DUTIES ON AUSTRALIAN

New approaches have been made to the British Government by the Australian Government to reduce the duties on Australian goods imported into the United Kingdom.

The Australian Government has proposed a reduction of duties on a wide range of goods, including wool, sugar, and other commodities.

The British Government has agreed to consider the proposals, but has not yet made a final decision.

K.F.A. notes & market report

COMMODITY MARKET

The market for commodities has been generally steady during the week. Prices for most commodities have remained stable, with a slight upward trend in some cases.

The market for wheat has been particularly active, with prices rising slightly. This is due to a combination of factors, including a shortage of supplies and a strong demand.

MOVE TO STOP UNOFFICIAL DEALINGS

The Council of London has decided to move to stop unofficial dealings in the market. This move is intended to bring all transactions into the open market and to prevent speculation.

The Council has issued a statement to this effect, and has asked all market participants to comply with the new regulations.

THREE MEN AND THEIR BOAT

TUNED in being a stay-at-home helping other people travel to far distant parts of the world, 23-year-old Mr. W. Hill-Burton, I.R.C.A. Operations Officer at London Airport, will himself shortly be embarking on one of the most adventurous journeys of recent years.

He and two friends are travelling from Britain to Tanzania, via the I.O.A.C. liner, the BOAT—23-ton, Benetton built, called the North Atlantic—which has been chartered for the crossing of the Atlantic and the Cape Ocean, which these three are intending to do.

During the early part of April, Hill-Burton and his two companions, Mr. Kenneth Turner, 31; and Sir Christopher Haversham, 40, will depart from London for the Cape of Good Hope. The boat is expected to arrive in the Cape of Good Hope in the month of June. The boat is expected to arrive in the Cape of Good Hope in the month of June. Of course, George loves his golf - and the evenings are wonderful for both of us. Good restaurants, theatres, night clubs - such fun to have so wide a choice.

JOHNNY APPLESEED: AN AMERICAN FOLK HERO

ROBERT PRICE tells the story of an American peddler and pioneer nurseryman who established orchards through the Middle West and became a well-loved figure in the folklore of the United States.

A drawing of Johnny Appleseed by James Daugherty.

The beginning
THE story of this plain-tanned, red-headed man, named John Chapman, travelled through the American Middle West, planting and selling apple trees to start the first orchards in the new wilderness country and to earn for himself the legendary title of Johnny Appleseed.

John Chapman's famous title of "Johnny Appleseed" was not an exaggeration. He was the first to plant apple trees in the western States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana. He was the first to plant apple trees in the American Middle West.

He was a pioneer nurseryman who established orchards through the Middle West and became a well-loved figure in the folklore of the United States.

He was a pioneer nurseryman who established orchards through the Middle West and became a well-loved figure in the folklore of the United States.

As soon as the heads of little seedlings were visible above the ground, the farmer would dig up the plants and sell them to the nurserymen. The nurserymen would then plant the seedlings in their orchards.

Simple reason
SOME people have thought it strange that Chapman should have been building a business out of seedling apple trees. The simple reason is that Chapman was a pioneer nurseryman who established orchards through the Middle West and became a well-loved figure in the folklore of the United States.

Many uses
In pioneer days apples could be used the year round. They provided fruit in autumn and they could be dried to winter the fruit. Butters or jellies were made from them that would be kept in the winter. They were used for many purposes. They were used for many purposes. They were used for many purposes.

EAST AFRICA NEEDS MORE LEPROSARIA

In which to use 'new hope' drugs

THE erection of a model leprosy leprosarium in each territory is recommended in the 1950 annual report of the East Africa High Commission by the East African Inter-Territorial Leprosy Survey Committee. The report says that in East Africa there are about 100,000 leprosy patients, and that the number is increasing. It is recommended that a model leprosarium be erected in each territory, and that the 'new hope' drugs be used in the treatment of leprosy patients.

Budgeting for your first baby

By Mary Saint

WHEN you are preparing for your first baby, the first thing you should do is to make a budget. It is not a pleasant task, but it is a necessary one. You will need to know how much you can afford to spend on your baby's needs, and you will need to know how to get the most out of your money.

Bedding
The first and most important item to budget for is bedding. You will need to buy a cot, a mattress, and a bedspread. You will also need to buy a few extra blankets and pillows. It is a good idea to buy a cot that is adjustable, so that you can use it for your baby's first few years.

EXPERTS SAY MEN MUCH AS WOMEN

Slimming and hair-colouring for the older women are two of Elsa M. Sanders' subjects this week.

SLIMMING is very much in the news just now, what with the TV "pulsing pig" programme and the latest revelation that the lady of the long and wavy hair had added a few pounds to her weight. It is not surprising that so many women should be so interested in slimming. It is a subject which has been discussed for many years, and it is one which is still being discussed today. The fact is that so many women are so interested in slimming that they are willing to try almost anything to get the job done. This is why so many women are taking to the gym, and why so many women are taking to the diet. It is a sad state of affairs, but it is one which is being discussed today.

Men's slims were with light forward fringe.

They must learn how to share

By Joyce Batchelor

A FRIEND of mine has just been criticised by another member of our Circle of Mothers for smacking her little girl.

She is only just two, but had been a firm believer in sharing her toys with other girls, aged five.

Her mother, however, remained firm, and I think she was right. When the time came, we often used to make their sisters go to them, on the principle that the news were "only babies, but kindly we saw the danger in them. Michael and Susan were of the way to becoming thoroughly spoiled and selfish, and even at 18 months old would share with rage if it was not given to them on demand.

Fair exchange
A new rule was made that if one child wanted a toy which another child had, he must change it for one of his own. This was done at a time and has gradually developed for as their hatred of "my" toys, so they learned the pleasure of sharing.

