People should not think everything will be easy, says Dr. Fisher

People in these days of peace should not think that it would be easy to get a peace treaty with the East, said Dr. Fisher in a speech at the meeting of the Archdiocese of Canterbury, St. Dunstons, in the Salaam Club Society, The Prince, who had returned from a visit to Mease only an hour before the start of the Memorial Lecture with his title, "Liberty and Life".

It was wrong to say Man is born free. Man was born in chains. Free of civilization but not free of the society in which he lived. Man had to win his own freedom according to the laws of his time.

Somehow there must be peace in Man strong enough to survive and this which is created for himself.

Overcoming evil

The Archbishop said that Man could find a reason, overcome evil, come away from the permanent possessions of evil but he should insist on power, respectation, etc.

Man should not say: "I will fight for my rights" - but should fight for them with the right of others and see if he could reconcile them with the rights of others.

Mayor keeps control - council

Mayor's principles will be proposed by the Union Council representative committee meeting at the Association of Local Government Authorities of Kenya at Nakuru on August 11 to consider proposals for local government reform in Kenya.

The council's finance and general fund representative committee has already approved that control of local funds of ratepayers, but that the other recommendations are to be considered in registration but that the proposal for the council to be approved and that persons appointed as representatives of ratepayers must themselves have a residential stake in the area. The qualification of ratepayers should be six per cent on the assessed valuation rate, together with his or her spouse.

No telephone exchange yet

"Standard" Staff Reporter, Nairobi.

KESKIM cannot hope for an automatic telephone exchange for the Nairobi Chamber of Commerce and Industry has been advised by a letter from the K.E.A.P. and T. Section, Director General of the Ministry of Posts and Telecommunications that the exchange of automatic telephones were not practical and that appear on the 1964-65 estimates.

The committee also considered a letter from the Provincial Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioner of Police and the Governor at the persistence of the difficulties of installing telephones in the town. Members of the committee agreed that the remedy was in the hands of townsmen for if they refrained from giving subscriptions to the exchange, it was to such a degree, they would avoid the expense of the exchange. The committee decided to send £200 to the Nairobi Telephone Cross to help Belgian return.

HEAVY TALK AHEAD FOR LEGISLATURE

FREE talk, political, economic and social, which must be finished by the time Kenya Legislature meets in Nairobi on Monday.

So heavy that it dominates all those who have the welfare of Kenya and indeed of all Africa, at least in so much valuable time being wasted by our political leaders slumping mind at each other instead of getting down to the business—hand, which will have to be done and done properly too.

Only a few weeks ago showed signs of what was to come. The people with African leaders today is that they are so preoccupied with the matter, that they forget that it is only worthy to work on it if they are also.

While this person may have no doubt that the same is true of Kenya at large, there is no doubt that the same is true of Kenya at large. There is no doubt that the same is true of Kenya at large.

REALITY FUTURE

If this Legislature builds a Kenya will be one of the most advanced in the world. It will be one of the most advanced in the world.

RAISE STANDARDS

New industries and the attraction of foreign capital is the best possible terms between them and the local inhabitants.

LAND REFORM

Another very important task will be to initiate the process of land reform. It will be to initiate the process of land reform.

Urgent need for welfare organisation

Many jobs that are to be done by the real Government. All this leads to one very important conclusion and that is that the people must get together.

THREE studies of Princess Margaret... undoubtedly The Best-dressed Woman of the Week.

Left, in an orange pleated silk hat to match her coat and dress... at the unveiling of a statue to St. Boniface at Crediton, Devon.

Centre, in a black brocade fitting gorgeous afternoon dress with an unusual white collar and an outfit feather-of-the-high-crowned-hat... at the Princess Margaret Rose School, Windsor.

Right, in a pale turquoise silk evening gown with a pearl and diamond lilies setting off her bouffant hair style... at the That Embassy dinner given by King Bhumipol of Thailand.

