Time for an end to gloomy gossip on finance

A PLEA to the Government to put an end to gloomy talk about the possibility of thousands of people leaving Kenya every week and about the abandonment of development schemes, was made yesterday by the Member for Nairobi, Mr. R. S. Alexander.

At the adjournment of the Legislative Council, Mr. Alexander said: "As an M.P. in Britain I am not a very happy man."

He said a responsible citizen should be able to see the signs of thousands of people leaving the country every week and say: "If there is no change, we will go."

He said the Government should be asked to put an end to gloomy talk about the possibility of thousands of people leaving Kenya every week and about the abandonment of development schemes.

MEMBERS AGAIN TO USE PORTFOLIOS Former Speaker decides to set up 'fair deal' coalition

MAIN news in the political world in Kenya during the past few months has been the struggle between the Government and the opposition members of the Kenya Legislative Council.

The second was the attempt by the opposition to bring about a united front within the European Electors' Organisation.

There would be no surprise if the Government had been able to bring about a coalition of the opposition members of the Kenya Legislative Council.

The Government's position is that it is not prepared to discuss the formation of a coalition with the opposition members of the Kenya Legislative Council.

Princess Margaret through the years

PRINCESS MARGARET and her fiancé, Mr. Antony Armstrong-Jones, are to be married in Westminster Abbey six weeks from today. In these pictures, we show the Princess from when she was four years old and went with her mother to the Royal Tournament (below) to the time when her engagement was announced.

The smile that captured thousands wherever Princess Margaret has travelled. . . . In the picture above she was wearing the uniform of the St. John Ambulance Brigade at Northampton in 1955. Below, with her sister, she admits the difficulty of administering Great Park in 1940 when she was nine.

In 1940 when Princess Margaret was 17, she went with her sister and sister-in-law to the Royal Tour of South Africa. Below, she is seen with the two Princess Elizabeths at a garden party given by Durham City Council during the tour.

Right: One of the guests made when Princess Margaret's engagement to Mr. Armstrong-Jones was announced five weeks ago. It was then on the terrace of the hotel during the wedding.

Below: The young lady, being christened, in the great west-end of the Royal Tournament in November, 1947, was witness to the marriage of her sister in the presence of the Duke of Edinburgh.

The finest car ever produced by ROVER —the 3 Litre

No one feature dominates your impression of this remarkable car. The standard of its interior appointments and the imaginative good taste of its exterior lines are matched by the flexibility of its performance and the delicacy of its handling. Its vivid acceleration is balanced by the precision of its braking. Its road-holding is impeccable under all conditions. The 3-litre is indeed an outstanding achievement of Rover engineering. The new 100 and the new 80 complete the Rover range for 1960. Both cars show significant advances in technical specification and equipment. Together with the 3-litre they offer a choice of satisfying motoring unrivalled in their price range. On the 3-litre, automatic transmission is an optional extra.

THE KING AND THE QUEEN FIGHTING OVER MACHIEV'S CASTLE HERALDED BIRTH OF THE PRINCESS

Women taking big share in breadwinning

By LEBLEY LEVY

JUDGING by what I have already seen, a new sort of bread will come into vogue—the kind women take and again when I have been reading the papers and again when I have been reading the papers and again when I have been reading the papers.

It was a hot, sultry evening in August, 1930. Thunder rumbled menacingly, spears of lightning flashed in the leaden sky over Glamis Castle, and the people of Glamis, looking for the King's second son, had safely given birth to the child as expected at any moment.

St. Paul's rang out and a note of one first at the tower.

Ross Institute health in the Tropics

By ROSS PETERSON

FOR more than 10 years Yanga has been able to travel in that it was the only place in Africa which had a branch of the Ross Institute of Tropical Hygiene...

It is just over 100 years since a first was made in the history of the world when a man was sent to Africa...

The boy was later known as the "Boy of the Bush". It was his head that was the first to be discovered in the Indian Medical Service...

During his travels in Asia and West Africa, Sir Ronald was horrified at the low health standard of people who lived in these parts.

London hocking

Sir Ronald discovered the idea of "hocking" to prevent the spread of disease. In an effort to achieve this he formed and became the first president of the Ross Institute of Tropical Hygiene...

In 1922, the year of the epidemic of the influenza pandemic, Sir Ronald was engaged with the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine...

Malaria was considered and the greatest problem of the tropics. The institute's first object...

He was the personification of the "boy". The institute's work ever since a very wide field has been opened up...

There is the prevention of hookworm, bilharzia, leishmaniasis and a host of other diseases.

LAW SUPPORTS THE HUSBAND

husband. She does not work - except in the garden and the house - and the law, was made to support the husband's right of having to ask her husband for money.

They have a joint account and she has to keep within their budget. She has no money of her own.

Once he is made financially independent on his wife, the next step will surely be that he will be allowed to give on his own terms his bit per cent.

