UGANDA PLEDGE: NO 'CONGO' HERE
UGANDA'S Acting Governor, Mr. Cartland, last night gave an assurance that there would be no Congo in Uganda and that the Government was confident of its plans for 1961 — the Protectorate's "year of opportunity and solution."

Mr. Cartland said that Buganda's demand for its separate independence on January 1, he said, comes and is understood if that would not cause chaos and that it was only an incident in the unfolding story of Uganda. "It looms large, but in a few months time it may well have been forgotten," Mr. Cartland said at the annual dinner in Kampala.

"The Protectorate Government and the British Government have already made their position clear on this issue that there can be no question of secession from this British protection. Nobody seriously thinks that there will be any change in the present position on January 1."

Referring to "some who fear that there may be disturbances on January 1," Mr. Cartland recalled that the Communications officials had said recently that all are required by the law and that nobody — and, Mr. Cartland repeated, nobody — would be allowed to know the law unless it is necessary to further a political objective.

"Anybody who does so will be pursued relentlessly by the Government to further a political objective," he said. "Anybody who does so will be pursued relentlessly by the Government to further a political objective," he said. DR. FISHER HAS HOUR WITH THE POPE
The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, talked with the Pope in a library in the Vatican yesterday — the first such visit by a British Archbishop to the Pope in 40 years.

Before going to the Vatican, the Archbishop offered prayers for greater unity. The Roman Catholic newspaper, L'Osservatore, said the visit was of the greatest importance because of the hopes it kindled for Christian unity.

The Archbishop noted and asked to see the Pope. The Pope received him in his study in the Vatican. The Archbishop spent about an hour with the Pope.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

OFF-ROAD—On you think of any single phrase, some "unconventional" word, that has been used to describe and summed up most of the life of a famous man? It is "change," which is not even a year old.

What Darwin said about "culture"

Consider how much Darwin had to say about culture. It is a very interesting study of the human mind. Darwin's theory of evolution is one of the most important in the history of science. It has changed the way we think about ourselves and the world around us.

It is interesting to see how Darwin's theory of evolution has influenced the way we think about culture. Darwin's theory suggests that culture is not something that is unique to humans, but rather something that is a result of the same evolutionary process that has shaped all life on earth.

Exports of EGGS CAUSE SHORTAGE
WHILE Kenya egg producers have been waging a price "war" in Uganda, during which they have lowered their selling prices by more than 1/2 a dozen, export orders from Kenya have led to egg shortages.

An independent producer from Turko, Western Kenya, said he had been invited to meet representatives made by the Uganda agents for the Kenya Poultry Producers Co-operative Society.

Mr. L. S. Kudu, who produces 12,000 eggs a month at Turko, said the K.P.P.C. would like to regain its former dominant position in the Uganda market.

He had resigned from the K.P.P.C. because his net return for eggs marketed through the organisation was only 1/2 of a shilling per dozen, but he was now getting 3/2 to 2/0 a dozen. He said he would be glad to export but would be glad to meet representatives introduced by the K.P.P.C.

Big future for Coast for Coast

Standard Staff Reporter, Mombasa.
THE Coast Teachers' Training College, the first educational Asian college in the country, is destined to play a greater part in the happy association of students of all races in the new Kenya. Mr. A. J. Pandya, M.P.C. in-charge of the college's annual open day yesterday.

Students of all races would derive their tuition and ideas on common ground and give an identity to the new Kenya.

Pioneer view
The college's principal, Mr. J. C. Clement said "We cannot ignore the tremendous demand for education in Kenya and the great changes which are likely to take place in the next few years. These changes will affect this college in an important way. It is our responsibility to see that the college is able to meet this demand immediately and in the long run."

Students will give more than a good education. They will be trained to be good citizens. This is the aim of the college. I should like to see the first great educational institution in Kenya, as it was the first educational institution in Kenya.

Both institutions as well as an educational, give to the people in the future and good hope for the future of the country.

