FUNERAL OF THE KING TODAY

Order of procession

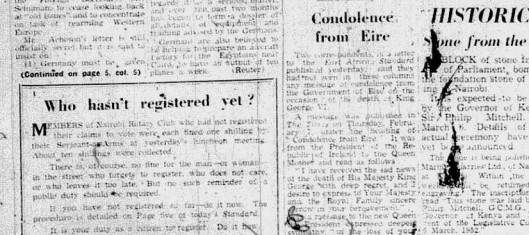

EAST AFRICAN POLICE ON DUTY AT WESTMINSTER

By the Royal Household and the Cavalry Standard bearing the Queen's Colours. The procession will start at 11.15 a.m. from the Royal Chapel when the funeral of King George VI moves off from Westminster Abbey. The Queen will travel in a carriage with her mother, her sister (Princess Margaret), and her husband (Prince George).

The procession will begin for its four-mile journey from the Abbey to the Royal Chapel in a gun-carriage, pulled by four Royal Dragoon Guards. A boy of 16, will follow on a bicycle carrying the Queen's Colours. The funeral will be held at the Royal Chapel at 1.30 p.m. The Duke of Windsor in the procession will be in the lead in the British ex-King's carriage.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK No. 2

Vino Mankad, best India all-rounder

STOCKY, sturdy Vино Mankad of the shuffling run and cunning left-arm spin, bowed India to victory over England last Sunday in the first Test match.

In the first innings he claimed eight wickets and the friendly reception that he was accorded after the match was a tribute to his all-round performance.

Mr. Mankad was playing probably his best cricket since he was selected for the India team. His bowling was particularly effective and he was a great asset to the team.

Not be released

It is reported that the Government will not release the details of the match. This is to ensure that the game remains a mystery and to maintain the excitement of the fans.

Little known

Despite the fact that the match is well-known, there are many little-known facts about it. These include the weather conditions and the tactics used by the players.

Eire flag ban at Celtic Park

The Irish flag was banned at Celtic Park during the match. This was a controversial decision that caused much discussion among the fans and the media.

'OLD ENEMY IS DYING IN TANGANYIKA'

Settlers and officials more in accord

MUCH of the old animosity between settlers and officials has disappeared in the last 10 years, said Mr. W. H. Baldwin, speaking as past and newly re-elected President, at the annual dinner of the Tanganyika C.-E. Governors' Association held at Safari House, Arusha.

The dinner followed the annual meeting of the Association held earlier in the day at the Arusha Sports Club.

In the 10 years since the war, the settlers and officials have become more in accord, said Mr. Baldwin, who has been a member of the Association since 1937. He said that the Association had a long history of working for the betterment of the Territory as a whole, and that the Association had a long history of working for the betterment of the Territory as a whole.

RUFUS PORTER: EARLY AMERICAN ARTIST

NATION'S history is full of dry facts but the life of its people and the power that moved it through its more personal life is what records the past.

JEAN LIPMAN tells the story of the 19th-century landscape and portrait painter and inventor who looked to the familiar scene around him for inspiration.

It was in Massachusetts that Rufus Porter would have most of his professional life. He was born in 1812 in the town of Northampton. He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry. He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry. He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry.

He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry. He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry. He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry.

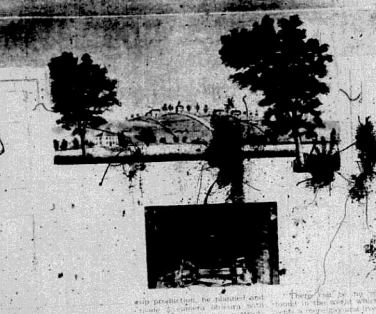

The picture above shows a harbor scene by Rufus Porter. For the mural over a parour fireplace in an early American home—below—the painter chose a scene from the New-England countryside he knew and loved so well.

The best advantage of the landscape approach is the ease of the subject. He was a member of the Portland Light Infantry.

