ANS CRITICISED FOR LACK OF WELFARE INTEREST

Members proposed to take an initiative in the work of voluntary societies, women's societies, and clubs, and it would be a pity to have the Minister for Justice and Constitutional Affairs, Mr. Mwaanga, said yesterday.

During a debate in the House of Representatives on the Kenya National Fund, Mr. Mwaanga said the Government was prepared to take the lead on voluntary societies, especially for the African community, and he hoped to move Africans to accept their responsibility in this type of work.

Mr. Mwaanga said it was not enough for Africans to say that they were not interested in the welfare of their country, but that they were not interested in the welfare of their country. He said that the Government was prepared to take the lead on voluntary societies, especially for the African community, and he hoped to move Africans to accept their responsibility in this type of work.

Twenty-five years ago Mr. Frank Rice, a young motor engineer, decided to go into business in Nairobi.
This special supplement tells the story of that business, Ryce Motors, Ltd., and something of the man that made it work.

motor business that began in a back garden

by
DEREK WATKINS

When a young man starts a business in a back garden, it is usually for a hobby, but in the case of Mr. Frank Rice, it was for a living. Backed by the workshop facilities of Kariakoo, he was the first to set up a garage in Nairobi—and still is one of the city's best-known dealers in East Africa to offer a wide range of motor cars and trucks, many of which are made in Kenya.

For the past year it was written for a long time that Mr. Rice would be retiring from his business. He had sold the premises for £10,000 and had moved to the United Kingdom. But he has now returned to Nairobi and has started up a new business, Ryce Motors, Ltd.

By this time Frank Rice and his associates had started setting up a network of servicing points throughout Kenya and Northern Rhodesia. There was no putting the brake on business since the first move.

It was not until 1950, however, that a move was led to Nairobi and it was then that the business really came to the fore of the Ford company franchise.

Now it became obvious that the fourth line that a move would be needed to cope with the expansion of the Ford range of products.

Agrip Ltd. of London, which provided the answer, Ryce Motors Ltd. negotiated the lease of the ground-floor premises and set up a new workshop at 37 Selassie Avenue, Nairobi, and the firm has tripled its workshop facilities since then.

Work has continued in its new premises and it is now a well-established business with a mobile stand in one of the city's busiest shopping streets.

At a recent meeting Ryce was elected chairman of the Nairobi Motor Vehicle Association, through the backing of Ford Taurus products in Kenya.

mechanics working in the pits behind a car, less motor cars, their cars in better condition and put more in action at the moment.

It has always been said of the Ryce service that ever since the workshop opened in 1931, it has been a place where the motorist can get the best service for the least money. This is still the case and the workshop is now one of the best in the city. The Ryce service has always been known for its friendly and helpful attitude to the customer and this is still the case.

When it emerges it says the Ryce's which means exactly what it says. But however it hardly the claim which means the claims and maximum light reduction.

American, British and German equipment makes it one of the most modern motor repair services, those in East Africa.

The majority of Ryce's business is in the workshop, which is a centre of excellence for the service of all kinds of motor cars and trucks. It is a centre of excellence for the service of all kinds of motor cars and trucks. It is a centre of excellence for the service of all kinds of motor cars and trucks.

Mechanics never have to leave the job. If they want to leave it is sent down to the Ryce service, rather than to the Ryce service, rather than to the Ryce service.

A look round the Ford factory at Cologne

WORDS: JAMES

Where the Taunus takes shape

COLOGNE, capital of Germany's Rhineland, has a history dating back to Roman times. Today it faces another vital task, that of producing the Taunus in the home of one of the world's famous motor manufacturers, Ford of Germany.

Nothing could be more fitting for it, as Cologne started in the first place. In 1898 an engineer by the name of Nicholas August also constructed the first internal combustion engine. And the subsequent evolution of the motorcar is all traced back to his invention.

It was Cologne, too, which saw the start of the use of the aluminium and the modern Taunus's first was opened here, Cologne and then in Mainz, Cologne and then in 1926. (An interesting sidelight is that of 50 cars were produced in the factory's modern road engine, only a handful continued the engine. The others, unaccounted for, were sold as scrap metal.)

Founded in 1830, Ford of Germany is now an industrial giant with a reputation for producing quality cars. The plant is located on the banks of the Rhine. The production facilities are staggering. Labour strength is 2,500, working in an area of the plant over a whole, and daily meet the demands of an ever-increasing demand.

