

£15,000 home for destitute children

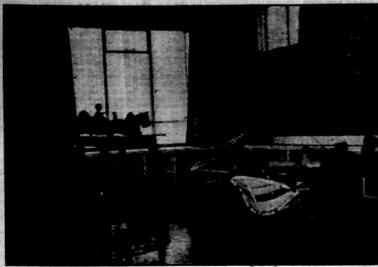

Dr. Barnardo's Home (left) near Wilson Anderson, Nairobi, is to be opened by the Governor of Kenya, Sir Patrick Ripon, this year. It will provide accommodation for 20 destitute children and has been financed by the Barnardo organization in Britain. Although financed by Britain it is hoped that the home will become Kenya-supported within five years. The home cost £15,000 and the eight acres of land on which it is built was donated by the Kenya Government.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES

Men of the 5th Inf. Workshop, R.E.M.E., putting the finishing touches to a machine they have built for the 'Friday Show' of the Buffs. The 'Friday Show' will be held by local professional artists and artisans. There will be an array of hand-painted and side-shows supported by two non-stop bands. About 600 servicemen and women are expected to be present. An Army spokesman said yesterday: 'The show is open to all. The money raised will go to help victims and mostly children's charities.'

HITCH-HIKING HOME

Guardian John Severs of the Coldstream Guards, who was attached to Brigade Headquarters, Kenya, is hitch-hiking to England from Nairobi. His trek home for demobilisation was inspired by a safari he made to Rhodesia and Tanganyika last year. His car broke down and he and his two companions had to hitch-hike the 600 miles. He has been spending under £2 a day for travel and living costs. The Army has allowed him 52 days to get back to Britain. He is pictured (below) in Tripoli.

The Duke of Kent, a keen motorist, is watched by the Duchess as he takes a one record of the R.A.C. Tourist Trophy meeting at Goodwood, Sussex. The couple use Stirling Moss, driving a Ferrari, as the rival for the seventh time.

Young England

Nineteen-year-old Miss Ray finished at Chichester, Sussex, recently chosen as Miss Careri Girl, 1961.

Dogma in discussion over right and wrong

THE utterances of "Ben Trovati" are far from being his tropic. According to him, it is useless to quote dogma in favour of an argument...

The dogma of the atheist or the agnostic is equally possible. Even the most advanced scientific knowledge could favour with him...

But what proof does he put for his statement that right and wrong can be determined from whatever comes down from the beliefs of his...

How City offers much to Kenyan going on leave

By F. J. WENSLEY

WHEN our overseas leave was due we decided to stop over in Rome on our way to a position which was situated in a narrow street off the Via Nazionale, quite near to the magnificent Eodra Fountain. Our bedroom was large, with a small balcony which faced on to a hollow square.

The first day, a Sunday, we strolled to the main railway station and in the square found the starting point for the buses to Trieste which miles outside the city.

The famous fountain of the Piazza Fontana, with its statue of a woman, were attractive and a delight to the eye. After lunch at a little restaurant, we wandered round the main square of Trieste which was very beautiful in 1941.

The Coliseum, which was visited on the Monday morning, was a very interesting sight. It is so large that it is impossible now by its site alone to get an impression of its original size. Not very far from the Coliseum is the imposing Arch of Constantine and the Forum and Palatine Hill.

Trieste Fountain

A few minutes' walk led us to the modern Villa Emmanuel Monument, which was being photographed from all angles by foreign tourists. At the end of the day we went to the park in Rome where we visited St. Peter's on the Tuesday morning.

St. Peter's of St. Peter's was wonderful, but exhausting. Feeling a little weary, we found the pavement of the Piazza San Pietro very hot on that day. The car which we travelled by electric underground train which, however, soon appeared above ground. We reached our destination in about 35 minutes.

Our first destination in about 35 minutes. The fountain which was well known to us was the Three Coins in the Fountain. It is still comparatively early in the day we journeyed easily by motorcar to the Castel St. Angelo, on the banks of the River Tiber. We saw the Pantheon one of the most beautiful of the ancient monuments. This huge structure has no windows and light enters through a large round hole in the top of the dome.

During its long history this building has been used by the Roman Emperor (Mara and Satorius) and the Christian church. It is also known as the Pantheon Imperiale.

MALINDI FESTIVAL CONTEST

Your holiday photo may win you free trip to the Coast

HOW would you like a FREE holiday at Malindi? The "East African Standard", together with East African Airways and the Malindi Festival Committee, are offering a free flight to Malindi for two, from anywhere in East Africa and free hotel accommodation during the Malindi Festival, for the best holiday photograph submitted.

You can win this wonderful 14 November holiday simply by sending us your favourite picture taken by you while on holiday anywhere in the world. Preference will, however, be given to photographs of the East African coast.

The contest will be judged by the Sales Development Officer of East African Airways, Mr. L. E. Norman, and the Features Editor and Chief Photographer of the "East African Standard".

Entries should be marked "Malindi Contest" and addressed to the Features Editor, East African Standard, P.O. Box 20000, Nairobi.

The closing date for the competition will be Friday, October 6 and the winner will be announced the following Friday, October 13.

The competition is not open to employees of the East African Standard, or East African Airways.

Send your print together with the form below.

ST. PETER'S, surely one of the most famous places of worship in the world. Usually crowded with tourists at the time of year, but our photographer never has put up easy for the shot.

On the right, the Fountain of Trevi, world famous since the song and the Three Coins in the Fountain. The local inhabitants pass it every day and even some of them pour a coin into the water for luck.

For a list of places to visit in Rome in three days. On the first morning visit Piazza Venezia, Capitol and Caesars Museum, Ara Pacis, Roman Forum, Palatine, in the afternoon visit the Colosseum, St. Mary in Campitelli, St. Peter's, Baths of Caracalla, Appian Way, St. Sebastian Catacombs. For the second morning visit the Castel St. Angelo, Vatican Museums, St. Peter's, Pantheon, in the afternoon tour the Museum of the Dilettando, Baths, Trevi Fountain, Pantheon and the Piazza Navona. On the third day visit the Villa Borghese, Piazza Piazzetta, St. Mary Major, Lateran Museums and St. John in Lateran. For the afternoon you can see the Piazza Venezia, E.U.R., ancient Ostia and the Ostia Lido.

WHAT sort of a picture do you have of Italy? The wartime one of devastation, with sea and mud alternating with clouds of dust?

The holiday picture of golden sands, thought with people with apparently nothing to do except to sunbathe at the sea? Or the picture of a great city of ancient splendour?

