the conqueror of our own champion, Jack Gardner, in turn met his Waterloo, although the battle was fought on a few miles away in Brussels, Belgium, nearly 38 and 40 years ago.

Since his arrival in Britain last year, "Hoppe" has been a success story. He has won many titles, including the European heavyweight champion, a result of his victory over the German, Max Baer, in London last year. He has also won the British title, a result of his victory over the American, Archie Moore, in London last year.

NEWS FROM BRITAIN By D. T. Roberts

First signs of Churchill touch

WHAT has Winston Churchill achieved in the three months since he became Prime Minister? The question must have come to thousands who listened to his British last week by his broadcast address to the President of the United States Congress.

The main achievement, in his own words, has been the better national independence. But many people feel in this and in many other things. In fact, the problems we face in Malaya, in Persia, in India and elsewhere are a direct result of the trouble and indecision that ruled in the past.

What I am referring to is a general impression, not a party programme. The Labour Party, which provided their own means of living, had a very definite programme. Even the supporters of Labour who were in opposition, and those of the Conservative Party who were in opposition, were coming to see that the Conservative Party were not the only party in the country. It was not until the election of Churchill that it was clear that there was a new party in the country.

It was only through unity that they would be able to make their Chamber strong and their voice heard in the many problems which had beset them and would beset them this year.

While dealing with the subject of racial relationships, the President had by no means ignored the progress of all members and whatever race of colour, and whatever religion, they were Tanganyikans and he urged them to be united to develop their district. # Now that they love reading

By Mary Kenney
BOTH our children have now learned to read and the elder of the two, true to the age-old adage, is becoming a really voracious devourer of books. Anything that comes his way is read by him—the same bottle label as he has for his favourite catalogue. Like all true lovers of reading she reads for the sake of it and we are hoping to develop this trait along the right lines.

Since the first book that she has bought and read has been a picture book, she has been reading to her. Books of all the latest authors, including Peter Pan, The Wind in the Willows, and the new favourites, are coming out in particular. She is particularly fond of reading about animals and she has been reading to her about the life of the honey bee.

COMES a popular age she should be given a more serious book. The type of book that she should be given is one that is both entertaining and educational. The type of book that she should be given is one that is both entertaining and educational. The type of book that she should be given is one that is both entertaining and educational.

FELT SKIRTS TOP OF THE PARIS FOLL

The International Wool Secretariat describes the newest fashions in wool.

PARIS dressmakers have for years been showing blouses and skirts, but the vogue this year is something special. The latest designs are jaunty, irate and striking in colour and style. They are the most effective outfits in the whole couture. All the skirts are in wool. This is important because the fabric is both the most durable and the most comfortable. It is also the most beautiful because it is so soft. Every Paris couturier is producing these skirts, ranging from the simple to the elaborate. They are made of felt, which is a very soft and warm fabric. It is also very durable and does not shrink or stretch. It is a very good fabric for skirts. The skirts are made of felt, which is a very soft and warm fabric. It is also very durable and does not shrink or stretch. It is a very good fabric for skirts.

Life-saving Incubator

M. JOSEPH TOMLIN, M.B., B.S., an instructor at St. James' Hospital, Leeds, in Northern England, has invented an incubator which, it is claimed, will keep alive the smallest premature baby. It has already been used successfully for three babies. The incubator is a small, portable device that can be used in a hospital or at home. It is a very good device for premature babies. # THE RETURN OF THE TIARA

By Dorothy Barkley

FIVE years ago tiaras were considered a thing of the past. They were thought of as old-fashioned and out of place. But now they are back in fashion. They are being worn by women of all ages and in all social classes. They are being worn by women of all ages and in all social classes. ## Kenya Electors Union

To the Editor:—I am surprised at the views you express in your editorial of January 14 under the heading "Rural Education" in regard to the Kenya Electors' Union. It has been the proper concern of the Union to stop the Government from stopping its views on this subject, and the members of the Union who are in contact with the Government and the members of the public together in their own capacity.

As a member of the Executive Committee, I cannot but be surprised and disappointed by the way in which you have treated the Union in your editorial. It is not only highly disrespectful but also a matter of concern to the members of the Union. The views of the Union are not only in contact with the Government but also in contact with the members of the public together in their own capacity. # With An Artist In The Sahara

The principal object of MICHAEL ROSS in going across the Sahara in a motor car was to draw the inhabitants of this fabulous area, including the Touareg or veiled men of the desert. In this article the author gives an account of his not uneventful Odyssey, illustrated with some of the drawings he was able to make on the spot.

The woman rode in from neighbouring emmanations soon captured by their children.

WE had already gone half-way across the Sahara before we reached the country of the Touareg. The same old children days I had those fantastic memories of the desert. I was thrilled by the sight of the last and best of the Touareg, the veiled men of the desert. They were dressed in their traditional robes and head coverings, and their faces were hidden behind their veils.

NEW AMATEUR BOXING RULES

Friday's boxing tournament organised by the Regent Boxing Club was the first I had seen since the amateur rules, the principal deviations from those of earlier days being the double laying claim to the referee in the ring.

