Korean war impetus to Empire trade is easing

THE sharp increase in Commonwealth trade which began after the outbreak of the Korean war is showing signs of easing, according to the Foreign Office. The sharp increase in trade of individual Commonwealth countries (excluding India) after the outbreak of the Korean war had set in train a steady rise in Commonwealth trade and continued into the first quarter of this year. Commonwealth exports to the United Kingdom in the first quarter of this year were valued at £2,200 million, compared with £1,800 million in the corresponding quarter of last year. The increase in Commonwealth trade is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the United Kingdom is a major importer of raw materials and semi-finished goods from Commonwealth countries. The increase in trade is also due to the fact that the United Kingdom is a major exporter of manufactured goods to Commonwealth countries.

DECLINE IN SIZE OF BRITISH FAMILIES

THE British have in 1951 had 4.4 per cent fewer children than in 1946, according to a report published last week. On April 2, 1952, the birth rate was 142 per cent of the 1946 level, while in 1951 it was 137 per cent. The report, issued by the Registrar General, shows that the number of children born in 1951 was 1,142,000, compared with 1,200,000 in 1946. This decline is attributed to a combination of factors, including a general economic depression, a shortage of housing, and a change in public opinion regarding family size.

Childless - Unthought of - The number of childless couples in Great Britain has risen to 1,400,000, according to a report published last week. This represents a 10 per cent increase since 1946. The report also indicates that the number of couples with one child has fallen by 10 per cent, while the number with two children has risen by 10 per cent. These changes are seen as a reflection of the economic and social conditions prevailing in the country.

THE CHAIRMAN OF THE ROYAL COMMISSION

Resignation
Peace
Standard London Correspondent

The resignation of Sir Hugh Lushington, Chairman of the Royal Commission on East Africa, is a significant event. It marks the end of a period of intense scrutiny and public debate over the future of the territories under British administration.

The Standard London Correspondent reports that Sir Hugh's resignation was a direct result of the pressure exerted by various interest groups and the public. He had faced a series of challenges, including demands for greater self-government and concerns over the welfare of the native population.

In his resignation, Sir Hugh expressed his deep concern for the future of East Africa. He believed that the current path was not sustainable and that a more radical approach was needed to address the needs of the people. He hoped that his resignation would prompt a re-evaluation of the Commission's terms of reference.

The resignation has led to a period of uncertainty. The Government is now faced with the task of appointing a new Chairman and re-examining the Commission's mandate. It is clear that the issues surrounding East Africa are far from resolved, and the path forward remains unclear.

Administered Mau Mau oath: Kikuyu jailed for ten years

STANDING discreetly at the threshold of the Fine Arts Memorial Hall, Nairobi, was an imposing-looking African. He had no money to pay the entrance fee but when it was learned that he was an exhibitor at the Nairobi exhibition of the Kenya Arts and Crafts Society readily paid for his ticket and was admitted to the hall. William Aaga, bedecked with pride at his painting of Mau Mau warriors.

The Mainly-For-Women Page 'STARLAND' COMES TO NAIROBI

A few days ago Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra and Grace Kelly flew into Nairobi for a short stay. Clark Gable and a little 'Starland' in Nairobi. Here three writers tell you what the stars are like.

AVA GARDNER

Brian Parkes

WHEN I was asked to write about Ava Gardner, I was a bit at a loss. I had never seen her in person, but I had seen her in the movies. I had seen her in 'Catalina' and 'The Killers'. I had seen her in 'The Big Boy' and 'The Killers'.

Every day...

A PONDEROUS MAULING BOUT

What has happened to Don Cockell?

by Freddie Mills

What has happened to Don Cockell? The former world champion has been mauling whom I saw in the ring on the 12th when he met Bull, but I do not know the name of the boxer he was. He is a very big man, and I think he must call his weight class a ponderous mauling bout. I saw him in the ring on the 12th when he met Bull, but I do not know the name of the boxer he was. He is a very big man, and I think he must call his weight class a ponderous mauling bout.

Apartheid effect on production

Special rates in the East African Stock Exchange

London, November 12

The Financial Times says that further supplies of foreign capital to South Africa both in quantity and cost may be affected unless trade can be re-established on a reasonable basis of good will between the races.

The paper said there was also the risk of restricted foreign exports, and such a new trade war, which might be provoked by the South African Government's policy of "apartheid" and the possibility that the Government could be reluctant to accept any restriction on the export of minerals.

The newspaper said it was not clear whether the South African Government intended to make a concession to the "apartheid" policy. It was pointed out that the Government would not be able to do so without the consent of the Government of the Cape, which is the only province in which the two races live together.