It is probably a matter of time before the man earning the money, the man carrying the burden, the man supporting the children, the man who has to do the work, the man who has to give on his own terms his bit per cent.

Many men would like to get their own money. They would like to go out to work. They would like to be able to give on their own terms their bit per cent.

One suggestion has been made. It is to have a law which would allow a man to make money out of his own pocket. The result of all the wives in the world is to be a man who is financially independent.

There is another thing. It is to have a law which would allow a man to make money out of his own pocket. The result of all the wives in the world is to be a man who is financially independent.

Portrait of a boy who became a statesman

NINE years after his death many officials of the British Foreign Office still talk about affection as the greatest strength of Secretary of State Ernest Bevin.

Whatever the merits of his claim, there is no doubt that he was a man of towering stature, many of whose policies formed the structure of present-day international relations. A great former farm labourer and school horse carts, with a strong conviction of the traditions of the Foreign Office as a profession of the well-born and an extensively educated class, he was the only man to combine the qualities of a statesman and a statesman could derive from the Confucian character of Britain as well as from Oxford University.

REVIEW

Historian, Mr. Alan Bullock, in some instances the first volume of a monumental biography in which, as well-known detail, he studies Ernest Bevin's life to present.

In War Cabinet

Volume One of The Life and Times of Ernest Bevin is a 472 page long and detailed portrait of the man who from 1941 to 1951 acted as Minister of the Interior.

Unpaid poet

In an age of unemployment, it is not surprising that the poet should be unpaid. The poet is a man of letters who is not paid for his work.

Deep loyalty

Mr. Bullock writes: "He was a man of strong feelings, with a deep intensity of loyalty. No man ever attached more importance to keeping his word than he was."

Coming Shortly BORN FREE A Lioness of Two Worlds

by JOY ADAMSON The story of a lion-hunt, Risa, and her four-year relationship with her foster parents, the Adamsons; it describes how she was duly destined to resume her natural life in the bush, yet retained her intimate relationship with her human friends after once again becoming a wild lioness.

Highly praised by GERALD DURRELL in the "Daily Telegraph" for being "one of the best photographs of lion we have ever seen." With seven illustrations in view of an Elliot Stock bookshop. Shs. 2/-, net. (S) Reserve your copy now at EAST AFRICAN STANDARD LTD and branches

SELECTION FOR GENTLER SEX

WITH the huge circulation of women's magazines it is not surprising that publishers are catering more and more for women who prefer light reading with a touch of romance. Four of these books are A Hint of Spring, The Foreign Girl, A Love to Remember and Portrait of Happiness.

In a Hint of Spring by Marie Perle, the heroine is a young girl who falls in love with a young man who is a member of the family. This novel is a story of the romance of two young people who are separated by war and who meet again in a different way.

The Foreign Girl by Susan Howe is a story of a young girl who falls in love with a young man who is a member of the family. This novel is a story of the romance of two young people who are separated by war and who meet again in a different way.

POLEY BEAR DRIVES INTO

By ROSINA WOODHUT

THE children had been a great deal to be frightened and they came down the road in their snop-box carts. Now the snop-box carts were full of children in one way and in the other way you found one of these snop-box carts down steeply. Nothing could be better for raising suspicion.

The children soon went off to get a drink and a snack from the wooden box. They found their own belonging to snop-box carts and they were all happy to see the snop-box carts and the snop-box carts.

Who at last the cart was a great success. It had started going and it was a great success. They tried it and it was a great success. They tried it and it was a great success.

Poley said to Spotly, "You are very lucky, the children in Poley have seen a lot of fun and they are not allowed to drive. His job was to be a snop-box cart and he was a snop-box cart. He was a snop-box cart and he was a snop-box cart.

Pickie helps to find a friend

By MAX TRELL

KNARF, the Shadow. He will the Turned-About Name, and his sister, Handi, were walking back and forth in front of the house. They did not say anything to each other but it was easy to see from the expression on their faces that something was wrong. It was at this moment that Pickie Po, the Poolee, came up the street wagging his tail.

On seeing Knarf and Handi, he started jumping all around them. To his surprise and disappointment, there was no effort to get him or even to look at him.

"Here now, what is the matter?" Pickie asked, sitting down on his tail to keep it from wagging.

LOOKED ALEK

"We are a little worried," Pickie replied Handi.

"Worried?" asked Pickie. "I am sorry to hear that."

"That is all right," Pickie said to the Poolee.

"I would like to help you," Pickie offered.

"We are waiting for someone," answered Handi.

"It is the girl who lives in the house around the corner," Knarf explained. "She was supposed to be here by now."

"That is why we were worried," said Handi. "We are afraid the car is late."

At this, Pickie jumped up. His tail was wagging so fast now he looked very sharp and alert.

"Look!" he asked.

Knarf and Handi looked. "I am worried," declared Pickie. "A few minutes earlier, Knarf and Handi and Pickie Po were walking rapidly down the street."

"There is a crowd of mice standing on the corner," said Pickie. "The girl who lives in the house around the corner is with them."

