control of policy which is possible through the Legislative Council and its Finance Committee. It is natural that the Railway Administration, handling a specialist, intricate and highly technical job should be entrusted to it and it will not be wise for the present General Manager or his successors to continue as the ultimate guarantors of Railway commitments, might be happier if they assisted a Finance Committee to comb the Railway and Harbour Budgets as thoroughly as they can today, in connection with colonial revenue and expenditure. It may be argued that such examination and supervision is, in fact, one of the main functions of the Advisory Boards which associate public interests with the Railway Administration. The present method of debating an intricate Transport Budget in Legislative Council is, however, a close examination followed by the published report of a Railway and Harbour Finance Committee on which the representatives of the public were properly accredited.

The Railway and Harbour Budget for 1933 shows important differences from that of the present and the General Manager has taken full account of the probable trends of local and overseas trade—much greater account, it should be said to his credit, than the Government of Kenya has taken of the same. The revenue figures are conservatively estimated at £238,000 less for the railways and £22,500 less for the port. In the case of the Railway the total revenue is ten per cent and, in respect of the port, five per cent, a considerable variation in budgetary variation is to be expected. The transport services are, in fact, budgeting for a deficit which is only being made good by drawing upon the new Rates Stabilisation Fund and by bringing to account statements earned on all the liquid assets. Viewed from the strictly Railway point of view the deficit is a purpose of the Rates Fund because the deficit is mainly due to the fact that the Government has for reduction of the freight charges on cotton and a further £12,000, it is set aside to meet probable rebates required for the coffee and cotton industries owing to present low market values of a connecting railway line of expenditure, including contributions to the Renewals Fund, to the total revenue has increased. It has always to be remembered that in addition to covering its working costs, the Railway and Harbour Administration has to find from its annual revenue £487,000 for the Kenya and Uganda Railway and Harbours. The Government of Kenya is travelling from Dar es Salaam to Mombasa.

350 TONS OF CHRISTMAS AIR MAIL

Flying Armada To Carry It All Over Empire

On November 16, 1933, a two-seater bi-plane left Hounslow Aerodrome for Paris carrying the first regular load of air mail in British history.

Today Imperial Airways is faced with the gigantic task of distributing 350 tons of Christmas Mail throughout the Empire within the next few weeks—the biggest job an air company has ever been called upon to tackle—and issues an appeal for the thoughtful co-operation of the general public.

The Christmas air traffic to Paris is carried on one small bi-plane, and each letter is in the tender half-a-crown.

CYCLE RIDE STOPS THE GUILLOTINE

It is estimated that 300 tons of Christmas mail—roughly 1,600,000 letters—will be sent to the Empire by the Imperial Airways flying armada alone in the 100 flights which are being made between London and every letter will be carried at the normal rate of 1/4 per ounce, even if it is going straight to Australia or New Zealand.

MEMORIAL TO KING GEORGE V

Only One Suggestion So Far Received

It is now some weeks since the news was received that NAKURU had been allotted £250 from the funds of the King George V Memorial Fund, and we expect to see a visible memorial. It will be remembered that suggestions were solicited as to how the money should be spent.

It might be urged that it was a further example of local apathy that when there is a sum of £250 available for such a purpose that, so far as can be ascertained, only one idea has been put forward in the press.

This sum will probably not prove to be a very large one, it would be well to consider the money not as a donation for some other town, but as a memorial to the memory of a monarch who has not been so great a deal of suggestion. It is difficult to think of any other form that a memorial might take, but one which would be equally appropriate to a King George V Memorial. This would probably be a statue of some kind, which could be contained in a suitable Memorial. This would probably be a statue of some kind, which could be contained in a suitable Memorial. Efforts being made in various countries to find substitute for jute are described in a bulletin of the Indian Central Jute Committee.
A Japanese chemist is reported to have patented a new type of heavy paper for the manufacture of India. In South Africa, the Department of Agriculture, after experimenting with an indigenous heavy-hemp, has come to the conclusion that it is not economically cultivated as a wide scale and used as a substitute for jute.
A company has been formed in India for the purpose of growing jute in Bihar. If the experiment fails, a sack factory in French West Africa will produce synthetic sacks at securing an indigenous fibre to replace jute.

STOMACH SUFFERERS Don't be misled

So successfully has Maclean Brand Stomach Powder cured thousands of cases of Stomach trouble throughout the world, that its name and appearance have been imitated far and wide. Many of these imitations being sold to-day claim to be made according to one or other of the many formulae of a doctor with a similar name. The prices at which some of these are sold, however, prove that they cannot be compounded from the same ingredients, or with the care and equipment used by Maclean's Limited.

