Governor sympathetic to leaders' proposal ASIAN INDIAN SEEK DEFENCE TRAINING

Home guard needed to curb violence

Members of the Asian community in Kenya have asked the Governor, Sir Patrick Renton, to grant facilities for Asian youths to have police training. The request is a suggestion that home guard patrols should be established throughout Kenya to counter the continuing acts of lawlessness against Asians.

The proposal was put to the Governor when two Ministers, Mr. Nathan and Mr. Njoroge, who are members of the Kenya Indian Congress, Mr. S. G. Amin, and the president of the Kenya Muslim League, Mr. Zafred Dun, discussed the matter with the Governor and two children at Nyeri. Mr. Nathan said yesterday that the Governor's reaction had been sympathetic.

Mr. Amin said, however, that the proposal did not go far enough. The Government should allow Government residence in the Asian community by providing compulsory military training on the same basis as that applied to European youths who were called up for service with the Kenya Government.

In Kenya today there are thousands of Europeans who have left military training. Some of the world's best military schools have been established in Kenya. It is not fair, Mr. Amin said, to expect that the Government should do this for the Asian community. He said that the Government should do this for the Asian community.

Tracks followed

The couple went to a doctor near where he treated them for the injuries, which were not serious. A police patrol followed the car, which was followed by a crowd of people. The car was followed by a crowd of people.

QUIETLY FIRM IN CITY

Encouraging company news aids business

Cmty. Reser. (E.A.) Ltd.

Quietly firm conditions prevailed in London stock markets yesterday. Business was slow to develop but sentiment was helped by Friday's improvement on Wall Street and encouraging company news. Industrial shares showed a number of bright spots while steel and engineering issues were better. Dollar, Saudi and oil shares were steady and oil shares improved. Gold shares were rather underdone. Johnson & Johnson's influence was felt. Company share price changes followed. Oil shares opened steady.

MEETING of two teams sound in defence but less purpose in offence is as often as not a good bet for a drawn game. This applies with particular force to the week-end fixture between Birmingham City and Bolton Wanderers, at St. Andrews. Determined to be playing a major role in their attack is making Birmingham's job of avoiding relegation, the harder. So the Midlands side unlikely to take more than one point from Bolton, whose defence is the toughest in Division 1.

Lacking Loftouse

At the same time Bolton, which was routed on its first away game against Birmingham last week, will be without the return of England international Geoff Loftouse, who is recovering from a knee injury. The absence of Loftouse will be a serious handicap to Birmingham, who are struggling to avoid relegation and were unable to take more than one point from their home game against the Magpies last Saturday. At home to Wolves in the league this weekend they will have a draw.

Could drop one point

So they need to be successful in dropping a home point to get the total from nothing, which is not a very good position. Wolves, who are playing on Saturday, will be a good bet to win, as they are in a strong position to do so. Bolton's defence is the toughest in Division 1, and they are unlikely to take more than one point from their home game against the Magpies last Saturday.

Got among the goals

The heart of scoring attacks that Newport, untried, last week in beating Southampton, is a pair of strikers that were a point of interest. Newport's first-choice forward, Mike Jones, was the Division IV promotion player who drew attention to himself when he scored a goal against Cardiff last week. He is a good player and can earn himself a place in a Bradford. But probably no more than a shout-out in Division 1.

Had colours lowered

Railway 1 had to lower their colours to Nantwich, AC, who won a seven and seven game on Saturday. Nantwich, who were a seven and seven team in the first half, were a seven and seven team in the second half. They were a seven and seven team in the first half, and a seven and seven team in the second half.

Advantage evened out

Kilmarnock had a slight edge in defence. Hearts have a slight advantage in attack. This is the first time since the Scottish Cup final that the two teams have met. The game was a draw, and the two teams were evenly matched.

Victory for Shell

New Sports Club beat the team of Robert and Norman in a 1-0 victory. The game was played at the New Sports Club ground, and the result was a 1-0 victory for the home side.