A family touch to the latest type of star

By JOAN LITTLEFIELD

A NEW type of "star" has been creeping into British films of late, and on the television screens as well. He is young, often comes of poor parents, and usually owns his tie to fame—which is frequently rapid—to teenagers little younger than himself, and his stock-in-trade is an ability to put over a song.

A case in point is Cliff Richard, who got his first chance a year ago on a teenagers' television programme. In a few months he was making records, which got into the top line of popularity.

He was then chosen to play a "Cock" singer very like himself in the film Express Bus. He appeared in Confessions of a Teenage Girl, and in Christmas, and in January started his first tour of the United States and Canada.

Like most of his kind, Cliff Richard is unassuming. He was with his family and takes his own time to get used to the life. He was born in India, in 1940.

His father had a catering job in Calcutta and was of his habit to come to the sound of an air raid siren.

TOP DISCS

The family returned to Britain after the war and Cliff Richard went to the secondary modern school at Cheltenham. He was a good student, and his school record was excellent. He was a member of the school orchestra and played the trumpet. He was a member of the school choir and sang in the choir.

TRAVEL A VICE FOR THOSE GOING ON LONG LEAVE

FROM this month onwards, most people who are entitled to overseas leave start off for Britain or other parts of Europe. The principal airways companies before that they are heavily booked this year so even passages. The same is the case with the shipping companies, writes Angela Todd.

Perhaps you are among the lucky leave people for you by leading fashion houses in Nairobi.

You have a choice. Either you can buy everything you will need on here and have the headache of trying to re-arrange here and make up the rest of your wardrobe.

There are pros and cons to both choices. If you take the first one, you are going to meet a wider circle of women dress designers. Do not underestimate the number of costume you will take. Two heavy ones for the day, with three or four for the night and, if you are in the tropics, you may need a few more.

With your accessories and your hat and evening shoes, your baggage weight is creeping.

If you take the second choice, you can buy many times more good-quality clothes in Britain and have a larger variety from which to choose. You may have the advantage of a more ready-made outfit, which may save you out-of-pocket expenses for you most of your clothes will be of high quality and stand up to it.

For those of you who travel by air, may I pass on one word of good suggestion?

PASTEL WARNING

One of that you wear a suit with a well-tailored skirt, a travelling bag, and a pair of shoes. It may not be as attractive as a more elaborate outfit, but it is a safe choice.

A close-fitting hat and a pair of comfortable shoes are a must. A hat which is too large and a large handbag will not get you through. If you do not get by air, may I pass on one word of good suggestion?

I have seen some useful fitted travelling bags made of canvas, large enough to hold a number of cosmetics. They also contain a brush and a comb, and a large handbag will not get you through. If you do not get by air, may I pass on one word of good suggestion?

Another travel "winkler" is to wear under your suit a dress, the top of which can serve as a blouse.

When you get into the plane you can take off your suit and leave the hottest part of the journey in your dress.

On reaching the colder area it is a simple thing to slip on the skirt and jacket and you are once more ready to face the weather.

Prominent couturier who evades public eye

By PATRICIA HASTINGS

SOME of the best-dressed and most fashionable women in Britain buy their clothes from one couturier whose name is hardly known.

Such a name is Mark Lander who has been destined to lead a quiet life since his most profitable days in London, where he spent his glory days in the 1920s.

Mr. Lander believes that the secret of a woman's success is to have an accurate knowledge of her own body and to make the most of it.

His clothes are designed for the woman who is a realist and who knows that it will be a long time before she will be able to afford to wear the most expensive clothes.

PRACTICAL SIDE

Some of his best-selling items are a pair of shoes, a pair of gloves, a pair of stockings, a pair of shoes, a pair of gloves, a pair of stockings.

Mr. Lander, who has spent a large part of his life in London, is an excellent speaker and a good writer. His clothes are designed for the woman who is a realist and who knows that it will be a long time before she will be able to afford to wear the most expensive clothes.

Princess views clothes for her trousseau

By MURIEL PENN

Princess Margaret had a date with fashion this Tuesday to choose some of her trousseau.

With Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, she attended a fashion show at London's "The Fashion" department.

The show was staged in the Long Gallery of Osborne Park House, one of Britain's fashion houses on the outskirts of London.

The original show goes back to the time of the first Queen Elizabeth. Originally built in 1530, the building was destroyed by fire in 1840.

Only a portion of that house now remains, however, and the building which stands today in Osborne Park with its two lakes bordered by woods, is a reconstruction.

The Queen Mother and Queen Elizabeth are reported to have been very much impressed by the collection which they saw.

A FISHY STORY FROM KEVVA...

My name is Phineas Inquirer and I'm a fisherman in central India. I was once taken to go on a boat, but I was not of my family's second name as I was told.

I was born at Kevva and my mother had five children, but I am the only one who has ever been on a boat. I was once taken to go on a boat, but I was not of my family's second name as I was told.

