

ONLY NINE FINISH SAFARI

Tanzanian drivers outright winners

Drivers Bert Shankland and Chris Rothwell driving a Peugeot 404, yesterday became the outright winners of the African Safari, one of the toughest ever held. They were the second-placed pair, No. 80, driven by veteran drivers The Proton and Bob Gerrish in their Ford Cortina GT.

Third and last year's outright winners, Jaggerday Singh, once again driving a Volvo, a further 39 miles behind.

Only seven of the 80 starters finished the 8,000-mile rally, possibly the worst ever known, because two dropped out during adverse conditions in the Southern Leg and another seven in the Northern Leg during conditions, although severe in many places, were considerably easier than in Tanzania.

Although only ten cars were left in the closing stages of the rally, interest was maintained because a team battle raged over 370 or 400 miles between the leaders.

Written report

Keen interest centred, too, on the manufacturers' team from only two teams, those of Volvo and those of Peugeot. Drivers of the six teams were left in the rally and both were in trouble at times. The Volvo drivers were J. J. Cardwell and his wife, Lucille, who was fighting her own against the tragedy of being time-barred. Eventually the car arrived at Nairobi about 65 minutes too late.

The Peugeot Cortina (No. 6) had mechanical trouble at Makuyu and then again at Dundee. A specialist made a written report to the chiefs of the course, Mr. J. C. O. C. that he had seen the vehicle being pushed by another car over a considerable distance.

Mr. Gilling announced later that the drivers, had been penalised two points for an action contrary to the rules. The Volvo Cortina eventually straggled into Nairobi about 100 minutes late.

DIPLOMATIC FLURRY STARTS AGAIN AS TANKER DOCKS

Tanker suspected of carrying oil destined for Rhodesia, Joanna V. yesterday docked at Beira, within days of the vital pipeline which could take her cargo through Portuguese Mozambique to the breakaway British colony.

It was the first time the tanker had moved since she dropped anchor in the harbour a week ago and caused the diplomatic storm which, ended "when the Beatty" returned to Beira, yesterday.

Lessening of tension in S. Vietnam

Threat of civil war between South Vietnamese Government forces and local troops in the northern town of Da Nang seemed to be over yesterday after a week of tension.

Roadblocks built by local troops have been dismantled. They were put on Sunday last Monday when the military junta in Saigon sent 1,500 Marines to Da Nang, in an unpublicised bid to handle political opposition by force. The first easing in the situation came on Sunday night when 600 of the Vietnamese Marines were pulled out.

It was announced when the Marines were pulled out that the local troops would save Da Nang.

SAFARI STILL ALOFT

WHAT IS THE VERDICT on the 1966 East African Safari of the most famous of the early hunters? Perhaps the toughest, and certainly the wettest? It is hard to say, but the estimates reported here are not at all optimistic. It has been a great success and has exceeded the highest expectations.

...and the East African Safari was fully successful. Although only 10 out of 20 lions were shot, the fact that the safari was held in the first place is a success in itself. It was partly due to the fact that the lion hunt was held in the first place, and the fact that the lion hunt was held in the first place, and the fact that the lion hunt was held in the first place.

Union attacks related move to avoid strike

Unions attempt to avert the threatened rail strike next Friday. The General Manager of the East African Airways and Harbours Corporation has appealed to the Railway African Union to agree to negotiations.

Dr. Cakoo told the union's president, Mr. B. Mwangi, in a letter that it was in the interest of the country as a whole that everything should be done to avert the threatened strike and that the union should agree to meet him today for the union aimed at settling a settlement.

But yesterday the union's acting general secretary, Mr. J. H. Anon, attacked what he described as 'isolated overtures' by the management. He said the strike deadline had been set for Friday and nothing would change.

He claimed the support of the other East African Commissions Service Commission unions — the Union of Posts and Telecommunications Administration and the Commission Services African Civil Services Union, and announced that the strike would paralyse rail, port, telecommunication, meteorological and other non-self-contained services of S.A.C.C.O.