After leaving his specialisation as a newspaper reporter, he published in 1844 a book called "The History of the Portland Light Infantry."

SOLOMON: Prodigy And Genius

A. K. HOLLAND tells the story of Solomon, world-famous pianist, who played to Nairobi audiences in 1946.

ONE of my earliest recollections of London concert life dates from the first decade of this century. It was outside Queen's Hall that I saw an enormous poster labeled with the single word SOLOMON.

There were probably some other details such as that he was a pianist, but that I remember nothing because I was so young, but that I remember the rather young and raw but not a small, diminutive figure who appeared on the platform wearing a white lace collar and white jacket, by the way, a gift. There were also, I seem to remember, some ladies in the audience, representing the numerous pianists playing the same instrument and some even made into under playing down the pedals which the soloist could not reach.

It was the day of the infant prodigies, many of whom failed to stay the course and faded away from the scene. But there was Solomon, a very young but very distinguished pianist, who was determined to stay in the concert world and to reach such heights that he was not to be forgotten. He was a day or two known simply as "the boy" who has fulfilled the promise of his debut.

SOLOMON was born in London in 1898. He made his debut at the age of seven. He was trained by his teacher, the famous pianist, Adolf Vogel.

He appeared as a recitalist in 1915, was to be heard in these early years. It was his performance as a concerto soloist that took the public fancy.

He took further training under another teacher. He has always acknowledged the great debt he owes to the teacher of Dr. H. H. Wood, who was in London at the time of his first appearance in 1915.

programme. More of the street regularly and that he never ceased his art by playing down to any supposed level of popularity. For these services he received, in the year 1946, the award of the Companion of the British Empire. In 1948 he was awarded the British Empire Medal in France and in London.

Fine insight
As to what sort of pianist he was, it should be said as a preliminary that he was certainly a first-class pianist. He had a certain quality of touch and a certain quality of tone that were not to be found in any other player of his time. He was a pianist who was a pianist in the true sense of the word.

Chess
The game in five examples of contemporary chess, which has many points of interest. It is a game that is played by two players, one of whom is the White and the other the Black.

China
The news that the Chinese government has decided to accept the terms of the new treaty with the United States is a most interesting one. It is a collection of the best of Chinese folk music and dance.

M.P. URGES NEED FOR LOANS TO EAST AFRICA

Two things which cannot be denied

IF these territories—Kenya, Tanganyika and Zanzibar—are to develop as they should, then within the United Kingdom Government must make the money available to better still, give them a priority to raise their own loans on the London market.

This was a point made by the Hon. Percy Hain, Conservative M.P. for Wokingham, in giving his constituents some impressions of a recent visit by air to India and East Africa.

Apart from improved education and the raising of the standard of living, the Government must also make progress possible and must support commercial and industrial development.

Race relations

Mr. Hain said that the Government should be concerned with the race relations in East Africa. He mentioned the need for a balanced approach to the development of the territories, taking into account the interests of all racial groups.

OLUTION TO PROBLEM OF SOIL EROSION

Harold Glover's address at Nakuru
 Some four days ago, the British Government announced that it had agreed to a proper adjustment of the social and economic conditions of a people when planning soil conservation measures. There could be no permanent solution to the problem of soil erosion declared Sir Harold Glover, Secretary of Kenya soil conservation in Nakuru on Monday.

Mr. Glover, who was invited to the Punjab had drawn attention to the widespread incidence of soil erosion in the world, and pointed out that the only way to deal with it was to adopt a proper agricultural system. He said that the only way to deal with it was to adopt a proper agricultural system. He said that the only way to deal with it was to adopt a proper agricultural system.

Uganda Game Department Report makes exciting reading

It is not often that an annual report—particularly a Government department—makes such exciting reading. The 1950 annual report of the Game and Fisheries Department of the Uganda Protectorate, however, is a publication easy to read at a single sitting.