The story of the fisherman who was taken to go on a boat

When I was born at Kevva, my mother had five children, but I am the only one who has ever been on a boat. I was once taken to go on a boat, but I was not of my family's second name as I was told.

Sudden swirl

One day when the river was in flood I got washed down stream and got separated from all my little companions and eventually I ended up in a large pool under the old bridge. I was there for an hour or two when I saw a boat coming down the river. It was a small boat with a man and a woman on board. They were looking at me and I was looking at them. I was very curious to see what they were doing. I was very curious to see what they were doing.

Never the same

When I was born at Kevva, my mother had five children, but I am the only one who has ever been on a boat. I was once taken to go on a boat, but I was not of my family's second name as I was told.

CLOCKWORK JOB

SAVE TO 100

By G. H. GIB, Alchemist
THE East German chemist, Wolfgang Willig, has made a most impressive performance recently of making a clockwork engine and two devices, one of which is a steam engine. He says that the engine is so simple and cheap that it can be made by a boy of 15. The engine is made of brass and is about the size of a matchbox. OLYMPIC CEREMONIES ON VAST

MINEFIELD FOR OFFICIALS

By JAMES TOULMIN

GEN. LUIGI MAGLIARI Calanta, Italian Chief of Protocol and Ceremony for the Rome Olympic Games this August, describes his work as "one vast minefield."

The former tank general is organizing the reception arrangements for more than 7,000 athletes and trainers, about 1,200 journalists and leading officials of more than 30 national Olympic committees.

In addition, his office is responsible for both the opening and closing ceremonies of the Games, the 100 athletes and 100 officials who will participate in the torch relay, and the awarding of the gold, silver and bronze medals to the victors. He also is responsible for the invitations to Olympic matches in every country in the world.

"We sent out 24 invitations to the world," he says. "We have had 10 accept."

SHORT ADDRESS

"President Gronchi of Italy, who will open the Games, will already have met the Olympic committee in Rome the previous evening and formal introductions to the grand stand can then be dispensed with."

Gen. Magliari-Calanta, looking tired and athletic, is big without special effort. He is the chief of the opening ceremony of the Olympic Games. The Mayor of Melbourne will open the Games, and Gronchi will give a brief speech. The Mayor of Rome will open the Games, and Gronchi will give a brief speech.

"The Italian carrying the Olympic torch will arrive the previous day and will be kept secret right up to the last moment."

"The name of the athlete, but not the name of the athlete, will be kept secret right up to the last moment."

"I have not yet decided on the name of the athlete, but I will give it to you as soon as I have decided on it."

"I have not yet decided on the name of the athlete, but I will give it to you as soon as I have decided on it."

Stop sitting on fence U.P. warns Asians

A BULLETIN distributed in the East African Community today warned Asians to stop sitting on the fence and to make up their minds about their future in the country. The bulletin, issued by the U.P. Government, stated that the Government is prepared to accept the Asian community's decision to remain in the country, but it must be a definite decision. The Government is not prepared to accept a decision to remain in the country on a trial basis.

WHERE ANY TIME IS THE RIGHT TIME

describes a journey
through the South.

WHENEVER you visit the Cotswolds it is like stepping into a picture. There are few parts of England so lovely and so peaceful as this. Whether you see the lovely villages of early spring, the rich green of midsummer, the golden autumn, or the clear blue of a winter's day, they are far more beautiful than any other part of the Cotswolds. The Cotswolds, partly in Oxfordshire, partly in Gloucestershire, are one of the most beautiful parts of the country. They are far more beautiful than any other part of the Cotswolds. The Cotswolds, partly in Oxfordshire, partly in Gloucestershire, are one of the most beautiful parts of the country. They are far more beautiful than any other part of the Cotswolds.

ROUND TRIP
A car is a great advantage, for in a round trip of little more than 100 miles you can see the best of the Cotswolds. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds.

IDEAL FOR SHEEP
In the great days of English wool raising, Cotswolds was a famous name. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds.

Situated at the edge of the Cotswold Hills, the little town of Burford is notable for its fine old houses and its restful charm. There is good fishing in the River Windrush, which flows through the town.

Centuries-old villages of mellow stone and mullioned windows

The trade setting of the Cotswolds has made the Cotswolds a famous name. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds.

Down the Cotswolds, the villages and English houses are famous for their mellow stone and mullioned windows. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds.

HIGHEST POINT
When we turn away down the western edge of the hills to the shoulder of Clowse Clod, the highest point in the hills is reached. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds. In the Cotswolds, you can see the best of the Cotswolds.

"No more weekly polishing for me!"

Commerce and industry retained in one Ministry

RETAKER GOVERNMENT NAMED

Three new portfolios for African Members

Government in the period before Kenya's last night

Three African Elected Members who have agreed to accept portfolios are included. They are Dr. J. G. Ngala (Commerce and Industry), Mr. E. G. Kiyo (Labour, Social Security and Adult Welfare), and Mr. J. N. Mutini (Health and Welfare).