John Greene, of the International Wool Secretariat, tells how the teenager in England can dress on Sh. 7/5/0 a week.

WITH better dress sense than bank balances, British women in the main still do not know how to dress well. It is a pity, because they are so well dressed as they were a year ago, and this despite the "through the year" clothes rationing with which they are now faced.

The Russians even invent inventions

BY EDWIN D. GRITZ

This cartoon appeared in a Russian newspaper. It was captioned: "A Russian inventor has just patented a device which is intended to increase the efficiency of the electric light."

TAKING credit for practically all recorded inventions has become the line to Russia. To most persons outside Russia, these claims are at least good for a laugh. But to political analysts, they are part of a well-considered programme from a few isolated but organized lectures.

In a recent lecture, for example, Comrade I. A. Armandy, made the extraordinary observation that "the Soviet Union is the world's most advanced country in technology." This is not to be taken as a mere boast, but as a statement of fact. The speaker went on to say that the Soviet Union is the world's most advanced country in technology. This is not to be taken as a mere boast, but as a statement of fact. The speaker went on to say that the Soviet Union is the world's most advanced country in technology.

COLONIAL GIFTS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

THE new Chamber of the House of Commons is one of the sights of London which many visitors to the Festival of Britain will want to see. Visitors from British colonial territories, particularly, will be interested in the magnificent gifts which were presented to the new Chamber by their own lands.

It is not possible to describe in detail all the gifts which were presented to the new Chamber. But it is possible to describe some of the more interesting ones. These include gifts from the West Indies, the East Indies, and other parts of the British Empire.

Kenya's offering

Kenya's offering to the new Chamber of the House of Commons is a set of three maps of Kenya. These maps show the geographical features of Kenya, and are a valuable reference for anyone interested in the country.

Elastic ethics

UP to mid-1947, the Government raised practically no income tax. This was a mistake, and it is a mistake that the Government should not repeat. The Government should raise income tax in a way that is fair and just.

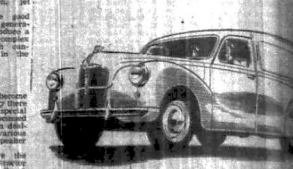

Revealing

The Government's new policy is a revealing one. It shows that the Government is willing to do what is right, even if it is unpopular. This is a good thing, and it is a sign of a government that is truly democratic.

And Tanganyika's

Tanganyika's offering to the new Chamber of the House of Commons is a set of three maps of Tanganyika. These maps show the geographical features of Tanganyika, and are a valuable reference for anyone interested in the country.

PROBLEM OF KENYAN IMMIGRATION

The Rev. Scott Dickson, Kenyan High Commissioner in London, is quoted in the Church of England Newspaper and the Review of the N. York Times as saying that the Christian Council of Kenya, studying the immigration into the Colony.

"There is a great deal of talk about the possibility of a large influx of immigrants into Kenya, but few concrete proposals as to where these immigrants should go, or how they should be accommodated. The fact that the Government will not consider the possibility of a large influx of immigrants into Kenya, but few concrete proposals as to where these immigrants should go, or how they should be accommodated. The fact that the Government will not consider the possibility of a large influx of immigrants into Kenya, but few concrete proposals as to where these immigrants should go, or how they should be accommodated."

The type needed for the Government to take a stand on immigration is a man who is not only a man of letters, but also a man of action, who is ready to take his place in the Government and to take his share in the Government's work. The Government needs a man who is not only a man of letters, but also a man of action, who is ready to take his place in the Government and to take his share in the Government's work.

Security chief indicts U.S. Communists

MR. J. EDGAR HOOVER, Secretary of the United States Security Council, has today said that the Communists today have a hard core dedicated to sabotage and to military revolt, should war break out.

The chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was speaking before a Senate subcommittee in a series of statements that have caused considerable discussion.

An interrogation of the flow of military supplies to the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc, and the possibility of sabotage, could be a serious matter, he said. He said that the Communists have a hard core dedicated to sabotage and to military revolt, should war break out.

The Communists have also advanced considerable evidence to suggest that they are engaged in a military preparation for war. He said that the Communists have a hard core dedicated to sabotage and to military revolt, should war break out.

It's just not done!

There's not a man in the world who doesn't know that a woman who writes for a living is not only a professional but a woman of letters.

ONLY A TYPIST

By Robina Wright

ONE of Britain's most scholarly and entertaining women writers never fails to rise to the writer's contemporary references to typists.

Typists are clearly not the same as secretaries, and the distinction is made with precision of color.

But you don't have to be a hat-hunter and a hat-hunter's friend to see that the writer's distinction is not only a professional one but a womanly one.

Just couldn't

There is no doubt that the writer's distinction is not only a professional one but a womanly one.

A womanly one, that is, a womanly one. The writer's distinction is not only a professional one but a womanly one.

I shall always remember the writer's distinction is not only a professional one but a womanly one.

Can you?

There is no doubt that the writer's distinction is not only a professional one but a womanly one.

Mary Deane

There is no doubt that the writer's distinction is not only a professional one but a womanly one.

RAINY-DAY CLOTHES NEED NOT BE FRUMPISH

By Dorothy Barkley

EVERYONE is hoping that the long rains are nearly here and that the down-pours of the last few days have certainly brought out a remarkable collection of rain coats and hats.

Generally speaking, it is not so frequent now in London, whether we are in the city or in the suburbs, that we see a woman in a raincoat who is not only a professional but a womanly one.

Great variety

They make them in a variety of styles, from a simple, straight, knee-length coat to a long, flowing, full-skirted affair.