Each of the 100,000 cars which are produced at the Cologne plant is a masterpiece of engineering. The Taunus is a car which is built to last. It is a car which is built to last. It is a car which is built to last.

TAUNUS MODELS BASED ON AERODYNAMIC RESEARCH

Germany's top car designers and engineers evolved the aerodynamic lines of the Taunus range through exhaustive wind-tunnel and research which involved the use of jet- aircraft through their work the rain was to be made possible by the presence of the propeller. There being no propeller, however, no such wind-tunnel approximations were made. It can do over 40 m.p.h. and starts at under 27 seconds.

Both the 12M and 17M range models, whose names denote their motor sizes, are available in the popularly known Taunus range. The Taunus 12M is a three-door car, but is available in both four-door and six-door versions. In the three-door version, the 12M is hard to load in the trunk. In the six-door version, the trunk is very spacious, and can hold up to two or four cases and the trunk on the front.

FUEL ECONOMY
Though robust in performance, the Taunus 12M has a fuel consumption of 40 m.p.g. in all the 12M range. In the Taunus 17M, the fuel consumption is 35 m.p.g. The 12M model has a fuel consumption of 40 m.p.g. with an automatic water-heated motor.

SMALL BUS
Apart from the car programme, Ford of Germany has also introduced a small bus. The Taunus Transit has a seating capacity of 11 people.

THE NEW 28M
Ford's marketing programme in Europe is always looking ahead. It has been rumored that the 28M will be a powerful, 160 m.p.h. car with another radical engine. A V8 engine will also almost certainly be the new Taunus to have a station wagon version.

The driver of the Taunus 17M in the picture above looks as if he might be in trouble as the two streams of traffic build up and down the Champs-Élysées in Paris. But the Taunus is easy to drive, and its quick acceleration should be sufficient to get him out of any traffic difficulties, even in Paris.

The other picture shows a choice of Taunus models. At the top is a smart Taunus 12M breakback sedan, which has the first-year Ford with a front-wheel drive. The Taunus 12M has an universal chassis and the personal appearance of more than 200,000 drivers throughout the world who have bought one. In the centre picture is the station wagon version, which has two side doors and a tailgate. Finally there is the four-door Taunus.

15 YEARS' OF FLAFOUT DRIVING

DAY and night for 117 days through driving tests. It's the longest and the steepest of the French Motorist's Taurus 12M from Ford of Germany carried out one of the most savage and intricate drives in motor history.

PRODUCTION DOUBLED IN FIVE YEARS

EVER-INCREASING demand for Ford of Germany's Taurus cars has tripled the Cologne plant's production within the past five years.

In 1962 the company sold 180,000 units, a production increase of 27 per cent over the previous year.

Since the Taurus 12M first introduced in 1949 have passed the half-million mark, selling almost a quarter of the million Taurus 12Ms are sold on the world's roads.

Reports produced for the Ford of Germany's Taurus 12M at North America and even Japan, which has a booming motor industry of its own.

These figures indicate that production and sales will carry on expanding and Ford of Germany have already had the foresight to deal with problems that are likely to crop up in the near future.

Germany is on the crest of an industrial wave and Cologne is suffering from an acute oil shortage.

So Ford of Germany has set up a new plant in Cologne to begin its expansion production earlier this year.

"If all plans go well more will be built in the European Economic Community."

It's not hard to see why the Taurus 12M is so popular. It's the most reliable and most comfortable car in the world. It's the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

With such a reputation, it's not surprising that the Taurus 12M is the most popular car in the world. It's the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

Through the 117 days and nights the 12M averaged over 62 miles with the equivalent of a full tank of petrol. Yet it still gave a good 30 mpg in the gallon.

The car's engine and front-wheel drive not only accounted for the official rating of 200,000 kilometers (124,000 miles) but the Taurus carried on gracefully in the 100,000 mile test.