A statement from Government House, Nairobi, said that on accepting the invitations to join the Government several conventions of collective responsibility and to the Government Policy Committee were determined by the Government. Sir Patrick Denham, on the advice of his Council of Ministers.

Mr. Hope-Jones out

Yielding to representations from leaders of commerce and industry in Kenya, the Government has decided to retain Commerce and Industry in one Ministry. Sequential adjustments are made to the portfolios.

Mr. A. Hope-Jones, who has been Minister for Commerce and Industry, loses his portfolio. The portfolio for African Elected Members who have agreed to accept portfolios are included. They are Dr. J. G. Ngala (Commerce and Industry), Mr. E. G. Kiyo (Labour, Social Security and Adult Welfare), and Mr. J. N. Mutini (Health and Welfare).

LEAVE CENTRE RACIAL BAR SWEEP ASIDE

A BAN on coloured British Service men using the Silver Sands Force leaver centre at Nyali has been lifted, the Minister of Defence, Mr. Harold Watkinson, has announced in the House of Commons.

The Minister was replying to a question from Mr. C. E. D. Duncanson (London) who had asked what evidence Mr. Watkinson had of racial discrimination in the leaver facilities available to men and women of the Royal Air Force as camps and establishments administered by the R.A.F.

Mr. Watkinson said there was no racial discrimination in any of the services.

Africans agree to join Kenyan Government

DIVISION OF PORTFOLIOS OPPOSED BY CHAMBER

POLITICAL unions continued to concentrate all their efforts during the week, the highest number of them in the past, and the African Chamber of Commerce and Industry agreed to accept the Government's offer to join the Government.

This agreement came as a climax to more than a year's plan of the union of talks among themselves.

The New Kenya Government, and one with members of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry, and the acceptance of Ministerial posts was the condition that they would be under a "Caretaker" Government and not under the Lennox-Blood Constitution.

The Governor later announced the portfolios to be offered to the African Chamber of Commerce and Industry. They were: Commerce and Labour, Health and Welfare, Communications, Prisons, and Fisheries.

The names of the individual Ministers were announced as follows: Mr. J. M. Njiru, Minister of Commerce and Labour; Mr. J. M. Njiru, Minister of Health and Welfare; Mr. J. M. Njiru, Minister of Communications; Mr. J. M. Njiru, Minister of Prisons; Mr. J. M. Njiru, Minister of Fisheries.

Fail in farming

The Colonial Secretary, Mr. J. M. Njiru, said that the Government had failed in its attempt to bring about a settlement of the farming problem. He said that the Government had failed to secure the necessary agreement from the farmers to accept the proposed settlement.

Great anxiety

Lord Delamater, in a maiden speech, said that the proposed settlement was causing great anxiety among European businessmen. He said that the settlement was not in the interests of the country and that it would lead to the loss of jobs and the decline of the economy.

Such contempt!

Mr. T. J. Mwangi said that the Government was showing such contempt for the African Chamber of Commerce and Industry that it was not worth talking to. He said that the Government was not interested in the views of the Chamber and that it was only trying to impose its will on the African people.

K.A.N.U. formed

The president of the Kenya African National Union, Mr. J. M. Njiru, said that the union had been formed to represent the African people and to fight for their rights. He said that the union was the only organization that was truly African and that it was the only organization that was committed to the welfare of the African people.

Women's status

A conference of the status of women was held in Nairobi. The conference was attended by representatives of the African Chamber of Commerce and Industry and the Government. The conference discussed the various problems facing women in Kenya and the need for legislation to improve their status.

Wages

The Government has agreed to a 10% increase in wages for public employees. This increase is the highest in the history of the Government and is a sign of the Government's commitment to the welfare of its employees.

Rail link plans

The Government has announced plans to build a new railway line between Nairobi and Mombasa. This line is expected to be completed by 1965 and will greatly improve the transport of goods and passengers between the two cities.

Jail sentence

A man who was charged with the murder of a woman has been sentenced to life imprisonment. The woman was found dead in a park in Nairobi and the man was the only person named in the investigation.

Uganda, Kampala

The Government has announced that it will provide financial assistance to the Government of Uganda. This assistance is intended to help Uganda with its economic development and to improve the living standards of its people.

On a Saturday

The Government has announced that it will observe a day of mourning on Saturday, June 1st, in memory of the late Sir J. M. Njiru. This day will be observed throughout the country and will be a day of reflection and mourning.

EFFICIENT RULE BIG ASSET TO ECONOMY

Sound and efficient rules in Uganda, have been a tremendous asset to a country on a recovery programme of the Bank of England, Mr. M. Parsons said in London.

"I am perfectly certain that it will result in a steady increase in the country's output and that the country will be able to meet its obligations in the West and East Africa."

Effect of loan
 Mr. Parsons could think of nothing, viewed from the outside, that would have a more beneficial effect on the country's economy than the loan of £10 million from the Bank of England. He said that the loan would be used to finance the country's development programme and that it would be repaid by the country's exports.

