ANGLO-U. S. ACCORD CRITICAL OVER SPEECH OF MR. ROOSEVELT

British Premier On Part America Can Play

Warm approval for the United States President's message to Congress has been voiced by Mr. Neville Chamberlain, who declared that the speech was a recognition of the vital role that could be played by American generosity in world affairs.

Most of the speech finds approval in most of America, but there is some suspicion of the hints of a change in the Neutrality Law, and of the liberal social programme.

Official German comment is milder than the bitterly hostile attacks of the Nazi press as a whole.

English Youth Wants Kenya Girl's Address

The enquiries received by the Kenya Association have covered five girls in its variety and are made in latest report of the Association. The report goes on to say that the following girls received from a youth in England:

The other day I saw a photograph in the press of a person whom I believe used to live in my district. She is the girl whose name I have traced in Blue pages in the enclosed photograph. She was a good friend of mine and I have been so far unable to obtain her name to Kenya. I have been able to obtain only a small insight if you would make enquiries and send her address for me. Perhaps the agent who supplied the name for my address is in the city. Of course she may not be in my district but I would be pleased to see her, if possible, her address.

"Well, we were all young once and should try to strive to enter into whatever life it takes. It may be added that, from the photographs corresponding evidence has good taste.

"Another enquiry was about the means of travel to Kenya which the writer had heard given in East Africa. And so it goes on."

A REVIEW OF THE PAST YEAR A Hopeful Outlook For British Boxers

London. For most people, the passing of the year will be remembered for the events of the boxing ring. The first in the undulating world of the pugilistic profession, as heavyweight champion of the world, the British boxer, has had a most successful year. He has not only retained his title, but has also won several other titles, and has been successful in his fights with the world's best fighters.

When Farr got up such a fine show, last year against Lewis, the best that year, except Semmler, the only one who was not at least a British boxer in the ring. The fight was a most interesting one, and Farr was successful in his fight with Lewis.

To Encourage the Game The Government has taken steps to encourage the game of boxing. It has done this by providing facilities for the game in public houses, and by providing facilities for the game in public houses.

Great Britain's Best Boxer Farr will do well to remember that he is no longer among the best of the world. He has been successful in his fights with the world's best fighters, but he has also been successful in his fights with the world's best fighters.

Sports Notes And Fixtures According to a letter received from New York, Donald Bruce, brother of Wimbledon, has been successful in his fights with the world's best fighters. He has been successful in his fights with the world's best fighters.

One of our Correspondents writes that in the course of his report on the National Year Meeting he referred to the "Wren's" trophy as being the property of Major H. V. Clark. The trophy is a most interesting one, and it is a most interesting one.

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Section of the Parklands Sports Club will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday next, January 10. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday next, January 10.

Two of Monday's African and Arab Association football matches were postponed, while Leo Duggan took the points in his match with the Kenya Club. The match was a most interesting one, and it was a most interesting one.

EXCHANGE FUND STRENGTHENED

350 Millions In Gold Transferred From Bank Of England

By the transfer of £350,000,000 worth of gold to the Exchange Equalisation Fund from the trust Department of the Bank of England, the Fund is placed in what is called a "virtually impregnable position" and the move is said to illustrate strikingly the determination of the authorities not to face control of sterling.

The transfer was made by the withdrawal of a nominal £200,000,000 from the gold reserves of the Bank of England, and by the increase of £150,000,000 in the Fiduciary Note issue.

The financial press says that, in view of the Bank's purchase of gold since 1931, the transfer leaves the Bank in approximately the same position as in 1931, which was entirely satisfactory from an internal point of view.

London, January 7. It is officially announced in connection with the re-transfer, which took place on Friday, from the trust Department of the Bank of England to the Exchange Equalisation Act, a sum of £350,000,000 worth of gold, namely £200,000,000 at current prices, the Treasury on the representation of the Bank and in conformity with the Currency and Bank Note Act of 1928, has made a Minute in accordance with the law, will be laid before Parliament.

Government ministers in introducing legislation when Parliament meets to amend the Currency and Bank Note Act of 1928.