'CLAIM IS NONSENSE'
Mr. Anon continued: 'The claim by the railway management that the R.A.U. ultimatum is illegal and unconstitutional is nonsense. Our intention is going on which have been processed through the industrial relations machinery and the Industrial Council.'

On February 4, the union had given the railway management 21 days' notice of intention to strike unless demands were implemented.

As a result, the Industrial Council has been set up. 'Agas on March 2nd and April 1st, the Industrial Council addressed the railway management and the railway workers on the demands of the R.A.U. which have been described by the union as 'unreasonable'.

Mr. Anon said the management had refused to accept the demands of the R.A.U. and that the Industrial Council members had been appointed by the Government. TANKER PREPARES TO RULING JUNTA IN SAIGON

Security screen at Beira oil wharf

Workers on the oil wharf were busy behind a tight security screen and only officials and workers from the wharf were allowed to pass. Portuguese police guarding the dock. The tanker tied up on Monday only 30 feet from the intakes of the 18-mile pipeline leading to Rhodesia's refinery at Umalata.

Those trying to enter the restricted area were asked: "Are you working on the pipeline?" before being allowed to pass.

The ship's agent in Athens has suggested that the tanker might discharge about 500 tons of oil, enabling her to reduce her draft sufficiently to cross the harbour and reach the sea.

Boarded ship arrives at Durban

Two Greek members of the tanker crew had said the oil was intended for Rhodesia despite the warnings of the captain that it was to go to French Somaliland.

Another Greek-owned tanker, the Mantola, thwarted by the Royal Navy in an apparent effort to break the oil embargo of Rhodesia, arrived off Durban, South Africa, yesterday. The big question is whether it will be allowed to discharge her 15,000 tons of oil in the port and whether any will be sent inland to the westward in Rhodesia.

Lords have gone too far with rents - Minister

Minister for Lands, Industry and Co-operative Development, Mr. Mweya, claimed in a speech read for him by his Permanent Secretary, Mr. K. N. Matiba, at the opening of the Business Premises Tenants' Tribunal that the Government had established the tribunal in the matter of rent affecting business premises.

Mr. Mweya said that before the tribunal could be established, there were many administrative problems which had to be overcome, but at last it had been possible for the new board to start on its most important task.

He said that it had been a matter of great concern to the Government that there had been complaints from the public on the high rental charges by landlords. Due to the Government's rent control measures, thousands of landlords had exploited the situation and many people had suffered.

PROTECTION FOR ALL WANTED

In a free society, it was pointed out, such as in Kenya, the Government had to protect individuals in the people who owned business premises not to overcharge tenants.

A tribunal had to be established to arbitrate in rent disputes, because it was felt that there were injustices done, because it was not possible for the Government to protect tenants.

Stress put on unity for development

A NOTE to meet Government officials in London on the subject of development in the East African states was made by the British Overseas Airways Corporation (BOAC) at a meeting in London on the 15th. The meeting was attended by representatives of the BOAC and the Government. The BOAC representative stressed the need for unity in the East African states for development. He pointed out that the BOAC was prepared to provide air services to these states, but that it was essential for them to work together in order to make the most of the opportunities available. The Government representative agreed with this view and stressed the need for a unified approach to development in the region.

F.A. SAYS: WE ARE SUPREME

Warning to Mombasa on charity game

A warning that it would be "warmer" for the Mombasa Cricket Sports Association to discontinue "F.A. and A.C. matches" was given yesterday by the President of the F.A. at a meeting of the Executive Committee.

The F.A. officials at the meeting said representatives of Liverpool and Fines were the F.A.'s invitation to the town to play the match at Mombasa. The two clubs said they would play a series to help raise funds for the F.A. but the officials said the stipulation was that they would only play for part of the game.

The F.A. officials said they were writing to the two clubs direct instead of arranging the fixture through them. The M.C.C.A. officials objected to being asked merely to forward the fixtures for the match, with the F.A. and A.C. to be held in Mombasa. The M.C.C.A. officials said they would play the match, but they would not play for the F.A. and A.C. The M.C.C.A. officials said they would play the match, but they would not play for the F.A. and A.C.