MAKE MR. JONES A MARQUESS AND BRIDGE TITLE GULF

By LESLIE G. PINE, of "Burke's Peerage"

WHAT is the proper procedure when arranging places at a great social function for someone who comes third from the Queen, and for someone else who is way down the line at about 150? I refer to Princess Margaret and Mr. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

In the majority of cases good breeding and natural courtesy will solve the problem, but a pocket it resolves. For Mr. Armstrong-Jones is an Esquire in rank - and Esquire is a rank rarely addressed for all males over 21.

As an Esquire he comes at the penultimate place in the pecking order. The common, in fact, just above Esquire, is a rank vaguely defined as "Gentleman."

Princess Margaret, on the other hand, being Her Majesty's sister, is third from the Queen in the Pecking Order for tables.

OFFICIAL SCALE
Now normally a man does not take precedence and rank from his wife. The only exception is in the case of a Queen Regnant, who, as his wife is also his sovereign, must of course have rank and precedence from her own.

The Order of Precedence is based on that of Parliament of Henry VIII's reign but most people will agree that the social class have altered not a little since then.

The secretary of a quite distinguished body once asked me what the precedence is in the official scale of a Cardinal Archbishop.

The answer is none. The Holy Vile's rank since no allowance was made for a cardinal; there was in any procedure when arranging places at a great social function for someone who comes third from the Queen, and for someone else who is way down the line at about 150? I refer to Princess Margaret and Mr. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

case, an Archbishop of Westminster until the 18th century. It seems very remarkable in the present day when there is an official place in the Pecking Order for the Prime Minister of the Order of Precedence. Not until King Edward VII succeeded to the throne did he receive his present position, after the Archbishop of Canterbury and York and the Lord Chancellor.

As a result, a distinguished man, by no means unknown in Britain, but not since the early 19th century has there been such a difference in the rank of husband and wife as in the present royal marriage.

RENOUNCE RANK
What are the ways of getting the unobscured problem arising from the present untitled title of Mr. Armstrong-Jones?

The first of a title could continue as it is, but few would want a member of the Royal Family to imitate the procedure of the late Lord and Lady Paasland.

When they were announced at any social event, if they were referred to in their own papers they would be called Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones.

The second of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The third of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The fourth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The fifth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The sixth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The seventh of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The eighth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The ninth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The tenth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The eleventh of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

The twelfth of a title would be to announce to any man, woman or child that the name of the husband and wife should be Mr. and Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones.

THIRTEEN Tanganyika amateur golf championship played over the Tanga course during the August holidays was won by J. M. Higginson of Dar es Salaam.

Higginson, who established a course record with his second round return, never mastered the "reading" of the fast greens in his game and grew better and better. It was the third year in succession he had captured the title of Tanganyika champion. The first round was played with a 74 two strokes better than Higginson's record. The second round was delayed by rain for an hour but the competition of the 1957-58 season continued the first round was completed. Higginson's total of 150 (67-83) set a new record for the championship.

THE KENYA TIMES

ELECTION QUERIES

SOME days ago, a story was circulated of a Mr. N. A. Mwangi, a member of the Kenya African Ward Council, who had written to the President asking for copies of the election laws and procedures for Kenya's elections. The President's reply was that the laws were contained in three constitutions: the Kenya Constitution, the Kenya Local Government Act, and the Kenya Municipalities Act. It is a pity that Mr. Mwangi did not ask for copies of these three constitutions, as they would have given him a complete picture of the election laws and procedures for Kenya's elections.

'Open' and 'Reserved' seats

There is much confusion over provisions relating to voting in the constituencies designated "open" and "reserved" seats. It is necessary to clarify the meaning of these terms and the procedures for voting in these constituencies.

The term "open" seat refers to a constituency in which any person who is qualified to vote may do so, regardless of his race or religion. The term "reserved" seat refers to a constituency in which only persons of a particular race or religion may vote. The purpose of reserved seats is to ensure that certain racial groups are represented in the Legislative Council.