It is understood that the purpose of the gold transfer is to strengthen the Exchange Fund which should now be in a position to meet any contingency. The increase of 100 million in the fiduciary note issue and the sale of £300,000,000 of gold, means that the Bank of England reserves in the position of before December of last year, when the fiduciary issue was increased by £200,000,000 in connection with Christmas currency demands.

Two points must be noted in the Bank's comment on the Treasury's transfer. The first is that the fiduciary note issue does not involve any credit in fact, the total note issue will in fact be reduced by the net amount of the same. The second is that the Treasury's increase made to meet the Christmas demands, and increased by the gold holding of the Exchange Equalisation Fund, as well as by the transfer, leaves the amount of the total note issue of the Bank, as the City Editor of the Times writes, by a margin of £100,000,000.

It is pointed out that the country's monetary gold stock still exceeds the £100,000,000 figure. Following the re-embark on foreign issues only a fortnight ago and the request of the banks to discontinue forward gold dealings or undertake exchange operations, announced only on the preceding day, yesterday's move

Views of Major Grogan And Captain Wilson

Both candidates in the Umuha Legislative Council by-elections—Major K. E. Grogan and Capt. F. O. Wilson—addressed a well-attended meeting at Thika on Friday evening.

Major Grogan stated that choosing between Captain Wilson and himself was only a question of which was the most likely to do something for the people. He said that the people of the country were still a law unto themselves and he would follow up to the limit. The position of the people should be followed up to the limit. Captain Wilson declared that he believed in co-operation not only with Government, but also with the opposition. He said that the most important thing to him at the moment was settlement and he would go to any length to get that. He said that the people of the country were still a law unto themselves and he would follow up to the limit.

INSURGENT OFFENSIVE SLACKENING
Success Claimed For Government Diversion

RUNDA'S STATEMENT BY THE INSURGENTS THAT THE CATALAN DEFENDERS WERE BREAKING UP WAS FOLLOWED YESTERDAY BY AN ASSERTION FROM BARCELONA THAT THE MORALE OF THE DEFENDERS WAS OF THE BEST, THAT THE OFFENSIVE WAS SLACKENING BECAUSE OF GOVERNMENT PRESSURE IN EXTREMADURA SOUTH WEST OF MADRID, AND THAT THE INSURGENTS WERE HURDLEDY DEPLETEATING THEIR IMPROVEMENTS TO CHARGE. His religious faith and German state had meant nothing to him if it had not meant the word of God which he was trying to do in by force. The church could not support such a development.

Character Of War Has Changed In Two Years

"THE WAR IN SPAIN WILL LAST TEN DAYS AFTER THE LAST FOREIGN SOLDIER LEAVES SPAIN."

The statement is made by the correspondent of a French newspaper, who has just revisited Government Spain after two years.

French newspapers state that the Government is now planning to evacuate its troops, and the Republicans to divide among Gen. Franco's supporters.

THE BRITISH MASTERS CHEERED ON WAY TO ROME

Talks On Basis Of Anglo-Italian Agreement

FRANCE CONSULTED

The BRITISH PRIME MINISTER AND FOREIGN MINISTER, MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN AND LORD HALIFAX, WILL GROVE THE ITALIAN FRONTIER THIS MORNING ON THEIR VISIT TO ROME, WHICH LASTS UNTIL SATURDAY. A SPECTACULAR WELCOME IS BEING ARRANGED FOR THEM AT GENOA, AND CROWDS CHEERED THEM OFF FROM VICTORIA STATION YESTERDAY.

There was an attempted demonstration by members of the Unemployed Workers' Association at Victoria, with a slogan and an inscription "Against the unemployed, not Mussolini," but the demonstrators were held back by the police from reaching the platform, and their boys were drowned by the shears of the crowd.

Last evening the two Ministers met their French counterparts, M. Daladier and M. Bonnet, and it is presumed that Franco-Italian relations were discussed. It is expected that the attitude which the British statesmen will maintain in Rome will be that of the Anglo-Italian Agreement.

London, January 10.—The Prime Minister and Foreign Minister will leave this morning for Rome, where they will meet with Chamberlain and M. Bonnet this evening. A civil and military welcome to the British statesmen on their arrival is expected, including a parade in Genoa, which the Government is expected to give in honor of the highest military officer.