Today some are completely wrong. Rome, it is true, is one of the world's great religious centres, but it is also the heart of a vast, pulsing economy. It has more than 20 million people, and its industry has made a name for itself in many fields.

Only a tiny minority of the total people live in the famous Via del Corso. The majority, though, are working, earning and inventing. We have found that we are not the only ones who are interested in the life of the city.

Attractive zoo

Our children clamoured to go in so we decided to leave the villa for another time. The zoo is a very attractive one with a very large collection of animals and birds.

Our last full day in Italy, we were invited to the Castel St. Angelo, on the banks of the River Tiber. We saw the Pantheon one of the most beautiful of the ancient monuments. This huge structure has no windows and light enters through a large round hole in the top of the dome.

During its long history this building has been used by the Roman Emperor (Mara and Satorius) and the Christian church. It is also known as the Pantheon Imperiale.

drinking-water coolers

I work so much better after a drink of COLD water

We all do. When a company installed a GE drinking water cooler to give us really cold drinks, we all felt better and returned to our jobs refreshed. What better than a sparkling, crystal-cold drink of water from a handy GE drinking water cooler.

Cairo, Bombay, supplies hundreds of thousands each day with cool, crisp drinking water from handy GE Drinking Water Coolers.

DOUBT AT CLAIM BY MAKERS

THE management of J. R. Stephens in York Street looks rather sceptically at the claims by many manufacturers about drip-dry suits, pointing out that whatever material a suit is made of it cannot be said to possess drip-dry qualities if it is not in the form of a suit.

Meanwhile, the firm which has made a special material for drip-dry suits, says that it is not interested in advertising the drip-dry suit but is primarily interested in a suit tailored by Ripley and Co. Ltd. 127, TROUSERS, TOO

This shop sells a variety of drip-dry trousers. These range from 50/- to 80/- and are made of 100% cotton or 80% cotton and 20% rayon. They are made in a variety of styles and are available in a variety of colours and designs.

Although they would not be surprised to find that they look better if they are.

Lightweight dress and casual trousers from the U.S. in various colours including charcoal grey cost 85/- a pair. These, and indeed most ready-made trousers are not finished round the bottoms of the legs.

Therefore they can be adjusted to the individual requirements of length of leg, or without turn-ups, as required.

FROM ENGLAND

A dress and wool mixture is a little more expensive, at 55/-, English fabric trousers with smartly tapered legs cost 43 1/2. Trousers and waistcoats, also from England, cost 47 1/2.

Khaki or grey shirt suits, vastly different from the common "Colonial Administration" cut, cost 35/-, come from America and require a minimum of ironing. The material is a cotton and rayon mixture.

Lord's stock a good range of Arrow and Van Heusen shirts. Arrow shirts feature a 42/28. The sleeves reach just past the elbow, and can be rolled up for smartness. They are made of cotton.

THE NEWEST

The newest shirt in the Arrow range is shown on the left. This shirt is in the forefront of the better-quality products, with drip-dry and easy-care properties. It comes, too, in a variety of pleasant colours and designs.

White Poplin

A very popular Arrow shirt costs 57/6. Made of white poplin, it is a plain style of discreet check. It is of course drip-dry.

Arrow make shirts of many different qualities, and Choitram has a selection ranging from 47/6 to 65/6.

Zaverchand Stores, in Stewart Street, do not stock Arrow shirts, but have several lines from Raeb-Brook, Tern and Bonnier the proportion of 30 per cent rayon and 70 per cent wool.

THE dog does not seem too happy about its master wearing a Norfolk jacket, but the fashion is catching on in Nairobi. It appears that the Duke of Edinburgh restarted the fad and ever since the tailors have been flooded with requests to make them up. Of course, the Norfolk jacket can be worn with almost any style of country or casual slacks. The shoes, for preference, should be plain with a strong look.

These come in two qualities, one of very lightweight fabric, which costs 28/- and made 28 in and a heavier one of the standard cloze of 34 in, which costs 32/-.

This shop stocks Tern and Raeb-Brook shirts. The Norfolk shirt, which is an English shirt, is a receptive price of 32/-.

The Raeb-Brook shirt of Abduh's is the central trend. The Raeb-Brook shirt of 27 1/2 worth of 42-inch yarn in such colour as dark green, and shades of brown.

SQUARE WEAVE

The Raeb-Brook shirt is more expensive at 32/6. It is made in various plain colours. For a square weave, it is of relief, and it can be worn with or without a tie. The colour is reported in this range.

The Raeb-Brook shirt of Raeb-Brook is more expensive at 42/11.

Some of these have a shawl collar. Although manufacturers claim that the shawls are wash-and-wear, the shawls, which before they are presented.

This firm has tailors who will make gentler drip-dry suits to measure, and they will be less expensive than the imported American product. Shirts at Abduh's are mostly Arrow and Van Heusen.

Style for discerning

THIS fabric for the famous Arrow shirt is made in the United States, but the shirts are also made up in the Britain from imported material, having been bleached.

In America, Arrow have brought out a "Farrow" shirt which will be in Nairobi soon, with an 82 1/2-inch length, a collar, a button-down front, a chest pocket, a waistband, and a length of 30 1/2 inches.

The "Farrow" shirt has a collar, a button-down front, a chest pocket, a waistband, and a length of 30 1/2 inches.

While the normal rayon and poplin shirts are in the British, America favours dress shirts, which are 32 1/2 inches long and 32 per cent rayon, and 68 per cent cotton.

THEY WERE AND WASH SO WELL

Van Heusen make few shirts to suit every occasion. For example, the "Twin-Tone" (see top) is suitable for both business and leisure hours, the "Kingsman" (center) is perfect for formal wear, while the "outdoor" "Blue Peter" has gone to match your holiday mood. So there Van Heusen shirts at your usual store—you'll be impressed by their quality and value.

YOGI AND JUDO

THINK of Judo and most people will picture a pretty girl bending a huge man over her back — no apology is made for presenting yet another. This girl, however, is Sheila Thwaites, one of only seven women in Britain who can wear the Black Belt.

And Yogi! Nothing to do with contemplation in this case. It is the statue of the tired-looking London Zoo bear on the right.

NATIONAL leaders from all five continents are meeting at New College, Oxford, for a five-day conference to help new and under-developed nations. On the right of the picture (above left) is Sir Andrew Cohen, a former Governor of Uganda, none of the United Nations.

Above right, Mrs. Peter Farrer, acting president of the Abanti Dal, fear into Dalis for talks with Mr. Nehru, on demands for Punjab self-government. On the right is the Maharajah of Patiala.

