

Invasion halts in hours; Portuguese put up stiff fight

INDIA NEAR GOA CAPITAL

Both sides suffering heavy casualties

This map shows Indian claims of success during the first 24 hours of their invasion of Goa.

It last night it was clear that India had failed in her declared objective of conquering Goa in a day.

The invading forces were reported to have been ordered to halt their operations in this largest of the three Portuguese enclaves, to consolidate their gains and resume action today.

Earlier, a Press conference, at which Gen. J. N. Choudhury, commanding Indian forces, had hoped to announce the completion of the operation, was called off because it was unable to attend owing to "unavoidable circumstances." Campaigns are believed to be heavy on both sides, particularly in the central zone. It is informed Indian circles that India might have a counter-attack in the morning and air support to overcome Portuguese soldiers including an officer were killed in Daman when a mine blew up.

Well-armed Portuguese forces are believed to be entrenched in a semi-circle several miles from Panaji, the enclaves capital, concentrating all their equipment and forces to fight off the major wave of Indian troops advancing from the Eastern sector. The invading forces have met little or no resistance at the northeastern southern points of entry.

'Cold-blooded aggression'

As worldwide indignation at India's action grew last night, the United Nations Security Council met in New York and Portugal's request to condemn India's "cold-blooded aggression."

Portugal also asked the Council to order a ceasefire and the withdrawal of Indian forces.

In London, spokesmen for all three political parties in the House of Commons declared the Indian move "unjustified."

Mr. Herbert Morrison, the Earl of Home, declared that the Indian action was "entirely and wholly unjustifiable for the British Government to support, let alone encourage, the attack on other people's lands."

Portugal had announced that the force comprising the Indian contingent of the treaty with India, India claimed to have captured the town of Goa, and that the Indian forces had already occupied the cities of Panaji, Daman and Diu, and taken six towns in the Deccan. The Indian Government also claimed to have captured the towns of Mormugao, Marmagao, and Mafim and Collem in East Goa. Gen. Leal, the Indian chief of staff, also said to be in the saddle in India in the central zone.

FEAR STIFLES GOAN PROTESTS IN EAST AFRICA

ANXIETY, indignation, resentment and a sense of frustration — these were the emotions which yesterday tore at the 5,000 Goans who live in East Africa.

The Goans are anxiously landing a telegram in a hands street, described as being a "national flag."

That day might be spared the horrors of a "white" night, said a "widow" who said, "I was told that what will happen to us is to be a 'white' night." The Goans were waiting about the news of the invasion and the situation which he sees in the East Africa.

They are anxiously landing a telegram in a hands street, described as being a "national flag."

'Warm welcome'

An Indian Defence Ministry spokesman said that troops were being sent to East Africa to help the Goans and are being warmly welcomed by the civilian population.

According to reports reaching the Defence Ministry, the Indian Government is sending a large number of troops to East Africa who will be warmly welcomed by the Goans.

No names

There were no names in a group of Goans who said, "I was told that what will happen to us is to be a 'white' night." The Goans were waiting about the news of the invasion and the situation which he sees in the East Africa.

'Like Tibet'

One of them said after a letter had been received from a brother in the department of the Goans at the moment, the letter said:

A MOST COWARDLY ACT SAYS CONSUL

Standard Editor, Mumbai.

COMMENTING on the invasion of Goa by the Portuguese Government, the Consul in Goa said yesterday: "It is a most cowardly act."

The Consul said that the Portuguese Government had been informed of the invasion of Goa and that it had been practicing non-resistance for a long time.

Indonesia gets ready to move on New Guinea

INDONESIA's armed forces — more than 500,000 strong — have been put on the alert for a possible "liberation" of West New Guinea which Djakarta observers think likely to follow Indonesian action on Go.

President Sukarno will deliver a message on the "liberation" of the territory from the Dutch today. Until now, opinion in Djakarta has been that he would stop short of an actual declaration of war, but yesterday the President said: "If a lion uses force on us, we also have a right to use force."

