SYRIAN ARMY REBELS AGAINST NASSER

Rebel radio denounces 'tyranny'

CAIRO (AP) — An army revolt against President Nasser's rule flared up again.

The revolt, which broke out yesterday morning, was reported to have ended in the Damascus area, but it was reported to have spread to other parts of the country since the Suez crisis.

Rebels had raged army headquarters and seized the broadcasting station in a bloodless coup.

Their communiqué denounced "tyranny and oppression" and said: "Our blood-shed witness that we will fight for freedom and with dignity."

It said that President Nasser had "betrayed the people's trust" and "betrayed the Arab cause."

Observers in Cairo believed that the revolt has ended by the resignation of Col. Abdel Hamid Seraj, head of the army, and the appointment of Gen. Abdel Feroz, who played a leading role in uniting Syria's army in 1945.

Col. Seraj said that the "revel had no political aims" and that the "revel was aimed against Syria's 'illegal status' and freeing her from imperialism."

Rulers' lot for power

It charged the U.A.R. rulers with wanting to keep their lot for power at the cost of impoverishing the people and spending public funds on open bribery for creating a "new ruling class."

However, in what may have been an indirect reference to the U.A.R. rulers, the rebels said that the "revel was aimed against the people by the discharging loyal forces who were against the battle of words over the Cairo and Damascus radio last night were:

President Nasser rejected any "bargaining or compromise" and denied that his War Minister, Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, had conceded to the rebels' demands.

Nasser replied by accusing Marshal Amer of backstabbing and of his promise to the officers and soldiers: "The revolt is aimed against the people."

Cairo Radio also claimed that there had been massive "protest" demonstrations in Damascus with crowds chanting "Long live unity." "We don't want anybody but Nasser," and carrying his portrait.

That was the end of the revolt broke. Col. Nasser ordered troops from all over Syria to march on Damascus.

NKRUMAH SACKS TWO TOP AIDES

GHANA (AP) — President Kwame Nkrumah has sacked two of his chief lieutenants, to resign because of their "varied business connections."

The two chief ministers asked to resign are Mr. K. A. Gbedemah, former Finance Minister and now Health Minister, and Mr. Kojo Botwe, Agriculture Minister and now Minister of Lands and Forestry.

The two ministers were sacked because of their "varied business connections" and "because of their involvement in the oil industry."

6,000 meet PAGEANT OF KENYA'S PROGRESS

MORE than 6,000 people packed Mitchell Park arena last night to watch the Diamond Jubilee Pageant, which pays tribute to Kenya's early settlers, the biggest outdoors event given to men of the Kenya Regiment and to three generations of a Kenya European settler family, who rode through the arena on a 20-year-old cart drawn by a team of 16 oxen. They were Mrs. Dorothy Hughes, her Miss Moore, Mrs. Moore Mitchell, and grand children Moore (left) and Amanda (right), and Mrs. Hughes' young daughters, Grace (17) and Sharon (11). The pageant is a section of which is pictured above, will be repeated next year by a

SHOW OFFICIALS CONFIDENT NOW

Because it was Members Day — mainly a social occasion with admission prices doubled — many of them were members and their families. Nevertheless, the attendance was about 3,100 more than on Members Day last year, and officials of the society, including the president, Mr. J. A. King, said they were delighted to get fair weather on the remaining two days they are confident that the public stands had been anticipated to hold their own on the second day last year. The atmosphere was the magnificent display by the Kenya Police Band, and the pageant of 60 years.

The other four members asked to resign are Mr. K. A. Gbedemah, former Finance Minister and now Health Minister, and Mr. Kojo Botwe, Agriculture Minister and now Minister of Lands and Forestry.

DEPEND ON IT!

"I really bought an Austin Seven Countryman" says the Austin owner, "to cut down on my safari expenses and how successful I have been. But apart from its economical running its performance is remarkable; it's handy in town, it can take rough country and there is lots of room for passengers and luggage. My wife likes driving it, and we both know that we can depend on first class service from O & R Motors."

AUSTIN SEVEN
The versatile Austin Seven is available as a Saloon, a truck, delivery van and the new Countryman. The economical 850 c.c. engine allows cruising speeds of over 55 m.p.h. with a fuel consumption of over 50 m.p.g. Twelve months Manufacturer's Warranty with every new Austin.

Black & Decker break through the power barrier

NEW
NEEDS
NO CABLE!

