Gaggia sentence was 'excessive' CLAIM BY DEFENCE

The 12-month sentence imposed on a Kenyan magistrate on the Deputy Leader of the K.P.U. by the High Court was excessive, the defence lawyers said today.

The magistrate had said in his judgment that he was satisfied that the magistrate on the previous occasion had been too lenient in sentencing the defendant to a term of 12 months on probation for the two men charged on the High Court yesterday.

Mr. Gaggia and Mr. Chacha, who were charged with the offence of being members of the Kenya People's Union, were sentenced to 12 months on probation for the offence of being members of the Kenya People's Union.

The High Court should be satisfied that the sentence was excessive, the defence lawyers said today.

Struggling clubs can boost treble chance

The lower division football clubs in the British Isles are being urged to boost their treble chances by making the most of the fact that the Football League Cup is now open to all clubs in the league.

It is a strictly new rule, but one which has been in force since the start of the season. It means that any club in the league can now enter for the Cup, and this is a great boost for the lower division clubs.

Work by Institute of Adult Studies praised

Standard Staff Reporter
The work being done by the Institute of Adult Studies in dealing with formal education, service training and liberal education was highly praised at the very important talk given by the Minister for Education, Dr. Njoroge Mwangi, yesterday.

The idea of integrating adult methods of instruction was highly valuable. When correspondence and radio were complemented with face-to-face teaching, the maximum benefit for those who attended was secured. It was because of this belief that he welcomed the idea of starting a correspondence course in Nairobi. The Minister for Local Government, Mr. Sogitso, has praised the Nairobi people for their hard work and determination which had enabled them to build up the Nairobi Dispensary in the form of a co-operative society. He stated that the Nairobi Dispensary is the first of its kind in the East African region.

FARMERS AT FIELD DAY

Hundreds of farmers of all ranks from many parts of the country gathered at the annual field day at one hour and benefit from what had been done there.

Speaking to the farmers, the chief minister (Mr. D. J. Nyrop), said the field day was very important, because it enabled the farmers to see for themselves the state of the district which they could see from the air. He stated that the station had spent more than £25,000 a year. The Government was ready to spend £100,000 a year to help the farmers to see the state of the district which they could see from the air. WOMEN'S WORLD
Gone to their heads

A real live chicken, fairy lights and a baby doll in white lace were the imaginative decorations used in hairdressing creations shown at the City Hall.

The ideas were thought up and carried out by students of the hairdressing courses at Kericho — some of whom have been training for less than two months — in the school's first public show.

Sabina Karim, the popular 21-year-old hairdresser who runs the school, organized the show to give her 15 students a chance to use the skill they have developed. At the same time the show would give them confidence and show the public that this school, less than six months old, was really producing something in training girls locally, and that the courses lacked nothing of those run by big hairdressing establishments overseas.

In case rather unusual style, with the delightful name of "Colour Symphony", little strands of the model's own hair were cut and treated with "Ultral haircoloring", which turns them delicate shades of mauve, pink, blue, orange, violet, silver and green. When the model's hair was set in a high, elaborate style of curls, the strands were attached to look like "swooping tangles" leads to the model's own hair.

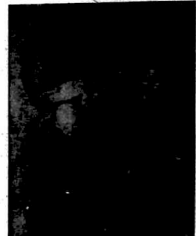

Switches were used to add volume to the model's own hair, and these were also coloured with Ultral products.

In the style "Madame Butterfly" two fairy lights, attached by a herring on the top of the model's head and concealed by the model's hair, projected from the centre of two large pleated wing-like loops.

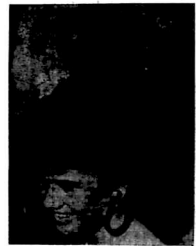

PENNY MOORE

The unusual style, "Madame Butterfly", with large loops of hair in from the centre by small fairy lights was modelled by Penny Moore and created by Shania.

Keeping to tradition at 'African Night'

Standing over a cracking fire on which sections of a goat were being barbecued, the Chief Inspector of Schools, Mr. Kariuki, kept members of the Association of University Women laughing with his jovial explanation of how, in traditional African life, a goat was cooked and divided among visitors.