Some of the boxing was poor, but it was not until the first round of the first fight that neither of the two contenders was able to do anything more than jab and feint. So far as the amateur rules are concerned, it has already been pointed out that the referee's position is a very important one in the new code.

What It Means To Be A Lady-in-Waiting

The British Court's most expert Royal aides accompany Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to the Royal Wedding.

Princess Elizabeth's lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Elizabeth Blyth, is one of the most experienced of the Royal Household.

The duties

The lady-in-waiting is responsible for the personal needs of the Princess, including her wardrobe and jewelry.

Busy job

The lady-in-waiting's duties are often very busy, especially during the Royal Wedding preparations.

Introductions

The lady-in-waiting is often the first to introduce the Princess to new acquaintances.

Clarence House Is A Real Home

Describing the London residence of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, FRANCES ORMOND says it is a home and not a show palace.

ONE job in which the humbles of women can compete with the most exalted is that of house-making.

Princess Elizabeth has made some sense out of the term 'home'.

Reminders of the Commonwealth

The lady-in-waiting is often reminded of the Commonwealth through the gifts she receives.

The Nursery Suite

The nursery suite at Clarence House is a beautiful and practical space for the young Duke and Duchess.

Final triumph

The lady-in-waiting's final triumph is the successful completion of the Royal Wedding preparations.

Princess Elizabeth's sitting-room at Clarence House, furnished entirely with wedding presents. In 18th-century style the chimney-piece is of an antique Italian design—Kensington Palace.

RICHARD COLLIER meets the man who dresses 'Royalty'

MR. AMIES AND THE PRINCESSES

THERE'S A REASON WHY ASPRO HAS A SPECIAL APPEAL FOR WOMEN

The modern woman, living as she does in almost gas-tight enclosures, demands relief from whatever aches and pains. She must have a pain-reliever which not only acts quickly but does not have after-effects which prevent her from going about things as usual. Headache after-effects such as dizziness, depression, or "slowing up". That is why ASPRO has a special appeal for women. ASPRO, free from harmful drugs, leaves you fresh and alert after the pain is gone.

THE CHEMIST OF ASPRO - The purity of ASPRO conforms to the standard laid down by the Royal Pharmaceutical Society.

Five clubs compete for Jorg's Cup

FINAL DRAFT SCHEME TO BE FORMULATED

A CONFERENCE on the lines of the Victoria Falls meeting of last September is to be held in London in April to formulate a final draft scheme for the federation of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland. The scheme would then be submitted to the Governments for their acceptance or rejection.

It has been officially announced by the Commonwealth Relations Office at the close of the final session of the conference between Sir Godfrey Huggins (Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia), Lord Linlithgow (Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations) and Oliver Lyttelton (Secretary of State for the Colonies).

Sir Godfrey, accompanied by his Finance Minister for F. C. F. Whitehead, yesterday left London Airport for Salisbury in a B.O.A.C. aircraft.

When the Victoria Falls conference concluded it was recommended that there should be a further full meeting in London in July of this year; the agreement to advance the date to April is regarded as underlining the urgency which the parties feel over the need to introduce a scheme of federation at the earliest moment if it is possible.

The authority bearing that representatives of the Africans of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland will be invited to participate in the London conference. On leaving London, Sir Godfrey said the scheme of the final draft of the scheme would be submitted to the Governments for their acceptance or rejection. He said he had been given the impression that the scheme would be accepted by the Governments.

The Victoria Falls conference was a success. It was a success because it was a meeting of minds. It was a meeting of minds because it was a meeting of men who were willing to listen to each other. It was a meeting of men who were willing to listen to each other because they were men of goodwill.

LOOKING BACK ON THE ROYAL VISIT TO KENYA

I BELIEVE THAT YOU HAVE EVERY RIGHT TO TAKE courage from the past. You have achieved much and rely on the traditions of humanity and justice which have grown up within the British Commonwealth of Nations, you will, I am sure, overcome the tasks before you.

They began taking down the flags and the burning in Nairobi a few hours after these words had been spoken. The crowds had gone—and with them the excitement and the cheers. But the place was full of memories. In thousands of homes, rich and humble alike; in clubs and restaurants, in hospital wards and military messes, incidents were told and relived of the few memorable days of pageantry and colour.

And foremost in the mind's eye—rising back on scenes of quiet charm and many jubilation—was the serene, regal figure of the smiling Princess who walked contentedly amongst her people—and heard of their hopes, their sorrows and their joys.

And who was interested and intrigued, thankful and happy to be amongst it, and showing sincere concern for the destinies of the people? She heard there were wishes stimulated high hopes. Thanking the people of Kenya for the original and generous wedding gift, the Princess said the Royal Lodge at Sikani would often bring her and her husband back to Kenya.