Severe Flooding In England

London, Jan. 10.—Floods continue on several parts of the country. At Exeter, they are now described as moderate, but some of the worst are submerged. In the north, heavy rain has caused some roads to be closed. Large areas are under water. The River Great Ouse in Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire has burst its banks, and the water is now flooding the surrounding country. In the Thames valley, the water is rising rapidly. At several points, the water has reached the level of the highest tide.

Mr. Chamberlain

Mr. Chamberlain has been in Genoa, Italy, since his arrival there on Monday. He is expected to stay there until Saturday. He will then travel to Rome, where he will meet with the Italian Prime Minister, Benito Mussolini, and the Italian Foreign Minister, Alcide De Gasperi.

At the station, however, there was a number of men, some of whom were wearing Italian uniforms. They were seen to be talking to the British statesmen. It is believed that they were members of the Italian Fascist Party.

The British newspapers, commenting on the Italian situation, have generally been favorable to the Italian position. They have pointed out that the Italian position is a difficult one, and that the British should be sympathetic to it.

The Times, after the Italian crisis, has been particularly sympathetic towards the Italian position. It has pointed out that the Italian position is a difficult one, and that the British should be sympathetic to it.

The Telegraph, however, has been more critical of the Italian position. It has pointed out that the Italian position is a difficult one, and that the British should be sympathetic to it.

Washington, Jan. 10.—A warning that the leadership of the United States in aviation was being challenged by foreign countries is contained in a report of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics.

KENYA SHEEP FOR ABYSSINIA

Italians Buy Stock To Make A Start

Two large Italian firms passed through Nakuru on their way to Abyssinia on Friday. A party of seven Italians had travelled with them for seven days from Addis Ababa.

A purchase of four hundred sheep from the Government has been made and the sheep for the transport of which special sides have been built for the lorry, were due to leave for Addis Ababa yesterday. The firm for which the sheep were bought is a small Italian firm which is engaged in some two hundred miles west of Addis Ababa and this firm, together with seven British, four Irish, and one American, will form the nucleus of an expedition.

LADIES' HANDBAGS FROM ELEPHANT'S EAR

And a Wool Mill Plan

It may be remembered that about a year ago on this page, details were given of the experiments about to be carried out in the manufacture of handbags at a side line to the Nakuru Tannery. At that time the skins before coming into the hands of the manufacturer were made of hair and wool taken from the sheep before coming into the hands of the manufacturer.

The wool was produced in a building in which the wool was to be sorted into its own class in the Tannery. It was to be sorted into its own class in the Tannery. It was to be sorted into its own class in the Tannery.

KING GEORGE MEMORIAL

An Apathetic Public

There is published today a second letter from Mr. Bette who has the distinction of being the only Nakuru resident to have been invited to the inauguration of the Memorial Bazaar to make suggestions for the statue memorial for which £250 has been allotted in Nakuru.

It is strange to recall that a year ago enthusiasm led to the suggestion of a Fete in order to raise £250, and now when the fund is available money is sufficiently plentiful to make any suggestions as to the form the memorial should take.

Some ideas
But perhaps that is not quite a fair statement. One does hear suggestions from time to time. Several people support the idea of an ornamental fountain in the Arboretum. Others think the most suitable object would be a statue in the proposed Young Hall. Rather than those suggestions, however, rather of finding something on which to put a public seal.

The Native Quarter
Both European and Asiatic residents in Nakuru should have made plans in their town. It is not sufficient to be in the native quarter there is very little of which to be proud. Moreover, considering that practically all the occupants of the native quarter are in the employment of other races, their health is a matter of importance to the community. The time may come when it will have to become a regular matter of concern. The need is far greater than that for a fountain or a fountain clock.

A Proposal
Mr. Bette's letter reads:—

Britain's Evacuation Plans

WHOLE COUNTRY SURVEYED

London, January 10.—The Ministry of Health issued last night a list describing the whole of England and Wales into three zones for the purposes of evacuation in time of war. The first group included places situated inland in the east of England, South-Eastern, Southern, Southern and West, and strategically important towns, and a group of large-scale evacuation camps.