MR. NGALA GIVES HIS VERSION

Standard Staff Reporter, Malindi.

THIS Kikuyu leader, Mr. Ngala yesterday answered questions put to him about the alleged misreporting of his "pull down the flag statement" made in Nairobi on Friday.

'Rightful heir'

Dato Nyaga said that in the western part of the world's largest island, there is also one of the world's most ancient kingdoms, the Kikuyu nation.

Mr. Ngala said that he was the rightful heir to the throne of the Kikuyu nation.

A KANU 'JUDGE' SENT TO JAIL

JUDGE Paul Kihamba, who presided over a Kanu court trying and sentencing "defendants" was himself sentenced yesterday to three years imprisonment.

The 23-year-old Kihamba had pleaded guilty at Mchakos magistrate's court to two charges of wrongful confinement and one of assuming judicial authority.

Kihamba was said to be the first Kanu leader to be sentenced at Mchakos since January of this year.

Final phase

There was still some doubt last night whether the meeting would negotiate today as Mr. Thabane's health was reported to be poor.

Mr. Thabane's safe conduct has been guaranteed by President Tsebe, who took the initiative in arranging the meeting.

Mutiny on the Tristania

The Tristan da Cunha Government announced in Cape Town yesterday that there had been a mutiny among the crew of the ship which was being used to transport the mutineers to the Cape. The mutineers had forced the ship to return to the Tristania.

'WAS STIFIED'

India's decision to invade

INDIA'S invasion of the three Portuguese enclaves was "completely unexpected," said a spokesman, Mr. Krishna Menon, said yesterday.

The Indian troops had waited patiently for 14 days before the Portuguese to withdraw.

The Minister also claimed that Indian troops had moved into Goa to impart stability and help local people after the failure of the colonial administration.

The invasion was held to be the face of heavy Western intervention intended to wipe out the enclaves.

Only three hours before the invasion had the U.S. Ambassador in Delhi, Mr. Robert Taylor, called on Mr. Menon with a request for India to avoid the use of force.

Mr. Menon, who is an Indian Government spokesman and yesterday had been asked by the Portuguese

No alternative, says Mr. Nehru

In Madras and about 200 miles in other Portuguese territories.

The three-angled Indian attack on Goa began last night midnight (local time) when tank troops crossed the frontier supported by tanks, heavy artillery, machine bombers and giant jet fighters.

The Indian troops moved into Daman and Diu north of the main Indian territory. The attack on Goa was launched at 11.30 p.m.

Mr. Menon had stated that the Indian troops had made a rapid landing at Mormao, a major Marshall Island base, and had captured the island of Goa.

The three-angled advance began last night.

Indian Air Force planes immediately allowed thousands of Indian soldiers into the Indian territory. The Indian troops had come from the front from the Portuguese border and entered at all points.

The Indian Air Chief, Gen. B. S. P. Chatterji, said the people of Goa had expressed their desire to be free from the "colonial rule of Goa" and added: "You will not regret this."

Mr. Nehru told correspondents:

Plea for Pope to intervene

VARIOUS groups and many individual Goans in East Africa yesterday sent telegrams to the United Nations, the British Prime Minister, the President of the United States, Pakistan and Brazil and to the Pope, urging them to intervene and restore peace in Goa.

Most of the telegrams mentioned the name of Mr. P. P. Chatterji, who was secretary of the East African Goans' Association in London. Some telegrams also mentioned the name of Mr. P. P. Chatterji, who was secretary of the East African Goans' Association in London.

COAST LINE

BEFORE the details of Sir James Harrison's resignation for the future of the Coast will be laid down, the cardinal principle will be that the Government should not be involved in a permanent settlement of the Coast. The Government should be prepared to accept a settlement which would be a permanent settlement of the Coast. The Government should be prepared to accept a settlement which would be a permanent settlement of the Coast. The Government should be prepared to accept a settlement which would be a permanent settlement of the Coast.