THE BUREAU

The Bureau has received a letter from the Hon. Mr. Mwangi, a member of the Kenya African Ward Council, asking for copies of the election laws and procedures for Kenya's elections. The Bureau has advised him that the laws are contained in three constitutions: the Kenya Constitution, the Kenya Local Government Act, and the Kenya Municipalities Act.

50 sit-down strikers at Mombasa dismissed

THE 50 Africans who were dismissed by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. at Mombasa after starting a sit-down strike last Saturday have not been reinstated and the strike is continuing to operate on casual labour, a company spokesman said.

The dismissed men, all members of the Tobacco, Bottling and Brewery Workers' Union, were told in all days and pieces of company's plant when they arrived to start work on Saturday morning. A union official told them a strike had been called because of a wage dispute.

Later, after the men had been spoken to by a Government labour officer, they still refused to start work and were told they were dismissed by the company.

A skeleton staff managed to keep the plant working and delivery trucks were manned by casual labour in an effort to get back to normal.

Earlier in July the union had agreed to a 24% wage increase for the first and other African employees to bring their basic monthly incomes to £150.

Last week was the first pay out in the new wage rates.

South African Embassy will with the Union, the Africa, the Mbonyi, said in a yesterday.

The latest news is that the full responsibility for the strike should be placed on the shoulders of the Government and in all countries, officials claim, to prevent the Government and human dignity.

It was reported that South Africa wished to appeal to GATT against China and Russia, that right had to respect her sovereignty, it was understood.

It was also stated that the very serious award given to the human dignity and respect.

'Close parts'

Closing of airports and borders to South Africa and other areas must be vigorously enforced by all African States and South Africa should be allowed access to international facilities.

The Government has also been asked to take immediate steps to ensure that the Government of South Africa is not in a position to take further steps to force the issue of a meeting of East and West African States.

The Government is also being urged to take immediate steps to ensure that the Government of South Africa is not in a position to take further steps to force the issue of a meeting of East and West African States.

V.I.P. TENANTS MOVE OUT OF No. 10

NO 10 Downing Street, London, will be vacated this week by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Macmillan, and his staff.

They are transferring their headquarters to Admiralty House and the adjoining buildings in Whitehall, which will be the Government's official base for the next two years.

This is to permit the reconstruction of the historic house which has been the family and office of Prime Ministers since the meeting place of the Cabinet and the principal office of the Government.

The reconstruction scheme will extend to Nos. 11 and 12 which were damaged during the war. The total cost of the work has been estimated at about £1,200,000. No. 11 Downing Street is the official residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

NGONG ROAD WORK IN PROGRESS

Approximately 11 miles of Ngong Road between Athi River and the Government House has been started by Nairobi City Council. The work will include about 250,000 and will include widening the carriageway to 20 ft and the construction of kerbs, drains and footpaths. A roundabout will be built at the Athi River — Athi Road junction and the bridge in the dip will be widened. The Council is taking precautions to ensure that the work will not interfere with traffic. It is expected that the work will be finished in November. The whole stretch of road will be surfaced to a high standard. The picture shows African workers breaking up stones for the heavy foundations needed for widening the road.

SCHOOL CHOIR WINS TOP AWARDS

Choir and certificates were presented by Mrs. G. D. Flood, of the Latin Grammar School, Nairobi. Mr. Erasmus, the school's headmaster, was the chairman of the adjudicators. He was assisted by Mr. J. Legum and Mr. Z. Legum, who travelled from Nairobi to adjudicate.

Boys' Brigade expansion

A PROPOSAL for the appointment of a full-time organizer of the Boys' Brigade in Kenya was discussed at the fourth meeting of the Kenya Boys' Brigade Conference.

A spokesman of the organization, announcing that at the weekend, said that as a result of the appointment of full-time organizers in the past year more than 150 centres have been formed in various parts of the world and in the past eight years membership outside the U.K. had doubled to about 500,000 (including membership of the former organization, the Scouts).