Or Preparing For A Long Safari

THIS idea of a new type of safari car appeared to be borne, for on the wings of Major Dickinson who arrived by air just as the evening was closing in he said that Mr. W. D. Campbell, of the American Museum of Natural History, who is in all probability here for purposes far better suited to a medium-sized commercial vehicle, capable both of a good turn of speed and having a considerable carrying capacity, has by using the trucks that up till then had served the only possible medium of transport.

SELECTING THE CAR
The preliminary talk continued while we looked over the aerodynamic, clever, dapperly and sturdy cars. The general ideas were formulated, the basis of the whole thing being grounded on the Ford Light Delivery, 1936 model. This car had evidently been given a great deal of very careful engineering attention in the United States and was accordingly in a very highly developed state. It was fitted with the normal 8 h.p. 7-8 engine with aluminum cylinder heads, overhead carburettor, and had almost all the refinements of the standard unit sold in saloon form. In this case, however, the only thing left to be found out about the fast carrying capacity, because they usually have to be capable of carrying a minimum load of 2,000 lbs.

THE IDEA
If the new idea worked, an entirely new type of safari car would have been introduced, one that would have infinitely more flexibility than the trucks which Mr. Campbell had been using up to that time and it seemed obvious that this sort of thing would be of use in any way to a great saving in actual running costs, quite apart from the vastly increased comfort that the whole affair would represent, for heavy driving, at its best, is only heavy novel nature, and had to make a start really in a moment's delay. As it is usual to make, it is the first idea that takes the time, the others being very much more easily accepted. It was up to us to see what we could do to make it as good as it could be, and to see what we could do to make it as good as it could be, and to see what we could do to make it as good as it could be.

BIG CAPACITY TANKS
As we discussed in a tank, it is the first idea that takes the time, the others being very much more easily accepted. It was up to us to see what we could do to make it as good as it could be, and to see what we could do to make it as good as it could be.

An Herculean Task
This is the report of the work undertaken in preparing the new safari cars for the expedition sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History and their subsequent journey. It is a story of unrelenting effort resulting in a splendid achievement.

OUTSIDE TOOL BOXES
In order to add to the carrying capacity and to open up the side panels of all the hundreds of miles of equipment of an extensive delivered should not be overlooked. As the tarpaulin was made of green canvas and was very good indeed, it was found to be a most satisfactory one. It was found to be a most satisfactory one. It was found to be a most satisfactory one.

EXTRA WHEELS
One man to whom it had been asked thought had to be given the arrangement of the spare wheels. One to the tanks on the running boards, the normal mounting of the spare wheel had to be abandoned, whilst a second spare wheel, which was ordered to be fitted. The only reasonable place on the car was the drop seat, and it was found that this was the best place to put it. The only reasonable place on the car was the drop seat, and it was found that this was the best place to put it.

THE TYRES
Overland tires (18 x 26) were used for the main drive shaft and for the main drive shaft. Overland tires (18 x 26) were used for the main drive shaft and for the main drive shaft.

Other equipment
Other equipment consisted of a stock of tools, and a large supply of tools, and a large supply of tools, and a large supply of tools.

At last the open went into the garage for delivery, ready to be used. At last the open went into the garage for delivery, ready to be used. At last the open went into the garage for delivery, ready to be used.

The day came when they left to do the work for which they had been designed. With confidence and no lack of success they completed the first report that would be sent in. The day came when they left to do the work for which they had been designed.

ANOTHER JOURNEY
After adding a sixth Light Delivery to the fleet, the six Armatas set off on the 15th of this month for the long trip of seven months' safari. After adding a sixth Light Delivery to the fleet, the six Armatas set off on the 15th of this month for the long trip of seven months' safari.

And that these six tanks, each of which will carry a distance of 200 miles, should be brought with such an enormous load is not only a great compliment to the Ford Motor Company's Car Catalogue, but also to the members of our staff, who have been associated in preparing this fleet for its arduous undertaking.

Carrying one's own water made us quite independent as to where we camped. There is nearly always fire-wood in Africa but not always water. This independence was a great convenience.

The cars were fitted with special springs in the shape of "Helper" springs and special shock absorbers. This unquestionably made all the difference to the "Riding" qualities of the cars. Not a single spring was broken on the trip. Not that the roads were bad, but what is almost worse, sudden bad patches on long stretches of good road, which one hits at a good pace.