Black & Decker

FREED FROM THE POWER-POINT

Just think what this means... now you can drill holes at the bottom of your garden... in the middle of a field... in the National Parks... even at the top of Mount Kenya! Plumbers can crawl into lofts... electricians roam through cellars... builders climb ladders... all in complete safety and free as air, with no trailing cable to impede them! And more! No bulky cable to carry from job to job... no adaptor or plugs to worry about. In fact, no fuss, no bother — just an occasional charge off the mains. The new drill will be here about March next year, will cost less than Shs. 500/- and will drill 30,000 1/2" holes in 1/2" wood before a change of power cells! The price will include a power cell charger, plugging into the rear of the drill and a conventional electrical outlet.

Black & Decker keep ahead! Managing Director, Robert Appleby, said at a recent Press conference in London: "The life-blood of a merchandising business such as portable electric tools is the type and timeliness of new products. In 50 years Black & Decker has grown and attained its market position to a great extent on its engineering and development of new products to meet the constantly changing demands of industry, shop, farm and home. By constantly keeping ahead in technical development Black & Decker will continue to help cut costs for industry and bring prosperity to our customers." You cannot do better than to keep up with the leaders and insist on Black & Decker portable electric tools every time. You will get outstanding service with every tool.

SHOW PEOPLE Judges and visitors from overseas caught the Jubilee spirit

By SUSAN COGGIELL.

NEW faces mingle with the familiar at the Royal Show this year. Judges, visitors from other countries and the general public share a great interest in everything that is going on, and a great diversity of experience.

Most people have found that they have been working or rushing around under great pressure for much of the time — and then suddenly find that the staff of the I.A.S.K. have been unflinchingly cheerful and helpful to everyone calling on them.

When asked why he became a judge, Capt. William Daniels, who is as well qualified as anyone to judge Guernsey cattle, was unflinching for an answer. He is the only judge to have been "imported" this year from overseas. He is from Britain, where his main interest has been his farm in Devon ever since he left Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels travel in the Europa, which they visit for the first time on the continent, and they will return on the same ship. Mr. Daniels is president-elect of the English Guernsey Cattle Society. For relaxation he likes shooting and fishing, but not hunting.

Tea without milk

Jersey cattle and pig classes were the province of Lord Aston this year. He is an important breeder of Jerseys and pigs on his estate near Maseux, which is about 25 miles from Salisbury in Southern Hampshire.

Surrounded by his herd of high-yielding milk cattle Lord Aston calmly sips his tea — without milk.

Mr. Hart is judge at the Royal visit previously. He also visited Kenya on his previous tour. He likes to go deep-sea fishing.

Irish manner

For this visit, however, he entrusted himself to one of the commercial air lines.

The overseas judge for the horse section was invited to be present at the Show. Much of the interest was shown by Mrs. Val North from Edinburgh and Mrs. C. Bailey from Subotia.

Baker is Irish, and her life is centred in the traditional Irish market, on horses. She has written a book on the subject. She is interested in the development of the horse industry in Kenya. She is also interested in the horse industry in Kenya. She is also interested in the horse industry in Kenya.

When he is not working he often writes. He is a member of the Royal Society of Engineers. He is also interested in the horse industry in Kenya. He is also interested in the horse industry in Kenya.

The general manager of the show is Mr. Peter Finlayson.

BEING BEAUTIFUL MA BRING US OWN PROBLEMS

By MAXINE SCOTT

LIFE it seems, is not a bed of roses if you happen to be beautiful. A pretty face and a perfect figure may be a non-starter as far as other women are concerned, attributes bringing a host of problems.

Some of Britain's loveliest women have let their hair down sufficiently to describe a few of the problems they are continually facing. They are aware of the fact that there are an quite a few disadvantages attached to being beautiful.

They all admit to the fact that they are constantly being asked to be beautiful. They are constantly being asked to be beautiful. They are constantly being asked to be beautiful.

It is beautiful to go out with a streaming cold is considered to be a very serious matter. It is beautiful to go out with a streaming cold is considered to be a very serious matter. It is beautiful to go out with a streaming cold is considered to be a very serious matter.

SMART PLACES

Mrs. Helen Brown summed up the smart problem by saying: "I'm not sure what you mean by smart, but I'm sure I'm not smart." She said that she was not smart because she was not smart.

FROM SHYNESS

Lovely women are not expected to suffer from shyness. The beautiful teenage Lulu Wain, a former beauty queen, is a case in point. She is a former beauty queen and she is a former beauty queen.