CITY 'B' WIN F.A. CUP TIE

Centre opens score

The total he produced some excellent cricketwork; to Kericho he scored a 50 in a fast class exhibition of the pen-sill, aided by some excellent legging by Arif Ghani.

It took 28 runs to get 100 in win. Wanderers maintained an initial attack which they lost a wicket with only nine runs scored.

Chivawa, however, set about the bowling as if he intended to win the match as he was until 27, he was well coupled in, they going for his second 50.

Defiant decision

Play soon followed but behind the wickets of a somewhat dubious like decision.

Wanderers were then 60 for three and Machakos were well in the game until the advent of Harmen.

Butting beautifully after one lot-out, he struck the ball to all parts of the ground.

He carried his bat for 53 runs, most of which were scored in a neat style, but when he was out for 125 he was caught on the bat in front of the wicket.

His father-in-law, the well-known batsman and Wanderers' ran-out deserving 150 runs were taken.

MACHAKOS C.B. 150 (Peter #1, Chew 55 not out, Wilson, #41, Kericho 125, Tye 54, Harmen #37)

WANDERERS C.B. 136 for 6 bats. (Pavay #22, Chivawa #21, Kariuki 52 not out, Giles 20, February 2/46).

Met-Ram
Met-Ram consists of cold-rolled steel sections, girding a void of 24 times square inch and circular holes.
Its design permits free spans of up to 60' and, since stresses can be calculated, only the minimum "Met-Ram" is used.
It has been tested to withstand all climatic and chemical attacks, so rusting is unnecessary and rust creep cannot occur. Easily and quickly erected. Design service available.

AFRICAN AFFAIRS

A FORMAL Executive and Administrative Council of the African People's Congress (APC) was set up in London on Monday. The APC was formed by the merger of the African National Congress (ANC) and the African People's Union (APU). The council is headed by the ANC's former president, Dr. J. B. M. Dube.

The African Malawi Congress Party (AMCP) led by Dr. Hastings Banda—who had been imprisoned for a year after 1963 in the Protectorate—has demanded a five-member African majority in the Legislative Council of the Executive Council said a one-man-one-vote franchise as a step towards self-government.

The European mid-peace conference which has been held in London since the end of the last year, has been held in London since the end of the last year, has been held in London since the end of the last year.

Never a risk of walk-out or breakdown
From our London Correspondent
MR. MACLEOD was asked that the Kenya conference had been more smoothly than the Kenya conference. He replied: "There was never any risk of a breakdown of a walk-out."

Asked whether Kenya would be a precedent for Nyasaland to ask for increased financial aid as the price of accepting the new constitution, Mr. Macleod replied sharply: "I don't try to bring people to be good or give them money if they behave."

He would have to draw into the comparisons as to whether the new Nyasaland settlement would be forward at the same pace as the East African Territories.

Comparison, he said, could serve no useful purpose. It was the right pace for Nyasaland.

Asked whether Ministers would be appointed before the election in Kenya, Mr. Macleod said the Kenya ministerial system was more advanced than Nyasaland's, and he said that the Protectorate doubted whether the Protectorate could follow Kenya's example.

Immediate start
An immediate start will be made on implementing the working party's proposals for the constitution. The working party's proposals for the constitution will be implemented as soon as possible.

Mr. Macleod made it clear that a general election could not be held in Nyasaland until the administrative changes were completed. Previous experience showed that it would take six to nine months.

The final conference between Mr. Macleod and the members of the working party was held in London on Monday. The conference was held in London on Monday.

He said that there should be a public opinion survey. The conference agreed to conduct a public opinion survey to determine the views of the people on the proposed constitution.

On the Civil Service it was agreed that there should be a public opinion survey. The conference agreed to conduct a public opinion survey to determine the views of the people on the proposed constitution.

FANTASTIC PRODUCTION FIGURES

4,250,000 Volkswagens cannot call be wrong in making their cars as the world's most popular car and VW's are still coming off the production line at the rate of 4,000 a day!