ESTER-DAY

ESTER-DAY
The Church of St. Peter's, which was held on the occasion of the occupation of the island of Malaya, was a most interesting and successful one. The service was held in the presence of a large number of people, and the choir sang beautifully. The Rev. Mr. Kinsey, who was the officiating minister, gave a most inspiring sermon, in which he exhorted the people to stand firm in their faith and to be true to their duty. The service was a most successful one, and all present enjoyed it very much.

The People Versus The Bandits In Malaya

BY MARTIN HUTTON

THE people of Malaya have been clearly told by Britain's Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Oliver Lyttelton, of the part they must play in conjunction with British forces in winning the war against the Communist terrorists.

But a mass of people thought the Ministers said to Malaya. They give their own strength, as well as to the campaign against the bandits. There has been no response so far. But the appeal directed to the strengthening of existing people's forces and to wider participation by all communities, particularly the Chinese. For more than a year, thousands of Malaya's most energetic, patriotic, and courageous anti-Communist fighters have been working to be re-organized and to be trained in the use of arms and explosives. They are now being trained in the use of arms and explosives. They are now being trained in the use of arms and explosives.

George Washington, The Architect Of American Democracy

GEORGE WASHINGTON was not a man who did not care for the father of his country as he had down to the first President of the United States. Government was a new and untried thing. No other man was so much to establish the U.S. Constitution and the responsible President of the United States had been the first General.

The United States today celebrates the anniversary of the birth, on February 22, 1732, of George Washington, first President of the United States whose life and work is described in this article by DUMAS MALONE.

Eternal merit
At this initial stage of its development, it was clear that the Government of the United States, and the Executive part of it must be strengthened. Previously the Federal Government had consisted solely of a legislative body, and the States had both supreme. The result had been inefficient and chaotic.

Hub of the wheel
The first President of the United States, George Washington, was a man of great ability and energy. He was a soldier, a statesman, and a leader. He was the first President of the United States, and he served for eight years. He was a man of great ability and energy. He was a soldier, a statesman, and a leader. He was the first President of the United States, and he served for eight years.

Political ideal
Washington's political ideal was based on the principles of the American Revolution. He believed in a strong central government, but one that was limited in its powers. He believed in the rights of the individual, and in the importance of the law. He believed in a government that was responsive to the needs of the people.

Inevitable feud

WITHIN the official respectability of a spirit which was the quality of the day, though the differences would turn out to be both Alexander Hamilton and James Madison. The feud which arose between them was not only a personal one, but it was also a political one. It was a feud that was inevitable, and it was a feud that was fought on the highest level.

ODDLY ENOUGH

It is an extraordinary and technology, which everyone will see destroyed in the time and the racial complexion of the people. It is a technology that is so complex that it is almost impossible to understand. It is a technology that is so advanced that it is almost impossible to believe. It is a technology that is so powerful that it is almost impossible to control.

Friend's tragedy

It is a tragedy that is so sad that it is almost impossible to believe. It is a tragedy that is so heartbreaking that it is almost impossible to describe. It is a tragedy that is so painful that it is almost impossible to endure. It is a tragedy that is so devastating that it is almost impossible to recover from.

A HOLIDAY IN SOUTHLAND NEW ZEALAND

The writer of this article, MARGARET HOPKINSON, Director-General of the New Zealand Red Cross V.A.D., is well known in Kenya where she was formerly Red Cross Welfare Officer

The sun glinted on the aeroplane's wing and the ground was fading up to meet us as the pilot smoothly, but efficiently, down on to the tarmac of the aerodrome at Taverua, one of the big airports of the National Airways Corporation in the South Island of New Zealand.

The Major, the Parasgum—the airport for Wellington—had been closed and diverted to the coast of the South Island. The reason of the diversion was that the air traffic controllers at the airport were busy with the regular traffic and the night where it rained the day and to the coast of the South Island.

As we sat there, I thought of how we would get to the car and leave the great heavy load on the wet main and away it would rain. I thought of the rain that would be a hindrance to the car and away it would rain.