CRISIS ON EVE OF CONFERENCE

Two Ministers fight threat of African boycott

LAST-MINUTE moves were being made in London yesterday to stave off a threatened boycott of the conference on the future of the Central African Federation, which opens at Lancaster House today.

Three national leaders — Dr. Banda (Nyasaland), Mr. Kenneth Kaunda (Northern Rhodesia) and Mr. Joshua Nkomo (Southern Rhodesia) — had still to make a final decision on whether to boycott the talks.

The African leaders had a luncheon meeting with the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Duncan Sandys, who has been instructed to ensure the African participation in working fully to ensure the African participation in the critical talks.

The conference is to be opened by the Prime Minister, Mr. Macmillan is not expected to attend. He is expected to be represented on the future constitutional structure of the Federation, but to urge the more than 200 African delegates to make compromises in the overriding importance of cooperation.

Two seats were opened by the Prime Minister. Mr. Macmillan is not expected to attend. He is expected to be represented on the future constitutional structure of the Federation, but to urge the more than 200 African delegates to make compromises in the overriding importance of cooperation.

One point of direct interest to East Africa emerged from the tangled maneuvering in London at the weekend. It was highly doubtful whether African delegates to the federal review would be Mr. Nyere's plan for a union of East and Central African States as an "escape hatch" should they manage to join the Central African Federation.

winds automatically— even in your pocket

The Eterna-Matic «Golfers» is the first automatic pocket watch to be powered with the selfwinding system on a miniature ballbearing. It never needs to be wound manually. You just pick it up, slip it in your pocket and it works. How is this possible? The «Golfers» is equipped with the Eterna-Matic rotor, the first automatic selfwinding system to employ an oscillator that floats on a tiny ballbearing and polishes itself with one instead of turning on a friction causing axis. This ingenious selfwinding system makes it possible for the «Golfers» to transfer almost imperceptible body movements into sufficient reserve power to keep it wound for 40 hours. The «Golfers» is, therefore, not just a pocket watch, but also a proof of the superior system of scientific automatic rewinding with which every Eterna-Matic wrist watch is equipped.

When automatic—then Eterna-Matic

The precision ballbearing on which the winding rotor is mounted is fitted into the very heart of the watch. It is smaller than the head of a match and swings freely on five tiny, self-polishing steel balls. Each measures only 26/1000 inch and weighs just 1/28,349 ounce. Thirty thousand will barely fill a thimble. Even though they are made of steel, these tiny steel balls are so light that they can float on water.

Temperament, personality, charm—combined they add up to an elegance that is unmistakably feminine. The watch of her choice? The Eterna-Matic for ladies, of course; one of the smallest automatics in the world with an oscillator of solid gold, a 24-hour miracle, powered by the slightest movement of the wrist. Fascinating, yet just as precise as a man's Eterna-Matic.

The world's great artists know quite well that the watch they wear enhances their personality. What is Yehudi Menuhin's watch? He chose the Eterna-Matic «Contenaire» for its accuracy—world-famous Eterna precision—as well as its elegance and incomparable distinction. The Eterna-Matic «Contenaire» is one of the world's thinnest automatic watches.

The deep-sea diver's life depends on the precision of his watch and its water resistance. For him, for sportsmen and all men of action whose watches must survive the most rigid conditions, Eterna has created «KonTiki», the most sturdy super-waterproof model.

Each «KonTiki» case is tested for water resistance at a pressure of 20 atmospheres, the equivalent of a depth of more than 650 feet below sea-level. This assures absolute protection against dust, moisture and water, long life and precision accuracy for the Eterna automatic movement.

When automatic—then Eterna-Matic

For you too, Madame—the time and date at a glance

DATO

Until now it was a privilege reserved for men only—«Date», the automatic wrist watch made just for you, shows both the time and the date—with the same fabulous precision as the men's Eterna-Matic. At midnight, without your even thinking of it, the date advances automatically to remind you of the day's engagements.