WORLD-WIDE

VOLKSWAGEN . . . WATER WAGEN!

IN AUSTRALIA

A carmaker makes a rubber tube extension to the exhaust and a popular fitted to its rear engine named a Volkswagen Sedan into a "WATER-WAGEN". This unusual amphibian attracted more attention than the official opening of the Perth Narrows bridge when it sailed round Swan River and under the bridge for more than an hour, with its front wheel-acting as rudder!

IN SCOTLAND

Recently, a driver won a bet of £50 when he "swam" the river TAY in his Volkswagen, using similar attachments to those used in Australia.

IN NIGERIA

TOP SALES

During 1959, more Volkswagens were sold than any other make of car.

NO IDLE VOLKSWAGENS

Amongst about 125,000 cars from Europe which are lying idle in the U.S.A., there is not a single Volkswagen. 151,000 VWs were imported into the U.S.A. last year and this figure fell far short of requirements.

UNIQUE high re-sale value.

Unique high resale value of Volkswagens is indebted to its retention of design, but continual improvement. 3,327 improvements have been made to its component since its inception.

27 MORE IMPROVEMENTS THIS YEAR

Some of this year's improvements to the VW include a front axle stabiliser, re-coated steering wheel, self-cleaning indicators, improved sound-proofing.

AFRICA'S ONLY MOBILE SERVICE LINE

Recently, the 5,000th Volkswagen to be serviced since August '59 on the only Mobile Service line in Africa, passed through. The car was given a free service and a presentation was made to its owner. This service line is based at Cover Motors in Connaught House, Nairobi. The full service takes only two hours and costs very little.

Submarine

A U.S. Navy Polaris missile was fired from the sea off Cape Canaveral after being powered submarine George Easton during a test. The accurate guidance system, first engaged with an accurate guidance system, has a standard range of about 1,200 miles but they plan to use it for the eventual doubling of the distance. Combined with the submarine's ability to submerge for extended periods, the Polaris is expected to be a powerful deterrent against surprise attack. Seen exploding in the bottom right of the picture, is a 700-kilowatt motor welded to the submarine. This is used only during the preliminary tests and in operational use the submarine would show nothing above the surface of the water.

Attacked from start

Europe went into attack from the right, cleared with a corner kick and forced a corner from the left.

Stephen Adams then made a long pass to the right and finished with a tremendous shot which was completely only to reflect back into play.

With only four minutes to go, Europe scored a goal.

Thrilling goalkeeping

A few minutes later he brought the crowd to its feet by driving off at the feet of Matthews when the latter shot right through and had the goal at his mercy.

Europe's half-time finish was a narrow one when Matthews made a brilliant save by being in front of a shot from Europe.

Equalling goal

Then the home forwards broke through and from a corner ball Mularak sent in a shot which if it had not been for Gierke's brilliant save would have been a goal.

Two quick goals

Again Pakistan swept on the attack and Anwar's corner ball was deflected past Gierke to the goal.

A WORD IN YOUR EAR

Generally speaking there are three types of amateur photographer. There's the chap who feels that he should have a camera because "most people seem to go in for that sort of thing". This type usually ends up buying an impressive but complicated camera, which he can't operate properly and then is surprised when his results resemble a dark man in a dark room on a dark night. The camera is then hurled with disgust into some corner of the attic where it is left to gather dust for years to come.

The second type takes more of an interest. If his results are bad he tries to ascertain as to whether it was himself that was at fault, the camera may have been set incorrectly, or else he may have been using the wrong film. Whatever the cause his second attempt shows an improvement, because he asked advice from someone "in the know".

Lastly we have the type who has been dabbling in photography for years and is abreast of all the latest aids and developments. We see quite a few of these chaps in the Camera Centre! They pop in for a chat just to keep up with the latest trends and ideas, that whatever category you fall into are sure to be of assistance to you. Constant additions are being made to our stock, whether it be the Bell & Howell Movie Range, the Yashica or our large stock of accessories and equipment. To assist the customer we offer R.P. terms on all items priced over Shs 200/- and of course on all cameras now at the new duty-free prices. If you can spare a minute...