FESTIVAL OF KENYA SPORT

Olympic Drive car leads long safari

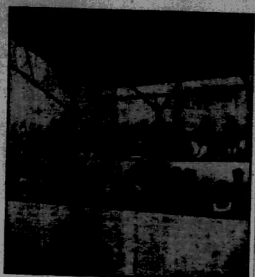

At a reception in the Charter Hall, Nairobi, of some 500 guests, the Mayor of Nairobi, Ald. Mrs. Henderson, presented the Shell-B.P. Ford Olympic Drive car from the marathon safari.

Since its official send-off from the African Stadium, Nairobi, by the Acting Governor on February 20, the car has visited more than 40 centres in a programme timed to coincide with dozens of sporting and entertainment events, which have amounted to a Colony-wide festival of sport.

The object of the drive, which has been sponsored and financed by the Shell and B.P. oil companies and by Hughes Ltd., has been to raise the balance of £5,000 to send a Kenya team to the Olympic Games in Rome this year. Tickets for it have been sold throughout the drive and after the draw to be held later this month, minor-scooter and a number of bicycles.

It is too early yet to say whether the £5,000 has been raised, but the organisers are optimistic. They say that even if they fail to reach the target, the drive has been such a spur to local sporting organisations that this alone will have made it worth while. The pictures on this page illustrate some of the varied activities held in Kenya during the Olympic Drive.

Mr. J. L. Miller, public secretary of Shell, addresses the crowd at the opening of the Olympic Drive at the African Stadium, Nairobi, on February 20.

DANES SEEK Portrait of the week TONELL MORE FURNITURE

By JOHN CHADWICK

DENMARK is following up its best tourist season last year with an intensive bid to boost sales of a Danish commodity which most visitors particularly admire—the complicated, modern furniture. Danish designers have for 40 years been among the leaders of the functional movement in furniture, and since the Second World War exports have soared. Manufacturers believe that there are still big unexplored markets.

The biggest problem lies in the modern designer's need to advertise his products. The Danish concept of simplicity is the key to the success of his work, and it is difficult to explain to those who are not familiar with it. Many thousands of tourists from Britain and America have visited Denmark since the war, and they have seen the modern Danish furniture. They have seen that it is not only a little different from the furniture they are used to, but that it is a very different kind of furniture. It is a furniture that is designed to be used in a modern home, and it is a furniture that is designed to be used in a modern home.

AMERICAN TREND Mr. Chad Chadwick, sales manager of the Design Research Establishment, Cambridge, Massachusetts, recently returned to his native country after a visit to Denmark. He has been very impressed by the Danish furniture, and he has been very impressed by the Danish furniture. He has been very impressed by the Danish furniture, and he has been very impressed by the Danish furniture.

LONG time ago (as far as it seems) I attended the opening of a streamlined kitchen exhibition. It was one of the first of its kind and I was much impressed. All that fitted furniture, all those labour-saving devices that guarantee ease and convenience. It was certainly an eye-opening experience.

THE WELLS has taken to it. It is a good thing that it has taken to it. It is a good thing that it has taken to it. It is a good thing that it has taken to it.

Portrait of the week: A woman sitting at a table, part of the furniture advertisement.

WILE the Danish design group makes a team of 10, the only group to have won a medal in the London Contest. The group consists of 10 members, and they have won a medal in the London Contest. The group consists of 10 members, and they have won a medal in the London Contest.

ENGLAND COULD SAVE FOURTH TEST Team's new favour for Notts

Statham returning home today

BRIAN STATHAM, the England and Lancashire cricketer, will fly home from the West Indies today to his son, Trevor, who is ill in hospital in Manchester.

Slowing pitch makes Hall just another bowler

ENGLAND three runs ahead with eight second-innings wickets in hand, should be in a position to take their bowlers on the last day at Georgetown when the West Indies may have some early wickets, though they may have some second-innings wickets.

Statham headed from his hotel by telephone that his wife had been admitted to hospital on a difficult day on the 18th, and he immediately left for Manchester to see his son, Trevor, who is ill in hospital in Manchester.