WORST ENEMY

"Ive seen women do everything in their power to avoid another girl's beauty. I've seen women do everything in their power to avoid another girl's beauty. I've seen women do everything in their power to avoid another girl's beauty.

AVON to-day's leading tyres

AVON tyre after 21097 grm miles

How to pick'em RIGHT

All tyre manufacturers say their tyres are the best! But how do you know? You read the advertising, you see the pictures of the tyre, you see the miles on a front wheel that has completed 21,097 on the ovalized track to the United Kingdom drive. One of a set of Avon's tyre has completed 21,097 miles on a front wheel, including wear 20,000 and back, of which 1,000 were on front-wheel Avon tyre. Nothing special about it. An ordinary tyre, the same journey in similar conditions. One of the reasons why so many motorists have bought Avon, why so many racing drivers come to depend on Avon, why you, too, should in Avon Re-moulds.

NAIROBI HOMBASA DAR ES SALAAM

Mr. Osborne addresses his thanks

THROUGHOUT the meeting in Nairobi, I felt that the Government had done a very good job in handling the situation. I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Mr. Ngei's statement

HAVING listened to Mr. Paul Ngei's Proclamation, on K.R.S.I., I have come to the conclusion that in every respect in this regard the Government has done a very good job.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What other realistic side of the situation can we see? I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

All change

After Mr. Paul Ngei's Proclamation, I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Politics and Christianity

Can we Christians leave the ruling of the country to the non-Christians? Are we to leave the business of trade, commerce, industry, of securing justice to those who are not Christians?

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Tribalism

TRIBALISM is still in vogue in Kenya. It is a major obstacle to the development of the country. We must work towards a more unified Kenya.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Who is to blame?

I AM highly qualified to give any political advice on the country now. It is important enough to convince anyone to step back and listen to me.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

NEWS IS WHAT HAPPENS NOT WHAT PLEASURES

YOUR correspondent, Mr. David Duncan, of the East African Standard, has done a very good job in reporting the news. He is not afraid to report what he sees.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Memorials

WITH reference to the memorial to be presented to the Government by the East African Standard, I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Spending your leave in Kenya?

IF you are planning to spend your leave in Kenya, I am sure that you will have a very good time. Kenya is a beautiful country with many attractions.

I am sure that the Government will continue to do a good job in the future.

Big increase in number 'skipping country' TO BE BEATEN BY LOGGERS

Clearance stamp may be needed

Measures to beat income tax loggers are approved by the East Africa High Commission to come into effect on December 1.

If the proposals are adopted, people leaving East Africa on or after this date will have to have a tax clearance certificate — a "stamp" with an embossed seal — in their passports before they can buy travel.

The stamp, which was described by the Commissioner General, Mr. W. M. Woodropson, yesterday as "not a punitive and not punitive against particular individuals," will apply to all forms of travel — by air, sea or land.

The proposal, in the form of amendments to the Income Tax Act, are published today in a special issue of the Commission Gazette. They will be debated at a meeting of the Central Legislative Council on Monday.

It is believed that a large number of people will be affected by the new measure, which will require clearance stamps for all those leaving East Africa on or after this date.

The measures are expected to be approved by the Commission on Monday. They will be debated at a meeting of the Central Legislative Council on Monday.

Extension of health services discussed

THE Provincial Medical Officer, Nyamira, Dr. C. Carbia, told councillors from Lumumba, Fort Ternan, Keru, and Songhor that Government funds might be available during the period 1967-68 to extend health services. He asked for advice on a programme of requirements to support his recommendations to the Ministry of Health.

It was decided that the immediate requirement was a health centre at Mumbwa and a sub-centre at Songhor and that followed by centres at Lumumba Keru, Fort Ternan, Keru, and Songhor.

Dr. M. R. Roberts, said that the Government's health programme in Malawi is a development of the health services in the country. He said that the Government's health programme in Malawi is a development of the health services in the country.

Historian gives inadequate perspective of 'The Club'

Church at Galilee Russian slant on Chinese

perspective of 'The Club'

JUST as the British Commonwealth is a kind of club, so are the members of the club, and when the members are not of the same mind, it is difficult to point to any solid reason for its continued existence.

In a collection of three lectures collected together under the title of 'The Liquidation of the British Empire' by the eminent historian, C. L. Clavin, the author of 'The Carriage of Empire' gives an unflattering account of the British Empire.

His thesis, that a wily and clever leader, who has led the British to the present position, is no longer necessary, is a view which may be regarded as a new perspective which gives every body a new view of the world.