The second group includes places which will be liable to attack by sea, but is not so extensive, but includes the London suburbs and important ports, and a group of smaller-scale evacuation camps, Dover and Plymouth.

Third group includes all places not mentioned, and is considered the least important, but includes the whole of the West Midlands, Lancashire, Yorkshire, and the North. It will be used to receive evacuees from other parts of the country.

Govt. John Anderson defended the Government's evacuation plans last night. During the speech he said that the evacuation of children is a matter of national importance and that the Government is determined to do its utmost to ensure their safety.

"I am glad to see that the evacuation of children is being taken so seriously by the Government," said Mr. Anderson. "The evacuation of children is a matter of national importance and the Government is determined to do its utmost to ensure their safety."

What Kenya Owes To Lord Stratheden

Kenya & Uganda Imports Less By £1,088,000

CHANGE NEEDED IN AIDS FOR PRODUCERS

Lord Stratheden, who for over 15 years has served in the Kenya and Uganda commands, has left the service. He has been succeeded by Sir John Anderson.

The 1938 imports of goods into Kenya and Uganda fell by £1,088,000 compared with 1937. This was due to a fall in the prices of raw materials and a reduction in the volume of trade.

The fall in imports has led to a sharp decline in the income of producers. It is therefore essential that the Government should take steps to improve the position of producers by introducing new aids and incentives.

HOW BRITAIN FACES NEW YEAR

Review Of Position And Prospects For 1939

A review of Britain's position and policy at the opening of the new year is contributed by the East African Standard's London correspondent, who says "1939 will... see increased attention to what I may call bread-and-butter politics. So long as we return with rapid efficiency and efficiency I am not particularly worried about the international situation."

Although the blow is not sitting for a month, what are the chances of developing on such a rapid basis? It is not likely that we shall have plenty to do when it returns.

By that time Mr. Chamberlain will have returned. His visit can only be good, because the more British policy is laid authoritatively before the Chamberlain, the better.

The conclusion of the Anglo-American Trade Agreement is a very bright spot in the year. It will be a great success for us, because it will be a great success for the American people.

There is unfortunately no sign of any revolutionary change in our foreign policy. It is essential that we should remain firm in our policy.

Night Chase of Lorry

POLICE CAR TWICE DODGED

The story of a night chase by a police car after an unlighted lorry, which started from the Cinema Theatre, Nairobi, and ended in a 30-yard race from Kenilworth Road, during which the police car was dodged twice, concluded last night. The chase, in which the lorry was driven by an inmate of a police cell, was told in the Municipal Magistrate's Court yesterday afternoon.

The chase began when the lorry, which was unlighted, was seen to start from the Cinema Theatre at about 11 p.m. On the first charge he was dodged on a bend, and the chase continued on the main road. The lorry was seen to be dodged again on a bend, and the chase continued on the main road. The lorry was seen to be dodged again on a bend, and the chase continued on the main road.

SUGGESTION BY LEADER OF

To the Editor, "E.A. Standard," Sir—Our system of calling on the individual patriotism of our people in the hour of battle is being "mutilated."

Reference Major Hooper's letter in your issue of last night, please permit me to express my views on the subject. It is generally anticipated that every man fit for military service should be called upon to serve in the Air Reserve of the Legion.

Although some of the Air Squadron men have the use of machines the general public is not concentrated in ground force and the training and instruction of aviators, mechanics and ground staff as it is generally anticipated that every man fit for military service should be called upon to serve in the Air Reserve of the Legion.

In the September issue the Committee of the Legion was constituted and the Legion was organized. The object of the organization was to concentrate in ground force and the training and instruction of aviators, mechanics and ground staff as it is generally anticipated that every man fit for military service should be called upon to serve in the Air Reserve of the Legion.

TO THE EDITOR, "E.A. STANDARD,"

Sir—With reference to my letter on General Gordon's letter for a review from the East African Standard, I am glad to hear that you intend to publish it. I am sure that it will be of great interest to your readers.