Left, Mr. Peter Farrer is displaying in London his 1200-piece collection of models of Axis aircraft flying during the last war. A diversion lobby is needed to transport it.

Right, racing driver Roy Salvadori presents the winner's trophy to Jenny Brooming after she had won the "Miss Rada Show, 1961" in London. Jenny is 18 and lives in Portsmouth.

SHORT CUT FROM EAST AFRICA

This bold and imaginative project of Harmer-Smith is designed to end the frustrating delays on the journey from the Great West Road — including London Airport — into the centre of London. The flyer is more than half-a-mile long and is supported on only 16 graceful spars. If the work is finished on schedule, people flying to London from East Africa from November onwards will be among the first to use the short cut.

What East Africa makes - makes East Africa

Over the past years, local industry has been developing and the tempo of development has been speeding up, particularly in the last two years. Now that we are at the threshold of the political developments which may lead to the Federation of the East African territories in the near future, it is imperative that an all-out effort is made to stimulate our own industry. To this end, the consumer is an all important factor, since without his support it will be impossible to create the demand which industry needs to make it efficient and competitive.

With this in view, we are publishing from time to time in the Press these advertisements so that you, the public, may be fully aware of local products that you can, and should, purchase in order to support your own national economy.

This Association is the organization representing leading local industrialists who have a special interest in the prosperity and progress of East Africa — it is the voice of organized industry. It is non-political and non-profit making, seeking only the development and expansion of local industry for the benefit of East Africa and its peoples. It is controlled and directed by an elected President, Vice-President and Executive Committee and administered by its Director.

We have, during the last two years, performed many useful services to our Members, and supported and expounded the necessity of a common market in East Africa. We have campaigned for a more dynamic policy for the establishment of more secondary industries in East Africa, in order to help solve the unemployment problem and raise the living standards of the population.

AT LAKE
MANYARA

Elephants are still plentiful in the Manyara National Park. The park is situated in the northern part of the country and is one of the best places to see these magnificent animals in their natural habitat.

Victorie Hospital in the Seychelles is so today.

Islands still short of medical staff

Not so tall
 Mr. Michael... who has been transferred to the Seychelles... reported also that in 1960 a new primary school was opened in Victoria, and other primary schools were extended at Antananarivo and Anse Royale.

ALTHOUGH medical officers are generally favourable to the Arusha Arts Society's latest project, the "White Chapel of the Family," it was not one of the society's best productions.

The play was written with meticulous care and the production created difficulties in raising for the producer, Dorothy Chitt.

The highly improbable story concerns a seemingly respectable family whose members turn out to be particularly abhorrent characters. However, the production was well received and the cast of the leading roles has been praised for its performance.

DISPUTES among the leaders of Kanu at Kericho are believed to be delaying the registration of the branch rally to which Mr. Jomo Kenyatta would be invited.

Mr. Kipkemoi Kotz, Kanu's deputy national treasurer, has applied to the District Commissioner for a permit to hold a meeting to which Mr. Kenyatta, Mr. Kipkemoi and Mr. M. Bundell would be invited.

The District Commissioner has, however, replied that the matter requires further investigation. They believe that the Dairy Board, under the power vested in it, may get a control price for the milk.

INDUSTRY

A member of a Kenya firm of tea and coffee traders, who has been transferred to the Seychelles, reported also that in 1960 a new primary school was opened in Victoria, and other primary schools were extended at Antananarivo and Anse Royale.

VICTORIA Hospital in the Seychelles, has 100 beds and ten doctors, and training school for nurses comparable to the schools attached to London hospitals.

Saying this in a lecture to the Seychelles Society, the Acting Director of Medical Services, Dr. C. Elwood, said more doctors were still needed and added: "If certain plans mature we may want a Post Health Office."

Dearer milk forecast

Residents in Kericho have met to discuss the implications of a rise in the price of milk which they believe to be imminent. They believe that the Dairy Board, under the power vested in it, may get a control price for the milk.

The residents have asked the school to send representatives to examine the situation before any action is taken. They claim that a controlled price would stimulate the present healthy competition.

Not dreams

Dr. Elwood added "Seeing how much has already been accomplished, I do not think them dreams."

Earlier Dr. Elwood said it was stated that services will be provided for the 17th Arab school for centuries before this, yet on Arab had left on record no claim of insurance over the islands.

Tired of indecision

He and Mr. Mathewson, who acted deputy secretary explained that they and other property holders in Kericho had applied for registration on August 14, but the Registrar had not yet issued a permit. They said that they had other property holders in Kericho who had also applied for registration.

Premier's visit

PEER REVIEW INDEX

WOMEN stand a better chance of "getting ahead" working for the United Nations than they do in American homes

That is the opinion of Miss Mimi M. Ansell, the acting regional representative for Africa with the U.N. Technical Assistance Board. She arrived in Sierra Leone last week.

To judge dancing

On Sunday one of Nairobi's dancing teachers, Mrs. Vera Pearce, is flying to Salisbury to adjudicate the stage dancing modellers at the Festival which begins the following day.

Later in the month she will be doing the same job for the 1951-52 season here at the Nairobi Festival, which she has adjudicated at Cape Town.

Mrs. Pearce is a South African who has been in Kenya for more than 100 years ago. She teaches dancing more than 100 pupils in Nairobi on Wednesdays.

She has visited most of the countries of the British Empire in the course of her job and has met many of the world's great dancers.

She has also been to the United States and has met many of the world's great dancers.

LONDON CALLING

An Oxford man helps rivals

By JAMES ALBANY

CHURCHILL COLLEGE, Cambridge, whose original plans made provision for a chapel, have now, it is said, received a gift of £25,000 to build one. An Oxford man, apparently, is responsible for this act of godliness. It is the Rev. Timothy Doonan, aged 32, the proprietor of Time and Tide.

The endowment of the college, little more than two years old, has not proved sufficient to provide the chapel for the purpose. Not even Sir Winston was impressed by the need for a chapel. "Were not the Disciples content with an upper room?" he asked.

Doonan, who converted to Anglicanism in 1922, the Duke of Windsor wrote in the memoir that it was to visit the State visit of the President to London. He went on to say: "But there was also present another motive, probably unacknowledged, which was the fact that Doonan had an investment of £250,000 in the Argentine, but while the Argentine had been in the hands of the British, the Argentine had been greatly weakened. The hope of the Government was that without popular enthusiasm might be generated, our competitors would be able to visit Argentina in March.