Army ignoring Kaha wa disease threat

DECISION EXPLAINED

New efforts to get film ban lifted

SAFEGUARDED URGED AGAINST MENACE FROM RIVERS

ARMY authorities in Kenya were strongly criticized at the meeting of the Nairobi Urban Council yesterday for allegedly ignoring a potentially dangerous health problem in Kaha wa.

The council was told that in building the Terego Barracks north of the recommended precautionary measures against serious outbreaks of disease had been taken.

The county health inspector, Mr. J. J. Hamilton said that in 1957 the Army approached the health authorities for advice on a suitable site for the new barracks but chose Kaha wa in preference to an alternative suggestion.

Three-year standstill

The main objection to the Kaha wa site was that it was close to three rivers or swamps, carrying the risk of malaria, typhoid and bilharzia. The health authorities told the Army however that they could proceed with building, provided they could construct a river bank to prevent the water from overflowing and spreading disease.

Since 1957 the Army has been unable to implement the recommendations made by the health authorities. There were still many diseases in the area and large numbers of mosquitoes had been found, including some not heard of in the area before.

The Army was building a town where disease could spread, and where children could be taken over the infected river. The possibility of a hospital, too, did not make the problem any easier, as it could add to the risk of spreading disease.

Mr. J. Kiluba said: "If it happened to be a civilian, he would have had taken no action since 1957 one hundred and thirty-three years ago. It is a pity that in these three years' time we have not been in exactly the same position."

Letter to Ministry

The chairman, Mr. W. J. Berry, recommended sending a letter to the Ministry of Health expressing the council's extreme concern over the matter. It was suggested to consider referring to allow any further development at Kaha wa.

A spokesman for the Royal Engineers, who are running the Terego Barracks, said there was a 500 ft wide river running through the barracks, the water of which is used for drinking. It is the water of this river that is the danger, as it is the only source of water for the barracks. The water is drawn from the river and runs through the site, would be forced off with spraying nozzles. All this would do is to spread the disease.

Mr. Berry said that the Army management had carried out an investigation of the area, saving a few ponds in the area, but that the plan was later changed to accommodate the barracks. It was estimated that the barracks would cost £1,500,000 with some 2,000 men and children.

Strict regulations

More than a mile long by half a mile wide, the site will have to be fenced on all sides. The water in the barracks will be treated by a chlorination plant and the water will be used for drinking. The water will be treated by a chlorination plant and the water will be used for drinking.

Mr. Berry said that the Army's hygiene regulations were being revised to be more stringent. It was suggested that the Army's hygiene regulations were being revised to be more stringent.

Kanu officials tell court: D.C. is lying

Standard Staff Reporter HAKARA.

THREE Kanu officials alleged at a Nakuru magistrate's court yesterday that the District Commissioner, Mr. John Hume had lied at a previous sitting when he said he had warned them not to allow political songs to be sung in the barracks.

CAREER GUIDANCE SERVICE FOR KENYA PROPOSED

THE Kenya Government could help school leavers by setting up a central careers guidance service, the headmaster of the Duke of York School, Nairobi, Mr. V. Laing, said at the school's prize-giving yesterday.

Such a service could gather information in Kenya and from overseas. Although industrial schools do what they can, a central service could keep its finger on a wider range of contacts of all kinds.

TOURISTS FORGET SO MUCH

By PEGGY MASHIN

AT the height of the holiday season, East African tourists are being largely forgotten by the people who have packed in a hurry.

According to a survey made by the British Tourist Authority, the number of tourists who have a forwarding address is very small.

Head-quarters claim that the average tourist does not allow himself time to pack before leaving and that he is often in a hurry to catch the boat and get away.

While tourists are not allowed to leave their luggage behind, they are often in a hurry to catch the boat and get away.

The same happens on the Continent. The director of the Hotel Claridge in Paris writes that he has received many letters from tourists who have forgotten to take their luggage with them.

While tourists are not allowed to leave their luggage behind, they are often in a hurry to catch the boat and get away.

SIGN IGNORED

Many hotels have a sign on the door of each room asking visitors to leave their luggage behind.