The Taurus 12M is a motorist's dream. It's the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

Every day it took 1.62 litres of petrol to run 100 miles. It's the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

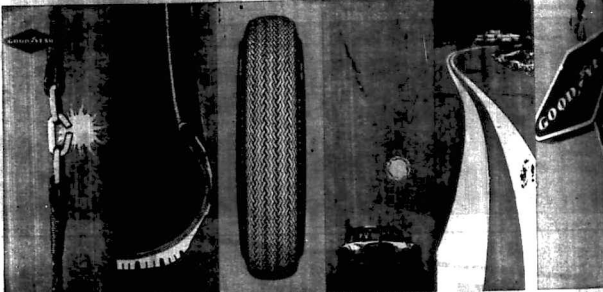

Striking proof of the production built in the Taurus engine came with the fact that it's the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

But things almost happened. The 12M is the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

The Taurus 12M roars around the Almschnee mountain track. For 117 days, except for fuel and driver changes, the car never stopped.

SUPPLEMENT

This tire used in Germany and being combined it with a better, safer, more reliable tire. It's called G-8. It's the most powerful and most economical car in the world. It's the most beautiful and most practical car in the world.

FOR SAFETY... NO OTHER TYRES IN THE WORLD ARE BUILT LIKE G-8 TYRES BY GOODYEAR.
The G-8 tyre by Goodyear has safety built right into it. Around-the-shoulder design puts more tread on the tyre shoulder. This gives you more tread at the critical moment in cornering when you need extra traction for added safety. The G-8 is built with 3 T tyres and, strongest and safest tyre cord made — and made only by Goodyear. The G-8 gives you improved steering, no squeal cornering, a quieter ride with a new, confident feeling of control and security. And the G-8 by Goodyear offers you real safety because it costs no more than ordinary tyres, yet gives you mileage. See your Goodyear dealer soon. When it comes to tyres for your family car, look to Goodyear.

CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

Kenya will receive a republic within the Commonwealth on December 31, the first anniversary of independence. Meanwhile, the proposed Indian constitution is being considerably modified, and nobody should be in the least surprised.

There has been a curiously deleterious in the Indian Minister's statement in the House of Commons. It has been generally assumed that the British Government would be prepared to consider the Indian proposal, and would be prepared to consider the Indian proposal, and would be prepared to consider the Indian proposal.

AUSTRALIA MADE TO FLIGHT

Break-throughs halted by Lawry

AUSTRALIA, making a last England Test, is expected to fight for runs on the second day of the fifth and final Test at the Oval, yesterday. After being up for three wickets, the Australians lost the first wicket for 245 for five, but should score 300 for six.

Just over five hours and 100 (14) were the heaviest of the Australians' batting. Simpson, the Australian captain, was dismissed for 100, and he scored only 100 when England might win that day in a fair happen position.

Best bowler

Best of the England bowlers were Cartwright, who took 100 for 100, and Lawry, who took 100 for 100. Cartwright's best ball in the first 100 was for 100 for 100. Lawry's best ball in the first 100 was for 100 for 100.

England may not get out of Australia

England may not get out of Australia this time. The Australians are expected to score 300 for six in the first 100 hours.

SCOREBOARD

ENGLAND	100	100	100	100

Mediator taken in on eve of mission

Cyprus mediator, Mr. Sakari Tuomioja, was taken ill with a stroke yesterday, only hours before he was to leave Geneva for talks with main parties in the island crisis. Usually reliable sources in U.S. headquarters in New York said his condition was critical.

Word of Mr. Tuomioja's sudden illness on the eve of a round of crucial talks with Turkish, Greek and Cypriot leaders in his efforts to resolve the Cyprus crisis was received with dismay in the United Nations headquarters.

Foreign officials had been attached to the forthcoming round of consultations, which seemed to offer a glimmer of hope that a compromise settlement might be found in the latter stages.

Interim replacement sought

U Thant, the U.N. Secretary-General, was told immediately by Mr. Tuomioja's illness and informed accordingly that he and his advisers had begun to seek around for an interim replacement as mediator.

There was speculation that Dr. Golo Plaza Laso, who returned to Cyprus last Thursday as the Secretary-General's personal representative might be asked to take over the task. He is a former President of Ecuador.

Foreign officials had been attached to the forthcoming round of consultations, which seemed to offer a glimmer of hope that a compromise settlement might be found in the latter stages.

S. Africa may buy missiles

The British Sunday Times reported yesterday that the South African Government had been negotiating with the British Aircraft Corporation for 20,000 £100,000 worth of British-made missiles.

The newspaper said the negotiations on the missiles, for which the firm of Ferranti supplied the guidance system, had reached an advanced stage but because of election uncertainties in London it was likely to be some time before a contract is signed.