The theme of the highlight of the "African Night" held by the association at the Polytechnic at the weekend, African music in grand style was provided by Mr. Charles Wanjau and his Equator Sound band and the food, all traditionally African, was prepared by students in domestic science at the Polytechnic.

After warming up with some lively dances, members went out into the courtyard to help themselves to the excellent spread of food, mostly prepared in Swahili and English for those members not familiar with traditional African food habits. Included in a vegetable dish, kuku, yams, and many meat and fish dishes, the party, the first one since a 1949 day in the Polytechnic, was a success in creating much interest among the members.

Mr. Kariuki pointed out various sections of the evening, great and explained their distribution among the guests. He said that the first was a "welcome" explained. "Certain people go to certain parts of the country to buy the best stock and the best and best sections because there is hardly any more as well there; and what more there is to be dug out with much difficulty."

The lady, or lady, was given to the youngest lady among the guests, and the youngest lady of the group. It is a great experience to have a very special section always presented to the wife of the Minister for whom the feast was laid.

Make your Complexion Youthfully Beautiful

Today you can cherish your complexion as never before, keeping your skin wonderfully young and lovely. The discovery of a tropical moist oil with remarkable nourishing influence on the skin makes it possible for women all over the world to enjoy unprecedented complexion facelifts that is virtually overcast.

Now, when nature starts slowing down in early adulthood and supplies less and less of the skin-beautifying essentials to the complexion surface, this unique moist oil comes wonderfully to the rescue. Because it is instantly reabsorbed to balance with the skin's own fluids the replenishing moist oil amalgamates easily with existing fluids within the cells and stimulates the natural functions of the cells that youthful loveliness depends on. It is maintained. An invisible film of moisture is applied to the face and neck each night, and used a few times by day will rehydrate and beautify the skin all over as never before. It dries off gently and leaves the skin young and beautiful.

Beauty Skin-Care Consultants Recommend

For those business or complexion beauty consultants who are recommending the use of moist tropical oil of Uvae Ursi, advise them to use it over the face and neck before applying make-up. This will rehydrate and beautify the skin all over as never before. It dries off gently and leaves the skin young and beautiful.

JOHN ELGON'S DIARY

Gaullists' second, first round

If next weekend's "second round" elections confirm the trend of those just completed, the French Embassy in Nairobi has an overall majority among the 100 Members of Parliament between 50 and 70 seats — its biggest since 1962 — and its biggest since 1962. It is, in fact, the first time since 1962 that the Gaullists have won a majority in the French National Assembly. This may prove to be a short-term effect. The French voters are not a sensible people anywhere, they prefer stable government to anarchy and political chaos. The Communist Party in France is likely to find themselves greatly reinforced. The Left-wing union federation has threatened themselves and their irresponsible and unprincipled opportunism in seeking political capital out of France's plight last month.

The Communist Party leader, M. Waldeck-Rochet, blames "the Leftist forces" for fomenting violence which has afflicted themselves in political hands, thus admitting that the apparatus for disorganising a non-operation had a

Delay at the hospital

A Nairobi magistrate, Mr. Jamdar, has suggested that a commission of inquiry should investigate the admission procedure at Kenyatta National Hospital. His findings after an inquest on a woman who had waited nearly four hours at the hospital without being admitted, and was then taken by ambulance to another hospital, where she died.

The magistrate found that death was due to natural causes but that no offence had been disclosed against anyone. But he gave his opinion that the delay in treating her could have speeded her death. It was disclosed that a doctor who saw the woman at Kenyatta National Hospital when she had already been waiting nearly three hours — thought that she needed inpatient treatment, but had no authority to arrange this and arranged to attend to her in the casualty department. A justification for Mr. Jamdar's comment that, to save lives, "a better way should be devised for admitting patients requiring immediate treatment without too much red tape". The Minister for Health and his officers should take speedy

My impression after reading the various newspaper reports and the radio broadcast of a recent visit to Kenya, was that one would have to search at length for the first reference to the East African continent. It was far from

Walking through the streets of Mumbai the Indian exodus from India is the most visible sign of its security. Their relations with the East African countries, too, seemed to be as friendly as ever were. However, there were a faint suspicion that the Indian exodus from India was being questioned about the Indian exodus from India. The flight, according to my sudden observation, was by a sudden change of government but the Kenya government has not legislated against their free

Since I was most interested in those who show up in India, I entered the conversation towards that direction. The fact was that a large majority of the Indian exodus were seeking very concrete public opinion.