The same happens on the Continent. The director of the Hotel Claridge in Paris writes that he has received many letters from tourists who have forgotten to take their luggage with them.

While tourists are not allowed to leave their luggage behind, they are often in a hurry to catch the boat and get away.

HEADS LIST

Dark-headed men and women are prone to remain bald in the crown of the head, while fair-skinned people are more likely to lose their hair on the sides.

CLASSICAL JOKE

The reason of putting ash outside the door from time to time is to prevent the wind from blowing in.

GOING TO SPANISH OXFORD

THE Estadio General de Navarra, which Mr. Timothy Kijaneha, a Kenyan, will open in Oxford, is the only stadium in the world where East African students are known to go this year.

This is the first time that East African students have been invited to play in a stadium in Oxford.

MORE TO END DEATH PENALTY FAILS

Motion urges review of Kenya law

Mr. Conroy said the issue which faced the Government was that it was responsible for the maintenance of the law and order. "Can we take the risk of abolishing capital punishment?" he asked. He suggested the Government was running away from him and he believed it to do duty without any equally effective deterrent and on no known basis of evidence or statistics is abolished capital punishment now.

Mr. Conroy said the issue which faced the Government was that it was responsible for the maintenance of the law and order. "Can we take the risk of abolishing capital punishment?" he asked. He suggested the Government was running away from him and he believed it to do duty without any equally effective deterrent and on no known basis of evidence or statistics is abolished capital punishment now.

Terrible mental strain

He would like the death penalty removed from the law because it affected not only the condemned man but his friends and relatives and placed a terrible strain on those responsible for the administration of justice.

Kenya was a Christian country with a Christian Government and Christianity stressed reformation, restoration and forgiveness rather than the fiery reprobation which punishment in 1950 was of that date and should be done away with.

Reason for stigma

Mr. Conroy contended that the fact that men were hanged meant the men were guilty and that was the stigma of a death sentence. The stigma which he was talking about was not the stigma of a death sentence, but the stigma of a man who had been convicted of a crime and who had been hanged.

Same crime disguised

It is essential punishment was necessary in highly developed countries was retribution, but in Kenya it was not retribution, but a means of development. "Is it not possible?" it was a waste of time to try to do that in Kenya. The man who had been hanged was not a man who had been hanged, but a man who had been hanged.

Cautious buyers bring down London prices

STYRENE RUBBERS in London yesterday gave up their bullish performance and prices fell to levels several times lower than those of a few days ago.

The business outlook both at home and in the States appeared to be the main restraining influence and buyers were content to hold off for the time being. Considerable interest was also shown in the market for the new issue of the Government's new 20 per cent tax on profits.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF KENYA AMONG WORLD'S BEST

FIRST published in the "East African Standard", these three pictures by Kenya correspondents have been selected for inclusion in the "Photography Yearbook 1961", just published. The study of photographs on Lake Malawi was taken by C. A. Gunge by the grey light of early morning after an all-night vigil.

Walisungu poachers, in action in the Tsavo National Park; were photographed by Ted Mullis for an "East African Standard" special feature on poaching.

The picture showing three lions making a kill in the Royal Nairobi National Park was one of a complete sequence photographed by Harold Hurton, a member of the editorial staff of the "East African Standard". The sequence has since been published in newspapers and magazines throughout the world.

Kirk's grandson in East Africa

MR. Robert Hugh Kirk, Mr. Robert's grandson of Sir John Kirk, the former Consul-General in Zanzibar and friend and adviser to the reigning Sultan of the day, is visiting Nairobi.

Sir John can hardly be considered the central figure in the early stages of the process of opening up East Africa during the second half of the 19th century. Lugard described him as "the ideal of a wise and sympathetic administrator on whom I referred to model my own action and to whose purchase this fund of knowledge I constantly refer".

Mr. Robert is passing through

Nairobi on his way back from a "missionary journey" for the first time to the island where his grandfather lived and worked for half of a long lifetime.