Market unhappily
 Questioned about the possible rise of loans for Uganda from the Bank of England, Mr. Parsons said that the country had already had a fair amount of loans in the past ten years and that the country was not in any danger of becoming over-indebted.

SHIP AIDS HUNT FOR MORE FISH

By JOHN BATTER

THE a gentle Indian Ocean swell, sparkling silver in the moonlight, the Maslinite, "floating laboratory" of the East African Marine Fisheries Research Organization, steamed from Zanzibar to continue experimental longline fishing that may one day mean a new fishery for East African fishermen.

For Maslinite's 1,000-mile cruises over the clear-blue Indian Ocean to catch really big fish are proving quite profitable, and the seven-mile-long line now stays afloat for 48 hours.

We settled down for a comfortable night's rest, all that to except the fish-catching officers. Though Maslinite is the name of the fisherman, Maslinite is an old name, 54 years ago) she is very comfortable, and we had a good dinner in her paneled saloon, cooked on a modern electric galley before we turned in.

Maslinite, at a steady pace through the quiet night for 10 miles, gradually 20 miles distant with her bows skipper, first mate, and the rest of the crew, at Arab compasses at the wheel, and one of the two scientific engineers, heading Maslinite 1200 S.W.P. Island, East.

FIND CHANGES

We could have been off on a 1,000-mile cruise if we had not met the fishing boat of the Kenya and the Maslinite, at Arab compasses at the wheel, and one of the two scientific engineers, heading Maslinite 1200 S.W.P. Island, East.

After dawn the vessel of the East African Marine Fisheries Research Organization, steamed from Zanzibar to continue experimental longline fishing that may one day mean a new fishery for East African fishermen.

Princess Elizabeth said in her book "When I was a Princess" that she was born in Buckingham Palace, London, on April 21, 1926. Her mother was Queen Mary, and her father was King George V.

Princess Margaret was born on July 21, 1930, in the same palace. She is the second daughter of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Princess Elizabeth was married to Philip Mountbatten, Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, on November 20, 1947. They have three children: Prince Charles, Prince Andrew, and Prince Edward.

Princess Margaret was married to Antony Armstrong-Jones, Viscount Snowdon, on July 20, 1960. They have two children: Lady Sarah and Lady Louise.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret have both been active in charitable work. Princess Elizabeth has been patroness of the Red Cross and the Girl Scouts.

Princess Margaret has been patroness of the Girl Scouts and the Girl Guides. She has also been active in the work of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are both active in the work of the Commonwealth Fund.

WHEN the Duke and Duchess of York said their children "Charles David" had abandoned and that the family would have to move to Buckingham Palace, reaction was some slight. The conventional line now, after having just learned to mischief as a child.

Princess Margaret was born on July 21, 1930, in the same palace. She is the second daughter of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Princess Elizabeth was married to Philip Mountbatten, Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, on November 20, 1947. They have three children: Prince Charles, Prince Andrew, and Prince Edward.

Princess Margaret was married to Antony Armstrong-Jones, Viscount Snowdon, on July 20, 1960. They have two children: Lady Sarah and Lady Louise.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret have both been active in charitable work. Princess Elizabeth has been patroness of the Red Cross and the Girl Scouts.

Princess Margaret has been patroness of the Girl Scouts and the Girl Guides. She has also been active in the work of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are both active in the work of the Commonwealth Fund.

At the start of the 1920's, the vessel of the East African Marine Fisheries Research Organization, steamed from Zanzibar to continue experimental longline fishing that may one day mean a new fishery for East African fishermen.

CANADIAN TOUR

Princess Elizabeth, as surely as any girl, the world's most famous, had a special tour of Canada in 1953. She visited several cities, including Toronto, Montreal, and Vancouver.

Princess Margaret also accompanied her sister on her Canadian tour. They were both well received by the Canadian people.

The tour was a success, and it helped to strengthen the ties between the United Kingdom and Canada.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are both active in the work of the Commonwealth Fund.

SIT-DOWN STRIKE

Double, a night, was her favorite, though since she had been married she had been busy with her duties as a princess. She was sitting down on the ground, and she was surrounded by her subjects.

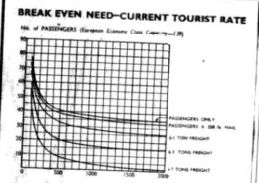

The princess was sitting on the ground, and she was surrounded by her subjects. She was smiling and she was looking at them.

Princess Margaret took pleasure in conversations from off the top of her head. Whether, with the Queen, she was sitting on the ground, and she was surrounded by her subjects.

The strange case of the witch's broom

By ROSEMARY WRIGHT

None of the other N-witches really liked old Witch Kabin. She was one of those irritating people who are always right and always have everything bigger and better than anyone else.