The report said that a surprise announcement that negotiations had been going on for some months.

It went on: "The Labour Party have threatened to help British arms deals with South Africa if returned to power, and no contract can afford to be signed in a political vacuum which does not have Government approval."

The specific question of the export of Bluebird missiles to South Africa would have to be examined in detail by a Labour Government in the light of circumstances and the time.

MALTA PLANS UHURU WEEK

Malta's Agriculture Minister announced yesterday that the island Government had decided to observe Uhuru Week.

The Minister said that the Government had decided to observe Uhuru Week in the form of a series of public events, including a parade and a concert.

The celebrations are scheduled to begin on September 12 and end on September 13.

War Cabinet set up in S. Vietnam

The South Vietnamese Premier, Mr. Nguyen Khanh, was yesterday elected President of the republic by a military junta under the new constitution and announced he was forming a war cabinet.

The constitution provides for executive powers to be vested in the President, but to be exercised by a Military Revolutionary Council.

Mr. Khanh said a Presidential Council would be formed to advise him on matters of state.

The new cabinet will include a number of military and civilian officials.

The cabinet will be responsible for the administration of the country.

FINAL TEST DRAW AVAILABLE

THE CHAMPIONS IN ACTION

...and the winners draw the game of tour

A draw in the 10th year has had such general approval that the British and English have been able to play the game with its English character.

Without the English character, facing a deficit of 100 on the first innings, the English have been able to put up a most performance which is a credit to them. There will be a definite record.

England will have to test their batsmen, but it is not likely to be a test of their batting, but of their bowling.

The MARTELL guide to the choosing of Brandy

What do stars and letters mean?

There is a great deal of confusion about stars, letters and other symbols which appear on brandy bottles in themselves. The maker's name means everything. When you see three stars on a Martell Bottle, you can be sure of a quality that is made Martell. The Star the most reliable title of companion.

TRIALS PLEASE SELECTORS

THE Kenya Hockey Union can take full marks for their bold and extremely successful move in sending a party of 13 Nairobi players to each of the two Olympic training centres at Montreal and Kinross at the weekend.

The Olympic Games are only a few months away and the national selection was completed the week before last. The selectors were able to get a good look at the players who made the final Olympic squad.

The selectors' minds were made up long ago. The players who were selected were not only selected for their ability and speed, but also for their character and their ability to play under pressure. The selectors were able to get a good look at the players who made the final Olympic squad.

Standard Staff Reporter

Dar es Salaam.

The East African Common Services Organisation was dissolved yesterday as the necessary arrangements for the re-constituting of the Central Legislative Assembly in Dar es Salaam and the transfer of the State Bank to Kenya and Zanzibar, Mr. Boinani.

He also announced that undersecretaries appointed last April for the general managers of the Railways and Harbours and East African Airways as well as the Postmaster-General will assume the full responsibilities attached to their posts on September 1.

It had been decided that the expatriates at present holding these posts would remain in their capacity for as long as their services were necessary. The authority deeply appreciates the good work done in the past by these persons and deems it in their service to East Africa and hopes that they will in their new capacity as advisers continue to do as much, if not more.

Kenya's tea production £2m. boost to

The International Development Association has announced the provision of a loan to Kenya, valued at about $250,000, for expansion of small farm tea production.

The Commonwealth Development Corporation has agreed in principle to provide Kenya with the estimated cost of £2,000,000 for 14 additional tea factories for the production of green leaf grown by small holders on the schemes of the Kenya Tea Development Authority.

The announcement to I.D.A., an affiliate of the World Bank, said that the loan would be repaid by the Kenya Government through the proceeds of the sale of tea to the Government.

The Government will receive a grant of $150,000 for the purchase of 14,000 acres for tea planting in the next few years. The loan will be used to finance the purchase of the land and to provide the necessary working capital for the tea growers.

Anxiety gives unsettled day in the City

THE London Stock Exchange yesterday reflected some apprehension about what today's traffic might show, and was also unsettled by the fresh burst of speculation in the pound market.

Sellers were not about in numbers, but they did not support the bid and the price continued to drift back from recent record levels.

Most dividend issues were steady, but at 11.15 a.m. the Dow Jones Industrial Average in New York was up 1.14, and the Standard and Poors 500 in London was up 1.14.