Visit to home

He has been staying with the Resident and visiting places in Zanzibar where the grandfather's memory is still preserved, including the house which was purchased by Sir John Kirk by the Sultan.

The garden in which both Sir John Kirk and Sir John Carter, in Mr. Robert's family home in Britain are preserved many of the grandfather's diaries and historical notes. Sir John, besides being a doctor, was also a lecturer of international reputation, and as a young man accompanied Livingston on his Zambesi expedition of 1848-51.

Since Mr. Robert is an official of the Foreign Office in charge of the Department for Information in the Kenya Ministry for Information and the United Kingdom Information Officers in Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika are greeting his visit to Nairobi to hold informal talks with him.

RURAL COUNCIL WANTS FIRE SERVICE REPORT

Nairobi Western Rural Council has called for a report on the possibility of a fire service in its area. This follows a request from Nairobi County Council Finance Committee that Nairobi Urban and the Eastern and Western Rural Councils should consider such provision.

In October a new bus factory at Nairobi was burnt and because Nairobi Fire Brigade does not operate outside the city area and the fire engine at Thika was left of water. The manager of the factory said at the time:

"I estimate that we have lost a factory and machinery worth £25,000."

An incident's meeting of Nairobi Western Rural Council the County Engineer Mr. O. Martin said that as far as Nairobi was concerned it could be covered "quite adequately" by Thika fire brigade.

"I think they can get there in reasonable time and the fire engine at Thika can do a reasonable job."

He thought £150 a year would be a reasonable estimate for the service.

High death toll sets off fears for MEMBER DENIES PLAN TO QUIT KANU AND FORM PARTY

OVER 80 DIE AS STARVATION STALKS TSAVO PARK

Over the last two months, the government has been worried about the falling rhino population in Kenya. Mr. M. C. Cowie, who yesterday (October 1) announced that 25 to 30 rhinos had died in the Tsavo Park, Carignan and larks had been found along the banks of the Athi River, and some of the animals had died in the rivers.

Admission to Kenya National Parks will cost more in 1961

Monthly fees to Kenya's National Parks, except the Aberdare Park, are to go up next year. But there will be concession rates for regular visitors to the Nairobi and Aberdare parks.

The rhino population of Tsavo was estimated at 600 last year. Kenya population of 2,306,000 increased at the rate of 3.6 per cent a year, whereas the mortality rate was about 20 per cent of which more than half were due to poaching.

There are impressed by the government to pay more than local people but many more than foreigners, and they had decided to raise the entry fees to local people in other ways.

It has not been decided whether to charge for entry to the parks. If the Government is to charge for entry, it may be a third of the present amount.

It was believed that the new regulation will have little effect on the rhino population in Kenya. The National Park Service is expected to submit a report to the Government on the situation in the parks.

It was thought to be a small amount for each day, but it was to be a long time before the parks were to be open.

The Government is expected to submit a report to the Government on the situation in the parks.

YOU'RE APPROACHING THE MOMENT OF DECISION... You judge the distance, consider the wet road surface, glance in the mirror. To ease or to brake? ... this is your moment of decision—the moment when you must be sure of the answer your tyres will give to rapid acceleration or sudden slowing down. Good tyres are made for the man who really drives. They're made to give steady road holding and ready powerful grip in all weathers. They're tougher, to stand up to the extra strain of high-powered cars and modern driving conditions; safer, because special tread designs give greater surface adhesion and stronger casing materials give better stability, smoother, easier running.

TRY TWO TYRE PATTERNS FOR A "SMOOTHER" SAFE TRIP
The modern car is built with the engine connected to the front. This puts more stress on the front tyres, less weight on the rear ones. ORDERS FOR KENYA CONSTITUTION

MINISTERS' racial ratio unspecified

ORDERS in Council establishing a Central Land Advisory Board for Kenya and a new Legislative Council under the Lancaster House Constitution, with a Bill of Human Rights, were published simultaneously in Nairobi and London last night.

Most of the provisions in the two Orders come into effect immediately.

