CITY IN WAR Over the reaction is Wall St.

LONDON stock markets opened quietly and hesitantly yesterday due to the overnight reaction on Wall Street. Later, however, they resumed Monday's upward trend, although the pace was slow.

There was a general inclination to await the developments due to the late yesterday and 1000 shares passed in the industrial market. Dollar stocks were dull under Wall Street's influence and all were lower for the most part.

Globe-trotting meet dilemma

COME a surprise awaited Mr. Sargent and his 22-year-old Vauxhall passenger, and the two men were ready to start their motor cycle trip. Mr. A. Robinson, who has been busy preparing himself with a local officer who had it in his mind to go on a motor cycle trip.

Mr. Robinson thought this was a very good idea, but he was not sure if it was worth the trouble. He was not sure if it was worth the trouble. He was not sure if it was worth the trouble.

When they arrived in Nairobi, where they found it very hot, they were not sure if it was worth the trouble. They were not sure if it was worth the trouble.

The adventure began for Mr. Woodard in Southampton, 1955. Seven months later, in Bangkok, he met and married a 23-year-old girl, who was working there as a children's governess. They have been travelling ever since.

When they arrived in Nairobi, where they found it very hot, they were not sure if it was worth the trouble. They were not sure if it was worth the trouble.

After that it's off round the world again.

BRITAIN'S revolutionary Hovercraft SR-11 (above) speeds along the River Thames in the shadow of Big Ben.

Crowds on Westminster Bridge saw the craft reach a speed of up to 10 m.p.h.

The Hovercraft, which rides on a cushion of compressed air generated between its underside and the surface over which it travels, was taken to the Thames so that it could give demonstration runs for Members of the House of Commons and Peers.

Because of its exceptional handling qualities, the hovercraft will not be interrupted.

I DO not think the outcome of the second leg of the Day Millington-Peterborough boxing match between Kenya and Uganda which took place at the Victoria City Hall in Kampala on Saturday night... came as a surprise to informed observers. And it will not be a few years yet before, as a boxing man, the Colony will have to contend with the 'Reds' of the 'Frodo's'.

Just as it is a great idea to have a good boxer in the house, so it is a good idea to have a good boxer in the house. It is a good idea to have a good boxer in the house. It is a good idea to have a good boxer in the house.

Perhaps that day, however, it may be some consolation to those who give their time and energy in many causes, to know that they are not alone in their efforts. The Uganda boxer, for example, is not alone in his efforts. The Uganda boxer, for example, is not alone in his efforts.

Parker applies plants' life force to make world's easiest filling pen

PARKER 61 DRAWS UP INK LIKE A PLANT DRAWS UP MOISTURE

FILLS ITSELF - BY ITSELF

For the first time capillary 'action', the age old force that enables plants to draw up moisture, has been harnessed to produce an entirely new type of pen-point that fills itself, cleans itself, by itself. Just remove the barrel cover and place the pen in its. Automatically your fountain pen draws up a full charge of ink through the rear end of its capillary cells in seconds. This unique capillary action eliminates filling lenses, plungers, ink sacs and cartridges. There are no moving parts - nothing to jam, clog or go wrong.

CLEANS ITSELF

The outside surface of the capillary unit is liquid repellent. After filling returns to empty from the ink-wet line as we writing will be necessary.

LEAK-PROOF, SHOCK-PROOF

Once in use the Parker 61 - only writing pen that will write when half empty there's no free ink, no leaking around the nib. No matter how you shake it it is impossible to spot a trace of ink-like fluid.

Three to ask Members' views on expropriation

AFRICAN LAND ASSURANCE SOUGHT Schemes may not work says Minister

THREE Ministers of the Kenya Government are to meet the African Elected Members to outline their views on land and expropriation, the Minister for Agriculture, Mr. McKenzie, announced yesterday.

He told the Convention of Associations in Nairobi: 'Until we have cleared that out of the way, any of the schemes we have put forward may not work and may have to be altered to a great extent.'

It is understood that the three Ministers will be the Minister for Finance, Mr. MacKenzie, the Minister for Local Government and Lands, Mr. Havelock, and Mr. McKenzie.

Mr. McKenzie was questioned by delegates about the Government's farm plan for settlement in the Highlands. Mr. Havelock, the Minister for Agriculture, indicated that the conditions of Seasonal Farm No. 10 would not be accepted by a future Government.

Volcanoes bring third disaster to Chile

EUPTING volcanoes brought new terror in the people of Southern Chile yesterday when the third and missing of two previous disasters—earthquakes and tidal waves—were still being counted.

The Chilean Home Ministry has confirmed that the whole volcanic system in the Southern Andes had been triggered off by the quakes, scattering ash over the whole region, much of which was shattered by the series of severe 4.8 to 4.5 r.e.s. tremors and tidal waves last week-end.