$1,000,000 take-over bid

Mr. James seems one of his proposals will be adopted, what if there is no amicable settlement he does not doubt that any negotiations as to whether Kenya should be a separate country or whether it should be a part of the East African Federation. The Government will not be involved in a permanent settlement of the Coast. The Government should be prepared to accept a settlement which would be a permanent settlement of the Coast. Portrait of the Week

There can be few members of the East African judiciary who have earned such high respect and great things as Sir Kenneth O'Connor...

He was born in Kenya since 1948, with a break from 1951 to 1954 when he was Chief Justice in Jamaica.

He was about to enter Oxford when the First World War broke out. He went off to take a Sandhurst course and joined the Royal Army, being posted to the Indian Army.

He was second in the North-West Frontier of India and was then sent to Malabar, where he served from 1916 to the end of the year.

The following year he was seconded to the Foreign Office and then to the Indian Department and then to the Indian Army in India as law officer.

He was there when the Kings arrived in February, 1947, but managed to escape with his wife and children before they went to Japan before the war.

He returned Attorney General of Malaya until 1948, when he was transferred to Kenya as Attorney General in 1951.

He was the first Chief Justice of Kenya in 1952, when he returned to the East Africa Office as part of the unit that was planning the re-organization of Malaya.

Airmen go hedge hopping today

OVER fence and through meadow ditches, 110 competitors will trace the annual inter-organizational R.A.F. Badging this afternoon... yet all the obstacles will be within the grasp of the victor.

This is the second annual race and the first since the war. The course will be designed to repeat the course of the 1914-15 season. It will be held on the same course as the 1914-15 season. It will be held on the same course as the 1914-15 season.

Pride of place

Having to take pride of place among sports of the King's Regent, the Royal Air Force Badging is a most popular competition. It is held on the same course as the 1914-15 season. It will be held on the same course as the 1914-15 season.

A FEW YEARS AGO IT WAS OFF-BEAT

It had an opportunity at the weekend of seeing something of two sports that in their respective spheres, are truly international in nature. A few years ago they would have been off-beat pastimes in Kenya but they have been recognized and are going to be played in the future.

50 FT FOR ATHLETES Aussie will fight for title

Now they will have second division

CHANGES are being made in the running of the Rift Valley Provincial sports to get rid of a problem which has dogged the organizers for years and left many athletes disheartened.

The cause of the trouble: athletes from the native areas are streets ahead of those from the scheduled areas. The matter came to a head at a meeting of the Provincial Sports Association, when Mr. P. H. Barnes (Laikipia) was the spokesman for the scheduled areas.

It fell to be much better if the settled areas would form a West of Rift team. Mr. Barnes found that had the sympathy of the association, but they did not agree with his solution, and many plans were bandied around before one was finally agreed.

RAF JUDO CLUB HAS NEW LOOK

Among the points raised: to organize a meeting of West of Rift sides to select a team would ensure the aim of the athletes, which would not be to West of Rift teams into one club.

Within a meeting It was also pointed out that there had been some confusion over the last few months. The fact of the matter is that the general secretary of the association had resigned. The new secretary is Mr. P. H. Barnes.

AS RESISTANCE ENDS IN GOA Indians find Government in port

TALKS OPEN IN CONGO AS GUNS STOP FIRING

Landing exercise near New Guinea

THE last pocket of Portuguese resistance in Goa — the port of Mormao — has fallen to Indian troops, according to authoritative sources in Belgaum on the border.

In New Delhi the Indian Defence Ministry said the Portuguese Governor-General of Goa, Vasco de Silva, was "safe in Indian hands" after being found in a house at Mormao.

Indian forces have so far captured about 3,000 men in Belgaum. Indian officials have already started to effect their elaborate planned scheme of administration in Goa and the other Portuguese territories of Daman, Diu and Nagar Haveli.

Gov. Dew' to Panaji yesterday called civil administration over to Indians.