I HAVE SO MUCH TO LEARN SAYS SIR WALTER

Standard Staff Reporter

It is his first interview as a Governor-designate of Uganda, Sir Walter Cotton showed a proper diffidence in declining to discuss either Uganda's or Kenya's economic and political prospects. He made it quite plain he had done with the one and had "too much to learn" about the other.

He said his appointment was for only three years - "it should be much less."

He would not be returning to Kenya straight off a brief private running office at the end of November. Sir Walter will be quite active, although normally still on leave. The Minister for Forests will be his immediate successor, but he will closely study the forestry papers submitted by the Government to London for the consideration of the United Kingdom. He will be emphasised as an observer, the former Governor's deputy leader at the conference and there is no doubt he hopes by their friendship and confidence during the course of the conference.

It is a pity that Mr. de la Motte, who is in London by the assumption that the negotiations with Uganda are never far from being under way, is not in Uganda as far as it goes to leaving about with the impression that the Government is not in a position to take any more active steps in the old days, but that there is still a good deal of positive work to be done in its guiding African hands through the various stages to independence."

He added that although he had seen Colonial Office officials on the land settlement negotiations.

KENYATTA'S CONVICTIONS TALKS

Mr. Kenyatta must be called in, says Party

KANU yesterday walked out of the constitutional talks at Government House because Kudu refused to re-open discussions on Mr. Kenyatta's attendance. The talks continued after Kudu had left and a further session will be held today, with or without the Kudu delegation.

The Kanu president, Mr. Glebeza, said later that the joint memorandum had become a matter of argument between Kudu and Kariuki. "We decided to call for Mr. Kenyatta's immediate participation," he said. "The unifying influence which he exercised is gone."

Leader of Government House, Mr. Njiru, said after the meeting adjourned for the day, the talks were held in a friendly atmosphere. "We were glad to see the walk-out was not a matter of principle," he said. "It was a matter of procedure."

He went on: "Two days ago a decision was unanimously taken by the meeting that Mr. Kenyatta should not participate in the talks because he was not a Member of Legislative Council. It was agreed that both groups were free to consult him—outside the meeting and in private."

Mr. P. D. M. M. said the idea of participation had been put to the Kenyatta and he had told them that it would be better for the country if he did not come. "We would carry on with the talks and we would not be hindered by his absence," he said. "We would not be hindered by his absence."

GOVERNMENT STATEMENT ON WALKOUT

The following statement was issued by the Government at the end of yesterday's talks at Government House:

At the commencement of the talks, the Government was asked to re-open discussions on Mr. Kenyatta's attendance at the talks, which had been considered by the delegates on Tuesday afternoon and that Mr. Kenyatta should be invited to attend.

The Government replied that it would be better for the country if Mr. Kenyatta did not come. "We would carry on with the talks and we would not be hindered by his absence," it said.

The Government also said that it would be better for the country if Mr. Kenyatta did not come. "We would carry on with the talks and we would not be hindered by his absence," it said.

A RARE HOPE

It is with such a difference, that I have accepted this one story of Church Unity.

There is a great emphasis on the whole life of the community. It would be open to all denominations to help promote it.

There was left the formidable task of raising the necessary funds. A church, even a small one, from wealthy communities.

It was made abundantly clear in the words of the use of all races and all denominations.

WEEK END STANDARD

COMPANY GIVES ONE BETTER THAN TRAINING TODAY FOR TOMORROW

By Lesley Clay

TRAINING today for tomorrow has almost become a catch-phrase in many circles, both Government and commercial, where localisation of administration is taking place at a rapid pace. But it was with some reservations that the assistant director of education in Kenya, Mr. D. B. Roberts, said that Galley and Roberts were so early in the field that they have reached the stage now where they have, in fact, been training yesterday for today. He made this comment at the firm's training school on Monday recently.

The Director for Commerce and Industry, Mr. H. Muller, talks to his associates, one of whom, Mr. Douglas Hugh James (left), was runner-up for apprentice of the year.

The chief instructor at the Galley and Roberts' Training School, Mr. W. A. Brewster, interviewed by Lesley Clay.

Some time, Government officials have approached Galley and Roberts, asking if the company can assist in their training-localisation programme for Government. Mr. Roberts feels that its staff will benefit considerably from association with commerce and is anxious to bridge the gap that exists between. Let us take a look at the training school, started in 1957.

It aims at training technicians on a five-year general engineering course and to provide workers of a high standard comparable to those who, in the past, have had to be recruited from overseas.

WIDE SCOPE

The original scheme is intended for technical students who are not keen on a career in engineering, but who are keen on a job with wide scope.

Fifteen students a year are taken; there are 72 in the school now, for there are always a certain amount of intakes due to further education schemes and other factors.

A student may start the course and then suddenly find he has been allocated a place at Makerere.

The chief instructor, Mr. J. H. Brewster, after walking through the answers to the paper, goes on to safety looking at some of the most promising candidates. Of those that go on to apply for the 1961 intake, 80 per cent will be interviewed. Of the 18 accepted, three were lost to Makerere and one to Andrews.

Mr. Roberts doubts the Many nationalities work together in the training school.

Exams taken every six months rather commonly held theory that you will not get an African secondary education to work with big hands.

The school aims at building up what in Britain is a specialist middle-class technician who combines a high power with high skills of hands.

It is a cosmopolitan little crowd that works together in classrooms and workshop, on their own terms.

Students are paid during apprenticeship on a rising scale and in the last year they earn £28 15s. a month. They spend two years, full time, in the school, then move on to the workshops.

MIXED INTAKE

All the end of the five years they become eligible for jobs as electricians, burner fitters, motor patterners, Caterpillar servicemen, motor servicemen, for work on irrigation equipment. They also work on fuel injection services.

Some of the very best go on as assistants to C and F. In the past, they were usually on the drawing floor.

The foreman in the shops does a six-monthly report on the student's progress while over a large job.

Two apprentices undergoing training.

The students and find out what they are doing. They have no that when a vacancy falls they can be placed.

The intake is necessarily mixed as are the needs of the company; for instance, an African student was obviously the most helpful at the Coal and a Masai for finalisation, so the student's progress while over a large job.

During training, while an insight is being gained into their capabilities, the students are usually sent on an Omani Kapsa mountain course. Of the 14 who went, 10 returned to the school in the following year.

There are losses also to the Kenya Regiment, and a student engaged for his six months with the regiment to count in the five-year course or he may do an extra six months.