Arrangements were made for Statham to catch a plane today to return to Manchester to see his son, Trevor, who is ill in hospital in Manchester.

England, who are one up in the series, should be able to bat until late on the last day, but if they lose one or two wickets early they can expect the West Indies to throw everything into their effort to level the series.

In England's favour is the fact that the pitch is getting slower and slower, but the batsmen will have to watch the new ball being used by the West Indies.

Yorkshire, who are one up in the series, should be able to bat until late on the last day, but if they lose one or two wickets early they can expect the West Indies to throw everything into their effort to level the series.

Yorkshire, who are one up in the series, should be able to bat until late on the last day, but if they lose one or two wickets early they can expect the West Indies to throw everything into their effort to level the series.

Mr. Roberts continued to be disappointed with the way the England batsmen performed, but he was not too far from the truth in his criticism.

Gains registered in London Markets Respond to Wall Street

Comed Reuter (S.A.) Ltd.
THERE was a further tendency in London stock markets yesterday with indications of an increased demand for shares in West Africa in response to a fall in U.S. interest rates.

Nearly all sections quickly established gains, but interest was mainly concentrated on Industrial Equities. Dollar stocks were adjusted to better levels and oil shares were quietly firm.

Gold shares received a good lead from Johannesburg prices, where a sharp rise in copper and iron ore prices improved. Country to the general trend. Silver and gold shares were generally steady.

FALL IN COTTON PRICES

Cotton prices in the L.A. Market fell sharply on Monday. The main reason for the fall was the report that the U.S. government had increased its cotton stockpile by 250,000 bales.

PORTFOLIOS REJECTED

CONSERVATION was caused in some quarters in Kenya when the African Elected Members announced their unwillingness to accept ministerial appointments under the present constitution.

Why was that? The reason is that the B.C.C.'s observer commented that it was a step in the wrong. For the New Kenya Group, and this was also the view of the Kenya Government, the present constitution is a step in the wrong.

Mr. Njiru was non-committal when the issue was that no specific correspondence in London. On Feb. 23, a Colonial Office statement was put before his colleagues.

Speeding the process of change

Yesterday in Nairobi, Mr. Njiru proposed a memorandum which he said, was handed to Mr. Marriot and Sir Patrick on Feb. 22. Having urged the importance of this new constitution which is being introduced since the present constitution had three African Elected Members would take portfolio.

These objections were expressed by Mr. Odhiambo, whose statement regarding the participation under the present constitution, Sir Patrick proceeded to make a statement from some of his colleagues. Sir Patrick, however, advised that differences of opinion among the members would be cleared up in the course of the process of change.

Kenya's push to independence

RESPONSIBILITY TO BE ASSUMED - AND EARNED

... attempt was made to accelerate Kenya's progress to independence. The members of The New Kenya Group might ask the Colonial Secretary, Macleod, to think again and 'apply the brakes'.

The group's leader, Mr. M. Blundell, told members of the United Kenya Club this in Nairobi yesterday.

Criticising suggestions that the Colony should immediately start to advance at a faster rate towards independence, Mr. Blundell said that the transitional period during which it was inherent in the emergency and government that there was no responsibility.

TRANSITIONAL PERIOD

"I believe we would be unwise to make violent changes in the Constitution or demand that we should achieve most by co-operation and by building up naturally genuine communities which..."

Many members of The New Kenya Group had accepted the new Constitution in the belief that it gave the Colony a transitional period while it was still under the influence of the British Government. If they worked hard and got a government then there was no responsibility.

They may be towards a Chief Minister and some form of responsible government with a limiting of the Colonial Office influence. Mr. Blundell added: "From now on the political life of the Colony would be largely in the hands of the African people who would be responsible to their own people and Members of the Legislative Council of Kenya..."

Monckton terms of reference 'outpaced'

LABOUR M.P. REFERS TO RAPID CHANGES IN AFRICA

A SUCCESSION of rapid changes on the African continent had outpaced the terms of reference of the Monckton Commission, the British Labour Opposition's colonial affairs spokesman, Mr. James Callaghan, said in the House of Commons.

