Private practice

Acted upon private practice for medical officers who have been employed in the Government service. The Director of Health Services has decided to allow medical officers to practice privately in their own names. This decision was made after a long period of consultation with the medical officers concerned. It is expected that this will be a great benefit to the public and to the medical officers themselves.

Year's plans

Dr. D. A. T. Newell, the Director of Health Services, has outlined the plans for the year 1951. He said that the main objective was to improve the health services in the country. This would be done by increasing the number of medical officers and nurses, and by improving the facilities of the hospitals and clinics. He also said that it was necessary to improve the health education of the people, and to encourage them to take better care of their health.

Kenya Building Society

The Kenya Building Society has announced that it has received a grant from the Government to help it to build houses for the people. This grant will be used to finance the construction of a number of houses in Nairobi and in other parts of the country. One way to build cheap houses

An American architect sees road-building machinery to build small family dwellings.

The idea came to him in Venezuela when he found that in that country it was possible to move a mountain for the price of a free-housing house.

At Norfolk in the State of Virginia on the east coast of the United States, is one of the world's most important projects sponsored by the International House Corporation, a three-million-dollar corporation set up by Rockefeller Brothers, former United States Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs, and "engineers to cooperate in other areas of the world, using American engineering and industrial techniques."

The architect, who has studied the use of road-building machinery to build small family dwellings, says that the use of this machinery in starting a "road" in the mountains of Venezuela has cost a few days of operation, and that the cost of the material used is negligible compared with the usual cost of building a house.

counsels our Stoop Philosopher

"Bliss who his swains of night worrying about their investments are simply wasting weary sleep. Who could remember two important things?"

Number One—Remember that temporary inflation, in the long run you never beat the best South African mines, industries and commercial undertakings as a sound investment for the sake of dividend return—and Number Two—You get the pick of them in Selected Units and we do all the managing for you. All you do is draw the dividend twice a year, free of normal income tax.

The architect

The architect who has studied the use of road-building machinery to build small family dwellings, says that the use of this machinery in starting a "road" in the mountains of Venezuela has cost a few days of operation, and that the cost of the material used is negligible compared with the usual cost of building a house.

YOUR CHOICE OF FILMS

THE DARK ROYAL
If music certainly be admitted that we have had more than our share of the unusual in the way of film stories of late and this film will not be forgotten in a hurry.
Here we have a dangerous killer seeking refuge in the summer home of a millionaire of psychology upon his initiation at a golf-club with his family, household and friends.
What makes the film so absorbing is that it is not just another "dark and rubber" melodrama but one that is a genuine attempt at a thriller.
There are brilliant performances in the principal roles from William Hopper, Lee J. Cobb and Nina Foch.
EMPIRE
ONE of the most outstanding roles of recent years is to be found in the new picture, "Empire". It is a most interesting and beautiful production, and is well worth seeing. It is a most interesting and beautiful production, and is well worth seeing.

THE CAPITOL

OF particular interest are the films that the discerning photographer would choose to see, even after an interval of some time.
Mrs. Mervine one of the great stars of the screen, in "The Man in the Moon" with George Raft and Walter Catlett, again teamed as husband and wife, in a new, well-made picture.
Victor Mature and Richard Dix have the principal roles in the film which opens on Thursday.

NOMADS OF THE NORTHERN FRONTIER

The Samburu—their entire wealth is in their stock

Many of the Samburu men joined the Forces during the Second World War, writes MERRELL DALTON in this, his fifth, article on tribes of the Northern Frontier District. Now they have turned back to their old life quite contentedly and might never have left the boundaries of their district.

THE Samburu, whose domain adjoins that of the Rendile in the east, are regarded to be a branch of those Maasi who once roamed over this and other adjacent territory. In appearance, too, they bear some resemblance to the Maasi, but have not the same proud bearing of those and warriors who have left their mark in many of the places named in the western part of the Frontier.

In the year 1870, when the Maasi were expelling the Rendile from the Maasi lands, the Samburu are believed to have followed the Rendile to the north of the Rendile in the present time, and then, at present times, they were much outnumbered with their neighbours the Rendile, especially in the Rendile area, where they were much outnumbered and were driven southwards to the El Malao.

In former days the Samburu country was much more extensive, and they were found far to the north of the Rendile in the present time, and then, at present times, they were much outnumbered with their neighbours the Rendile, especially in the Rendile area, where they were much outnumbered and were driven southwards to the El Malao.

The present area

THE present Samburu district covers about 2,000 square miles, and is bounded on the north by the Maasi lands, on the east by the Rendile, on the south by the Rendile, and on the west by the Rendile. The Samburu are found in the north of the Rendile in the present time, and then, at present times, they were much outnumbered with their neighbours the Rendile, especially in the Rendile area, where they were much outnumbered and were driven southwards to the El Malao.

The Samburu are pastoral nomads, and their wealth is in their stock. They are found in the north of the Rendile in the present time, and then, at present times, they were much outnumbered with their neighbours the Rendile, especially in the Rendile area, where they were much outnumbered and were driven southwards to the El Malao.

Fly infestation

THE insects are common in the present time, and they are found in the north of the Rendile in the present time, and then, at present times, they were much outnumbered with their neighbours the Rendile, especially in the Rendile area, where they were much outnumbered and were driven southwards to the El Malao.