At the end of the five years, all students take a Government Trade Test through the Trade Testing Centre, and it then graded as a craftsman. But before he can get promotion he must be a Government grade 1 craftsman.

TO BRITAIN

There are examinations in the school every month and every year a student takes a stage of the City and Guilds Ordinary Certificate in mechanical engineering. At the end of the third year, if he has passed each year he gets the Ordinary Certificate.

The significance is the value of the certificate in the U.K. Then he can go on for further examinations (Continued in Page 11)

Holiday photo can win trip to the Coast

HOW would you like a FREE holiday at Malindi? The "East African Standard" together with the African Standard and the African Standard Foundation, are offering a free flight to Malindi for four, five or six people to East Africa and five hotel nights and a return air ticket to the British High Commission, for the best holiday photograph submitted.

You can win this wonderful free December holiday simply by sending in your best holiday photos taken by you while on holiday anywhere in the world. Furthermore, you will, however, be given a photographic album.

Some accommodation is still available at the four Malindi hotels during the festival period. Readers are advised to place any bookings for this time as soon as possible. The popularity of the festival is likely to make late bookings a very costly business.

The contest will be judged by the Sales Development Officer of East African Airways, Mr. L. E. Herman, and the Features Editor and Chief Photographer of the "East African Standard".

Entries should be marked "Malindi Contest" and addressed to the Features Editor, East African Standard, P.O. Box 2000, Nairobi.

The closing date for the competition will be Friday, October 6, and the winner will be announced the following Friday, October 12.

The competition is not open to employees of the East African Standard or East African Airways.

Send your print together with the form below.

FABRIC CAN TAKE ANY AMOUNT OF PUNISHMENT

By SIMON COZZELL

It would be hard to find a man "mad as a hatter" to be dropped from our clothes list. It is evidence that hatters or at any rate milliners, are not to be shaken from their mad glady youth of which there are records going back a long time.

In the meantime, Exhibit A, is the fantastic new material, Netlon, which is being made by the General Electric Co., creator of Delores hats.

It is so remarkably strong, from Spencers, the paper people, Netlon has been used to make hats, however, it looks like coarse yelling and is a sort of plastic. It is made of a mixture of cellulose and other materials. It is very strong and does not stretch. It is also very light and comfortable to wear.

Altogether, it is a very interesting material. It is a good example of the progress of modern science in the field of textiles.

ASCOT PREVIEW

The rain just rolls off. It is a very good thing for the Ascot Show. It is a very good thing for the Ascot Show. It is a very good thing for the Ascot Show.

A number of her creations first appeared at Royal Ascot this year and it is likely that some of them will make their debut at the Ascot Show next month.

She has received a commendation from the Royal Ascot Show next month.

LIKE BEEHIVE

There is a rickled and down-pounding linen. Another one like it is being called a "beehive-cum-puff".

Kaleidoscope of colour brightens furnisnings

COLOUR is the keynote of modern furnishing—crude, vibrant, clashing colour reflecting the sharp contrast of an age which has penetrated outer space yet still cannot cure the common cold.

In the brilliant kaleidoscope of today, vivid purple is teamed with equally vivid red, blue, orange, yellow, green, pink and white. The green goes hand in hand with orange blue and through all sorts of combinations which would have shocked our Victorian grandmothers into horrified silence.

Contrasts are heightened by white, off-white, beige, stone and a pale pastel which is pleasing, modern and French's harmonious.

New 1962 Volkswagen for Show

The first 1962 series Volkswagen sedan to arrive in East Africa will be displayed on the stand of the Cooper Motor Corporation.

A spokesman of the C.M.C. said that the new model is a development of the 1961 sedan, which was the first Volkswagen to be imported into East Africa. The new model is a four-door sedan with a 1.6-litre engine and a top speed of 100 m.p.h. It is expected to be available in East Africa in the next few weeks.

In this dingy room, Mr. Brook, in 1904, hand wound this... the first BROOK motor

This same motor, after many years of service, was bought back by the Company and it is still capable of doing hard work.

SINCE THEN, BROOK MOTORS HAVE GONE FROM SUCCESS TO SUCCESS... PROOF ENOUGH OF THEIR SUPREME VALUE IS THE FANTASTIC GROWTH OF BROOK MOTORS FROM SO SMALL A BEGINNING

Ultra modern manufacturing methods including the extensive use of electronics and automation, spell perfect precision and uniformity plus highly increased production. This means that by buying BROOK, you get a better motor cheaper. Rigid adherence to British Standard Specifications plus BROOK quality materials, perfect workmanship and special patents give the added assurance that you get a motor that is completely Standard in size and quality. BROOK motors mean smooth, silent, dynamic power at the touch of a button, with the maximum in efficiency and reliability, and with the minimum capital outlay.

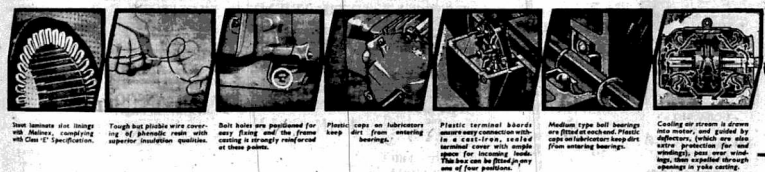

Dispensing conveyor in No. 1 works. 2000 motors per week can be handled in this section.

MOTORS from Fractional to 600 h.p. for every purpose

 Motors from 1/16th. to 110 h.p. are normally available from stock in E.A.

Some reasons why BROOK MOTORS are Super-efficient

Steel laminates die forged with Maxima - resulting in Class 'F' Specification.

Tough but pliable wire covering of stator windings with Class 'F' Specification.

Belt holes are precision for easy fitting and the frame casting is strongly reinforced at these points.

Plastic caps on lubricators keep dirt from entering bearings.

Plastic terminal boards assure easy connection with a cast-iron, sealed terminal cover with ample space for incoming leads. This box can be fitted in any one of four positions.

Medium type ball bearings are fitted to the shafts on lubricators keep dirt from entering bearings.

Cooling air stream is drawn into motor, and guided by deflectors, which are also water proofed. For maximum efficiency, the cooling air is drawn through openings in the frame casting.

... and the result is perfection

SEE THE STANDARD EAST AFRICA PHONE SUBSCRIBERS LINKED TO WORLD...

NUMBER please" is fast becoming one of the most-quoted phrases in East Africa as the communications service steadily throws out more cables and wires to spread the web of lines linking telephone subscribers in the three territories.