NYASALAND MOVEMENT OF TROOPS 'EXERCISE'

LABOUR M.P.s were assured in the House of Commons by the Colonial Secretary Mr. Malcolm MacDonald that the movement of British troops in Nyasaland had nothing to do with internal security.

The point was raised during a debate on the emergency in Nyasaland on a Colonial Services supplementary estimate table.

Mr. G. Thompson, one of the Opposition's spokesmen, said the purpose of the Government in sending the troops to Nyasaland was to assist the Government in carrying out its policy of ending the emergency and restoring the freedom of Dr. Banda.

Dr. Banda is the detained prisoner of the so-called 'Nyasaland African National Congress'. Mr. Thompson said: "It is not to be taken for granted that the movement of troops to Nyasaland was a purely military and not a political move."

Military matter

Mr. J. Callaghan, Labour's spokesman in the House of Commons, said that the Federal troops in Nyasaland had been sent there for military reasons and that they had nothing to do with internal security.

Mr. Callaghan said that the movement of troops was a military matter for the Federal Government. This intention of the Rhodesian African Rifles in Nyasaland with the knowledge and consent of the Government and myself. It is there not a matter of internal security. It is a matter of military operations with the R.A.R. stationed with the R.A.F. in Nyasaland.

Sir James Callaghan, Thomas Callaghan, said that the Government had no intention of sending troops to Nyasaland under the provisions of the Nyasaland Emergency Act, and that the Government was not sending troops to Nyasaland under the provisions of the Nyasaland Emergency Act.

Among the changes he listed the immediate decision by the British Government to set out the British Congo and more recently the Congo, which he welcomed, on the part of Kenya.

Mr. Callaghan was speaking in debate on the civil emergency. He moved to reduce the Commonwealth Relations Office vote by a token amount of £5,000.

He underlined Belgium's position, which he welcomed, in the Congo, and the fact that the British Government had agreed to be a member of the Congo, France, Belgium, and certain interests in the Congo to link up with the Federation.

Another effect that had not been anticipated was the fact that the Commission's work was being done in a very rapid manner.

Mr. Callaghan said it might now be argued that the Commission was not to be taken too seriously, but it was not a Commission which was to be taken too lightly.

Feel robbed

Mr. Callaghan said that the Opposition thought it had been robbed of a result of his speeches in Lagos and Salisbury.

None of the three territories making up the Federation might be the people who were robbed. The people who were robbed were the people who had been placed upon their advance.

There was little doubt, from what Mr. Morrison had said, that the Southern Rhodesia had to be taken into account in the two southern territories were ready to go ahead with them.

Mr. Callaghan said the real issue was that Sir Edgar Whitehead, Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia, had been asked to accept certain conditions on which he thought it would be necessary for the Southern Rhodesia to accept.

Mr. Callaghan said that the Monckton Commission might not consider this question of the territories to make a decision on whether or not it was possible to remain by the side of the territories.

It was a question of whether or not it was possible to remain by the side of the territories. It was a question of whether or not it was possible to remain by the side of the territories.

CRIMINALS HINDERING INDEPENDENCE

CRIMINALS responsible for violence in Uganda are hindering the work of African nationalists and the sooner they stop their activities the sooner Uganda will get self-government, Mr. A. M. Oboite (Lango), said in the closing stages of the debate in the Legislative Council on a motion regarding the policy speech he delivered last month.

Mr. Oboite expressed delight in the fact that the Government had categorically supported the remarks about law and order made by the late Prime Minister, Mr. A. S. D. Onyiah (Uganda), in his speech on the subject of the economic development in East Africa. He said it was of the utmost importance that the Government should stress the need for law and order in the country.

FIRMNESS NEEDED IN DEFENCE OF RIGHTS IN KENYA

BRITAIN should withhold implementation of the new constitutional proposals in Kenya until certain conditions of African cooperation had been fulfilled.

Mr. Macmillan said that the British Government would not be prepared to accept any proposal which would allow the white minority to retain a veto over the new constitution.

