact a little. All airports are much alike. At Lydda—the Israel airport—the only obvious difference is that the airport officials never seem to smile. This is not due to any dislike of the air travellers but it is a result of the fact that the air travellers are considered unrefined and has been consistently expected along with other travellers in human behaviour.

On the outskirts of Tel Aviv... On the outskirts of Tel Aviv one begins to realise about the roadside there are great white blocks of concrete balconies like drawers pulled out and left open. The same sort of thing may be seen at the semi-demolished cities of the West German Federal Republic. The crowded terrace-restaurants... The 'Place'—the moving Hebrew indication which Israel might think of as 'the place'.

Social strat

THE Jews are social strata... In Tel Aviv—no not as a European city as in the old European cities, but vivacious and apparently flourishing... The people who parade along the sidewalks are proud to meet you the man who stands with a courtesy which is baffling but somehow not at all enlightening on the whole.

Settlements

WITH this accompaniment... drawn from the... the innumerable repertoire... the new setting.

causing one wonders how the trails ever get to meet. But in Israel... In all the settlements, the old ones with their trees and lawns, the new one on the bare brown earth, the spirit... In all the settlements, the old ones with their trees and lawns, the new one on the bare brown earth, the spirit... In all the settlements, the old ones with their trees and lawns, the new one on the bare brown earth, the spirit...

the arrival of strangers at a settlement makes you a stippie on the map. Nobody here asks for the group of Europe.

One room

THE man and his wife live in one allotted room. If there are more children, as when weaned to the Children's Home and the father and mother go to work, the father and mother are put to European modern and functional furniture. The father and mother are put to European modern and functional furniture. The father and mother are put to European modern and functional furniture.

Yemenites

THESE are the old Europeans, who have made their own decisions and are achieving great wonders of courage and endurance. They are not new immigrants from the countries of the East. What impresses you about them first—and about about the unsmiling, ragged, but splendidly clean-cut Yemenites from Arabia—is the great ability with which they are regarded by Israelis with European pride.

PROSPERITY IN UGANDA Governor's denial on new Kabaka PUNISHMENT HINT TO TROUBLE-MAKERS

By Sir Andrew Cohen, Governor of Uganda, yesterday when he addressed the new Uganda Legislative Council at its first meeting at Kampala. He gave an assurance that the country would remain indefinitely one peasant farmer and cattle keeper. Agriculture must continue to be its principal source of wealth. Within reasonable limits, industry and mining must be developed to reduce the country's dependence on cotton and coffee but people need not fear the growth of large industrial areas.

There was a report that the Government intended to impose a new Kabaka on the Baganda. That was absolutely untrue, the Governor said. The 1900 Agreement laid it down that a new Kabaka must be elected by the Great Lukiko, after which the appointment must be approved by Her Majesty's Government. While the Government would like to see a new Kabaka elected by the Lukiko, we will not force this.

Sir Andrew warned the Council that the Uganda Government would not tolerate any form of violence or incitement to disaffection or violence. "There are people outside this Council—in the Government, in the army, in the police, in the press, in the public—who are anxious to do us harm. We have to be vigilant against such people. We must not allow anyone to speak falsely. We must not allow anyone to speak truthfully in a way which is calculated to do us harm. We must not allow anyone to speak truthfully in a way which is calculated to do us harm. We must not allow anyone to speak truthfully in a way which is calculated to do us harm."

Political and administrative reforms, agreed on last October by the Kabaka, were under consideration. On any institution of a new Kabaka, the Government would be guided by the interests of the people and the interests of the country.

ASSURANCE ON FEDERATION
The events of two months ago may have led some to believe that the Government was in a hurry to announce a plan for the federation of East Africa. Royal welcome by 120,000 children MASS ASSEMBLY AT SYDNEY

More than 120,000 boys and girls gave the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh their own special welcome at Sydney yesterday. The city claimed it to be the biggest mass assembly of children ever attempted in the world. It seemed certainly the noisiest. They were gathered on the cricket ground, show ground and in the Centennial Park.

The Queen drove through the city in a motorcade. She was greeted by thousands of children. The Queen drove through the city in a motorcade. She was greeted by thousands of children. The Queen drove through the city in a motorcade. She was greeted by thousands of children.