Report On The Transport Used During The Collection Of The Nile Group Expedition

The cars used were Ford V8 Light Delivery Vans, with specially constructed bodies. These bodies, when completed, carried the following—

44 gallons petrol	600 lbs.
62 gallons water	600 lbs.
8 boxes, 20 lbs. complete	120 lbs.
3 spares in front	150 lbs.
120 lbs. petrol tank and gear in rear	120 lbs.
Tools, spare oil, etc.	40 lbs.
Total	2,000 lbs.

The petrol consumption throughout the trip of 3,700 miles worked out at an average for the five cars at 84 miles to the gallon. We actually covered 778 miles without going near a petrol station and still had two gallons per car left. From this one can say, given normal conditions, that the fleet has a cruising radius of 800 miles.

BRITISH POLICY

To the Editor, "E. A. Standard":

I hope you will not mind if I send you a copy of the "Tanganyika" which I have written on the subject of the British attitude towards German East Africa. It is a practical point of view and contains a number of suggestions which I think the country to which I come may have to make. I am sure my friends among the British and I appreciate and understand their own better than most foreigners. On the other hand, I am sure that the British are not so well informed as they should be about Germany. I have written out a number of suggestions which I think would be better than most Britishers.

The most common cause of this pain is indigestion, and the best remedy is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

The SHOPPER'S GUIDE, PHILOSOPHER AND FRIEND Spendthrift Looks Ahead

"Oh Sir Christmas!" said Spendthrift with a guilty sigh. "I suppose it is high time one started to think about it!" So he sat pulled herself together and set off on a spree of shopping, adding to her list everything that came her way, and bringing home a mass of possessions at negligible prices, up to much more expensive but really worthwhile things which the honest people will give her.

A Tablet in memory of Harry Vardon was unveiled on Saturday November 4th, at the South Heris Golf Club, where for 39 years the greatest of all golfers had served, and to mark the occasion fully thirty of his name fours of his old friends, F. H. Taylor, J. Broad, A. Ward, and E. Ray, played a four-ball match, the first since the late golfer's death.

Before ever a ball had been struck the imagination was stirred and recollection by the thought of those heroes of the past once again playing together. The four who they profess their admiration for, the names were as well known to the club members as to the general public, and it was an immense pleasure to see a four-ball match played by four of the greatest players who ever lived.

The Say

NOT UNLIKE HARSH DICTATORSHIP

ALTHOUGH the majority of references to East Africa in the German Press still deal with the proposal to return Tanganyika to Germany there remains room for bitter criticism of our Colonial administration.

The extract from the East West Times and a typical example of the manner in which Archbishop W. E. Owen criticises the Government and the white people of Kenya.

"Of all colonial projects, ours is the only one to sanction colonial rule under native auspices at any time. It is an abuse of tradition, laid a blot on our Empire."

This indictment of a system of rule which in certain parts of Africa under British rule has been a success story, is given by the venerable W. E. Owen, speaking at the Writers' Conference at Nairobi. It was a mass meeting of those interested in the Government of Kenya.

You can't say a critic is against a whole in the article, delivered Archbishop Owen, in speaking of the 'white' people of Kenya, and the 'black' people of the colony who are to be ruled by the 'white' people of Kenya. What he is saying is that the Government is not doing its duty in the way of the people of Kenya.

Who is the enemy of the German race?—The Jew. Who is England's greatest enemy before the war?—The Jew. Who is the enemy of Germany after the war?—The Jew.

Hitler saw his truth as suddenly, as fiercely, as the great Jew Paul. They were both converts to a shining light. Hitler became a Jew-hater.

He was alone and unknown, in a lonely working as a laborer when he came to get a job. He dropped his hat and he found his truth, his shining light, his truth, his truth, his truth.

He studied Socialism and Socialist leaders in other countries. He noted their hypocrisy, their greed, their ambition, their greed, their ambition, their greed.

The Story of Dingaan's Day

A Glorious Page from South Africa's History

Fulfillment of a Solemn Vow

WHILE South Africa is hurriedly celebrating the centenary of the Dingaan's Day celebrations in Durban, we are reminded of the fact that the South Africans in Kenya have completed something of their enthusiasm.

On the 16th of December of every year, Durban's people celebrated throughout South Africa and in every country where a group of South Africans are together, in fulfilment of a solemn vow taken by a small party of farmers emigrated from the Cape Colony to Natal during what is generally known as the Great Trek.

The history of the Great Trek is the story of the flight of the British emigrants from the Cape Colony to Natal during what is generally known as the Great Trek.