A new volcano has risen and erupted about 45 miles south of Santiago and a second new volcano is believed to have emerged in the Cordillera Andes. Thousands of people were yesterday being hurried away from areas between Ormoso and Valdivia, south of Concepcion, where lava flows from former Mount Beke and smoke thousands of feet high were being blown over the mountains.

The Home Ministry has given 200,000 Chilean lire for 274 identified and 152 unidentified persons. Five hundred of the missing are from one of the islands. The great tidal wave strike at Chile on February 27.

Warning about trade campaign

FOOLISH TO WITH UNION INTERESTS

A trade campaign between East Africa and the West African states would be a disaster for the West African states, warned Members of Kenya Legislative Council yesterday.

Anxiety on land

BRITAIN NOT ONLY CULPRIT

Mr. Alexander said that suggestions of such a campaign were inherent in a speech by Mr. T. J. Mbiya (Nairobi Area) earlier in the debate, which was on the estimates over the Ministry of Commerce and Industry.

REPUTATION SOUGHT

He asked the Minister to repudiate such idea and foolish thinking when he replied to the debate, and went on to refer to the proposed pooling arrangement between the two continents. It would be wrong to suggest that it would be to everyone's benefit, "that it would be a business arrangement like that in which anything is strictly affected," he added.

Mr. Alexander complimented the Minister, Dr. Kiwuka, for his statement, saying that it was a good one, and that he would be glad to see it in print within a few days before he left. Mr. Kiwuka was very strong when speaking on industrial matters.

Proposed pooling arrangement between the two continents would be a disaster here, he said, because it would mean that the British Government would be able to get the best of both worlds. He said that the British Government would be able to get the best of both worlds.

Another speaker said that it was not the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement, but that it was the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement.

Second thoughts

The Minister replied: "It depends on the speaker who says it. It depends on the speaker who says it. It depends on the speaker who says it. It depends on the speaker who says it."

He said that the Minister had said that it was not the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement, but that it was the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement.

He said that the Minister had said that it was not the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement, but that it was the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement.

Clear and specific

The Minister replied: "It depends on the speaker who says it. It depends on the speaker who says it. It depends on the speaker who says it. It depends on the speaker who says it."

He said that the Minister had said that it was not the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement, but that it was the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement.

Stacked pack

He said that the Minister had said that it was not the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement, but that it was the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement.

He said that the Minister had said that it was not the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement, but that it was the fact that the African states were not yet independent that was the reason for the pooling arrangement.

Spending by City Council up again

The City Council's expenditure for the year 1966-67 has risen to £200,000, an increase of 10 per cent on the previous year.

The increase was due to a rise in the cost of living, which has led to a 10 per cent increase in the salaries of the council's employees.

The council also spent more on the maintenance of the city's roads and on the provision of public services.

Council disputes freedom for Lord HOWICK

WHEN an African court punished a man for a breach of tribal law and custom, it was punishing him for an offence which was not in fact an offence, Mr. J. S. Sereby argued in the Supreme Court in Nairobi yesterday.

The case with which he was concerned was the conviction of Gideon Waweru Gathungu by the African Court of Appeal at Kisumu in February, 1966, on a charge of taking an unlawful oath of allegiance to the King of Kenya before a traditional council.

Ministry denies suggestion PAPER IS NOT USING MAU MAU LITERATURE

THE Ministry for Commerce and Industry, Dr. Kinnear yesterday denied a suggestion that the newspaper "The Worker" was printing subversive Mau Mau literature. The newspaper claims a weekly circulation of 5,000.

He did not deny, however, that the newspaper had printed an advertisement offering reprint editions of the booklets banned during the Mau Mau Emergency. The advertisement was placed in the paper by the author of the book, Mr. John Galsworthy.

The allegation that the Kinross printing subversive literature was made by a Conservative M.P. in the House of Commons, who asked for the name of the author.

The Member, Capt. R. Kinnear, said he was sure that Dr. Kinnear would read it to his readers a cash payment of £100 for the right to reprint it. Mr. Macleod stated, "The Kinross newspaper is not using Mau Mau literature."

He said the advertisement was not a subversive one, but a notice of publication of matter held to be defamatory of the Government of Kenya. It was signed by Mr. Kinnear, the author of the book.

TURKEY TAKES A MORE CALM General heads new non-party Cabinet

TURKEY'S new non-party Cabinet met in Ankara for the first time yesterday as troops stood guard over Government buildings and the radio station.

Gen. Cemal Gürsel, who led the armed forces in the coup which overthrew the Government of Mr. Menderes, became Prime Minister and Defence Minister in the 15-man Cabinet, which will rule until a new Government can be elected.

Friends dispute Crabb theory

FOUR former Service friends of Comdr. Lionel Crabb in the frozen program stranded in Antarctica in London yesterday that they were convinced he was dead and not serving in the Russian Navy, as claimed in a new book to be published in London today.