ORDER FOR RESTRAINT

The Indian Government has ordered all civilian and army officials not to behave like "conquerors". They have been told not to buy luxury goods or otherwise indulge in anything on Panaji and other overseas Indian territories.

Authorities there would be otherwise employed. Portuguese would be retained where services employed higher than those from other posts in India — would continue at the present scale.

TALKS OPEN IN CONGO AS GUNS STOP FIRING

PRESIDENT Tombuho of Katanga and the Prime Minister of the Congo, Olingo, called on the President, M. Cyrille Adompa, to settle their differences over Katanga's secession.

As they met in the United Nations base at Kinshasa, the two leaders of the Congo River. Mr. Tombuho's capital of Elisabethville, 1,000 miles away, was beginning to re-normality after bitter fighting between U.N. and Katanga troops.

Mr. Tombuho's Foreign Minister, M. Paul de Brabant, said in Brussels that the possibility of ending the Congo's internal strife was now being discussed by the U.N. secretary-general, U. Thant.

INDONESIAN Marines have been staging amphibious exercises on islands bordering Dutch-occupied West New Guinea, it was announced yesterday in Ambon, in the neighbouring Moluccas Islands.

The Indonesian Foreign Ministry declined immediate comment on reports from the Hague that Holland had appealed for talks on the dispute.

The Foreign Minister, Dr. Soekarno, said that he did not wish to discuss the conditions on the future of the territory.

ORDER for restraint

K. Asif's film
celebrating India's glory
MUGHAL-E-AZAM
took 15 years to make

THE SHEESH MAHAL

Over hundred fifty feet long, 15 feet wide and 15 feet high, the Sheesh Mahal set was built by K. Asif in 15 lakhs of rupees. Dozens of craftsmen employed by him set up the set in the middle of the main hall of the studio and the walls and pillars of the huge structure had to be fixed.

For over three months the set has been standing in Madan Studios, Bombay, as a monument to the care and attention to detail which has gone into the making of "MUGHAL-E-AZAM". From the city of Bombay came many countries of the world, thousands of people have come to this studio just to see it.

"MUGHAL-E-AZAM" was 15 years in preparation and shooting, and when public attention began to focus on the film, August 5 it was screened simultaneously in no less than 150 cinemas.

Madhubala's dance (right) on the set in colour is one of the serialised highlights of the film.

Abhee — Datta Kumar and Madhubala in Mughal-E-Azam

MUGHAL-E-AZAM
COSTS Rs. 1,25,00,000

To make MUGHAL-E-AZAM an unparalleled achievement in the history of filmic art in India, Producer-Director K. Asif did not stint on time, money or work. Over a major production in India is completed with an average of 10 to 15 lakhs of rupees. The cost of MUGHAL-E-AZAM runs to well over a crore and 25 lakhs.

Any picture which has making stars working in it takes no more than two to three years to produce. In the preparation and completion of MUGHAL-E-AZAM 24 long years have passed. Making films take not three months to 125 shooting days. MUGHAL-E-AZAM needed 300.

It is considered wasteful to use one lakh feet of negative on an average film. In the shooting of MUGHAL-E-AZAM more than 10 lakhs feet were spent.

Forty to 50 is the number of prints made for an average film in the time of exhibition. On August 5, MUGHAL-E-AZAM was released in no less than 150 theatres all over India. The use of two cameras are considered enough in the shooting of films in general. More scenes in MUGHAL-E-AZAM were shot with the help of 34 cameras.

In the construction of the set of the Mughal Barber, carpenters, decorators and painters worked for more than ten months. In the shooting of the war scenes, 4,000 camels, 8,000 horses and 8,000 jawans of the Indian Army took part. The camels were later removed for various reasons. On the shooting of the war scenes alone 24 lakhs of rupees were spent.

SHAN BOMBAY

Asif's "Mughal-E-Azam" is an epoch-making production. The film is magnificent and has very high quality. It has not only retained history in its presentation but will do so as having by itself created history in the annals of Indian movies.

