OBJECTION TO TAX ON EXPORT COFFEE

Immediate abolition demanded

DELEGATES at the annual Coffee Conference in Nairobi on Friday demanded the immediate abolition of the 12½ per cent export tax on coffee. They claimed that the measure was a serious obstacle to the industry because it drove out of business small and medium-scale planters and discouraged investment in the sector for the future.

Mr. M. N. Njiru, secretary of the Kenya Coffee Producers' Association, said the industry was being crushed by the tax. He said that the industry was being driven to the wall and that the Government was not taking any steps to ease the burden. He said that the industry was being driven to the wall and that the Government was not taking any steps to ease the burden.

Average reduced
The average yield of coffee in Kenya for the year 1954-55 was estimated to be 1.2 million bags, a decrease of 10 per cent on the previous year. This was due to a combination of factors, including a late start to the season and a period of drought in some areas.

Planter's duty
Mr. T. M. Mwangi, secretary of the Kenya Coffee Producers' Association, said that planters had a duty to improve their yields and to invest in their farms. He said that the industry was being driven to the wall and that the Government was not taking any steps to ease the burden.

Chains needed
A Road Advisory Committee report has recommended that chains be used on roads in Kenya to improve drainage and to reduce the risk of flooding. The report said that chains were essential for the safety of the roads and for the protection of the public.

Constitution change 'without delay'

THREE AFRICANS AMONG NON-OFFICIAL MEMBERS

CENTRAL CONSTITUTION REFORMS WHICH ARE TO BE INTRODUCED IN UGANDA WITHOUT DELAY ARE SECRETARY MR. LENNOX-BOWLES, TO THE GOVERNOR, SIR ANDREW COHEN, PUBLISHED YESTERDAY.

It discloses that the five non-official members of the new Government are to be Africans, one European and one Asian. The Ministers will be two Africans, one European and one Asian...

The dispatch makes clear that the ultimate aim for the Protectorate is a responsible Government answering to an elected Legislature. When that is achieved, the Secretary of State will control the government and administration without the aid of the Governor.

It will play their full part towards ensuring the success of this further stage in the constitutional evolution and in guiding the forward progress of the Protectorate.

Reference to the appointment of the five non-official members of the Government is made in the dispatch.

DECISION AJEER ON PARTICIPATION

Uganda has a responsible Government and a responsible Legislature and it is now a matter of time before the Protectorate will be a fully responsible Government.

THE MINORITIES

The Asian minorities in Uganda are a small group but they are a very important part of the population of the Protectorate.

REVIEW

U.S. RESOLUTE IN MAINTAINING SECURITY IN INDIA

Portuguese blame India for offences and troubles

Geneva summed up by Mr. Eisenhower

HOPES DO NOT WARRANT ANY RELAXATION

ALLIED security measures must continue despite the "hopeful development" of Soviet willingness to discuss world problems. President Eisenhower insisted on this policy when he spoke to Congressional leaders about the Geneva conference.

According to a statement issued by the White House, the meeting was the apparently sincere desire expressed by the Soviet delegation to discuss world problems in an atmosphere of friendliness and willingness to sit down together to work out differences.

The President added that this, of course, is a hopeful development but it is not naturally due to lack of warm allies of the free world are now pursuing."

Later Mr. Eisenhower, making his radio address, pointed out that the United States is friendly, even amicable, relations can be established and that the world gap that separates East and West will be wide and deep as the difference between individual liberty and repression, as well as deep as the gulf that separates the concept of the individual and the concept of the State.

GAIETY IN KNITWEAR

THERE'S no immunity from a sudden cold spell even in the summer, and most holiday-makers count on including at least one extra woollen in their holiday wardrobe.

A few seasons ago, there was comparatively little choice in the way of these extra jackets for use when the sky became overcast. This summer, however, manufacturers have introduced a wide variety of new designs which are not only stylish but also very practical.

One of these changes is made of smoother silk and has little red and white stripes on the straight front. The slightly sweeter imports from Italy include a white and black striped jacket with a white collar and cuffs, and a white and black striped jacket with a white collar and cuffs.

The kind of dress that can be pulled on and buttoned in the manner of a suit and used in a variety of ways is a new thing in itself. It is given a distinctive effect.

LEADING A STAINLESS LIFE

By Eileen Anderson

I've stopped worrying about where I'm going in the winter. The thing more bothered about where the dirty marks come when the summer and about what to do with them when they hit the target—marks in the middle of the new dress.

So I've been doing a bit of research, and I've compiled a summer care-avoidance list.

Grass stains. Treat with methylated spirit or methylated naphtha. The iron fabric has some action of bleach and stain. Use a good coffee stain.

Oil stains. Treat immediately with methylated spirit or methylated naphtha. The iron fabric has some action of bleach and stain. Use a good coffee stain.

Beautifully simple, this dress is made of light heavy woven wool and fastened with bright brass buttons.

Both are elegant with a wide band back in heavy wool and white blouse.

Department stores in several big British cities are showing an English-made dress in a variety of styles and white vertically striped wool, with buttons light up to the chin and back and a straight skirt. A straight-lined, it would be a fine choice for a smart, young lady.

FARMERS MAY MILK WITH A RADIO VALVE

DOWN on the farms, they are already in failure in an industry with a radio valve or more precisely an electronic valve, which has revolutionized the industry. The electronic system, according to the designers and makers, gets the milk quicker than ever before. It has been an immense success in the production of milk, and the system is being used in many parts of the world.

The system is a 'radio' electronic system which creates without mechanical aid its own, varying pulsations, and a vibrating and resting ratio. Constant pulsation period is assured and no adjustment is needed.

FOR A NEW WORLD ERA

Serious negotiations possible with Russia

FEAR OF HYDROGEN BOMB ASSISTS PEACE

SIR ANTHONY EDEN stated in London that the leaders, Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Krushchev, could "open a new era." The Prime Minister was reporting to the nation in a television broadcast on the Geneva Conference.

The conference and the visit made serious negotiations possible. "There is a long and difficult road ahead, but I do believe if we engage on it in that spirit we may solve the problems that have bedeviled Europe and bring a sense of security to all our peoples."

At Geneva there was an understanding among the leaders to try to agree what the difficulties were and to find the machinery to solve them. He was not saying for a moment that all the problems were "solved" because they were not, nothing like it. There was a call for every opinion but there was a relaxation of tension due to the fact that they all were agreed on what they wanted to do.

The Prime Minister stated that the threat of the hydrogen bomb has "not altogether been solved" and he was not saying that the knowledge that it is there, the knowledge of the destruction that the hydrogen bomb would bring with it, that as a result of it, neither victor nor vanquished, could be a result of it, the course and conduct of international relations.

RHODESIA was given as an example of how people living in close proximity of different races were able to live together in peace and harmony. Had he carried out his original intention, big losses suffered on Monday might have been repeated the next day. As it was, losses were the largest for many a long time.

U.K. plan for exploring space

THE first rockets with which British scientists plan to explore the upper atmosphere will probably be launched from balloons high above the Woomera testing research organization at Woomera in Mid Australia.

The plan is to use a series of balloons, each carrying a rocket, to launch a rocket into the upper atmosphere. The rockets will be launched from balloons which are inflated at high altitudes. The rockets will then be fired, and the balloons will drift away, leaving the rockets to travel into the upper atmosphere.
