Muddy roads did not stop holiday-makers

HOLIDAY-MAKERS thronged the picturesque suburban hotels for the New Year weekend and the roads were muddy but did not deter holiday-makers and tourists. The weekend was described by a Nairobi hotel-keeper as the busiest for many a long day.

At Nairobi, where the drought has been severe and cold conditions are still being experienced, making for 1928 more than 1927 in the number of holiday-makers. A party of 149 left together, 120 were in party of the district and 29 were in party of the district.

Tunnel activity
Fishes came inland in the rush for accommodation during the holiday season. The road to the Giza Camp was muddy and a heavy fall of rain on Monday morning for a few days made the roads on the coast.

As a consequence of the holiday rush that took place in the district the roads were muddy and a heavy fall of rain on Monday morning for a few days made the roads on the coast.

Part II has been favored with the rain that took place in the district the roads were muddy and a heavy fall of rain on Monday morning for a few days made the roads on the coast.

New dams
The Government continued to work on the dam at the Giza Camp. It is intended that work on the dam will be completed in the next few months.

Festivities at Nanyuki
The Government continued to work on the dam at the Giza Camp. It is intended that work on the dam will be completed in the next few months.

District teams 'are not a novelty'
With reference to the report which appeared on December 21, 1927, that the Government was considering the formation of district teams, it is stated that the Government has decided to form such teams in the district.

The advantage of the tooth using Colgate's as directed was a startling reduction in number of dental patients for long distance travel. Colgate's is the only tooth cream that has been proved to contain all the necessary ingredients for the most effective dental care. No claim is made that Colgate's is the only tooth cream, but it is the only tooth cream that has been proved to contain all the necessary ingredients for the most effective dental care.

KENYA PLANS TO TAP THE WATER UNDER THE MAU

Mountain faults form natural tanks
DURANTE the recent shortage of technical staff in the hydraulic section of the P.W.D. considerable progress was made last year in the design and construction of the Mau Dam. The estimated total of £500,000 which was available at the beginning of the year, £200,000 was actually spent or committed.

The Mau Dam is a concrete dam on the Mau River, which is a tributary of the Victoria Nile. The dam is 1,000 feet long and 100 feet high. It is designed to store water for irrigation and to generate electricity.

LAST TRY WAS THE HIGHLIGHT

Kampala game in whole lacked sparkle

THE evening visit of the University of Uganda to Kampala, on Wednesday, was already being expected. What might be termed the individual highlights was reserved for the closing minutes.

The University, who play representative matches against Africa at Kampala, in previous years, had been expected to play the home team, who were given a 1-0 lead.

With the crowd of a half a million, the game was expected to be a high-class affair. The fact that the game was played over the line for the first time in the history of the game, with the University's individual highlights, was a disappointment.

NURSE WAS STALWART OF TEST

Young Springboks emerge with credit

AUSTRALIA was the second Test against South Africa in the 1957-58 season, on Wednesday. The Springboks had put up a better performance than they had promised at one stage to convert the match into an unexciting draw.

But while the South Africans were expected to emerge with credit, the Springboks were expected to emerge with credit.

The first four wickets were lost in an average of 20 runs apiece, the last for 33.

Record Mileage and Safe riding on East African Roads

Discovers something worthwhile in the quality. The high qualities of Royal Tyres are so easily recognized, so long remembered. The tread puts extra rubber on the ribs, making for greater cushioning, more comfortable riding, and economical mileage. You get far greater traction and LONGER WEAR and the exclusive safety bond cord gives maximum resistance to skidding on East African roads. Keep down your tyre costs and buy

CAN SPORTS EVENTS WORLD GOODWILL?

East Africa holds first 'Derby' dinner

By the Sports Editor

ONE of the more pleasant aspects of sports journalism is the opportunity it provides for contact with enthusiasts. The unqualified enthusiasm of our sportsmen is a constant reminder of the world's unity. It is a privilege to be able to express our appreciation to the sportsmen who, in the practice of an old and time-honoured sport, have been the good-will ambassadors of their continent. It is a pleasure to be able to promote harmony and understanding between the sportsmen of the East and West.

The procedure followed at the dinner was that of a social gathering, with the sportsmen of the East and West sitting together at the tables. The dinner was a success in every respect, and the sportsmen of the East and West were able to get acquainted with each other in a most pleasant manner.

Simple, cheap

It is not very adequate to describe in a small compass the game known as football. It is a game of skill and strength, and is played by two teams of eleven players each. The game is played on a rectangular field, and the object is to get the ball into the goal of the opposite team.

Facit facts are a brilliant example of what a calculating machine can do to simplify and reduce the cost of office calculation. Facit's ingeniously simplified office system for addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division makes it possible for anyone to learn high-speed calculation in 15 minutes practice.

Tribute to remarkable sports personality

(By Walter Pilkington)

LOOKING over the events of the past year for British sport is difficult to choose one who by general agreement is said to have done more than any other for the welfare of his country by achievement or influence. It is a tribute to a remarkable sports personality.

Behind scenes

Another notable behind the scenes figure is Mr. Arthur Dwyer, Chairman of the British Football Association. He is a most interesting figure who has done much for the welfare of his country by achievement or influence.

Education bottleneck in Ethiopia

FAMINE FEARS FADE IN N. RHODESIA

STANDARD Commissioner ABBA ASABA, has announced that the demand for education in Ethiopia continues to exceed the supply of schools to meet the need, despite the fact that increasingly large sums are appropriated for education and the number of schools increases yearly.