The women THE women are distinguished by their dress, which is made of animal skins and is very simple. Hopes to swallow in first time in 20 years DARGESKOI HARBO, a strategic port, is being developed by the Government. It is located in the north of the Rendile in the present time, and then, at present times, they were much outnumbered with their neighbours the Rendile, especially in the Rendile area, where they were much outnumbered and were driven southwards to the El Malao.

SHOULD A BOXER HOLD TWO TITLES?

Reasons for one man: one championship
 by FREDIE MILLS

It is a question that has been asked in many quarters since the late championship of the world heavyweight title by Joe Louis. The question is whether a boxer should be allowed to hold two titles at the same time. The answer is a decided "no" in the opinion of most sports writers and fans.

The first reason is that it would be unfair to the public. A boxer who holds two titles is in a position to receive a larger purse than a boxer who holds only one. This is not fair to the fans who are paying for the fight. The second reason is that it would be unfair to the sport. A boxer who holds two titles is in a position to receive a larger purse than a boxer who holds only one. This is not fair to the fans who are paying for the fight.

GOVERNMENT CAPITULATES TO PUBLIC OPINION

Revised design for new Colonial Office

The Government has capitulated to public opinion against the original design for a new Colonial Office on the site of Westminster. A demolition work revealed a remarkably fine view of Westminster Abbey which it was felt should be preserved and now a revised building design has been substituted.

The Minister of Works, Mr. Richard Stokes, announcing the Government's reconsideration of the plan, said the building will provide a fine view of the Colonial Empire of which we may all be proud.

Original idea

The original design for the new building was to be built on the site of the old building, which was to be demolished. The revised design will have a better view of the Abbey and will be in line with the original plan to build the new building on the site of the old building.

Polishing up

Writal (redundant) expressions are being polished up and revised. The Government is polishing up the design for the new Colonial Office building.

THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE LAKE WILL BE CHANGED

Plans on foot to meet new water levels

WHEN the sluiceways of the Owen Falls Dam are closed and Lake Victoria waters are dammed up the White Nile is a regulated volume of water, a vast chain of human consequences will be set in motion. The minimum water level of the Lake will be increased by 2 ft 3 in to become 7 ft above the "zero level and although engineering and hydrological engineers expect that this will be sufficient to meet the maximum to achieve the eventual result will be that all the port installations round the Lake of Victoria are bound to be abandoned.

The geography of the Lake shore will be changed by the flooding of low-lying areas along the present shoreline. This flooding will be neither an immediate result; nor necessarily a permanent one, but it will have its effect on the African continent for a long time to come.

Towns will probably have to be moved to higher ground. One—Bukata, on the Uganda shore of the Lake—will probably have to be moved from its present situation. It will depend on the conditions prevailing at the time the sluices are closed as to how fast the level of Lake Victoria rises. It is possible that the maximum rise expected, only once in a great many centuries, will be met, but the maximum rise to set port installations on their present foundations would be a great deal higher. It is possible that the water level will rise to such a point that the water will be unable to drain off the shore.

But African Railways are already planning to build a line from the lake to the sea. This line will be built on a higher level than the present shore level. It will be built on a higher level than the present shore level. It will be built on a higher level than the present shore level.

A railway will be built on a higher level than the present shore level. It will be built on a higher level than the present shore level. It will be built on a higher level than the present shore level.

At the present level, the lake level is 7 ft above the "zero level." It is possible that the maximum rise expected, only once in a great many centuries, will be met, but the maximum rise to set port installations on their present foundations would be a great deal higher.

WHAT will the rains do for Lake Naivasha this year? All eyes in the Lake district are turned to the sky. It is not yet raining, but the clouds are thick and heavy.

By M. Mendelsohn
The Lake district is watching the lake. The water level is low and the grass is dry. The people are worried about the future of the lake.

Drought

It is a pleasure to your letter, and I am glad to hear that the drought has not yet reached its most serious stage. I have seen many reports of the situation in various parts of the country, and it is indeed a very serious one. I hope that the Government will take prompt action to meet the emergency.

A Painter In Dyes Makes Wall Hangings For The Festival of Britain

AND the modern designs in the Festival of Britain, the Country Pavilion's very walls will be hung with 25 panels produced by old techniques. They will be in pictorial form the story of the diversity of Britain's farming—the results of the artist's nation-wide tour which he chose seven districts to represent.

For almost a year this painter in dyes has been working on his wall hangings, not in London but in the most picturesque villages of Great Britain. His inspiration has been what was made most to him in 1877 at the remarkable cottages at a manor, a water tower and the ancient and ancient of monuments, which from some lands is reported this.

Of Asian Origin

WHILE Australia in his early twenties, Mr. O'Connell began experimenting with mineral dyes on silk, wool, cotton, linen and paper. His work was done in the laboratory of the Royal Society, which he joined in 1905. He has since been busy with his work, which has been the cause of his being called the "father of the modern dye industry."

Cheap And Easy

MR. O'CONNELL'S new apparatus is a simple one, and it is so simple that it can be made in a workshop. It is made of brass and is of the shape of a funnel. It is used for the purpose of dyeing, and it is so simple that it can be made in a workshop. It is made of brass and is of the shape of a funnel.