ALWAYS on the side of the Princess was the lithesome, debonair figure of the Duke whom the people loved for his easy, informal, sense of humour and knowledge of the ways of men. Nairobi has been able to assess the many outstanding qualities of the Royal pair. Three thousand guests at the Garden Party in the official grounds of Government House will not forget the family husband and wife who broke beneath the trees and spoke in homely language to add enchantment to a situation.

It seemed fitting that on the morrow 12,000 children should give vent to their love for the whistling tribes of their elders. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh had Nairobi on Sunday, and the evening was in the celebration of a small hip-country church. The significance of the event was heightened by example. Royalty—in all humility—relates with it God.

Onlookers parade through the balconies of the Avenue. Host as the Royal car swings from Delamere Avenue into Radler Street during the ceremonial drive.

The Princess Introduced A New Colour To Kenya

THAT lovely and elusive shade that is somewhere between a mauve-pink and a pinkish blue, sometimes a mellow lavender and sometimes called lilac, and yet not quite true to either, set the colour note for the whole of Princess Elizabeth's visit to Nairobi.

She wore it on her arrival at the airport, at the Kenya Regiment Headquarters, at the Princess Elizabeth Hospital, and at the Garden Party. The dress were mainly more pink or more mauve on either side of the colour. A lot of a bowl of pink and blue shaded lavender, was always the centre.

And strangely enough, although the skirt of her dress and robe was a dainty lavender, and she wore a white jacket, she wore a blue hat. Lady Mitchell was in a gown of champagne-coloured tulle and a large brown hat with a veil in it.

The Social Editor describes the fashion trends at the Royal Garden Party.

Before starting their drive along the spectacular road which runs from the airport to the Royal Garden Party, M.L.E. from Nairobi, and her husband had a social visit to Chief Wanchalu Mwangi, M.B.E. from Kisumu, and the Duke enjoyed a ride with the wavy chertal Mrs. George Blowers. The two daughters of the Provincial Commissioner of Nairobi Province, M. and Mrs. C. H. Williams, Susan and Veronica, dressed in white, roba value over white tulle, managed their carriage very nicely after their father's mother had been present when the Princess continued.

Lady Pamela

HER Ladyship, Pamela, was a great deal of the white tulle and a little black hat of black. Lady Mitchell was in a gown of champagne-coloured tulle and a large brown hat with a veil in it.

Princess's choice

As the Princess arrived at the airport, she wore a dress of mauve-pink and a hat of blue. The dress was a simple, elegant design with a high collar and long sleeves. The hat was a wide-brimmed style with a veil.

Cadbury Bros. of Bourneville are pleased to announce that their famous Diabetic Chocolate is equally available.

Jams, canned fruit, chocolate, etc., are probably excluded from your diet, or rationed. Your craving for the forbidden is perfectly natural and it is a fact, well recognized by the dietitian that "appal to the palate" is a factor of importance in diet.

Cadbury's Diabetic Chocolate is completely free from added starch and sugar. The special sweetening agent employed, d. Sorbitol, is extremely palatable and extensive clinical tests both in the U.K. and abroad have proved its suitability for use by diabetics. The product is prepared in consultation with the Diabetic Association in London and the patients of our leading Diabetic Clinics are now told of it when they are taught their diet.

THE CHILDREN'S CHEERS WERE THE LOUDEST OF ALL

YES, the children's cheers were the loudest of all the long, loud cheers which greeted the Princess and the Duke wherever they went during their triumphal drives through the streets of Nairobi.

They were on Saturday morning, over 15,000 of them—European, Asian and African—gathered in the bright sunshine in the grounds of Government House.

The Royal visitors' arrival delightfully surprised thousands of small boys who appeared suddenly and were waved frantically over thousands of little heads.

With the Princess and the Duke were the Governor of Kenya, Sir Philip Mitchell, and Lady Mitchell, the Member for Education, Mr. E. A. Vasey and the Director of Education, Mr. W. J. D. Wadley.

Accompanied by Mr. Wadley, the Royal couple drove slowly around the parade ground, the car swerving its way along the lines between the ten blocks of excited children.

THE picture on the top right shows the Princess waving to the waiting children and below are four groups photographed at the parade.

AND when the Royal couple appeared on the terrace of Government House, the air was heard by people waiting for the Princess to see her way to the Princess Elizabeth Hospital.

THE COUNTRY WAS IN TOWN FOR THE PARTY

AMONG the many early arrivals for the Royal Garden Party at Government House was a four-piece band from Mombasa and Mrs. P. Dewlin, the latter looking cool in a pale green silk frock with black accessories, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Collier, Mrs. Collier also choosing green, with black accessories.

Another early arrival was Mr. E. H. Weger, accompanied by his wife, who looked charming in a pale blue dress with a matching, elegant hat. Mr. Weger is a perfectly balanced scientific formula. Try MACLEAN BRAND STOMACH POWDER today.

A happy family group that included Mrs. Weger, the latter apparently representing the Royal couple's forthcoming tour of Australia. Mrs. Weger, Mrs. Eric Mavers, both Australian, had established Kenya residence who have only recently moved to Nairobi after many years farming in the Nairobi district.