Secondary school education appears to have become somewhat of a bottleneck, which in Rhodesia, the country most beginning to tackle the educational problem. One of the public schools in Italy has an average of 100 pupils, while in the full school, with a British headmaster and the Italian headmaster, with a Canadian headmaster and both of them in Addis Ababa.

Unfortunate scholars

Last June, 750 elementary school children throughout the country took the examination. The country took the examination, but the Government is not allowing the results to be made available on failure or success. It is possible that some of the elementary schools could not admit all the children.

This bottleneck situation is frankly admitted in the annual report of the Ministry of Education. "Realizing the fact that the existing Government is not allowing the results of the examination to be made available on failure or success, it is possible that some of the elementary schools could not admit all the children."

The Ministry of Education, it appears, is to tackle the problem in two ways. One—already being done—is to open up more schools by opening secondary schools in the provinces. The other is to provide more secondary schools by this process. It is possible that some of the elementary schools will gradually become full secondary schools.

Crocodiles earn more dollars

CROCODILES from Lake Kyoga are helping to earn dollars for the Commonwealth. The Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry is now handling 350 skins a month.

Tanned in the United Kingdom, the skins are being sold in America and where they are used for the manufacture of shoes, handbags and suitcases.

The Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry has been shipping skins since 1949 from November to January to America. The skins are being sold in America, where they are used for the manufacture of shoes, handbags and suitcases.

State of Agriculture

On the 15th of 1952, the Department of Agriculture has issued a report on the state of agriculture in Kenya. The report states that the agricultural sector has shown a steady increase in production over the past few years. This is due to a combination of factors, including improved farming techniques, better access to fertilizers, and a more stable climate. The report also notes that there are still some challenges facing the sector, such as soil erosion and limited access to credit. However, the overall outlook is positive, and it is expected that production will continue to grow in the coming years.

South Africa

The South African government has announced a new policy regarding the treatment of foreign workers. The policy states that foreign workers who have been in South Africa for a long period of time will be given the same rights and benefits as South African citizens. This is a significant step towards equality and is expected to attract more foreign investment to the country. The government also announced that it will be providing more support for small businesses and farmers, particularly in rural areas.

African Education Report

The African Education Report has been published, providing a comprehensive overview of the current state of education in Africa. The report highlights the challenges facing the sector, such as limited access to quality education and a shortage of trained teachers. However, it also identifies opportunities for improvement, such as the use of technology and the development of vocational training programs. The report is a valuable resource for policymakers and educators alike.

And we thought it was a man-eater!

WE had a scare in the Nairobi National Park a short time ago. A native woman from the Maasi Reserve reported that her child had been eaten by lions.

Her story was that little boy of about eight years of age had been playing in the bush near the Maasi Reserve. He had been seen by her and she had seen him being eaten by lions.

A search party was organized at once and the boy was found. He was badly injured but not dead. He was taken to the hospital and is recovering.

Later, however, on our visit to the boy we discovered that he was not the child of the woman who had reported that he had been eaten by lions.

There had been a very heavy rain at the time and the boy had been washed down a gully.

An errand clerk provides the highlight of this week's warden's diary of the private lives of the animals in Kenya's National Parks.

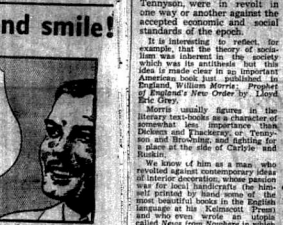

A close-up of a lion's face on the safari river.

If you want to see the lions, keep your eyes peeled. The Nairobi National Park is a very large area and the lions are scattered throughout.

The lion baby crocodiles soon leave their homes. They are very playful and curious animals.

Re-mapping the South Polar wastes

Three nations plan to explore Antarctica

WITHIN the next few months radio balloons carrying over five million Geoscale square miles of Antarctica will link half a dozen land-based scientific expeditions and open a new epoch in polar exploration.

Scientists are expected to be involved in the expedition. The expedition will be led by a team of scientists from the United Kingdom, the United States, and the Commonwealth of Independent States.

Weather station. A Chilean navy spokesman has announced that one of the Chilean navy's icebreakers will be sent to Antarctica to observe the expedition.

On the other side of Antarctica a French expedition is being sent to put together the first party to go to the South Pole since 1911.

At the South Georgia Islands. A British expedition is being sent to the South Georgia Islands to study the effects of the Antarctic ozone hole.

What a Victorian intellectual would have thought of Britain now. The Victorian age was one of the intellectual, no less than of the industrial, reform and most of the great literary personalities.

BRITISH COMMONWEALTH

With increasing consultation and co-operation the British Commonwealth can once again reassert its leadership in the world.

by L. S. AMERY

The present transformation of a centrally controlled Empire into an informal and yet effective partnership of free states is one of the most remarkable events of a half century.

To understand that evolution we must look to the antipodes where the new world is being born.

The first to be emancipated from the full freedom and responsibility of the Commonwealth are the islands of the Pacific.

Broadened vision

This second principle has been the gradual extension of responsibility in each partner for the "internal" and "external" affairs.

German menace

The year was the first Empire to have the right to be a great power.

Grim prospect

It was Chamberlain's insight into the grim prospect which lay in the realization of the fact that it was on the economic side that the Dominions were most ready to cooperate.

which helped to set us on through the war, now more than ever before.

The obvious thing to have done was to work out a plan for the Commonwealth in its contact with the world.

What is needed is a British Commonwealth which is not only a political and economic unit, but also a cultural and spiritual one.

It is not only a political and economic unit, but also a cultural and spiritual one.

Leadership

Development on these lines the Commonwealth is not only a political and economic unit, but also a cultural and spiritual one.

What we have to do now is to make the Commonwealth a reality in the world.