Last year it was uttered 430,650 times by the operators working the E.A.P. and T's telephone exchange—a marked increase since just before the war—and the number of telephone calls in Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika rose by nearly 5,000.

CLIFF DIXON writes of East Africa's fast-growing telephone service—14 services which not only link more than 75,000 subscribers in the three territories but also provide a means of rapid communication with the rest of the world.

last year to reach a total of 17,232.

linked to superb equipment the operator today is able to send and receive a call from any end of East Africa to any other. Calling conditions are often very low in any one of a host of different areas.

Under Telephone House, Nairobi, into which the Central E.A.P. had been transferred, it is now possible to make calls to any of the following: London, New York, Paris, Rome, and other European cities.

353 CHANNELS
The 353 channels are divided into 100 for long distance, 100 for short distance, and 153 for local calls.

There are 18 subscribers on the Nairobi exchange, which was housed in a Government building. Two years later the figure

There is even increasing work being done by the operators and supervisors who provide a 24-hour cover for the long switchboard at which 42 of them can sit at peak periods and which is at present manned by a staff of 108.

The original two telephone exchanges, opened in Nairobi and Mombasa in 1906, for official purposes, have since multiplied to about 270, of which more than 150 are in Kenya.

1938 TAKEOVER

They serve a telephone network which is already 75 per cent automatic and over which subscribers in East Africa last year dialled nearly 60,000 local and trunk calls.

This automatic rate is remarkably high, compared with that of Britain (81.2 per cent), the United States (84.2 per cent), South Africa (82.4 per cent) and Soviet Russia (80.2 per cent).

In the past decade the cost of operating this little-publicized service has moved from £202,150 to more than £300,000, the increase being due to the "handy" of telephone material in the territories and new growth to a staff of nearly 7,000 of whom some 5,000 are Africans.

When the department took over the original two exchanges in 1908 there were 18 subscribers on the Nairobi exchange, which was housed in a Government building.

A busy scene in Nairobi's Telephone House, where the 180-ft.-long switchboard is worked by 42 operators at peak hours and the work is shared by men and women, African, Asian and European.

Few seem aware that service can act as alarm clock had risen to 70 and the increase has been maintained through 1936—200 subscribers in the Nairobi central office.

Mombasa's first exchange was opened at the railway station in 1906 and had 30 subscribers in 1910. Up to 1936, however, telephony in Kenya, there being then only 225 subscribers in Nairobi, about 500 in Mombasa, 25 in Nairobi, 12 in Kisumu and 47 in Eldoret.

have registered increases from six to 45 and 15 to 125 respectively.

It was in 1931 that the Nairobi Exchange became the first in East Africa to be converted to automatic working, and the following year telephony linking the capital and Mombasa was opened.

circuits operating two hours each day.

This service became increasingly popular and the circuit time was gradually increased until in February this year two circuits between the "cities" were brought into operation to build up a total channel time of 14 hours. Last year 8,076 of these calls were completed.

Now, East Africa is also directly linked with Aden, South Africa, India, the Sudan, Ethiopia, Mauritius, Somalia, Pakistan, Zanzibar and the Central African Federation.

That in 1936 came the opening of the international (long-distance) service between Nairobi and London, and over

Community of toil creates unity at crisis

By M. Y. ALWARTH

KUWAIT was in the forefront of the international drama as a result of Gen. Kasserin's claim to it. Kuwait was part of the Province of Basra, which chose to be independent. It has been conceded that the only successful revolution in the Middle East was that of Kuwait.

Kuwait has always been known to possess a great pride for their identity as such and their status. The Kuwaitis is a stubborn and daring people. He had not only to be a soldier but also a statesman and a diplomat. He had to be a statesman and a diplomat. He had to be a statesman and a diplomat.

The result was that the Kuwaiti movement had considerable success in that it was the largest force in the neighborhood.

On this Kuwait depended for its trade with India East Africa.

FLEET OF DHOWS

In the Second World War, Kuwait's fleet consisted of 200 dhow capable of loading between 100 and 200 tons of goods each.

Because of great prestige in trading and expansion for nearly a century the Kuwait has developed a strong character.

Until now Kuwait was a small trading settlement with a total of about 30,000 people.

Because of this historical and hereditary wealth, every Arab and every Arab who has seen it, the population of Kuwait has been steadily increasing.

They were therefore ready to defend their independence and freedom at all cost.

It is not by the accident of Kuwait that having had to undergo long years of struggle with a conservative attitude.

CAR OWNERSHIP PROVES PROSPERITY

By W. Y. ALWARTH

As early as July 1949 when the first Kuwait car was imported, the Government spent a considerable amount of money trying to establish a car industry. It was a failure because of the lack of a suitable business relationship with the Kuwaiti Government.

It was not until 1950 when the Government decided to establish a car industry. It was a failure because of the lack of a suitable business relationship with the Kuwaiti Government.

Secondary education — the very highest

The British teaching was of a very high standard in a school in the second year of a student behind his knowledge of the Arabic language compared with a student in the same class in Korea.

I visited several primary and nursery schools and was similarly astonished by the high standard of education and by the facilities which the Government provided for them.

My host took me to the interior of the country as well as to the technical schools. I was amazed to find that the Government had provided a long time in the past for the technical schools and that the Government had provided a long time in the past for the technical schools.

One of the teachers invited me to have a cup of coffee in his house and I noticed that the house was air-conditioned and I learned that the Government had provided a long time in the past for the technical schools.

While in Kuwait in 1950 my host's son had to go to hospital for an urgent operation. I went to visit him and his family and I learned that the Government had provided a long time in the past for the technical schools.

A pleasant characteristic of Kuwait is the happy and unreserved friendship which is shown to every foreigner.

In an hour's time I found myself in the Sheikh's private office overlooking the sea. He made me feel at ease after a very short time and I spoke to him in English and Arabic. It was a very pleasant experience.

It is an indisputable fact that Kuwait is a very simple and peaceful country, and a substantial part of its wealth is in the development of the oil industry.

Time and time again, when I was in Kuwait, I compared his simple life with that of the rich in other countries. It was a very interesting experience.

Three reports of the modern and progressive nature of the Kuwait Government are given in this section.

EMPHASIS LAID ON SCHOOLS

By and large the most impressive single success of the Kuwait Government is to be found in the field of education in which it has laid particular emphasis.

When the Government of Kuwait first began its campaign against the backwardness of Kuwait, it gave education the lion's share of its resources.

Looking at the report of the Ministry of Education for 1950-51 one can have a clear idea of the importance with which the Government views the education of its young generation. It is also the only one of its kind.