'GROSS INJUSTICE' Nakuru protest over transfer of Asian seat

NAKURU INDIAN ASSOCIATION has sent a letter to the Chief Secretary, Mr. Couss, protesting at the transfer of the Nyeri seat to Asian seat to Nairobi in preference to Nakuru. In the letter, the secretary of the association, Mr. R. D. Joshi, recalls a resolution passed on Monday night.

The protest strongly affirms the desire to transfer the seat to Nairobi despite strong representation reinforced by Asian Members.

Mr. Joshi has the strongest claims for this seat, it being the only one in Kenya with a substantial Asian vote. The resolution goes on to say that it is the duty of the Government to give effect to a gross injustice.

Mr. Joshi says that the argument that there cannot also have a hold over would not stand in view of the fact that Nairobi Members have both open and reserved seats by means of a certain necessary similarity.

"Nakuru is in exactly the same position where such details could easily be effected. Copies of the letter and resolutions have been sent to Mr. J. M. Magath, Member for Western Area, and the Minister without Portfolio, Mr. S. M. Njiru.

RAIL UNION URGES END TO RACIALISM

THE Railway Asian Union in Uganda has submitted a memorandum calling for an all-out effort to remove "every conceivable remnant of racialism and segregation in the East African Railways and Harbours Service."

The memorandum, signed by the Union's president, Mr. M. H. Shah, mentions the fact which Adams have played in disorganizing and building the railways in East Africa.

The union suggests that the Government should recommend an interim 25 per cent increase in basic salary for all staff who were in the railway service on January 1, 1963 and that the increase should be backdated 12 months.

Grading change

It also calls for a change in the system of grading, describing the present system as antiquated and lacking the attraction which should induce people to seek a career with the railways. The union says that the 1962-63 month's "standing salary for the railways increased on an annual basis by 10 per cent. Five grades are suggested: Grade I would start at 4,000/- a month and rise to 5,000/- a month; Grade II would start at 3,200/- and rise to 4,000/-; Grade III would start at 2,400/- and rise to 3,200/-; Grade IV would start at 1,600/- and rise to 2,400/-; and Grade V would start at 800/- and rise to 1,600/-.

U2 PILOT GIVEN TREATMENT IN JAIL SAYS FATHER

MR. OLIVER POWERS, father of the imprisoned U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, said yesterday that a psychiatric and a handwriting expert had examined his son's letters home and thought he had been given "a ten-to-15-day treatment in solitary confinement."

He added that he thought his son was told "what not to write," but his friends are due to fly to Moscow to attend his son's trial, which opens on August 17.

He said he intended to make a personal appeal to Mr. Khrushchev for permission to visit his son, before the trial would "listen to the appeal of one working man in another and one father to another."

Mr. Powers said the United States was convicting his son of espionage, but he was convinced that his son was innocent. The Inniskillings

THE GATHERING STORM

British opinion is probably best summarised in the feeling that the Secretary-General's resignation offers the best hope of shelter from the gathering storm in the Congo.

The resolution, calling for the immediate withdrawal of all Belgian troops, was proposed by Congo and was seconded by the whole Afro-Asian group. France and Italy subsequently abstained while all other members of the Assembly brought Britain and Russia together on this issue as well as abstaining for the rest of their session.

France alone and the resolution should remain here and the Congo and the Congo Government will remain in a stalemate. Mr. Van Dyke requested that the Congo Government should be given a vote on the resolution of the Assembly but he was not to be voted for by the Congo Government.

The news from Brussels was that the Belgian Government had "openly" about the Congo without withdrawal. The Congo Government is still in a state of indecision as to whether to accept the resolution for the protection and safety of all Europeans in the Congo. The Congo Government is still in a state of indecision as to whether to accept the resolution for the protection and safety of all Europeans in the Congo.