It is interesting to note that Clavin, who has written 'The Carriage of Empire' and 'The Liquidation of the British Empire' is a member of the Commonwealth.

Clavin's thesis is that the British Empire is a kind of club, and when the members are not of the same mind, it is difficult to point to any solid reason for its continued existence.

Church at Galilee
The Church at Galilee is a small, simple building, built in the style of the early Christian era. It is situated on the shore of the Sea of Galilee, and is one of the most important places of pilgrimage for Christians. The church is believed to be the site where Jesus Christ preached to his disciples, and it is said that he was crucified nearby.

Russian slant on Chinese
The Russian press has been publishing a number of articles which give a very favorable view of the Chinese government. These articles are written by Russian correspondents who have been in China for some time, and they claim to have a good knowledge of the Chinese situation.

Different type
There is a new type of writer who is appearing in the literary world. This type of writer is different from the traditional writer in that he is more concerned with the social and economic conditions of his country.

Under the leadership of the Communist Party, the Chinese people have achieved a number of important victories. These victories have shown that the Chinese people are capable of organizing themselves and fighting for their own liberation.

Novelist hits at P.R. work
The Middlemarch Review, a new literary journal, has published a number of articles which are critical of the work of the Communist Party. These articles are written by well-known novelists and critics, and they claim to have a good knowledge of the Chinese situation.

Hyday of Bohemian Life in New York
By Nigel Dennis
There are many things the world will never see again. One of these is the life of the Bohemian in New York. The Bohemian life was a way of life which was characterized by a love of art and a disregard for conventional society.

Painters first
The first painters to arrive in New York were the Dutch and the English. They came to New York in the early 17th century, and they brought with them a number of painting techniques which were new to the American continent.

Simple Reversionary Bonus
A simple reversionary bonus is a type of bonus which is paid to the beneficiary of a life insurance policy. The bonus is paid to the beneficiary when the insured person dies, and it is usually a percentage of the sum assured.

Role recognized
The role of the President in the United States is a unique one. The President is the head of the executive branch of the government, and he is responsible for the execution of the laws of the country.

Strong case
There is a strong case to be made for the view that the Chinese government is a dictatorship. This view is based on the fact that the Chinese government has not held free elections, and it has not allowed its citizens to express their opinions freely.

Kenya urged to heed warnings mistakes

FUTURE DANGERS GREAT, SAYS BRITISH M.P.

BEFORE they plunge into independence, Kenya's future would do well to be studied by emergency powers, a British M.P., Sir Frank Markham, said yesterday.

Sir Frank, the Conservative Member for Birmingham, and Mr. Leslie Spriggs, Labour, who arrived in Nairobi on Monday, said in a speech before the Kenya Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

The future dangers for Kenya were great, Sir said. It would require great statesmanship to 'most have' come to grief.

"Since the independence nations and many of them indeed the majority of them — have already come to grief," he said.

Everyone knew about the Congo and Indonesia, India, China and Malaya. But he thought the risk is well over a dozen where independence is still a novelty.

"I hope after independence, as before, it will be the ordinary man who will be in charge and who will have Kenya's future in their hands will study closely the lessons to be learned from the history of the unfortunate former nations."

Most Have Come to Grief

Kenya faced a dual danger from tribal and racial antagonisms deepened by the Mau Mau movement.

While he did not know enough about the details of the Mau Mau movement, Sir Frank stressed the need to provide a system of regional government in Kenya. This would be done by the British Commonwealth, which had to be made to work so far, Nigeria and India were cited as examples.

"This which had adopted one-party system, on the other hand, had failed miserably. Federalism had worked well in Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, the British Commonwealth, and the Commonwealth of Independent States.

Kenya, which had been a 14th tribalism since 1912, had a great danger of becoming a tribal country had become wide open.

REGISTRAR TAKES STEPS TO BAN COFFEE UNION

THE Kenya Registrar-General's Department yesterday served notice of its intention to ban the Coffee Plantation Workers' Union's operations in Kenya.

The notice was served on the union's office in Commercial Street, which has a departmental official cancellation office in Nairobi.

The Registrar-General's Department is said to have received information from the Kenya Police that the union was using force to attract new members in the coffee plantations. It is said that the union has been using force to attract new members in the coffee plantations.

Many so-called members of the Registrar-General's Department are said to be using force to attract new members in the coffee plantations.