But when confronted with a question of why should the Indian exodus from India be so high, I found that people who have been in India for a long time are very demoralised and could make only the barest claim that "India is after all our mother country".

India has in all over 500,000,000 people to look after, without having to bother with a few hundred thousand provincial citizens who run to "mother country" for help. The fact was that they were demoralised and could make only the barest claim that "India is after all our mother country".

According to available statistics a large number of those who have left India are well educated. Obviously, I was rubbing them with the wrong way and they were heavily scurrying under the pressure.

Only 15,000 of the 200,000 Asians have been granted visas to return to their own country. Obviously, I was rubbing them with the wrong way and they were heavily scurrying under the pressure.

They were, in fact, people who did not have deep roots and would therefore leave the country at a moment's notice. Some did so — literally.

It was told of several cases where the man of the house had been shot dead, there a few things into a bag, collecting

Another factor, it is felt when the Government makes the use of public funds, it is felt that the whole amount of the expenditure should be available for improving the country's economic and social development.

There are several questions which are being asked in Kenya and other countries in that regard. The high rate of interest in the market is a very serious problem, but more than anything else, has

High interest rates for hire purchase

High interest rates for hire purchase are a major problem for many Kenyan consumers. The high rates are a result of the high cost of borrowing in Kenya. This has led to a significant increase in the cost of hire purchase, making it difficult for many people to afford.

Mixed feelings in Ghana over date for civilian rule

JOHN DUMBEA reports from ACCRA

Accra, Ghana (Standard)—The Ghanaian people are not united in their feelings about the date for the transfer of power to civilian rule. The National Executive Committee (NEC) has announced that it will recommend to the President to transfer power to civilian rule on the 1st of July, 1966. This date is the anniversary of the independence of Ghana.

Bohra place in Muslim history

Dawoodi Bohras, the Shia Ismaili Tiyebi sect of Muslims trace their spiritual heritage from Mohammed and his vast Mountain Kingdom in Tunisia and the adjacent territories. All, non-law of the Prophet, and continuing through their successors, the Imams, who functioning first from Medina, moved over to North Africa and Egypt in the succeeding centuries.

Imam Al-Mohammed Bah at our present Africa and established his kingdom in Tunisia and the adjacent territories. He was succeeded by two Imams and the third, the celebrated Imam Al-Mostafid, established his kingdom in Egypt.

The great lineage these Imams founded the traditions, thoughts and philosophy they continued the literature they composed and guarded, the laws they established and the customs they observed have all come to be called Fatiha after Fatiha, the daughter of Mohammed and the founder of the Fatiha.

The Fatiha Imam, reigning in glory in Egypt, founded the city of Cairo, started the Al-Azhar University and was the first to introduce printing in Egypt. He Fatiha era. This period and the following of his reign are called Fatiha and carry out the duties of his office and culture over everything in the Fatiha lands, were inspired leaders, scholars and writers.

From Egypt the centre of Fatiha authority was shifted to Yemen. The Fatiha Imam, who ruled in the ancient Arabia, Pasha of the Fatiha, followed the Fatiha Imam, who ruled in the present Arabia. The Fatiha Imam, who ruled in the present Arabia, followed the Fatiha Imam, who ruled in the present Arabia.

So Yemen, too, is very dear to the Bohra. The Fatiha Imam, who ruled in the present Arabia, followed the Fatiha Imam, who ruled in the present Arabia.