Crabb disappeared on a driving mission near the British cruiser which took Mr. Krushchev and Mr. Buligin to Britain.

The cruiser was anchored at Portsmouth.

A headline book dressed in a woman's suit and identified as that of Comdr. Crabb was later found washed up on the shore. It said that reports have reached that he is in fact a Soviet Union spy.

The Service friends, led by Mr. James Gleason, of London, said they were convinced that the body found on the British shore was that of Crabb.

He said any move by 'defectors' would be crushed without mercy. There should be no anxiety about the former Government Ministers if serious enquiries are held in London to ensure that Mr. Menderes is not in the country, Gen. Gürsel said for continuing support from his soldiers.

Target set

During the coup one lieutenant was killed and an unspecified number heavily drugged and guarded by six security officers.

Today he is a First Lieutenant and has been promoted to Major.

Crabb's disappearance provoked charges of spying on the part of Gen. Gürsel, who was sent by the Soviet Government to Ankara to investigate the alleged espionage, although denying that he had any prior knowledge of the incident.

He was captured, flown to Britain by helicopter, drugged and held by six security officers.

Today he is a First Lieutenant and has been promoted to Major.

Crabb's disappearance provoked charges of spying on the part of Gen. Gürsel, who was sent by the Soviet Government to Ankara to investigate the alleged espionage, although denying that he had any prior knowledge of the incident.

Krushchev says China should attend summit

CHINA and other Asian nations, including India and Indonesia, should be invited to the next summit conference, Mr. Krushchev said in Moscow. In a major speech at the weekend he said that, despite the Paris fiasco, Russia had made it possible for another conference to be held in about six months' time.

Mr. Krushchev, in a speech lasting two and three-quarter hours to a Kremlin audience of Russia's Communist Labour Movement, said it was imperative that the position of Communist China should be recognised.

He thought President Eisenhower still lacked a fundamental understanding but he would support the United States military leaders. He also said that the U.S. should be invited to the summit conference.

Russians say they will start new tests

RUSSIA raised doubts in the Security Council on the United States on disarmament negotiations with the United States on disarmament.

ASSURANCES ON PUBLIC LOANS AND LAND

I NOTICE in Legislative Council last week that Members should state their policy with regard to the future of agricultural land.

Perhaps the most important question is how to best use the land. It is not enough to say that the various landowners should be treated fairly. It is more important to say that the land should be used in the most efficient way possible.

Thurgood, who recently toured the Colony at the invitation of the Ministry of Agriculture and the Kenya National Farmers' Union.

CHINESE STEP UP ACTIVITY IN AFRICA

CHINESE propaganda activities were increasing in Africa and Latin America, but had lost ground in Asia and the United Arab Republic, the U.S. Information Agency stated yesterday.

Chinese propaganda and military actions during 1954 in Africa and Latin America were increasing, according to a report from the U.S. Information Agency.

The United States East propaganda activities centered in Tanganyika, the U.S. Information Agency said, as a result of Peking's approval of more militant tactics by the Soviet Government.

The USA reported that Chinese propaganda activities in Latin America were aimed at the promotion of the cultural and political movements.

In Africa China had heavily increased its propaganda activities, according to the U.S. Information Agency, as a result of Peking's approval of more militant tactics by the Soviet Government.

CORF REPORT REVEALS REASONS OF MAU MAU

Dangers of Kenyatta cut exposed

THE Corfield Report on the origins and growth of Mau Mau was tabled in Kenya Legislative Council yesterday and published simultaneously in London as a Command Paper.

The survey, in the words of the Governor, Sir Patrick Renshaw, "applies an answer to the oft-repeated question: Why did it all happen?"

The author, Mr. F. D. Corfield, a former officer of the Sudan Political Service, was appointed in October, 1957, to report on the circumstances which permitted the Mau Mau movement to develop so rapidly without the full knowledge of the Government."

Indian aid politically dangerous

THE Corfield Report contains a reference to the Government's policy in India. A. B. Pant, a former Indian Minister, said that the arrival of Mr. A. B. Pant as the Commissioner for the Government of Madhya Pradesh in August 1948 gave a noticeable impetus to the anti-Indian propaganda which was being spread in Kenya. He said that the Government's policy in India was to give financial aid to the Government of India, but that this aid was given in such a way as to create a double-edged sword, as it was given to the Government of India, but not to the people of India.

Medals for four who held pilot

THE author says that the rise of Mau Mau must first be considered against the background of the impact of civilisation on the people who had for centuries been isolated from outside cultural influences.

Mr. Corfield comments: "It was also induced by the impact of civilisation on the people who had for centuries been isolated from outside cultural influences. This was done by the Government of Kenya, which was established in 1963, and which was the result of a determination to give the Mau Mau movement the full knowledge of the Government."