Ready to serve

"Some of these men are prepared to serve me," said Sir Frank. "They are prepared to serve me, but they are not prepared to serve me if I am not prepared to serve them. They are prepared to serve me, but they are not prepared to serve me if I am not prepared to serve them."

JUST BOIL SPREADING QUESTIONS ON THE K.M.C. FROM SERENGETI TO NAIROBI

Split in the ranks

THE game plans in many ways are becoming so embarrasing in this country and, in the face of a hundred world specialists, there are a thousand and one important more about game parks which should like to know more about before naming the buck to Government.

SO! The U.P. and Coalition have amalgamated in the interests of European unity; excellent as far as it goes. But is it not time that we should give an answer to the question: "What is the U.P. and Coalition doing for the African people?"

PROGRESS REPORT

Commission deals with various points which need clarification.

The Chairman, Mr. J. K. Njiru, would give the following questions:

Where are the replantations for game? Surely those who have been replanting and those who have been replanted are being destroyed by the game? The replanting of the game is being done by the replanting of the game. The replanting of the game is being done by the replanting of the game.

Few buyers but some interest in breweries

NAIROBI Stock Exchange experienced another quiet week. There was a general absence of buying interest and only a small amount of business was transacted.

This in turn affected prices which tended to drift lower. Breweries, however, continued to attract a certain amount of interest, particularly in Altophos whose shares closed 50 cents higher at 10/10, while Citrus and Ugandas remained steady at 11/1 and 7/75 respectively.

East African Breweries, on the other hand, was up 1/2 cent to 1/10 and was one of the few shares which showed a surprising lack of volatility. There was little movement in the commodity section. The market for wheat was flat for a time, while coffee was up 1/2 cent to 1/10. The market for sugar was up 1/2 cent to 1/10. The market for cotton was up 1/2 cent to 1/10.

Strikes unsettle City markets

THERE was certainly no London market in the City yesterday reflecting domestic labour troubles and the increasing flow of companies seeking capital.

Independence must come before more development

THE need for stable governments to follow independence in the territories of East Africa was emphasized by J. S. Norman, until recently the deputy Trade Commissioner in Nairobi, speaking in London.

He told a meeting of the East African action of the London Chamber of Commerce that before development could be resumed or real buoyancy of trade obtained in East Africa there would have to be an establishment of stable governments in all areas.

VEGETABLE PRICES

DURING the week increased supplies of some vegetables tended to bring about a weakening of prices in the Wholesale Market. Market prices for most vegetables were lower than in the previous week.

REFINERY BUILDERS NAMED

Two years' work to start in December at Changamwe

A BRITISH firm, Procon (Great Britain) Ltd., has been awarded the contract for the construction of East Africa's giant new oil refinery at Changamwe, Mombasa.

Work on the contract, which is believed to run into several million pounds, will begin in December and is expected to be completed by the end of 1963.

The refinery, when completed, will employ some 300 workers, but considerably more will be employed during construction. Already technical training has started and 40 Africans are receiving instruction both in Africa and overseas to qualify them for responsible technical jobs in the refinery.

This aerial view of the Changamwe site shows the vast area which will be occupied by the new oil refinery. From left to right the refinery (top), a fuel tank farm, and the large crude oil storage tanks. The dotted line shows the picture before where the pipeline will run.

Kenya talks flounder on tribal fears

Standard Staff Reporter

AFTER nearly five weeks of uneasy discussions, Kenya constitutional talks have broken down because agreement could not be reached on the question of the formation of an interim Coalition Government.

In a sombre nationwide broadcast the Governor, Sir Philip Momba, said that the African leaders were responsible for the breakdown, and stressed that neither he nor Kenya by themselves could lead Kenya to the dawn because of the fear of domination which assailed some groups.

Mr. Patrick said that he could offer no solution to the deadlock other than an attempt to recover a spirit of tolerance and understanding.

But Kani's vice-president, Mr. A. O. G. Oding, laid the blame for the breakdown on the Governor himself.

He said that if the Governor admitted failure to unite Kenya democratically, then he had failed in his primary duty and should give up his post to somebody more sympathetic to present problems.

Mr. Oding urged that Kenia should meet under the chairmanship of Mr. Keirya to remove their differences, and produce an agreed statement which would be the basis of one man-one vote elections after this year.

There was a great deal of reference to the British Colonial handbook, which has been revised and produced an agreed statement which would be the basis of one man-one vote elections after this year.

THE Adu Report on a 14% salary came under fire from many directions this week.

Even before the Government announced the importance of the reorganisation of the recruitment of trade union members from trade unions, the report's "shortcomings" were pointed out.

