MANY FARMS TOO BIG, THINKS COUNCIL MEMBER

Not productive enough

STANISLAUS ST. ROBERTS

A LARGE proportion of the farms in Kenya have too much land and too little capital to produce the maximum development per acre, Mr. Stanislaus St. Roberts, Member of Legislative Council for the Rift Valley, told 50 members and guests of K.N.P.F. Area Branch Four, during their annual meeting in Nakuru Town Hall.

Mr. Blunden, who was speaking on "The Role of the Kenya National Farmers' Union", said that at least a portion of the half the existing farms could be divided, supporting another European, an increasing Kenya's agricultural production. He said that in the Rift Valley, the average size of the farms is 100 acres, but that in other areas it is 200 acres.

Supervision

Mr. St. Roberts said that the Government should have a closer supervision over the operations of the National Farmers' Union.

There was no drama in the news of the forthcoming election

THE theatrical event of last week was Mr. Attlee's announcement of the coming General Election. Early in the afternoon, political correspondents of the London evening newspapers wrote that an announcement would be made within 24 hours. They each wrote in similar terms and it was clear, as once the newspaper readers that the day of the election was fixed. The day of the election was fixed. The day of the election was fixed.

During the afternoon of that day the political agents of the Conservative Party had already started referring lists for election agents to be taken on for the coming year. The day of the election was fixed. The day of the election was fixed.

THE timing of the announcement was a surprise. The British Broadcasting Corporation is a Government-owned organization. It is a Government-owned organization. It is a Government-owned organization.

'POLITICAL UNITY IN EAST AFRICA MUST BE RESISTED'

Crech Jones on the future of Africa

STANDARD STAFF REPORTER KAMPALA
It could happen that the African, if denied civil and political rights and social justice and land, may seek his progress through Communism," Mr. Arthur Crech Jones, former Secretary of State for the Colonies, declared when giving the 1951 University of Nottingham East Foundation Lecture.

BIG DEMAND FOR SISAL IN U.S.

Tanganyika sure of the future

Prices

The average price for 1950 was £99 12s 6d, this rose to £130 for the first six months of this year and was unlikely to exceed £130 up to the end of 1951. It would still be under £200 by June next year.

The demand for sisal in America exceeded supply. The demand was for rubber, but sisal was used there. There had been a suggestion that there was a conspiracy to corner the market, but this had been disproved in British East Africa.

East African sisal producers could be relied upon to meet demand requirements at any required rate, in reasonable prices.

After paying tribute to the rubber planters and their facilities had deteriorated, the sisal planters had been asked to supply sisal to the rubber planters. There was about three weeks' stock in the market, and the price was about 100 cents per ton.

At a meeting of the sisal producers, it was said it was not only difficult to get sisal to the market, but also to get it to the market in time. The Tanganyika sisal was not available in the market.

Governor's reply

Referring to the chairman of the Sisal Producers' Association, the Governor said that the sisal industry was one of the most important in the East African territories. He said that the sisal industry was one of the most important in the East African territories.

'Share-cropping' criticised

REFERENCE to the system of 'share-cropping' in European farmlands in Northern Rhodesia, made in the Department of Agriculture's annual report for 1950.

The report states that this system was existing at an increasing rate and unless special methods of control were followed, the system would be likely to become a major production hindrance. It was urged the report adds, that some of the best settlers had succeeded in farming the land as if it should have been their own.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN THE STUDIO

In her London Letter Elio M. Sanders tells us some of the backstage secrets of film-making

THE casual days before the war many a film-strip studio was able to track up a number of pocket money by doing odd jobs in British studios.

All right but to be able to get some money in the studio was not so easy as it might seem. It was not so easy as it might seem.

One would think that a film studio would be a place where one could get some money in the studio.

It is the nature of the studio that one can get some money in the studio.

KENYA IS RECOGNISING THE IMPORTANCE OF SPORT

To the Sports Editor, "I'm, Sir—It is encouraging to note that Kenya is recognising the importance of sport. The Government has taken steps to improve the facilities for sports in Kenya. Rising cost of athletics

By M. DONALD BAILEY

The rising cost of athletics is a serious problem for many athletes in Kenya. The cost of equipment, travel, and other expenses has increased significantly in recent years. This has made it difficult for many athletes to continue their training and compete at the highest level. The Government and sports organisations should take steps to reduce the cost of athletics in Kenya.

LONGER AND LONGER

The longer and longer the game goes on, the more the players are tired. This is a common problem in many sports. The players need to be kept fresh and energized throughout the game. This can be done by providing them with adequate rest and nutrition. The players should also be encouraged to stay hydrated and avoid dehydration.

AAA Chairman of the FORISER this week gives advice and instructions to the players of the sport.

The players should be encouraged to stay hydrated and avoid dehydration. They should also be encouraged to eat a healthy diet and get enough rest. This will help them to perform better and avoid injury.

DEVELOPMENT OF EASTERN AFRICA

Encouraging private enterprise

SIR EDWARD TWING ADDRESSES CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

SPEAKING at Anania at the annual session of the Association of Chambers of Commerce and Industry of Eastern Africa Sir Edward Twing, the Governor of Tanganyika, said that he was glad to learn that the Chambers of Commerce of Tanganyika had decided to rejoin the Association after an absence of 21 years.

It was essential, with the economic and commercial development which was going on in all three Territories, that they should get together as much as possible and look at problems on an East African rather than on a territorial basis.