CHINESE INVESTORS

Several months ago, the Chinese government announced that it would be sending a mission to Africa to study the continent's resources and to establish trade relations. This mission, led by Premier Zhou Enlai's son, Zhou Qun, is expected to return to China in the next few months. The mission's findings will be used to guide China's foreign trade policy in Africa.

The mission is expected to visit several African countries, including Egypt, Sudan, Ethiopia, and Kenya. It will also hold talks with the governments of these countries to discuss trade and economic cooperation.

China's interest in Africa is growing, and it is expected to become a major trading partner for the continent in the future. The mission's findings will be a valuable asset to both sides.

The Marshall's Fighting talk

President John F. Kennedy's speech to the Congress on the Marshall Islands was a landmark event in the history of the United States. It was the first time that the President had addressed the Congress since his inauguration. The speech was a powerful statement of the President's policy in the Pacific and in the world.

The Marshall Islands are a group of islands in the western Pacific Ocean. They were the first islands to be liberated from Japanese rule during World War II. The United States has since taken responsibility for the islands and has been working to develop them.

The President's speech was a clear statement of the United States' commitment to the Marshall Islands and to the people of the Pacific. It was a message of hope and of the United States' determination to bring peace and prosperity to the world.

Dr. E. S. L. Lasker

Dr. E. S. L. Lasker, a prominent American physician and researcher, has been elected to the National Academy of Sciences. He is a leading expert in the field of immunology and has made significant contributions to the understanding of the immune system.

Dr. Lasker's research has focused on the role of the immune system in the body's defense against disease. He has discovered that the immune system is a complex system that is capable of recognizing and destroying foreign invaders.

Dr. Lasker's work has had a profound impact on the field of immunology and has led to the development of new treatments for a variety of diseases. He is a true pioneer in his field and his contributions will continue to be felt for many years to come.

Dr. Erik Solheim, a Norwegian scientist, has spent several years studying the habits of the sea. He has discovered that the sea is a vast, complex system that is capable of supporting a wide variety of life. He believes that man can learn a great deal from the sea and that it is time to start.

Dr. Solheim's research has focused on the behavior of fish and other marine animals. He has discovered that these animals are capable of communicating with each other and that they are also capable of learning from their environment. He believes that these findings have important implications for man.

Dr. Solheim's work has led to the development of new technologies for the study of the sea. He has also been instrumental in the establishment of the Norwegian Institute of Marine Research. His work is a testament to the power of scientific inquiry and the importance of the sea to our lives.

Wanderers hold local girls to 1-1 second Test draw

A FOOT crowd saw Kenya women's tennis team draw 1-1 against International Wanderers in their Test match at the City Park Stadium, Nairobi, last night. There was only a sprinkling of spectators as they watched the heaviest 3-0 in the first match played in Nairobi last Wednesday.

Both teams tended to play safe in the beginning, and this led to the watershed being blank at the interval. Straight from the resumption, Kenya went on the attack. Their pressure earned them a penalty corner when the second half was only a minute old, and a goal at that stage would have swung the game completely in their favour. But they played a vital through ball which was on hand to follow up the corner ball neatly, taken by Maggie Maddocks, the hand-biting centre-half.

The Wanderers were quick to perceive the danger ahead of them and they at once rallied to come back in the game, and within five minutes they were in the attack. Grace Dunn, the inside-right and a prolific scorer, was unmarked when she was in, but her efforts were nullified through by her winger, Hattie Hollings of Denmark, and the Kenya captain, Joyce Morgan, drove the ball home. Her next two attempts at goal were also nullified when the home team were quick to reply. They were fouling a leading Kenya striker, and it was a penalty which was being awarded to them, but the goalkeeper, Hattie Hollings, was quick to come out and stop a 1972 in its tracks.

As expected by the visitors, Kenya were quick to rally in the second half, but the first intention, the Kenya players were not to play the safe game, but to go in for a goal. The Wanderers were quick to respond to the attack. Their penalty was a header, scored on a loose ball, and it was a penalty which was being awarded to them, but the goalkeeper, Hattie Hollings, was quick to come out and stop a 1972 in its tracks.

PEACE NON-ALIGNMENT

FOUR non-communist world leaders, including the British prime minister, have agreed to meet in London to discuss the African situation and the role of the United Nations in Africa.