PARVATI

SUNDAY STANDARD BOMBAY

K. Asif's Magnopus upon "Mughal-E-Azam" holds the audience. Loyal in its romantic portrayal of its purpose, enchanting in its entertainment value and superb in its photography and graphics, it is general release. MUGHAL-E-AZAM respects the art of cinema. It is a triumph. A glorious chapter from the history.

MASS HYSTERIA

"Here in the history of the Indian Film Industry has there been a film which has been so widely appreciated by the masses as Mughal-E-Azam. The Times of India, Bombay, after seeing Mughal-E-Azam, writes: 'This fabulous production is verily a tribute to the patience, sincerity and almost religious fervour of its maker, the emperors of the Indian cinema, K. Asif, who without regard for expenditure and speculation, has made a film that is a masterpiece. There is that of any Mughal Emperor'."

Now it can be told...

It is a great day for me today. MUGHAL-E-AZAM, by the grace of God, is before you. On this auspicious occasion I should like to apologise humbly for the long time you have had to wait for this picture.

For the last eight years or so various rumours have been going round about MUGHAL-E-AZAM and about myself. One was that it was a 25-year plan. Other people thought that MUGHAL-E-AZAM would never reach the theatres.

During all those long and arduous years I listened to all these and to hundreds of other untruths, half-truths and unfounded comments. Today, I consider it my duty and my right to give you the other side of the picture.

The story of the filming of MUGHAL-E-AZAM is the history of an indelible culture and civilisation. I wanted to make a picture which would be a fitting memorial to a golden era. I firmly believed that apart from inspiring us with the vision of our glorious heritage, such a picture would also establish a worthy precedent for the film industry. With these thoughts in my mind I could not but select the life and times of Akbar the Great for such a project. Having gone through the picture of my dreams in my imagination I was able to launch the picture of my dreams in the world. Nargis and the late Chandramohan were then my stars. I completed four reels of this film when alas! I had to face a succession of very tough difficulties. I battled with these difficulties — but they were toward difficulties I battled with these difficulties — but they were too much for me. Against my will, I had to stop further work on MUGHAL-E-AZAM.

Then came the day when I was able to surmount the "insurmountable" difficulties. And once again I set a shan of events in motion towards the launching of MUGHAL-E-AZAM.

Work began in earnest. My friends — writers, artists, technicians — all responded to my call with courage and determination. We decided that the picture should be made in Hindi, English and Tamil. So we actually started work on three pictures rather than one. THIS WAS THE MAIN REASON FOR THE LENGTH OF TIME WE TOOK ON BASIC PREPARATIONS.

To bring to the screen a true picture of the reign of Akbar, I spared neither effort nor time nor money. I waited patiently for months and months before the set was constructed and the two years, while the Sheesh Mahal set was constructed and the enormous sum of 15 lakhs of rupees was spent! Can you then imagine the consternation I felt when a European expert who came to see the set one day told me that it was impossible to photograph it? I turned to this expert and said "Sir, I and my director of photography accept your challenge. I will invite you to see this set. Our experiment, as you will see, has been eminently successful. The problem of shooting the set was between Emperor Akbar and Prince Salim and another major hurdle. The heat and dust storms of Jaipur are well known and it was in the hottest weather that the Government of India's Ministry of Defence granted our request to make troops available for shooting of our set.

I kept at the job steadily day in and day out. Day by day months and months became years and here, at last, the day has come to which I have looked forward since the beginning of my project. MUGHAL-E-AZAM is on the screens of India and of the world. I have a special debt of gratitude to Seth Shapoorji and Seth Palleji, proprietors of the Sterling Investment Corporation (P) Ltd., East Africa and soon we hope to put it on the screens of the Middle East. I have brought my project to fruition. I want to congratulate them for their courage and determination and their faith in my dream which has brought my project to fruition. I want to congratulate them particularly and all the artists, writers and all my co-workers who have struggled with me in the creation of MUGHAL-E-AZAM. In the end, may I submit that it has been my endeavour to make this picture a true document of the grandeur of the India of yore? This picture is not for me to say. It is for you to say. How far and to what extent I have succeeded in this regard I leave to my fate in their hands and accept their verdict. I love my time and acknowledge them, and only they are my masters. K. ASIF.