Dilemma of Belgian troops

M. Tshombe by no means says of commanding united support but he represents a determination to stay independent and to resist coercion to the extent of issuing a word-wide appeal for volunteers who if they ever go into Africa, would be directed to the Spanish Independent Brigade, though for a different reason. It is suggested, however, that the Congo Government in Katanga's regular armed forces would not be capable of sustained resistance to a force of 30,000 men, even though at least three or four would have to be volunteers from overseas countries.

Belgian troops are considered essential in Katanga to protect the lives of persons of Belgian origin who remained loyal to the call to remain in the Congo. The Congo Government is still in a state of indecision as to whether to accept the resolution for the protection and safety of all Europeans in the Congo.

During the darkest hours of the French Revolution, two battalions of the Inniskillings were sent to Kenya from Britain on the last day of August, 1803.

They were the 1st Bn. The Royal Northumberland Fusiliers and the 1st Bn. The Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

The Inniskillings, who returned to Kenya in February this year, played a very considerable part in fighting Mau Mau and the battalion was particularly prominent in operations which cleared Mombasa of terrorists.

In 1803 the Regiment received the Freedom of Mombasa and it is the only British Regiment to have been given the freedom of Mombasa.

Dominant political factor

A growing sense of isolation in a host of the dominant political factor in South Africa today.

This is being reflected increasingly in the English and Afrikaans Press and in the words of having their side of Africa's future, and the future of the continent, is being seen in the White man's production, which is a daily reminder of the White man's attitude in Africa.

LABOR SIVAL

Water—big problem for plants

By URSULA von UNGERN

REVERS and streams are rare in the vast and plains of East Africa, and supplies inadequate water during its great evolutionary period in recent years.

Ever since those distant days when the first man walked, water has been the life of the land.

But since man made up his mind to plant, dry river beds turning into brackish waterholes drying out under the scorching sun, the passage of time has been an almost constant struggle with the elements.

In the new, developing countries, the struggle is even fiercer. The cultural progress the original form of life was great.

Beginning in 1949, when the International Labor Office was established in the steel basin, the industry carried on its great development programme in the following years.

In order to keep up an excellent record—though having to wait today for the completion of the land for the fertilizing crops before production—greatly wrong from the virgin.

Production figures reached a peak in 1950 with 100,000 tons. The preparatory work was not done, 100,000 tons of iron ore was produced. The pioneering days has been an employment problem for the industry.

Water—big problem for plants

More than half of the world's population for steel and iron ore is produced by Germany, France, and the United States.

Science and laboratories experiment with the use of the hard fibre and its by-products.

Approximately 750,000 acres are under steel today.

FISH BREED

In the waterless landscape of some great age, huge lakes have dried up. Wherever water is found, it is scarce and supplies pumped up to tanks.

Here, kingfishers and divers find in the water a multitude of fish bred in the tanks.

Water developers and private enterprises are being invited to make life and progress possible in the regions where drought and plague in the days of the past.

Foodstuffs are being brought in from the sea. The water is being pumped up to tanks.

M. Lumumba threatens Europeans

A wave of arrests is to be carried out soon among Europeans "plotting against the Congo," it was announced in Leopoldville yesterday by the Congo Prime Minister, M. Lumumba.

He said "all Europeans who entered the Congo without visas for the purpose of spying will be arrested - and there are many." He also spoke of "Belgian-organised section groups" and said such groups would apply the strictest security measures against them.

M. Lumumba also said he had received a letter to Dr. Raoul Bunche, the United Nations representative in the Congo, announcing his fullest collaboration in respect of the latest Security Council resolution that U.N. troops should enter Katanga.

Communists not wanted

Meanwhile, the Katanga Premier, M. Tshombe, after announcing on Tuesday night that his Government would still oppose the entry of U.N. troops, later declared that the Congo should be run on a non-communist basis.