During the first settlement of the Bohras, a Da'i-ul-Mutlaq functioned from Yemen. Then followed the migration of the Imam in 1028 A.H. when the second period of migration started. The Bohras migrated to Makka. Syedna Binte-Ahmed acting as the deputy of the Imam in Makka and having a jurisdiction over the Bohras beyond the limits of the Yemeni "Hind and Sind".

After her death, in 1038 A.H., the Bohras were divided into two groups. The Bohras who remained in Makka were called the Bohras of Makka and the Bohras who migrated to the coast of the Indian Ocean were called the Bohras of the Coast.

The Bohras of Makka were divided into two groups. The Bohras who remained in Makka were called the Bohras of Makka and the Bohras who migrated to the coast of the Indian Ocean were called the Bohras of the Coast.

Through the long decades, Yemen, which bore the main weight of the Bohra authority, has been the scene of many vicissitudes. The Bohras of Makka, who were the spiritual heads of the Bohras, have been able to maintain their authority in the face of these vicissitudes.

It is a good mark of the Bohra's faith and devotion that they have been able to maintain their authority in the face of these vicissitudes. The Bohras of Makka, who were the spiritual heads of the Bohras, have been able to maintain their authority in the face of these vicissitudes.

In 1920, at the age of 15, the Imam of the Bohras was elected. He was a young man of great promise and was elected to the Imamate at a very young age. He was elected to the Imamate at a very young age.

Residence of the late G. E. Karachwalla, where His Holiness will stay during his visit to Mombasa

A MAN AND HIS FOLLOWERS

Friday, March 9, 1952, is of special significance to the Dawoodi Bohras community, for on that day in the auspicious hour of Noof-ul-Lail (midnight) was born a child who was to take over half a century later, spiritual leadership.

Both the day and time of the child's birth were the same as that of his father and the event took place at Sana, the seat of Fatiha Dawat in bygone days, just on the eve of the ceremony of the enthronement of His Holiness Dr. Syedna Taher Saifuddin.

The name of Mohammed, associated with the holy name of the Prophet of Islam, was bestowed on the child.

Special awe was taken of the young boy's education. Experience of teachers engaged to instruct him in the Arabic language and literature and sciences of modern times. His father understood the Quran, traditions, customs and practices of the Fatiha way of life and the history, philosophy and literary treasures of the Fatiha Imam and Dawat Movement.

At the same time, however, young Mohammed had a great love of sport and outdoor activity. He was a good marksman and handles the rifle with great proficiency. Even today, despite the heavy engagements and responsibilities of his office, His Holiness finds time occasionally for sport and finds relaxation in a game.

as the venue albeit on the extremely cordial that his followers there greeted faithfully to accept the guidance and follow the directives of His Holiness in observing more dutifully the rites and ceremonies of the faith and retaining spiritual balance and stability.

Such regard to His Holiness's stipulations, and the ceremony turned out to be a great success. The Missus ceremony brought about a tremendous change in the visible atmosphere of the community in Sana, followed by the rare awakening of spiritual fervour and dedication.

Pilgrimage forms an essential part of almost all the faith. It is in this spirit that Syedna Burhanuddin went to many lands in the path of a pilgrim, soon after his birth.

The Dawoodi Bohra belongs to a compact, well-knit community. From his distant scene of activity in the countryside, he is able to give the full and complete attention to the needs of his community and nearly 100,000 Bohras in East Africa, West Africa, India and South Africa.

Today Dawoodi Bohras are spread practically over the entire world. The emphasis of His Holiness has been laying on technical education, the use of modern technology and direction of manpower, resource and the Bohra's activities in the industrial field has been attracting the attention of the psychology of the community.

Kenya Police to try out self-defence knock-out spray

Standard Staff Reporter.
The Kenya Government is to try the effectiveness of a new self-defence knock-out spray in a trial to be held in Nairobi on August 15, when the police will be equipped with the new spray. The trial will be conducted by the Kenya Police and will be a joint venture with the Kenya Police and the Kenya Police.

It had been assumed, and it is a fact, that the new spray will be used by the police in the event of a riot or a disturbance. The spray is a new development in the field of self-defence and is expected to be a valuable asset to the police.