The Governor said he had read with much interest the accounts and the resolutions which the conference proposed to discuss, and had been struck by how much of the material was common to the three Territories.

He felt sure that the three Governments would sympathetically consider any proposals made to attain uniformity in laws and policies which would be of mutual benefit to all East African development.

It was not, however, to be regarded as a matter of course that the Government would automatically accept any proposals which were made. It was necessary to have a clear understanding of the proposals and to have a clear understanding of the Government's own policy.

HIGH COMMISSION ESTIMATES

FINANCE MEMBER GIVES REASONS FOR INCREASED EXPENDITURE

THE increased expenditure required for the non-self-contained services of the East African High Commission next year is roughly about £500,000, said Mr. J. C. Mundy, Finance Member when he spoke on the 1952 estimates for the services of the Central Legislative Assembly in Nairobi.

He said that the increased expenditure of £25,176—which came down to £1,100,000 when approved supplementary expenditure was taken into account—was a quite misleading figure. The real nature of the increase was about £200,000.

He disclosed that the increase was provided mainly to finance the anti-racism campaign and the anti-Asian campaign.

Individual contributions from the Governments of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda had not yet been agreed to them, he said. The Government intended to accept a contribution of £100,000 from each of the three Governments.

BANANA trees of the South Kikuyu district are suffering from a disease which baffles Government agricultural experts.

At least one million has been affected, making it an effort to report signs of the disease in other parts of the district. The disease has been reported in other parts of the district.

The disease was first reported in the district in 1951. It was first reported in the district in 1951. It was first reported in the district in 1951.

FATHER AND SON FIGURE IN LIMURU RACING DOUBLE

THE Limuru Country Club race meeting last Saturday attracted a large crowd to watch the seven races on the card and to see Mr. Francis Eakin break off a remarkable double—winning both the Maiden Handicap race and the "Tiger" Handicap on his father's horse, Persiphole.

Most of the races were won with ease. The most exciting finish came in the "Tiger" Handicap when Persiphole beat the handicapped "Admiral" by D. H. Stewart's Hercules of 11½ lengths in the final stride.

M.P. THINKS FEDERATION IS THE ONLY SOLUTION

For the problems of Central Africa

CONVINCED that federation is the only solution for Central Africa's problems, Mr. Julian Amery, M.P. for Preston, Britain, hopes that his constituents will not become a party to a similar "Communist" on the continent.

Speaking at the Africa Falls Conference, he said he was glad it had taken place when it did and that two cabinet Ministers had committed themselves to the general principle of federation. It was, he said, the most important step towards a better future for Africa.

Mr. Amery was one of the party's leading speakers. He said that the British Parliament, Association for the Central Africa Falls Conference returned to Britain only a short time after it extended this.

'Tremendous problem'

Mr. Amery said that the tremendous problem of the continent was the extent of the Province of the Northern Rhodesian Government. He said that the Province of the Northern Rhodesian Government was the largest in the world. He said that the Province of the Northern Rhodesian Government was the largest in the world.

5. Meru, reaching back into history

WHEN the great man strode to administration, the Meru and district and the first Colony Commissioner, with his small staff, arrived there in 1901 to inaugurate the first British administration. The Meru district was a large one, covering an area of 10,000 square miles, and it was a task of no small magnitude to bring it under the British flag.

In a firm article describing his journey through the African lands around Mount Kenya, ROBERTS today discusses something of the history and the strength of traditional institutions in Meru, and compares the efficiency of the system there with that of others.

He will conclude the series next week, with a first article on the Meru district.

It was just the right sort of day for racing last Saturday, from the point of view of spectators and competitors. The sun was hot, but strong, and it was not until about five o'clock that a solidly wind began to make itself felt at the Linn County Club meeting. Although many were there, the crowd of a happy one and a half million was in large part taken up by the necessity of watching the horses race.

LIMBURG RACE
The racing at Linn County Club was a success. The horses were well met and the crowd was large. The race was won by a horse named 'The Champ'.

HARNESSING THE NILE

The Story Of Great Engineering Projects Which Have Kept Flood And Famine From Egypt

BRIGATION is Egypt's very lifeblood. Ancient bartering and sculpture depict the peasants, since the first year of lifting water into irrigation channels more than 4,000 years ago, and it was believed that this primitive device spread to other lands nearby, notably to Italy.

The Assuan Dam which stores vast quantities of the Nile flood waters and enables crops to be grown all the year round on land which would otherwise be barren.

When the last century, however, man first conceived the dam, Nile through the aid of various mechanical devices, some of which were of the most primitive kind.

It was not until the late 19th century that the Nile was harnessed by the construction of the Assuan Dam, which stores vast quantities of the Nile flood waters and enables crops to be grown all the year round on land which would otherwise be barren.

New Trends in Church Architecture

For a developing country like East Africa, where building of all types is in progress, there is special interest in this story of a church in the American Mid-west, the last completed work of Eliel Saarinen, famous Finnish-born architect, who was one of America's foremost exponents of modern architecture.

In recently built Clark Church in the city of Minneapolis, capital of the Midwestern mid-western city of Minnesota, with its modern faith and a modern church. This unique edifice was the last work of Eliel Saarinen, the world-renowned Finnish architect who spent his formative years in the United States in 1902 and 1903. He was the first architect to understand the meaning of the "organic form" in design, but also the first to understand the meaning of the "organic form" in design.