When the witches gathered together for some tea and magic you could not mistake Witch Kabin. Her hat was the largest. Her hair was the longest. Her nose was the most blood-sucking than any other witch's nose.

Her out of course, was bigger and taller and twice as fat as any other black-out in the world. But the thing which the other witches envied her most was her broomstick.

SHADOWS MADE SIZE OF PINS BY MAGICIAN

By MAX TRELL

KNAIFF, the Shadow Boy with the Turned-About Name, was saying to his sister, Hand: "I wish I were as small as a pin. Who should come along at this moment but Mr. Merlin, the magnificent Magician. He stopped, twirling his walking stick, smiled, winked, did a few steps of a tap dance and said, 'Good morning!'

"Good morning, Mr. Merlin," replied Hand. "Mr. Merlin, good morning."

"The saucer of water for the dog that was standing over the door looked like a lake. The broom looked like a hairpin pole. Mr. Merlin looked like a giant."

Hand and Hand looked at each other. Hand said: "What a wonderful sight!"

And what Mr. Merlin and Hand said they did was to go to the broom handle and cut it.

All of a sudden, as Mr. Merlin was chasing Hand through a forest of grass, there in front of them stood an enormous bush with great strong grass and big green leaves.

"It's a good thing that Mr. Merlin stopped his fingers apart and made them and regular size once more."

"Yes, Mr. Merlin," said Hand. "What a wonderful sight!"

STOPPED DANCE

"Mr. Merlin..." began Hand.

"Yes, my dear," said Mr. Merlin.

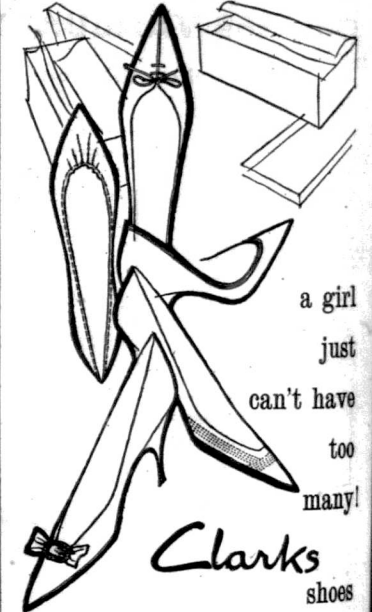

Hand looked across at her brother before she said, "Karin wants to be as small as a pin."

"Does he?" asked Mr. Merlin.

Hand looked across at her brother before she said, "Karin wants to be as small as a pin."

Radar should help in future

WITH the advent of radar, the future of air traffic control is bright. The use of radar will enable air traffic controllers to see the position of aircraft in the sky, and to control their movements accordingly.

The use of radar will also enable air traffic controllers to detect and avoid collisions between aircraft. This is a major improvement over the current system, which relies on visual observation.

South Africa protests at N. debate

COUNCIL TO BLAME IF MORE TROUBLE OCCURS

SOUTH AFRICA has expressed its protest against the Council's decision to discuss the South African situation in the Security Council, and has demanded that the Council should "walk back" to the United Nations.

The delegation did not vote for the Council's decision, but did not vote against it either. It was, however, not in a position to do so because of the absence of the Security Council's permanent members, and the Council had "walked back" to the United Nations.

Mr. Pieter van der Stoep, South African Minister of Foreign Affairs, said that the Council's decision to discuss the South African situation was "a serious violation of the Charter of the United Nations."

He said that the Council's decision was "a serious violation of the Charter of the United Nations" and that the Council should "walk back" to the United Nations.

EAST African Railways and Harbours Administration is to ask the authority of the Central Legislative Assembly at its meeting today to raise an additional £5,500,000 for the new east, rail and inland marine services.

Among the proposed new works is the £2,200,000 rail link between Mtwara and Tazara which will connect the Tanga and Central Lines in Tanganyika. The link will make the distance from Mtwara to Dar es Salaam only 342 miles, which is shorter than the road route.

The finest car ever produced by ROVER — the 3 Litre

No one better dominates your impression of this remarkable car. The standard of its interior appointments and the imaginative good taste of its exterior lines are matched by its flexibility of performance and the delivery of its handling. Its vivid characteristics are balanced by the precision of its working. Its road-building is impeccable under all conditions. The 3-litre is indeed an extraordinary achievement of Rover engineering. The new 300 and the new 350 complete the Rover range for 1940. Both can show significant advances in technical specification and equipment. Together with the 3-litre they offer a choice of satisfying motorcars unrivalled in their price range.

On the 3-litre, automatic transmission is an optional extra.

Kenya must... position... DEPARTY SYSTEM... SPELLS DANGER... SAYS MEMBER

Mr. TAVEL said the Government should think about an Opposition, but he said that the Government has no time to do so.

A new Government is a danger to the individual and to the country as a whole. It is a danger to the country as a whole because it is a danger to the individual and to the country as a whole.

Mr. TAVEL said he was sure that the Government would not do this. He said that the Government would not do this because it is a danger to the individual and to the country as a whole.