The African middle workers, who had criticised the report, also expressed their disapproval in a mildly satirical manner.

They said the Government decision is a direct challenge to the workers.

Money needed

The Tanganyika Union of Africa has criticised the report as a waste of money and said that it would no longer have any dealings with the Government.

Labour disputes threaten Kenya coffee harvest

MORE PAY DEMANDED BY PICKERS

Many farmers are in favour of trade union, provided conditions are by discussion and once they have been agreed they are ready to accept the employer's claims. There will be a mass strike next week with 17 million coffee pickers in the coffee industry. It is the big labour trouble in the coffee industry in Kenya. It is the big labour trouble in the coffee industry in Kenya. It is the big labour trouble in the coffee industry in Kenya.

Asking questions

Farmers are not of those who want to work for money and carry on a heavy burden of debt. They are beginning to ask questions. Some have had to go to court to buy food for their families. Some of the pickers are being asked to work for 20 days a week for 20 shillings. This is not fair.

Strikers sacked

On 10th October, 1961, the Kenya Coffee Growers' Association announced that it had sacked 17 million coffee pickers who had gone on strike. The pickers were sacked because they had not returned to work after their strike.

Council member

Mr. C. E. Egerton has been elected to the office of Member of Parliament for the constituency of Nairobi Central in the 1958 general election.

NAIROBI FATHER WINS MALINDI PHOTO CONTEST

The lucky winner of the Malindi Contest is MR. T. SVENSSON, of P.O. Box 90, Nairobi. His photograph is shown on the right. He will be given two return tickets to Malindi by East African Airways, and will be accommodated free at the Sindbad Hotel.

Blue Marlin, the Eden Roc, Lawford, and the Sindbad will have some accommodation available.

Anybody intending to look for the festival should do so as quickly as possible, to avoid a last-minute disappointment.

This year's festival will be the best dealt. Apart from the main attraction of deep-sea fishing, there are many events which can easily afford to go.

The African Airways are running flights during the festival at a very low rate, and the four hotels, the Sindbad, Eden Roc and the Eden Roc, are all booked.

Best fishing

In the opinion of many expert fishermen from all over the world game fishing is among the best obtainable.

Marlin — Salfish, Swordfish and other — compare with the largest found in the world and can be landed within an hour's sail from the shore.

The largest caught to date within the reef at Malindi was 14 lbs but much larger fish have been seen.

The famous American amateur fisherman, Mr. Tommy Chevelin, who visited Malindi in his own cruiser, said that he had seen two Salfish which were the largest he had ever seen.

Harroutok, Kingfish, Dolphin and many other fish are also common to the area and can be caught within the inner reef when the sea is too rough for the best expert sailor.

The best time for fishing begins just before November.

ABOVE, the winning photograph which was submitted by Mr. T. Svensson, of Nairobi. The picture is of his son. There were many entries for this wonderful sport and one we like for its humor is the one on the left from R. C. Krippl, also of Nairobi.

A consolation prize of a book token will be sent to Mr. Krippl, as well as to another Nairobi photographer, Mrs. R. A. Dunz, whose picture can be seen on the left of the page.

Two farmers make one acre pay dividends

In only two years two young Nakuru farmers have built up a business which can produce 300,000 lbs of tomatoes in a year and make a major contribution to the Colony's tomato and cucumber industries.

But they do not have vast stretches of land with rich, fertile soil. They have about one acre — and plenty of gravel. For they grow beautiful tomatoes and cucumbers out of common gravel with a process revolutionary to Kenya.

JAMES DOW reports from Nakuru on two young farmers who, with hard work and initiative, have built up a business which can produce 300,000 lbs of tomatoes a year and make a major contribution to Kenya's tomato and cucumber industries.

TURN OF A TAP

The left Egerton and bought an acre in Malindi just outside Nakuru. Black and white, they grew up seed successfully in Japan, British Guiana and the Accretion Islands.

They constructed beds of gravel with holes placed down the middle. The fertiliser — all of them in common use — and water are fed to the gravel from a pipe at the gravel's surface.

A tap is turned — the water is sent down each hole — as all the seeds, tomatoes or melons. The only stipulation is that it must contain no lime.

Mr. Black and Mr. Crawford started with two beds containing about 1,000 tomato plants. Their one cucumber house has three.

But their success has not attracted attention. They had used water which contained lime and the plants have died. Mr. Black says: "I could use bicarbonate and hundreds of pounds of potash at 100,000, but I am not prepared to do it."