STIRRING FRENCH REPLY TO ITALIAN CLAIMS

A Pledge To Corsica: "France Is Strong"

During his recent visit to Corsica, the French Prime Minister, Mr. Daladier, had a magnificent reception when he absented to a packed light mass of Corsican peasants.

"You Corsicans gave Bonaparte to France," he said, "but France gave you back Napoleon... France lives in each of us, and her reality cannot be explained to those who do not want to understand."

Speaking at Ajaccio he said: "You Corsica is an island, but it is not a detached part of France. It is the glory of the great sea, by the spirit of its Corsicans, by the strength of its mariners."

Far from renouncing it, regional peculiarities are still its own. In it one and indivisible. No regional limits are human differences as strong but there are also the community of ideals and hopes as powerful.

I know quite well that in looking at human affairs, we are in the presence of things which are impossible to foresee. Corsicans before being French, it is impossible to foresee.

[STANDARD'S CORRESPONDENT.]
London, January 27.—January, February and March are mainly occupied with cross-country running, though Oxford and Cambridge still cling to the long-established custom of a winter track season. It will, I suppose, still be very long time before the two Universities had their athletic seasons in the summer months, though this is the intention of some of the sportsmen who are now planning to hold their annual meetings in the open air.

An Inter-University Game.
"It is felt that the Oxford and Cambridge sports this year should be held in the month of February, and the Public Schools' events after the track season in the month of March. It is hoped that the promoters will discourage young athletes from participating in more than one event."

It is unfortunate, too, that the A.A.A. have been compelled to postpone their annual meeting on March 13, as the date for the Indoor Championships. The committee were faced with the alternative of this date or the date of the meeting which was better to hold the championships in the month of March. The meeting will be held on the 13th, and the outdoor season will have begun.

Polynesian Events.
The Inter-Club match organized by the Polynesian Harriers for the Kinross Trophy takes place at the new ground at Chiswick (opposite the new ground) on the 27th, and is expected to be a very interesting one. On June 27th, the National Harriers and the District Championships will be held at the White City. This is the only occasion in which the A.A.A. Championships will be held at the White City on July 1, and on this date, too, the Glasgow match between England, Scotland and Ireland will be decided at Clonsilla.

GRIMSBY'S BIG WIN AT NAURU

F. A. CUP

London, January 27.—Grimsbey Town beat Trarua 10 to 0 in the Third round of the F.A. Cup yesterday. Southport and Trarua, the two lowest ranked clubs, met in a match which was postponed last Saturday night.

In the First Division of the South-Land League, Clonsilla beat Jim Jones by 2-1 (Reuter).

ARAB AND AFRICAN LEAGUES

There has been some slight rearranging of the cards in the Arab and African Leagues. The Arab Football Association and the South-Central Football Association have agreed to merge their respective leagues. The Arab League will now be known as the A.A.F.A. and the South-Central League will be known as the S.C.F.A. The new leagues will be formed in the month of February.

Golf

THIS world of golf has lost a notable figure by the death of Mr. R. de Montmorency, former Oxford captain and English international. Mr. de Montmorency who was born in India 67 years ago, had not enjoyed the best of health for the past few years. His golfing career would have been even more illustrious than it was, but for the fact that it was not until he gave up a mastership at Eton that he devoted much time to the game. In the last three years of the nineteenth century he played for Oxford captaining the team in 1898. He was a professional, besides playing for Great Britain against America in 1921, and for England again in 1925. He also captained a team in South Africa two years later. Apart from golf he was a great player of rackets and cricket, appearing for Oxford in inter-university matches at both games. Amongst offices which he held was that of president of the Oxford and Cambridge Golfing Society.

Mr. de Montmorency's golfing career was not without incident. In 1902 he was fined for a breach of the rules of the Royal and Ancient Golfing Club. He was also fined for a breach of the rules of the Royal and Ancient Golfing Club. He was also fined for a breach of the rules of the Royal and Ancient Golfing Club.

Mr. H. D. McKelvie, champion of the British mixed lawn tennis team which he captained in 1925, was an official acting player, member of the British Lawn Tennis Association. THE VICEROY PLEADS FOR UNITY.