One direct result of the Government's educational programme was the doubling of the number of teachers within the relatively short period of four years.

This in 1951 just before the beginning of the school year. The number of teachers increased to 1,778 from 887 in 1947.

It is a well-known fact that the number of schools has increased to 124 from 12 in 1947.

It is also a well-known fact that the number of students has increased to 21,700 from 1,000 in 1947.

Boom brings new jobs

The steady and highly accelerated progress in Kuwait has had an important effect in widening the field of work, particularly in the oil, building and trade industries.

Kuwait became a center for foreign experts and workers from all surrounding countries, especially when the original working power of the Kuwaitis was not enough and could not meet the sudden increase in demand.

It is estimated that the number of workers in Kuwait in 1950 was 23,000. This was a very significant increase from 1947.

It is also a well-known fact that the number of workers has increased to 23,000 from 1,000 in 1947.

THEY WILL NOT GIVE PERMISSION TO SQUATTERS, SAYS MR. NGEI

MR. NGEI has stated yesterday that he had given his permission to the squatters to occupy the land on the condition that they should not squatter, he said.

Mr. Ngei was giving evidence at Thika magistrate's court where a Kamba had pleaded "not guilty" to trespassing on Water Falls Farm, owned by the veterinary department, on the morning of August 17, 1952.

He said that he had given his permission to the squatters to occupy the land on the condition that they should not squatter, he said.

Mr. Ngei, who was accompanied by a Kamba, was asked to state whether he had given his permission to the squatters to occupy the land on the condition that they should not squatter, he said.

TALL STORY... BUT TRUE

Several stories about the Kamba and the squatters were reported in the press. One of them was that the Kamba had been killed by the squatters. This was a tall story, but it was true.

The Kamba was killed by the squatters on the morning of August 17, 1952. The squatters were angry because the Kamba had been trespassing on their land.

The Kamba was a well-known man in the area. He had been living on the land for many years. He had been a good neighbor to the squatters.

The ceremony will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning. It will be a solemn occasion.

Land clause fight to council

AN old woman's plan to give the Nakuru East Rural District Council her land to be preserved as an ancient monument and development as a tourist center in memory of her son who died in the Second World War has been thwarted by a political situation.

The woman, Mrs. A. E. Seffe, lives in Nakuru. Her son, a pilot, was killed during the war.

The council has decided to purchase the land for a public park. This will be done in the next few months.

KADU MAN ACCUSES MR. NGEI OF IGNORANCE

IGNORANCE of the present political situation in Kenya had prompted Mr. Ngei's statement at the Doo-bolo Stadium rally last week, according to the secretary general of Kadu, Mr. J. M. Shikuku, said yesterday.

Mr. Shikuku said that Mr. Ngei's statement was a disgrace to the Kadu party. He said that Mr. Ngei was ignorant of the political situation in Kenya.

TWO THREW ACID AT WOMAN

MOHAMED AHMED and MUHAMMAD AHMED were yesterday charged with throwing acid at a woman in Mombasa.

The woman, who was a school teacher, was attacked while walking home from school. She was badly injured.

The two men were arrested and charged with the crime. They are now in custody.

Work with us, K.F.L. leader tells Muslims

MUSLIMS were told by Mr. T. J. Moya in Nairobi last night that while they would not be asked to join the Kenya Federation of Labour as they liked in an independent Kenya they must not think of themselves as being completely separate from the rest of the community. The centre of the Muslims to join themselves was a dangerous weakness he said. They should work with all others for the good of the country.

How to pick'em RIGHT

All tyre manufacturers say their tyres are the best but how do you know? You read the claims, you look at the slick pictures of gleaming new tyres, you roll the dice and you take your pick. How, have a look at a tyre that's seen some action. The photograph above was taken when the tyre had completed 21,000 miles on the overland route to the United Kingdom and back, of which 1,000 were in front-wheel drive. Nothing special about it. An ordinary Avon tyre. One of a set of Avons that finished the same journey in similar condition. One of the reasons why so many motorists have rely on Avon, why so many motorists have come to depend on Avon, why you, too, should have Avon-roads.

Pools move cuts P.O. demand

FINCE football pools agents in Kenya the number of postal orders sold at Nairobi head post office has dropped by more than 4,000 a month. The head Postmaster, Mr. R. M. O'Keefe, said yesterday that the introduction of the tax on pools bets did not appear to have driven postmen to the illegal course of sending their orders by hand.

Postage revenue in August, 1961, the head post office sold 15,272 postal orders of a value of £12,727 against August, 1960, sales (pooled to £10,854) and for the year 1961 fell again to 1,058,874. "We have also lost the postmen from here in Britain, but it has been replaced by the revenue the G.P.O. earns from the stamps being sent to the postmen in Kenya," Mr. O'Keefe said.

KENYA DAIRY SALES DEPEND ON THE 'SIX'

MEMBERS of Kenya Co-operative Creameries were told at Nakuru yesterday that future prospects for marketing Kenya's dairy products outside Europe depended largely on the terms which would be agreed on behalf of New Zealand and other dairy countries when Britain joined the European Common Market. The chairman, Mr. D. H. M. Dempster, addressing the annual meeting, said it appeared that unless the "Six" modified their existing dairy prices very drastically the price of butter would rise considerably in Britain. Where price of butter would rise in the past it had greatly reduced butter consumption in favour of margarine. New Zealand had made a "depressing forecast" that it might have to sell on other markets as much as 80,000 tons which previously went to Britain, instead of the 10,000 tons normally sold on those markets. "If that forecast is correct this must adversely affect world prices," Mr. Dempster warned.

TALKS ON FARM TRAINING

EXPERTS from Kenya's 12 agricultural institutes are to attend a three-day seminar at Egerton College to discuss training problems. About 30 people, including the principals of the institutes and representatives of the Kenya Agricultural Industries, are expected to attend the seminar which will open on Monday by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Mr. A. Shauri. "Our aim is to make the farm industry a more effective than it is at present," Mr. Shauri said. The seminar will discuss the needs of the industry and the measures to be taken to improve the efficiency of our institute training programme in the future.

Wider courses

Among the matters to be discussed will be the use of modern aids in training farmers, methods of extending agricultural extension work to small farmers who have the greatest need, and the possibilities of courses to include other sections of Government and local authorities. Prof. James F. Keim, an American International Co-operation Administration course extension, who is visiting Kenya, has accepted an invitation to take part in a seminar on the health of the Ministry of Health. Mr. Alan Holmes, who is also attending.