African changes need not wreck developing civilisation

Mixed States must work says Premier

BRITAIN must show in her own territories the principles of the multi-racial society really work, Mr. Macmillan said in London. "That means fair play all round."

The "wind of change" in Africa, of which he had spoken in Cape Town, was not the same as the howling tempest that would blow away the whole of the new developing civilisation, the Premier said. "We must at all costs avoid that."

Mr. Macmillan was speaking in a mixed party political broadcast on the radio to a broadcast in English, Turkish, and different with South Africa certainly not by better words and by setting his words at least of all by light-hearted avoiding race and without counting the cost.

Great future ahead

Ghana and Nigeria had been led by Britain to their own independence. No doubt they would make their future lay before them. In the Central African Federation, hundreds of thousands of our own people were settling for Africa in their home. Some of them had been there for two or three generations. They had built their wealth and civilisation to a level Africa.

People in Britain were taking notice. They were not all deserting their traditional party lines. They were not all deserting their traditional party lines.

The Colonial Secretary, Mr. Macleod was yesterday challenged to keep a promise he is said to have made during private discussions in London at the time of the Kenya constitutional conference.

FARMERS PRODUCE THE MAIN EXPORTABLE WEALTH

For many years we have been taught and taught that Kenya's economy is based not and not only on agriculture but that the main exportable wealth is produced by European farmers.

Their policy must mean that to maintain and improve our economy we must not only rely on agriculture but that the main exportable wealth is produced by European farmers.

It is a common error to read a newspaper and to see that the Government is doing this and that and to conclude that the Government is doing that and that. It is not so.

RESTORING CONFIDENCE

CONFIDENCE in a country at a present, is both intangible and intangible. What creates confidence in a person, his or her sense of values, the impression created of knowledge and honesty and integrity. Applied to a nation, the same sort of considerations are sought in the investment of funds. Something more is needed. Confidence can only be built if these resources and the means to put them to use in the country, therefore, teaches both politics and economics, and overlaps on to the efficient plan.

What has happened to make confidence slip and slide in Kenya? In the country's economy to establish a strong economy, left by her own devices, had never been stronger than in the months before the London conference, for Kenya possesses the resources, the manpower and the increasing skills to combine them under good management. But confidence has been shattered by an utter lack of faith in the British Government's intentions. It is all very well for Mr. Macmillan to start preaching, trying to set right the ill-effects of the London conference, as he did in his party political broadcast. He should have thought about the terms he is using when he was setting the economic policy to follow.

Confidence in Kenya will be undermined, also, by uncertainty about the conduct of affairs under a successor Government. It is essential that all matters are introduced with a realistic attitude, but all matters are introduced with a realistic attitude. This dangerous growth of suspicion will not be eradicated if Kenya is ever going to prosper. Loans run on the banks when liquid assets are insufficient to satisfy clients clamouring for withdrawal. The country's economy is strained as flying money. Rumours about the flight of capital to other parts and property. Few of them can be established as economic planning.

Economic Planning Unit adopted to Kenya

The first falls in share values of firm, some young business and the evidence of general uncertainty. It is not clear if the British Treasury set up an Economic Planning Unit under the late Sir Stafford Cripp, would not something along these lines, adapted for the particular needs of the time, be worth while? The British Prime Minister, Mr. Harold Wilson, who is in office, has said that he would like to see a Minister for Economic Affairs, but it is not clear if he is serious. In such a body would be assembled the best brains in the country to face the economic emergency adequately.

Besides the help of the British banks, the committee would be strengthened by the inclusion of representatives of the African, the European, African and Asian Chambers of Commerce, representatives of the agricultural and industrial sectors, and African political leaders. Together, they would use the mistakes being made in the present state, and need their experience to integrate the national economy for the good of all the people living in Kenya in the future. Without the restoration of confidence, all the dreams of independence will turn out to be fruitless nightmares.