Turin step to end Greaves case II

WATCHING ALL THE CHAPERONS FOR Baker and Law

DENNIS LAW, the Scottish international footballer, wears a little comment on the Italian Football Club's decision to appoint "an official chaperon" for his fellow international and club-mate Joe Baker, and himself.

He was asked: "Who is this man Napoleone Leardini, who has been asked to keep a watch on you?" Law replied: "I haven't a clue. There are so many of them."

Asked how he got a "chaperon" in Turin, Law said: "I was told that it was a precautionary appointment as a step to try and avoid any sort of repetition of the Greaves case. The club are understood to be anxious to avoid any friction between the two British strikers and their Italian team-mates."

"Turin have been going through a lean patch in their recent games and Law commented: "When you lose a couple of games the air is not so electric."

Asked how he got on with his team-mates, Law said: "Joe and me are here together so we don't have any trouble."

"Are you on friendly terms with the Turin boys?" Not at all. Asked if there were any disciplinary measures pending against them, Law said: "As professional footballers we have to observe the rules and regulations. There is nothing threatening at the moment."

Lewis D'Souza, who netted five goals, was the star of the show. He scored a hat-trick in the first half and added two more in the second half.

A challenge, so now the Chokra's play

A high-breasted challenge from the Kenya cricketers, Meebooh Ali, has been taken up by a former Kenya Police officer, Mr. M. M. Meebooh, who has made a hobby in his retirement to be the country's cricketer.

The challenge? That S.A.C.C. would beat any team of Muslim cricketers aged over 20. Meebooh has taken up with a domestic-looking team, so past performance is not a factor in his challenge.

A Happy Christmas to our readers

INDIA WILL SEEK A PEACEFUL SOLUTION WITH CHINA

Bermuda talks end on note of accord

The Katanga leader, Mr. Tshombe, appeared once more to be playing for time, the first Congolese Premier, Mr. Adoula, warned last night that his Government might have to resort to force again to end Katanga's secession. Mr. Adoula said this would happen if Mr. Tshombe did not fulfill an undertaking to all members of his parliament in Leopoldville, he regarded this as a test of the Katanga leader's good faith.

INDIA would try to regain the territory lost to China without recourse to force — "but I do not exclude the use of force," the Defence Minister, Mr. Krishna Menon, said last night. Mr. Menon, who was speaking in New Delhi, added that India had not adopted violence in regard to any territory which violates our interests.

President Kennedy and Mr. Macmillan yesterday held their first round of talks in Bermuda on Berlin and nuclear matters. A final communiqué was expected to be issued when the talks end.

West Germany's Defense Minister, Fritz Gause, said yesterday that the German Government was prepared to discuss the future of the Berlin Wall with the Soviet Union. He said that the German Government was prepared to discuss the future of the Berlin Wall with the Soviet Union.

Producers for a Happy, but Business-Dependent Kenya

Wanted: More Producers

Kenya's new government has set up a committee to study the possibility of a 'family' production of goods and services. The committee will be headed by the Minister for Agriculture, Mr. J. M. Njiru. It is expected to report in a few weeks.

The committee will be made up of representatives from the various sectors of the economy. It will be responsible for studying the possibilities of a 'family' production of goods and services. This would involve the production of goods and services for the needs of the community, rather than for export.

Records kept in small bore pistol match

KENYA hopes to set high in the new 25 metre category which was being contested in London. This shooting team has been in the first position in the contest has created several new records which should well place the Colony ahead of Jamaica, Barbados, Hong Kong, in the final heat.