Studies on Uganda's finance

PRIVATE meetings on Uganda finance arrangements were yesterday in full swing at the Uganda Institute, Kampala, headed by Mr. Sempika, Finance Minister, Mr. McElroy, and other members of the regional representatives were planned. Pension scheme

Mr. Dempster said the last 12 months had not been so good as the start had been expected, as farmers had had to bear the brunt of a school for transport of any race was to be opened at Naivasha and a pension scheme for wage-earners. "These changes will cost us more but we hope they will be worth it," he said. The operation of plant and other services, the District Commissioner said. "The programme is of course public utility and the maintenance of law and order."

CANOE RECORD

SPURS ARE... They dazzle in 8-1 cup triumph

SPURS, the despair of White Hart Lane last week, have found their selves again. For after 90 minutes of stunning attack, they scored into the second round of the Kewpenny Cup with an 8-1 victory over Rovers of Poland.

Last week, it was a sad sombre team which made its long way home from the Upper Silesian coalfields of Katowice after a 1-0 defeat by the top of the English First Division.

They thrashed Leicester City 8-2 and now lead by three points from their nearest rivals, Manchester United and Manchester City.

Year's difficulties

By THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

THE 1938 farming year in Kenya will be long remembered as one of many difficulties, but mostly of army, drought and political uncertainty. To shoulder all these onerous tasks in no mean task but when all three count together the load is indeed heavy.

However, there is a brighter side to things. These problems have been an increase in the production of coffee, tea, sisal, pyrethrum, sugar, beef, mutton, milk and tanned skins, while local agricultural exports have risen by nearly £2,000,000 over in a 40 per cent overall drop in export price.

On the other side there has been a drop in production of maize, barley, butterfat and a fall in the price of sisal. These factors have made it difficult for the landed areas to make a profit. Kenya's exports have also been a major factor in the national economy.

The agricultural economy has developed rapidly in the last 15 years, and up to 1938 was based on the export of raw materials. Political uncertainty has retarded further development in a vital direction.

The foreign tempo of progress must be reversed.

TIBELI ADVANCE

The enormous economic contribution from substitution crops in the scheduled areas over the last 15 years has been a matter of common knowledge. It has been a matter of common knowledge that the scheduled areas have produced 10,000,000 gallons of whole milk which the scheduled areas produce for daily sustenance.

The impact of racial over-crowding of land is now becoming more and more acute. It has been observed by those for large-scale agricultural development who see the need to take a long time and will require much patience, wisdom and tolerance during the transition period of both economic and political stability are to be maintained.

The combined experience of farmers in the scheduled areas of the research and field work of the Agricultural Department, will make it possible for the farmer in the scheduled areas of whatever racial extraction to forge ahead in the years to come, provided he has capacity of mind and he can operate in an atmosphere of stability.

The monthly milk season within the scheduled areas for the last few years has made an increased contribution to the national economy.

If this can be achieved at the same time as we move forward with agricultural production in the non-scheduled areas, then Kenya can look forward to a better and sounder national economy than it has at the moment.

It would not be possible to cover fully the many varied aspects of the scheduled areas. It must be mentioned that the African farmers as a whole have shown much greater interest in the productivity of their land than the European farmers and their sensible development.

The fact of animal husbandry has received much attention in the last year and the well-favoured strains of Central Province, Rift Valley Province and Kericho District improved milking cows are becoming established as an integral part of mixed farming.

Although the impact of these cattle of the economy cannot yet be measured in terms of

FERTILITY RISES WITH ROTATION

Increased exports from the districts is a great increase in the local consumption of milk by the people in the districts.

Egerton District is one which has formed milk co-operative societies which, after satisfying the local demand, now export milk and cream.

Improved Cows

The standard of husbandry practised by those farmers who have bought improved cows has been of a very high order.

The cows, responding to the individual care and attention, have increased their production above that which they gave while in the herd of the larger farm.

One outstanding farmer has four cows which give an average production of more than 20 gallons a lactation with an average lactation of 1,000 gallons. This manifestly gives a very economic return to his small holding and milk can be said to be his major cash crop.

In the higher areas of Egerton District, there has been a noticeable introduction of satisfactory well suited to the soil climate of the area. The local farmer has been quick to see the great improvement in return over the indigenous animal and a substantial increase in production is expected over the next few years not only in Egerton but in other districts as well.

Livestock production, therefore, can be said to be taking a better part in the cash income derived from the farms. It is

The old dependence on subsistence agriculture is beginning to disappear in the face of economic needs.

1961-1962 FINEST TEA FOR EXPORT

Produced by FARMER AND PLANTER
by LEON DELAMONTE, General Manager of the K.A.P.F.U.

WHERE the Council of the K.F.U. has been elected by electing us as the President for this year. We believe that 1961 would be a decisive year for the Kenyan Farmer and planter regarding the part he would play in the future of the country.

TRUE VOICE AIN
We realized that even when all farmers were united in the Agricultural industry in Kenya, we would not be able to speak for the individual members of the industry. We have been successful in the European Agreement and in the cultural matters of national importance and had no position been read in the past just one section of the industry.

At the same time we would like to see the individual members of the industry. We have been successful in the European Agreement and in the cultural matters of national importance and had no position been read in the past just one section of the industry.

Agreement signed with union
The President of the K.A.P.F.U., Lord Delamonte, and the President of the C.A.W.U., Mr. George Kanyo, are the main protagonists in the agricultural history of Kenya.

Agreement signed with union
The K.A.P.F.U. has signed an agreement with the C.A.W.U. members for the purpose of recruitment of the collection of subscriptions. A further agreement was concluded on the 15th of August, 1961, to the minimum government to agree with the C.A.W.U. members.

WIDE RANGE
Although security of title to land and land policy problems have occupied the major portion of our time during the past year, we have not neglected the other aspects of the economic future of the country.

LABOUR RELATIONS
With regard to labour relations, this year has seen the emergence of growth in trade union membership in Kenya. The Government Agricultural Workers' Union has been established and has been recognized by the Government.

Worst Drought
It has been obvious that the worst drought in Kenya's history has been experienced. The Government has taken steps to alleviate the situation.

FAIR RETURN
We will need a fair return on our investment. We will need a fair return on our investment. We will need a fair return on our investment.

OTHER FACTS
The K.A.P.F.U. has been successful in its efforts to improve the lot of the farmer. We will need a fair return on our investment.

GOOD OMEG
I congratulate the K.A.P.F.U. for its achievements in the past year. We will need a fair return on our investment.