Mr. Black says: "The tomatoes are not doing so well as the cucumbers. I am not prepared to do it."

Mr. Black says: "The tomatoes are not doing so well as the cucumbers. I am not prepared to do it."

AUSTRALIAN TRADE FOOD

A week to tempt East African appetites with quality fare

By the Australian Government Trade Commissioner, MR. GEOFFREY S. TEMBY

WITH this special four-page supplement in the East African Standard we launch Australian Food Week. During the next eight days, we wish to remind you of the quality and availability of Australian food and wines.

It is said that something more than quality is necessary for the enjoyment of food. Circumstances and surroundings also play a part. An Australian schoolboy on a camp holiday in the bush with a few of his burnt black and the trade is understood. He finds the shop delicious because he is hungry and healthy, he sees the air in the Australian bush is stimulating to the appetite, and because he has cooked the food himself.

When that boy becomes a grown man in a sedentary occupation and with maturing business worries the "finer" efforts of a famous chef may give less satisfaction than did the balmy air of the bushland itself. Nevertheless, good quality ingredients are indispensable.

TRADE HOPE

We claim that you will find a wide range of Australian foodstuffs and wines available in your stores, and hope that when you try them the circumstances and surroundings will be favourable.

We have forward to continuing to improve the trade relations of our country which we are sure will be to your mutual benefit. During this Australian Food Week we wish the people of East Africa to appreciate

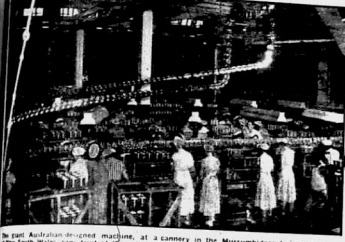

DELICACIES SENT TO 150 COUNTRIES

THE MOUNTAIN FRUIT PLANTATIONS and cattle stations of Queensland and the fishing fleets of Southern Tasmania. Australians are producing millions of tons of food each year.

At present, we can supply a wide range of foodstuffs to 150 countries. In the past, we have supplied food to 150 countries. In the past, we have supplied food to 150 countries.

Our products are available in 150 countries. Our products are available in 150 countries. Our products are available in 150 countries.

Modern Australian-designed machines, at a cannery in the Murrumbidgee Irrigation Area, make it possible to produce a wide range of canned goods. The canning process is automatic, ensuring the highest quality of products.

Australia sends her best to East Africa

The Australians love good food. And fortunately for them they're able to produce some of the finest foodstuffs in the world. And fortunately for us, too, they export a great deal of this - not forgetting East Africa.

From canned fruit to bottled beer, and from mutton to mushrooms we all benefit from the splendour and quality that Australia offers. Buy Australian and see for yourself.

A meat for overseas inspected

BEEF cattle research, pasture improvement and better processing methods have maintained for Australia a well-earned reputation for consistently high meat quality.

Zoologically safeguarding this reputation is a task of the Government inspectors, who are constantly engaged in checking processing packing and distribution.

A nation-wide system of inspection ensures that no inferior meat is shipped abroad from Australia.

All killing plants and freezing chambers, where meat is exported, are licensed and registered and this registration must be renewed yearly. Government inspectors examine all livestock arriving at killing plants and inspect the carcasses when they have been skinned.

Freezing chambers and other parts of the premises are inspected monthly and any important sanitary and meat inspection laid down in the Government regulations.

Finally, all meat for export is inspected when taken to the wharves and is kept under supervision until it is loaded on to the ships.

HIGH QUALITY

In 1944, Australia exported about 414,000 tons of chilled beef to Europe and 1,118,000 tons of frozen beef worth £5,270,000.

The U.K., Netherlands and France and State Governments are becoming used to the high quality of Australian meat and are buying more and more.

Some cattle breeds which have a reputation for high meat quality are being bred in Australia.

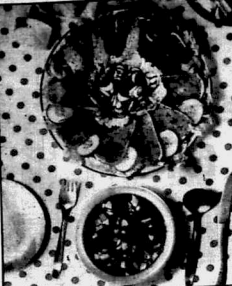

Through a study of soil types, pasture and irrigation, and better equipment, with new methods and new breeds.

Scientific farming in Queensland, Australia, has produced a record of 100,000 lbs. of beef from one cow in one year.

It is estimated that the total output of beef from all the States in Australia is about 1,000,000 tons annually.