BRITCH OF THE CLOCK FOR NEW ZEALAND

HELP wanted: University lecturers, 100 per cent. per year. Help wanted: Lavatory attendants, 1500 per year. These two advertisements, appearing in the New Zealand Times, are the result of a recent Wellington newspaper, claiming that the 100 per cent. of New Zealand as its property and expenditure.

Good quality field for Conference Cup this afternoon

ALL seven races to be run on the Mongro Forest course, this afternoon are handicaps and the standard is to be about the same. Winners will be far from easy to find, and a good run for their money with only a few horses getting a good run for their money.

Recent rain has benefited the course considerably and the events on the card are good for most of the afternoon in the Government Cup for which nine of the 12 entries are of the top quality.

The three top good weights among whom is Karamoza winner last time, might be expected to include a few more of the two miles Kenya Gold Cup.

First race on the card at 2.30 is a three-year-old Handicap over 1 mile and will probably be the most interesting race of the afternoon. It may be worth watching the race on the Kenya Gold Cup.

Perce is preferred

How good Able Seaman is no one can say. Although he has won a number of races, it is difficult to judge him. He is a stylish runner and is a good runner. He is a good runner.

Distance is too short for Taylor and Jones, who were both in good form. Taylor was in better form than Jones and was able to outpace him.

The race was a close one, with Cambridge leading until the final 500m, when Oxford pulled ahead to win by a narrow margin.

RECOVERY IN UGANDA MARKET

Standard Correspondent, Kampala
ROBUSTA prices made a recovery and the Standard Marketing Board's latest 'spot' and forward markets in Kampala.

By comparison with the high prices previously, the 48-50c bids for Standard Grade Robusta in the 'spot' auction were up 11c, a cwt, and in the forward auction by 10.25c a cwt, due to the need of the exporters to cover sales of the 'spot' market. The bid was already made in the 'spot' market. A determining factor will be the extent to which exporters buy into the 'spot' market, between 1275 and 1300 cwt. The highest bid at last week's 'spot' auction was 122 1/2c a cwt, which was an acceptable to the board.

Forward sale

The proclamation was made in the names of the Omukama of Ankole, the Kabakas of Buganda, the Omukama of Busoga and the Omukama of Toro. It said there are "bad people" who commit murder and burglary in the four kingdoms.

Such actions hindered the progress of the countries and could delay their self-government while depriving the people of the peace, happiness and good health, which were necessary for the development of the country.

SPLIT OVER EMERGENCY MUST END-GOVERNOR

Air fares being collected FARMERS URGED TO PUT CASE IN BRITAIN

GENERAL PROVINCE must not remain forever split into people who are for the Government during the Emergency and people who are against it. The Governor of Kenya, Sir Patrick Bannister, said today at a public meeting in the East District on the final day of his three-day tour of the province.

"The Member for the District, Mr. J. W. O'Connell, has urged that the Government should be urged to send representatives to Britain to put the European farmers' case. He plans to go with the South Kenya Agricultural Union, the Kenya Farmers' Association, O. Kaboo, and the Kenya Agricultural Union, to London to see the representatives of the Government."

"I don't mean by that that I have got the tremendous admiration for, and it is with the greatest gratitude to, those who helped us," he explained.

"But I do mean that I think we should be looking to the future and to what we can do to lead this country towards the past."

Mr. O'Connell said that the Government should be urged to send representatives to Britain to put the European farmers' case. He plans to go with the South Kenya Agricultural Union, the Kenya Farmers' Association, O. Kaboo, and the Kenya Agricultural Union, to London to see the representatives of the Government."

FEARED BRITISH TRICK

Sir Patrick told the chiefs that at the London Conference it was made absolutely clear for the first time that Kenya was on the way to independence. It was made equally clear that when independence came it would be for the African voice which would be predominant in the government of the country.

2,000 wait in vain at Nakuru meeting

"Standard" East Reporter, Nakuru.

MORE than 2,000 Africans, expecting to be addressed by Mr. T. E. Hall, waited for two and a half hours at Nakuru before the meeting of the organization devoted to the cause of the African voice in the Government of Kenya was held.