The letter said it is entirely possible that the M.C.C.A. officials have been requested to play the match for the F.A. and A.C. for several years. The M.C.C.A. officials said they would play the match, but they would not play for the F.A. and A.C.

GUIDERS MEET IN NAIROBI

Twenty-five experienced Guiders from Botswana, Zambia, Tanzania, Uganda and Kenya have just completed a week's camp at Gidi Guide Headquarters in Nairobi. The aim of the camp was to exchange ideas, especially in training, teamwork and skills, to promote understanding of common interest and difficulties and to encourage the adoption of the fundamentals of Guiding as appropriate to this part of the world.

The organizers hope this camp will be the forerunner of much closer co-operation between the countries of East and Central Africa, and will serve as a first step towards the proposed East and Central Africa training conference to be held in Uganda in January, 1967, which is expected to be attended by delegates from Madagascar, Mauritius, Congo, Lesotho, Seychelles, Reunion and Ethiopia — in addition to the five countries in the present camp.

KANU APPEALS FOR VIGILANCE

Action to be taken against intimidators

As a result of Mr. Odinga's resignation from the Vice-Premiership, a spokesman yesterday warned people to be on their guard against any moves designed to spread fear and disunity.

"All forms of intimidation or coercion must be resisted to the point at which appropriate action may be taken," he said.

The text of the Kanu statement is as follows: "The members of the Executive Council of the East African States have resigned en masse from the post of Vice-Premier. This has been done in order to ensure that the Government of Kenya is not weakened by the resignation of any one Minister to resign as part of a political manoeuvre.

"The public may wish to know that at the moment this group is busy passing a declaration for signature by some Members of Parliament stating that they will no longer support the Government of Kenya. We also know that they are working on one Minister to resign as part of a political manoeuvre.

"We are confident that the Government will be able to deal with any such moves in a manner which will ensure the stability and continuity of the Government of Kenya."

Confidence in Government

"At this point we ought to recall that only a few months ago the Ministry of Information was ordered in the Government after a very lengthy debate in Parliament to state that the Government had no intention of resigning."

"The Government of Kenya is confident that it will be able to deal with any such moves in a manner which will ensure the stability and continuity of the Government of Kenya."

Mr. MOI PLEDGES SAFETY

The Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. M. Odinga, yesterday pledged that the Government would do everything necessary to ensure the safety of the public.

"I am sure that the Government will be able to deal with any such moves in a manner which will ensure the stability and continuity of the Government of Kenya."

Trade union leaders' step condemned

The general secretary of the Kenya General Workers' Union, Mr. M. Odinga, yesterday condemned the step taken by trade union leaders to resign from their posts.

"I am sure that the Government will be able to deal with any such moves in a manner which will ensure the stability and continuity of the Government of Kenya."

 CAMPAIGN OF OPPOSITION
 PHASE BY PHASE the campaign of opposition to the Government led in Kenya last week by the Kenya African National Union (KANU) has entered a new phase. The Government has been accused of a series of moves which are being opposed by the Kenya African National Union (KANU) and other opposition groups.

GERMANY BEYOND MODERNITY

ALAN HENNING, who was one of the founders of the German Democratic Republic, has written a book, "Germany Beyond Modernity," which is published by the New York Review of Books.

Germany is a country which has been through a long and painful process of modernization. It has become a powerful industrial nation, but it has also become a country where the old values and traditions have been largely abandoned. The author, Alan Henning, argues that Germany has gone beyond modernity and is now entering a new phase of development.

Critic of Kanu and Government policy

THE official statement by the Government in reply to Mr. Odging's announcement, and the reaction of the opposition groups, are discussed in this article.

The Government's response to the opposition's demands for a new constitution is seen as a step in the right direction, but it is still necessary to address the concerns of the people.

The opposition groups are still active in their campaign for a new constitution, and they are calling for a more democratic process.

The Government is expected to announce a new constitution in the near future, and it is hoped that it will meet the needs of the people.

'WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?' WOMEN ASK