POLICE FORCE OVERHAUL Wide changes advocated in Commission report

Important recommendations affecting the organization, administration and expansion of the Kenya Police Force are made in the report of the two-man Commission appointed in July last year. The report, which was laid on the table of the Legislature, is likely to be the subject of a Commission report.

The Commission's main recommendations are: 1. New intensions rates of pay should be introduced. 2. There should be a new rank of sergeant. 3. The present structure within the Inspectorate and the lower ranks is an anomaly which is hindering efficiency. 4. A working party should be set up to study the present structure of the force.

UGANDA GOVERNOR FLYING TO LONDON Talks on current situation QUIET 'MOURNING' DAY

The Governor of Uganda, Sir Andrew Cohen, is flying to London on Sunday, on what is officially described as a "short visit" to discuss the current situation in the Protectorate with Mr. Oliver Lyttelton, the Colonial Secretary.

Our London Correspondent cables: "Sir Andrew Cohen's projected visit to London is not a simple change of routine of Colonial Office policy towards the Kabaka."

There was considerable speculation in London in this direction following the announcement, but official circles deny the possibility.

The subjects for discussion between Sir Andrew Cohen and Mr. Lyttelton were described officially as the current situation in Uganda, and this is taken to mean precisely what it says, particularly in relation to the Kabaka's forthcoming visit.

It is believed that Mr. Lyttelton invited Sir Andrew to visit London as a result of a letter on his way to Northern Rhodesia.

The announcement of the visit yesterday coincided with the first day of what was originally proposed, and later vetoed by the Governor, for the exiled Kabaka of Buganda.

Though nearly all African shops were closed on the day, the main streets were normally busy, with many people walking about in the streets, some wearing their traditional headwraps.

MILK AND BREAD SUPPLIES HIT

More district officers needed for Kikuyu Guard

EFFORTS are being made to appoint more district officers for the Kikuyu Guard. The aim is to put a further boost and to provide it with a greater measure of European leadership.

In a statement to the East African Standard yesterday, Col. P. A. Macriore, Director of the Kikuyu Guard, said: "Advantages are being offered to the Police for the recruitment of more district officers for the Kikuyu Guard."

It is understood that the Government is considering the possibility of appointing more district officers to the Kikuyu Guard. This would be a significant step towards increasing the European presence in the force.

Young men are being recruited for the Kikuyu Guard. The Government is offering incentives to attract more young men to the force.

JUDGE'S VIEWS ON SURRENDER

Proclamations—and law
Surrender offers made to Mau Mau thugs have any effect in a court of law? This question was posed by Mr. Alfred Justice Harley, at Nakuru, when giving judgment in the case of Wangamwa, who was convicted of treason in possession of arms without lawful authority.

The judge stated that the law is clear and that the Government's offer of amnesty does not apply to those who have committed serious crimes. He emphasized that the law must be upheld.

Government's word
The Government's word is its strength. It is essential for the Government to stand by its promises and to maintain the rule of law.

Outstanding performance by Civil Service player CAUDLE HITS CENTURY, TAKES 5 FOR 28

Cymkhana-Oswals draw

HIGHLIGHT of Sunday's game between Civil Service and Machelo's XI at the former's ground in Nairobi was John Caudle's first all-round game for Civil Service with his first no-out century of the season and a bowling return of five wickets for under 20 runs in the first 14 boundaries in his 28 overs.

Civil Service had two century men, Morris and Caudle and 17 runs for the fourth and Machelo and Elliott 124 for the fifth wicket.

Machelo batted badly but had an opening batsman's worth of runs. He was out only for 10 runs but he had the second highest score of the match with 40 runs. He was out for 134 for the first time.

The last eight batsmen, however, only scored a dozen or less. The total was 144 runs.

Porter makes 93

The opening batsman, David Porter, made 93 runs in the first 14 overs. He was out for 144 for the first time.

The two models are alike in dimensions and appearance, different in purpose and appeal. The Vauxhall 15 is a 28-horsepower engine, offers really outstanding performance, coupled with a surprising degree of economy.

Think of a quality you value in modern car design—fuel economy, five-passenger room and comfort, driving facilities, high performance without high engine revs, luggage space, high performance without high engine revs, Vauxhalls have it, without qualification and without cost.