M.P. ASK ABOUT KENYA

Maceod gives assurance on security vigil

THE Colonial Secretary, Mr. Maceod, said yesterday that the Kenya Government was studying very closely for signs of a revival of the Mau Mau organisation.

He was replying in the House of Commons to Mr. John Bagg-Davison, a Conservative, Mr. Bagg-Davison asked if he was satisfied there had been no revival of Mau Mau activities, including out-labouring, in view of recent lawlessness in Kenya." Mr. Maceod replied: "The Kenya Government is studying very closely for signs of the revival of Mau Mau and is investigating, as it has been doing, the activities of out-labouring."

Although there is a sense of uneasiness in lawlessness and crime, so far there is no evidence to show that any of the activities of out-labouring are a revival of Mau Mau."

Mr. Maceod said he had been assured that no official investigation of out-labouring was being given to any African, and that the Government was not taking any steps to investigate the activities of out-labouring.

First duty to keep law and order

THE main lesson to be learned in administrative terms from his historical survey, Mr. Corfield says, is the paramount duty obligation of any Government to maintain law and order.

"It was the failure of the Government of Kenya to do this," he says, "which has been the cause of the Mau Mau movement."

Mr. Corfield said that the Government of Kenya had failed to do this because of the failure of the intelligence organisation to present to the Government a clear and accurate picture of the situation in Kenya. He said that the Government of Kenya had failed to do this because of the failure of the intelligence organisation to present to the Government a clear and accurate picture of the situation in Kenya.

Security efficacy

THE answer, the author declares, is "that of a more effective intelligence organisation."

Mr. Corfield said that the Government of Kenya had failed to do this because of the failure of the intelligence organisation to present to the Government a clear and accurate picture of the situation in Kenya. He said that the Government of Kenya had failed to do this because of the failure of the intelligence organisation to present to the Government a clear and accurate picture of the situation in Kenya.

SEVERAL references are made in the report to Mr. Fenner Brockway's speech at Nairobi in 1957. It is recalled that in 1957, in Nairobi, on September 10, Mr. Brockway, then Minister for the Colonies, said that the Government of Kenya was not taking any steps to investigate the activities of out-labouring.

NO SET PERIOD FOR NEXT STAGE IN KENYA

THE Colonial Secretary, Mr. Maceod, refused last night to say how long the new Kenya Constitution would last.

He was answering Mr. Paul Williams (Conservative) who asked in the House of Commons how long the Lancaster House Constitution would function before any major change was made.

"It will not be long enough to say whether those who will be undertaking responsibility in the new Legislature and the new Executive will do the necessary sense of responsibility," Mr. Maceod said.

U2 inquiry continues

THE U.S. State Foreign Relations Committee met again today in the Senate to hear into the U-2 spy plane incident and the national conference called by the Government.

Mr. Maceod said that the Government was studying very closely for signs of a revival of the Mau Mau organisation.

VIC TOMASIAN

arranged in 12 different countries, Mrs. Joy Adamson becomes one of Kenya's best-selling authoresses. She is pictured above with Mr. William Collins, the publisher...

He also met Eliza and the lion cubs who will be featured in it.

The first edition of 'Born Free' sold over 200,000 more copies were ordered. The sales of the book have been phenomenal.

She named her attention to animals during the wonderful experience she and her husband had with them, but not her own, reaching maturity, they turned back into 'education' in the way they live.

Now, as nearly the whole world knows, Eliza has become a mother and although living in the wild, still remains tame and affectionate.

PRICE CONTROL PLEASES WIVES

The Government decision to fix maximum prices for most household goods for years has pleased New Zealand housewives who for years have complained that the high cost of joints in a country which is one of the world's major exporters.

In their calculations the price of meat had been very high, but they had every reason to be satisfied to enable an estimate of the joint which an average housewife could expect to obtain from various kinds and grades of meat.

They had also provided a list of the prices for a representative panel of butchers throughout the country to be used at present for the price of various joints and cuts, including sausage, mince, kidneys and so on.

All are very grateful at this small improvement. Mrs. Doreen said: 'We have been paying high prices for all these years, especially steak. It is a relief to see the price of meat brought down to the household level. It is a relief to see the price of meat brought down to the household level.'

Meat cuts, especially steak, have been a source of complaint for some time. It is a relief to see the price of meat brought down to the household level.

Hints for the home

COVER stone floors in kitchen or passage with cement or linoleum. This goes through it easily, but it must be washed thoroughly if care is taken not to let it get too wet and to make it dry quickly.

TO make enamel, paint, etc., last longer in a colour, add half a pint of water and stir. Allow it to boil dark in colour, and use as required.

BEFORE stuffing a cushion or pillow with feathers, spend the inside of the ticking with very sharp needles. It prevents the feathers from coming out.