The meeting, which is expected to be held in London in the next few days, will be attended by Sir Alec Douglas-Home, British prime minister; Lyndon B. Johnson, U.S. president; Nikita Khrushchev, U.S.S.R. premier; and Kwame Nkrumah, Ghanaian prime minister.

The meeting is expected to be one of the most important in the history of the United Nations, as it will be the first time that the four major powers have met to discuss the African situation.

The meeting is expected to be held in London in the next few days, and will be attended by Sir Alec Douglas-Home, British prime minister; Lyndon B. Johnson, U.S. president; Nikita Khrushchev, U.S.S.R. premier; and Kwame Nkrumah, Ghanaian prime minister.

Democratization in Malindi

Recently, attention was drawn to considerable treatment of Kenya in a British document to the committee of certain representatives of the African states in the United Nations.

When the Prime Minister and his cabinet members returned from their trip to Africa, they were met by a group of African statesmen who had been invited to the United Nations to discuss the African situation.

The meeting was held in London in the next few days, and was attended by Sir Alec Douglas-Home, British prime minister; Lyndon B. Johnson, U.S. president; Nikita Khrushchev, U.S.S.R. premier; and Kwame Nkrumah, Ghanaian prime minister.

African president calls for W. African free trade area

The President of the Ivory Coast has called for a free trade area in economic development. The President was addressing a session in Montevideo on the possible creation of such a free trade area.

The conference is being organized by President Touré of Guinea, Félix Houphouët-Boigny of Ivory Coast and Mr. Albert Margat, Prime Minister of the Ivory Coast. President Touré said that the existing international economic relationships do not make it unrealistic to expect the immediate formation of a "traditional customs union" with eventual liberal and monetary policies.

He pointed out, however, that the present conditions do not favour the creation of such an area. In the Ivory Coast, he said, the coffee and cocoa sectors are in a state of stagnation and are suffering from the effects of a severe drought. He said that the Ivory Coast Government has decided to establish a free trade area between the Ivory Coast and the other countries of the region. He said that the Ivory Coast Government has decided to establish a free trade area between the Ivory Coast and the other countries of the region.

Mr. Kenyatta

...gives warm welcome to Mr. Kenyatta

...of cheering and dancing people gave an enthusiastic welcome to Prime Minister Mr. Kenyatta, when he arrived in the East African township yesterday at the house of his late...

It inspected a guard of honour mounted by the Kenya Police and took the salute while the band played the National Anthem. After being welcomed by the president of the region, Mr. Gatia, he unveiled an obelisk monument which was erected by the Embu Uthuri Celebration Committee.

WORTHY TRIBUTE TO FIGHTERS

The stone monument was dedicated to "the first great hero of Kenya nation, Mr. Jomo Kenyatta, and also to all the people who suffered in the struggle for freedom." The inscription, in Swahili, adds however that the struggle was not only against the three great enemies: poverty, ignorance and disease.

Praise at end of Taita tour

At the end of his three-day tour of the Taita District, the Civil Secretary of the East African Region, Mr. J. D. Mainland, yesterday said that he had been most impressed by the maintenance of the recently formed Taita District Council company at Mwaseni development scheme.

Mainland said that there were already 100 head of cattle and 500 sheep on the scheme. He explained the aim of the company was to develop the area for the benefit of the people of the district and the Government.

He said that the company had been successful in its efforts to improve the standard of living of the people of the district and the Government.

Whitfield is willing to open clinic

MAL Whitfield, one of America's great athletes and probably one of the most travelled in the world, is to be based in the early hours of yesterday morning after his interrupted flight from Rome. Whitfield, who is taking up his position as Cultural Affairs Officer at the United States, has issued an encouraging note to all sportsmen in the country, in particular to the Kenya Amateur Athletic Association.

"I will be very glad to assist anyone in training the Kenya athletics team which is coming to Tokyo. But I am not going to stick my neck into anything where I am not needed. If they require me as a coach, or even to give a hand and a few tips to the athletes, I am willing to do so for no fee."

Great potential

Since his retirement from the American Olympic team, Whitfield has been active in both Africa and Africa. He has always been interested in sports and Kenya. He has been to Kenya several times and has been very impressed with the great potential of the country. # Kenya's 'SPOIL UHU'

Meru's reputation barred says Premier

Minister, Mr. Kenyatta, said at the last public meeting of his Meru District yesterday that former forest fighters who had helped to loot were spoiling Meru's reputation.