The Orders empower the Governor to make regulations affecting the tenure, use and disposal of all land in Kenya except land held by the Government or the Council of Ministers, with the exception of the Council of Ministers.

The important variation occurs in the stipulation regarding Ministers. The new Constitution specifies that the Council of Ministers should be of a racial composition of four Africans, three Europeans and one Asian.

Three types of land

There is no reference in this Order to the Order which states that the Council of Ministers shall consist of not less than 12 members of whom not more than four shall be of any other race than the Kenya Government (European) and the Council of Ministers, with the exception of the Council of Ministers, with the exception of the Council of Ministers.

The Order also states that the Council of Ministers shall be of a racial composition of four Africans, three Europeans and one Asian.

THE CASE AGAINST OPENING SCHOOLS ON NON-RACIAL BASIS

I EXPECTED to see many letters of protest at the opening of Government of Kenya Schools, but there do not seem to have been forthcoming. Perhaps you are getting tired of these schools being opened and being told that the Government is doing this for them. My own objections against opening Government Schools are as follows:

A large proportion of the population of Kenya is not white. The Government has been asked by the White Paper to open Government Schools to all children of Kenya. This means that Government Schools will be opened to all children of Kenya, whether they are white or non-white.

It is my opinion that Government Schools should be opened to all children of Kenya, whether they are white or non-white. This is because Government Schools are the only schools in Kenya which are free of charge. It is my opinion that Government Schools should be opened to all children of Kenya, whether they are white or non-white.

Attach to Law by Portuguese Minister MONUMENT TO BE FLUNG INTO SEA SAYS MEMBER

Three popular places for the national monument to Vasco da Gama is in the sea and that is where it will go, Mr. Mboya (Nairobi Area) told Kenya Legislative Council yesterday.

Mr. Mboya was moving a motion highly critical of the Government's invitation to Dr. Pereira, of Portugal, to visit the country.

He conceded that Vasco da Gama might have been a well-known traveller, but said that was no reason for having a monument to him at Malindi.

"It will be thrown anywhere—very deep in the sea when we have anything to do with the Portuguese," he said not recognizing the Vasco da Gama.

"We do not know any of the times it was closer to the coast than the other islands, which means we should not have a monument to him here."

'Grow up'
Mr. Mboya was told by Mr. Pereira that the rewriting of history would be a disservice to his children as they would be misled by the Government's propaganda.

Mr. C. W. A. J. (Nairobi Area) said that the administration should not be misled by Vasco da Gama's services to Portugal and that the Government should not be misled by the Portuguese.

20 SHOT BY TROOPS IN ALGIERS

Riots sparked off by De Gaulle's visit

Twenty people were killed in Algiers yesterday when French troops fired on crowds of Algerian demonstrators in an attempt to keep them out of the European quarter of the town.

In other violent clashes - sparked off by the visit of President de Gaulle - at least five Europeans are known to have died. An official spokesman said rebel forces were taking advantage of the President's visit to create a "climate of insurrection".

BALUBAS KILL POLICE IN BATTLE

The main trouble centres in Algiers, although some demonstrators in Oran claimed to have been fired on by Europeans.

In the capital, several thousand demonstrators marched from the Matineuse square towards the city centre shouting "Mort au Général" (Death to the General).

FINAL OF CAMERONIAN CUP ENDS IN A DRAW

Civilians again fight gamely with only ten men

UNITED GOVERNMENT and rebel troops fought an exciting draw in the final of the Cameronian Cup yesterday afternoon. The draw was played on the Colaba ground in Calicut, between the United Government and the Rebels. The Rebels, who had only ten men, fought gamely against the United Government, who had a full complement of players.

The previous day the Rebels had been a man short for most of the match in which they beat the Army. Today they maintained the pace right up to the end of extra time, though the United Government were down to only ten men. The Rebels will meet the United Government in the semi-final next week.

The Head Lad tips today—

AT NAIROBI

The only chance of a win for the United Government is a victory over the Rebels in the final. The Rebels are a strong side and will give the United Government a hard fight.
