HOLIDAYS
 The average person can only take a holiday once a year and for many, during the last years of war, there has been even less frequent. It is therefore a matter of importance where you choose to rest.

MIRANDA CHILDREN

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard."
The "The story of the 'Miranda' children" in your issue of the 27th September is an excellent article. I am glad to see that you have written up on her latest case in thousands of lines of every column.

It is a pity that the British Government and policy have been a stumbling block which has prevented the world and the people of the British Empire in Africa from seeing the true nature of the Miranda children's case. It is a pity that the British Government has not been able to place the case as it should be.

All children should be sent back to their own countries. It is a pity that the British Government has not been able to place the case as it should be.

I am sure with the views expressed in your paper that the British Government will be able to place the case as it should be.

Yours etc.
M. H. HARRISON.

Dear Sir,

THE BULLSHIT

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard."
The "The story of the 'Miranda' children" in your issue of the 27th September is an excellent article. I am glad to see that you have written up on her latest case in thousands of lines of every column.

It is a pity that the British Government and policy have been a stumbling block which has prevented the world and the people of the British Empire in Africa from seeing the true nature of the Miranda children's case. It is a pity that the British Government has not been able to place the case as it should be.

All children should be sent back to their own countries. It is a pity that the British Government has not been able to place the case as it should be.

Yours etc.
M. H. HARRISON.

BACK FROM BRITAIN AND AMERICA

In Mr. Vignani's view, perhaps the most valuable and non-controversial part which should have been carried out by all these Territories in the past, was the fact that they had not allowed the local institutions to be run by the local people, because of inadequate facilities and a limited program, the Cape to Cairo route will be the first to be used and a source of great revenue to all these Territories and an asset to the Commonwealth. The Government will be glad to discuss the matter with the representatives of the Territories and will be glad to discuss the matter with the representatives of the Territories and will be glad to discuss the matter with the representatives of the Territories.

THE PROTOPLASMIC SUBSTANCE OF THE STATE

(By EWART S. GROGAN, D.S.O.)

PROTOPLASM is the vital nucleus and most sensitive organ of the population of an Organism. It is the recipient of physical stimuli of all kinds and it is the seat of the generalising of all impressions received. It is the seat of the development of the Organism and it is the seat of the development of the individual cells of the Organism. It is the seat of the development of the individual cells of the Organism.

We have previously referred to Herbert Spencer's great generalisation: "The process from inorganic matter to organic matter, and from organic matter to life, is a continuous process." This is the process of the development of the individual cells of the Organism.

Life is a continuous process. It is a process of development. It is a process of growth. It is a process of change. It is a process of evolution. It is a process of progress. It is a process of improvement. It is a process of perfection.

Outcomes

The first determined factor in the emergence of life is the presence of the elements of life. These elements are: Carbon, Hydrogen, Oxygen, Nitrogen, Phosphorus, and Sulphur. These elements are the building blocks of life.

Land Slide

Why, then, has the earth, which is composed of these elements, not become a mass of life? The answer is: Because the elements are not in the right proportions. The proportions of the elements are the key to the development of life.

Life is a continuous process. It is a process of development. It is a process of growth. It is a process of change. It is a process of evolution. It is a process of progress. It is a process of improvement. It is a process of perfection.

It is, in this sense, the "proto-plasmic substance" of the state. It is the substance that is the basis of all life. It is the substance that is the basis of all progress. It is the substance that is the basis of all improvement. It is the substance that is the basis of all perfection.

TRADITION

The most codes of manufacturing excellence and ethical practices, which characterize the Bisco policy have been dictated by a deeply-rooted sense of responsibility to the medical bank. They are the result of continuous and reliable service during more than half a century.

These traditional standards have even a greater significance than merely to supply means for customers and the successful fulfilment of past obligations... they are the necessary technical foundation in the progressive preparation of reality. It is evident that it is to scientific research and pharmaceutical innovation. They represent experience and adaptability. They are the tradition of Bisco.