He reminded the large crowd at Kiwira Stadium that the Government had declared an amnesty after independence for all political prisoners and forest fighters. Some, like Mwambwa, had agreed to support the Government and were now working for the development of the country. The Government had allocated 400 plots for these men and made money available for loans so that they could start a new life.

But the followers of Kibindi and Bwimbo had refused to work for their living and had returned to the forest so that they could live on other people through robbery and intimidation. Mr. Kenyatta said that there was a rumour that the forest fighters would unite with the rebels.

Promise of all support

The crowd gave the Government full mandate to bring the forest fighters under the force of law and order. They promised their support and said that they would not supply the men in the forest with food. Mr. Kenyatta warned that support to such people would always spoil the hard-won status.

Of the development of the district the Prime Minister said that £20,000 had been set aside for loans to the people. The Government would help them if they showed initiative. The Embu-Meru road was among those earmarked for development, which would ease produce transportation. The people should work hard to produce more cash crops.

Mr. Kenyatta condemned liberal out-bidding and appealed to the people to go back to the land. "We all do not do the same thing," he said. "We must have a variety in the country," he said.

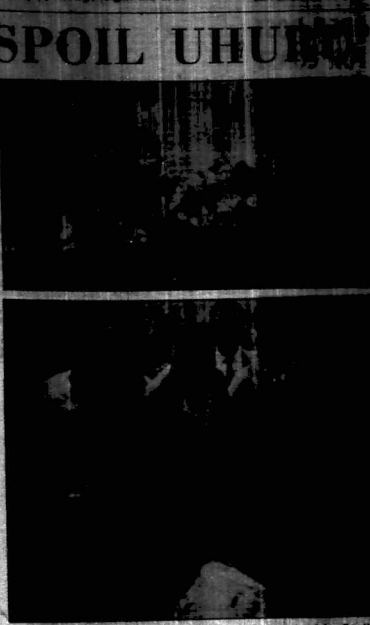

The Prime Minister added that the Government will only be strong and efficient if people supported it with hard work.

Low-barriers would be dealt with firmly, Mr. Kenyatta said. Although this was an African Government, the tribes were not to be divided. The Government would help the people to develop their own industries. He promised to do his best to bring about a united Kenya.

workers' pay claim rejected by peace court

Recently established Industrial Court, giving its first findings on Monday, made no award in the dispute between the Kenya Workers' Union and the East African Oil Refiners. It ruled that "both parties should get together" to work out a deal on job classification and grading — a task so far very deadlock had arisen.

The dispute was referred to the Industrial Court after the union threatened to strike on June 4. The finding of the court was given by Mr. Cecil R. Coker (president), Mr. P. E. Wilson and Mr. Saeeed G. N. O'Neil.

Stating that the union was at no time concerned with job classification, the court said that the proper medium for the matter should be the Joint Industrial Council for the oil industry.

NO CASE FOR INCREASE

The court made no award on the main claim by the union — that of 10c per month for overtime and standing — which it rejected — commenting that it was wrong for such an increase.

A claim by the union for a 10c shift differential — earning higher rates the later the shifts — was dismissed. "No case" for such a shift differential — was dismissed. "No case" for such a shift differential — was dismissed.

KABAKA YEKKA FARM

the corporation for 200,000 acres

...including the takeover of more than 1,000,000 acres... announced in Nairobi last night by Kenya's Minister for Agriculture, Mr. McKenzie.

The Ministry would set up the Agricultural Development Corporation consisting of about ten local experts as advisers.

The corporation, said Mr. McKenzie, would buy up about 1,200,000 acres, which comprised all the abandoned farms in the second phase of settlement. This would be achieved after land had been valued on a profit basis. The farmer would be paid eight times his assessed annual profit, providing the farm had been well managed and was in normal production.

Abandoned farms 'for nothing'

Mr. McKenzie, who was addressing the general council of the Nairobi Chamber of Commerce, said that a farmer who was making an annual profit of £1,000 would be paid £8,000 for his farm.

But if a farm had been run down and to make a profit the farmer would have to invest back to make a profit. Abandoned farms, he pointed out, would be sold over for virtually nothing.

Money for this project would come from Britain, said the Minister, and the British Government had accepted the method of valuation, although they had not made known their total acceptance of the profit percentages which are used on such valuation of farms.