IN a notable passage in his address to the British commercial community, strongly represented at the annual meeting at Calcutta of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, H.E. the Viceroy, Lord Unwin, observed: "Upon unity depends the position and prestige of India before the world and her capacity to take her due place in the world and to exercise upon world development the influence to which she is entitled by right of her history, her importance and her culture. For this reason, unity is essential. In the past India has suffered much and lost many things as the direct and inseparable by-product of internal dissension. These truths she has learned by experience and the historical consciousness of the people."

"It is convinced that this realization is to be achieved only by the united action of the people. It is convinced that this realization is to be achieved only by the united action of the people. It is convinced that this realization is to be achieved only by the united action of the people."

James Agate Remembers These Books

These questions as to when were the best books of the 19th century.

To answer it properly one would need to possess eight pairs of hands, a professional book-keeper, and twenty-five hours to the day.

Therefore I shall re-frame the question: Which of the year's books that I have read, stopped, and dismissed from my presence do I consider the best books of 1932?

First among I shall insist upon two divisions—(a) books and (b) novels. My examination of the first category will be longer than that of the second because while we have many admirable writers of books, this country as the moment possesses no novelists of the first rank. And this is not overlooking any!

Mr. Valium, if you cannot prove your facts faithfully, you will have the goodness to present them chronologically? If not in less than two weeks, you will kindly be good to give me a copy of the book, in my name of the literature of 1932, in full for the moment.

GERMAN climbers have had had luck in the Himalayas. In 1929 and again in 1931 expeditions failed to reach their objective on Kanchenjunga.

In 1932 they tried, unsuccessfully, to scale Nanga Parbat, a corner-stone at the western extremity of the Himalayas, towering into the clouds nearly a thousand miles from Kanchenjunga. They tried again in 1934, and this time met not only failure but disaster. Four Germans and six others died.

Neither failure nor disaster desisted them. In 1936 an expedition under Dr. Paul Bauer scaled the peak of Sikkim, but that experience might be gained and personnel trained for a third attempt on Nanga Parbat.

The assault was made in 1932, by the most distinguished of the mountaineers, the German Dr. Paul Bauer, who was accompanied by a young doctor and some porters, the whole expedition being led by Bauer. Bauer's expedition was the first to reach the summit of Sikkim, but it was not until 1936 that the mountain was first climbed by a British expedition.

Thoughts from a Farmer's Fireside

AGRICULTURAL PROPAGANDA

SOME weeks ago an article in this column attracted the attention of the practical experimenter. It was a plea for more practical propaganda.

There is a little doubt that much of the agricultural propaganda published for the benefit of the farmer is not only unhelpful but also harmful.

There is also a tendency to regard the farmer as a passive recipient of propaganda. In fact, he is a man who is constantly engaged in a process of selection.

Now it is no simple task to combine the various aspects of the farmer's life. He is a man who is constantly engaged in a process of selection.

And while on the subject of propaganda, it is worth noting that the farmer is a man who is constantly engaged in a process of selection.

There is a little doubt that much of the agricultural propaganda published for the benefit of the farmer is not only unhelpful but also harmful.

Thoughts from a Farmer's Fireside

At the meeting of the Pension Board recently, the Chairman, Mr. G. H. H. H., said that the Board had been asked to consider the question of the pension for the farmer.

As regards the establishment and maintenance of a pension for the farmer, it is not a simple task. It is a man who is constantly engaged in a process of selection.

POULTRY BREEDING

Points About Selection and Management

By H. Y. HODSON, Editor of The Round Table. "The world as a whole, seen from the American standpoint, is engaged in a battle of attrition."

RECENT contributions to the Round Table have thoughtfully reaffirmed the existence of a definite recurring cycle of economic conditions. Many leading economists are still sceptical, however, and records of the past few years show that the difference between boom and another (or between one slump and another) is so large as to be almost negligible.

It is for instance, in world poultry production, that the present state of things is a large contrast to the boom of 1929-1930. In 1929, the United States produced 1,000 million birds, while in 1930, the production was only 800 million.

There can be no doubt that the high American tariff and the high American price of poultry have been a major factor in the present state of things. It is for instance, in world poultry production, that the present state of things is a large contrast to the boom of 1929-1930.