Mike Crocker scored a brilliant 156 — or possibly 157 out of 200 after the scores have been judged in Britain. This is easily a Kenya record and should prove a Colonial record, too.

The team's estimated total is 745, which best the 1959 Kenya and Colonial scores by 24 points. But the 1959 totals become higher each year: The score was 659 in 1958, 665 in 1957, and 678 in 1956.

WORLD CANNOT AFFORD TO LOSE BRITAIN

THE Common-wealth Ministers have agreed in Brussels to agree on a common declaration of intent to support the second stage of the Common Market in 1958.

A formal agreement should not be taken as a complete breakdown of the talks.

France had made it clear that it would not agree to a common market unless it was accompanied by a common agricultural policy and a common monetary policy.

After the meeting, the German Minister of Economic Affairs, Ludwig Erhard, said that the common market would be established by the end of 1958.

On December 22, the council would vote on the decision to sign the treaty on the basis of a report from the committee.

Back to the workday world and that road

THE road from the Coast to Nairobi and the other way round yesterday after a busy Christmas holiday.

Late last night about 2,000 holidaymakers were making their way back to road and rail for new back during the day.

Four thousand holidaymakers boarded two trains late today for the overnight journey back to the capital. One of the trains was a "special".

A further 200 returned by air from Mombasa, Malindi, Zanzibar and Dar es Salaam throughout the day. But from the normal three flights from Dar es Salaam, there were three extra flights from Mombasa and one from Malindi.

Light for stragglers

There will be another extra flight from Mombasa early today for the stragglers. Most of those who fly to the coast took advantage of the special holiday cut-rate fares, which expired until January 7.

THIEVES HAVE A BUSY HOLIDAY

THIEVES (they were very busy) were active over the holiday period.

People don't talk about lavatories

WOMAN TO WOMAN

But there's a cunning game for the fastidious housewife who uses HARPIC regularly. Repels HARMFUL odors at night. Wash away in the morning, and your lavatory bowl will be sparkling clean always.

Personal questions answered about problem days

Q. Why do I feel blue at certain times of the month?

A. This is related to your complete monthly cycle. The hormones that stimulate the bodily processes that result in your monthly menstruation also stimulate a feeling of well-being. But when the level of these hormones falls, you may feel a little blue. This is a normal reaction. Don't worry. It will pass.

Q. How can I feel my best on those days?

A. One way is to start your cycle with a warm bath. This helps to relax the muscles and soothe the nerves. You may also want to try some of our special bath salts. Take your mind off yourself. Do the things you enjoy doing.

Q. How can I look my best on those days?

A. Take a tip from the woman you most like to be. You'll never know when her time of the month comes. Discuss confidentially. Don't discuss it with your friends. In fact, it is a secret. You'll look your best when you feel your best. Try some of our special bath salts. They'll help you feel your best.

Q. Can unmarried women use Tampax?

A. Indeed they can—just as soon as they are completely mature. Tampax is accepted by your doctor. It is safe. In fact, it is approved by your doctor. You'll find it in every drug store. You'll find it in every drug store. You'll find it in every drug store.

If you'd like a sample in plain wrapper, write to: The Tampax Co., P.O. Box 2834, Nairobi, Kenya.

Increased tension in Kuwait

The aircraft-carrier H.M.S. Centaur, together with the frigates Plymouth and Loch Alvie, the landing ship Striker, and fleet auxiliaries Tide, Seeger and Retriever, left Mombasa yesterday.

They sailed at 6 a.m. amid official British reports of rising tension in the Middle East. The ships are heading for an undisclosed destination and a Naval spokesman in Mombasa said: "All we know is that they are going to sea. We do not know where they have to go. The most likely destination, the fleet auxiliary Reliant is still in Mombasa loading stores. Also in port is the survey ship H.M.S. Ocean, which is due to sail tomorrow. It is understood the Striker will return to Mombasa later to continue with food relief operations in the Tana River area."