Efficient and sound husbandry, a high standard of water and water supply, and a high standard of health and hygiene are the main factors in the production of high quality beef.

It is estimated that the total output of beef from all the States in Australia is about 1,000,000 tons annually.

It is no trouble to prepare a tasty, nourishing and quick meal like this with a can of high-quality Australian meat loaf.

have kept the disease out. Australia's meat canning industry has not only met the increased production of the export market but also the New scientific methods of processing are expected to revolutionize the Australian meat canning industry within the next few years. This is due to the fact that the industry is now producing a product which is not only safe to eat but also is of a high quality.

As the pressure cooker is superior to the ordinary cooking pot, so the new method will produce a product which is not only safe to eat but also is of a high quality.

HERB ELLIOTT'S ENERGY SECRET

Athletes train on diet of raisins

DELICIOUS, energy-giving Australian-grown sultanas, currants and seeded raisins are part of the "secret weapon" used by the veteran Australian athletics coach, Percy Cerutti, in building up such world champions as the world's fastest mile runner, Herb Elliott.

Mr. Cerutti whose unorthodox training methods have been studied by sportsmen the world over as a staunch believer in dried fruits as an instant energy-giving food. At his training camp, at among sand dunes and surf at the picturesque seaside resort at Portsea, Victoria, he prescribes dried fruit as an essential part of the health diet of his sportsmen charges.

His staple diet is a bowl of raw boiled oats with dried and fresh fruit, nuts, honey and milk. He claims that by his diet, together with his revolutionary training methods, he enabled him to produce so many world champions as to be called "the best of the best".

It is quite easy for the layman to get some of the world's leading sportsmen to eat sultanas in their plain or flavoured dried fruit.

Every ounce of fruit and fruit sugar is preserved when a raisin, sultana or currant is dried. The process of drying is a natural one, and is done by direct sun-drying.

BEEKEEPERS TREK MILES FOR POLLEN

Australian beekeepers probably know more about their country than anyone else. They know because their livelihood depends on it. They know because they have followed the vast tracks of high country.

Their knowledge of the country is not just a matter of fact, but a matter of feeling. They know the land as if it were a friend, and they know the land as if it were a foe.

They know the land as if it were a friend, and they know the land as if it were a foe. They know the land as if it were a friend, and they know the land as if it were a foe.

EDGELL

A GREAT SUCCESS STORY

From modest beginnings in 1926, Gordon Edgell and Sons Limited has grown into a great among Australian food processors whose name and reputation for honesty and efficient trading are known throughout the home and their many overseas markets.

The now expansive Edgell organisation started with a staff of two in a hand-operated cannery in Bulahraigh (N.S.W.). Today it employs hundreds of factory staff, sales and marketing staff, besides three modern canneries, produce a tremendous range of tinned and frozen foods and ranks as Australia's largest vegetable processing organisation.

From the first year of operation quality has been the keynote of the Edgell enterprise. Later associated farms are attached to the three canneries, and used for production as well as experimental work. Edgell constantly striving to improve quality of products and production methods, regularly sends a factory manager to study and observe the world's leading food manufacturing centres.

Even this day hand-operated canneries in Bulahraigh in 1926, the Edgell organisation has expanded beyond the bounds of initial imagination. The bulk of the food processing plant covers well over 100 acres. The year class acres of Edgell Limited are 1,000 acres. The outstanding reputation of the Edgell organisation as the source of quality of products, for export and home consumption.

Edgell are vigorously expanding their facilities through areas market and, with their own facilities, in which they sell. To be over their exports to East Africa, Edgell have contracted for a 500,000 pound tin to be built from suitable for their tinned food canneries.

STILL A RUSH TO READ UP ETIQUETTE...

JUDGING From the sales of books on etiquette it seems to have a declining standard of social behavior, most people still want to know how to deal with a situation correctly. As more and more of these books appear and disappear from bookshelves everywhere, believe it or not, many women still want to behave like ladies. Whether or not the rest of the world looks upon them as gentlemen, some best-sellers of this "How to Behave Properly" class in both Britain and the United States are recirculating through, have not been brought up to date.

You describe this fact which provides some pretty hilarious reading. The Complete Standard Work of Reference on Social Usage, by Lady Troubridge, which was first published in 1924 and which has long since been replaced in paperback form, is in great demand. The publisher says the proceeds from the sale of this book are being used to fund the work of the National Trust. The author, Lady Troubridge, is a young woman of 45 years of age who has been married to a young man and young man and has had the quietest life.