It was the first time they had really been convinced they were on the right road. "I think they had been a bit frightened before that," he said, "but they were really convinced that when independence came it would be for the African voice which would be predominant in the government of the country."

The European farmers had to wait because they were doing the community pay good by talking to the Government. He did not think all was lost, but he thought it was just too late to do anything about the fact and do all they could to form a European Front.

STatement attacking violence WELCOMED

ASIAN and Muslim organizations in Kenya have welcomed the statement made by Mr. J. M. O'Brien on behalf of the African Elected Members of the Legislative Council, in which he attacked the violence which has been going on in Kenya since the outbreak of the Emergency.

Insurance needed

There was perhaps a year or two ago when the Government was asked to provide insurance for the European farmers. The Government decided to do this, but it was found that there was a serious shortage of insurance companies in Kenya which would be able to take the business. The Government has now decided to provide insurance for the European farmers.

Mr. O'Brien said that the Government should be urged to provide insurance for the European farmers. He said that the Government should be urged to provide insurance for the European farmers. He said that the Government should be urged to provide insurance for the European farmers.

ATURE OF THE EUROPEAN CIVIL SERVANT IN KENYA

WOULD you once more give me space to plead the case of those who cannot plead for them in the section of the Civil Service which is known as the 'white' section?

Can you voice their feelings on the recent new regulations for the 'white' section? I think they will be glad to hear your views on this subject. I have taken many notes on the subject and I am sure you will find them interesting.

On the other side are the 'black' section. I have also taken many notes on the subject and I am sure you will find them interesting. I think they will be glad to hear your views on this subject.

The 'black' section is also a very important one. I have taken many notes on the subject and I am sure you will find them interesting. I think they will be glad to hear your views on this subject.

It is a pity that the 'black' section is not given the same consideration as the 'white' section. I have taken many notes on the subject and I am sure you will find them interesting.

Feet need the same attention as hands

By ANGELA TOOD
Few people pay enough attention to their feet and if you don't care for them, your children's feet and if you are to give them the care and attention that they are due, you are likely to suffer the consequences.

The most common complaint is foot strain and according to a specialist in Nairobi, this happens to women who "very frequently" wear high heels.

He suggests that the ideal is a low-heeled shoe—flat but that ignores the size of the feet and that they are not always and low-heeled shoes are considered dangerous.

In fact few women would go all out to give their feet the care which is their right. Unfortunately, most of the fashions in shoes today are the result of the designer's desire to get women to wear shoes which are not only uncomfortable but also dangerous.

This is not to say that I am trying to talk you into buying a pair of slippers. But when you go out, slip into a pair of flat comfortable shoes. You will give your feet a rest.

WARM SOAK

If you have warm feet, just take a warm water bath and soak your feet for 15 minutes. This will help to relax the muscles and the nerves.

After a warm water bath, rub your feet with a good quality cream. This will help to keep the skin soft and supple.

It is also a good idea to wear comfortable shoes. This will help to prevent foot strain and other foot problems.

Finally, it is important to take care of your feet every day. This will help to prevent foot problems and keep your feet healthy.

Remember, your feet are the foundation of your body. Take care of them and you will be able to enjoy life to the full.

Angela Tood is a well-known author and speaker on the subject of health and beauty.

RETURN OF THE SHIRTWAISTER

By EVELYN WOOD

HAVING clung faithfully to my cotton shirtwaister dresses through the rise and fall of darts and tresses respectively, I confess to a feeling of being gratified when I see it slip gracefully into press of paper in the fashion world. Americans seem to have swung appreciatively the shirtwaister. Paris has served it up in a South of France and a recent Rural hotel in her town.

I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister. I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister. I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister.

When I see a girl in a shirtwaister, I feel a little bit of a snob. I feel a little bit of a snob when I see a girl in a shirtwaister. I feel a little bit of a snob when I see a girl in a shirtwaister.

But I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister. I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister. I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister.

So I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister. I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister. I have to confess that I am a little bit of a snob when it comes to the shirtwaister.