Fully prepared now

The Defence Minister, Mr. Harold Watkinson, and his Chiefs of Staff decided in London yesterday that sufficient ships were available to raise the level of preparedness of the British Middle East Command to meet any emergency in the region, an official spokesman said.

Britain took certain small-scale precautionary measures during the Christmas period because of what was believed to be an increase in tension in the Kuwait area. A Defence Ministry spokesman said after the meeting that the British had reviewed the situation as they usually take. "It was decided the situation did not call for further action at this time."

U.A.R. ENDS UNION WITH THE YEMEN

CAIRO Radio confirmed yesterday that Egypt had decided to sever the link with the Yemen by ending the general union between the two countries.

The union was formed in 1958, five weeks after the signing of the armistice to end the U.A.R. 10-year cease-fire with Israel. The union charter provided for a common foreign policy and union of the armed forces.

The union broke away from the U.A.R. last year.

President Nasser, in a radio broadcast last night, announced the union was dissolved. He said the union had been a failure and that the U.A.R. Government was now free to pursue an independent foreign policy.

The U.A.R. Government was also free to pursue an independent foreign policy, he said.

Diffing views

The Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Ibrahim Badr al-Badri, said yesterday that the U.A.R. Government was not in a hurry to sign a new agreement with the U.A.R. Government.

He said the U.A.R. Government was not in a hurry to sign a new agreement with the U.A.R. Government.

Study of Sudan's constitution

President Nasser said yesterday that he would appoint a committee to study the Sudan's constitution.

He said the committee would study the constitution of Sudan and report to him within three months.

yesterday Today and TOMORROW

Some rugged furrows will have to be ploughed in the next few years. And International Harvester won't be sitting idle. We've had 130 years in business, and for over a hundred of those years we have been forging a hefty international enterprise—and we are proud of it. But the important thing is how we made it that way. We did it by building good machines that worked hard, worked well and kept on working; and by providing the best service we could muster.

Good machines and good service have kept us in front and put us where we are today. Every year since we started we have sold more farm equipment than any other organization in the world—almost 77 per cent ahead of the next best in 1960. By service, we mean service not only today, but tomorrow. No International Harvester equipment is going to get a sunbath in East Africa for lack of spare or facilities. Our local Company is part and parcel of our world-wide manufacturing and research operation. Its job—its sole job—is to market and look after the equipment we believe to be the best in the world; and to keep on doing it!

In a few years, the farmers of the young lady in the foreground of our picture may well be driving their own tractors. You can be sure that the chap in the background, working for International Harvester and helping to smooth their path. And the same goes for their sons. And grandsons.

Wanted a man who can drive a car like a horse

THE REASON CARELESSNESS BY MOTORISTS

With a little bit of self respect motorists or even find a parked car any less worthy lying about in a field than it could be in your car — and your property. Or perhaps, like so many of you think: "Nonsense, it could not happen to me!" Remember, to tell the thief that he does not know.

Even though it only takes a minute to pop for a pack of cigarettes or a stamp, it takes only a fraction that time to lose the car or the contents that are new to lose the car or the contents that are lying on the back seat. It takes only a second for the driver to walk quietly round the corner and disappear.

Judging by present statistics there is precious little chance of any motorist property ever finding its way back to its rightful place again. Over Christmas one Nairobi motorist lost more than 2000 worth of silver from a parked car, and there have been even bigger hauls.

NOTHING TOO SMALL

During the last three months in Nairobi alone there have been 620 such robberies — more than three a day, 256, with a total in the month of March 2200. The latest tally shows that in 30 cases clothing was taken and the public also lost 24 electric fans, 19 suitcases and bags, nine radios, three tools of jewellery, two wristwatches and an innumerable Christmas presents.

Perhaps the smallest individual haul was taken from a man who returned to his car to find a missing suitcase. It catches the thief's eye that nothing is so small if it is not a professional criminal.

The average thief will only take a risk for what he can sell. A professional criminal, however, will take any risk and special knowledge of vehicles is not a major problem in this type of crime.