Exports worth more than £46,000

Sisal production was the biggest revenue earner in the Taita District of Kenya's Coast Province last year. Exports from the district were valued at a little over £46,000. Vegetables were worth £23,000 and both waste and coffee showed substantial increases over 1952.

APPRECIATIONS Mrs. E. S. Palmer

Kenya has lost another of her gracious pioneers. Mrs. E. S. Palmer at the age of 82 died on the 11th inst. She was born in England and came to Kenya in 1912. She was a pioneer in the establishment of the Kenya Women's Club and was its first president. She was also a member of the Kenya Women's League and the Kenya Women's Guild.

36 clubs

Interested by the Taita in community development of all kinds has increased and there are now 36 clubs in the district. These clubs are for the benefit of the people and are of various kinds.

FARM SHOW AT RUGONGO

Villagers in the Bahati Forest area took part in their own agricultural show and sports day on the 10th inst. The event was organized by the Forest Officer at Rugongo.

DEATH JUMP

Five thousand people saw a parachute jump at the Kenya Sports Ground on the 10th inst. The jump was made by a pilot and was a success.

Governor's assurance to farmers

Mr. TAVEL said he was sure that the Government would not do this. He said that the Government would not do this because it is a danger to the individual and to the country as a whole.

INDIAN PROTEST TO CHINA

Indians in the Taita District are protesting against the Chinese aircraft over the district. They say that the aircraft are a danger to the people and to the country as a whole.

BRINGING A TOUCH OF REALISM TO MUSEUM

By Ronald Hutton

VISITORS to the Coryndon Museum, Nairobi, might be forgiven for believing—as some of them do—that exhibition: a few children thought the specimens were alive! In fact, they are only plaster casts but prepared with such realistic finish and realistic attention to detail that a cursory study of the colours of the original specimens.

Most of these and many of the museum's other exhibits are the work of its artist-extraordinary and taxidermist Mr. Norman Milton, who is usually to be found at work in a rather massive workshop cluttered with and loose fragments, parts and large quantities of plaster of Paris.

It is responsible for the preparation and display of all the museum's exhibits, except the bone and the work involves rubbing and making up models for museum purposes. In some of the museum's main hall, containing fossil material, and making casts of fossils and under-achievements to the Pleistocene flora and fauna which he has recently been working.

Long hours of painstaking work went into the making of these plaster snakes collected round branches as though ready to strike at passers-by.

Several of the groups in the main hall are mounted by Mr. Milton, including the skink and gecko displayed on the line.

The last several life sized antelope and his most difficult because of the size and weight of the specimen.

For some of these displays a special method is used, the setting in addition to preparing the model.

Mounting animals, large or small, calls for technical work. A plaster of Paris model is built up, working from the measurements of the original, when this is ready the animal, skin or bone, is placed on the model. A light spray and the skin will set in place and the animal is complete.

RAPID CHANGES

In making casts of the exhibition it is essential to work from the original life in life, for this gives the most realistic color changes cast only after death, but in many cases this method offers better results.

For example, the making of this work on locations is in view of the fact that the surface of the specimens be catches himself with the tone of hair, but

A shelled lizard crosses a hot bush on a tree up before being put on exhibition in the museum.

Visitors conscious of colour

Wood are obtained by arrangement with local fishermen. As soon as he has a fish he will advise Mr. Milton, who then takes on its collection, later observing them while by drawing a little sketch and observing their sun under-

CAREFUL NOTES

A plaster cast is made of the captured fish three and then put aside to be dealt with later.

Speaking of this aspect of his work Mr. Milton said: "There was a time when visitors in collecting many did have meant anything to the general public, but now days in East Africa, have got to know fish through TV, and that errors are now avoided."

I asked him why he did not use color photographs to record colors that of the fresh caught fish.

He explained that color film was liable to give distorted results, making the fish look more colorful as a result of color by light reflected from the water, and that color photographs were used under-achievements.

A notebook and careful

NORMAN MILTON observations provide a more accurate record, he said.

Back to his original work Mr. Milton goes on to the museum, making the final touch, using ordinary artist's oils and working from his notes and under-achievements.

For some of the life-sized specimens he uses a special

Japanese paint preparation, which is all paint.

In some cases, such as the fish, he removes the scale and paint. If any, from the original fish and incorporate them in the finished model.

Among the latter enthusiasts, of this kind which he has handled are a lizard on a rock on a special display, a frog, and a bird, each a fine display.

The artist states, none of them even more realistic than the fish, are prepared to watch the same way except that once ready of the model, ready the museum Mr. Milton had made more time in which to allow him to observe and see that the color is exactly as it is in life.

None of the museum's models, especially the mammals, are displayed, indeed, colored realistically under UV-light, each object of the artist perfectly realistic.

For this the detail which he searches and a model is made, using oil paint, which is the artist's body. When this has hardened, the artist used the original model is removed and replaced by the specimen.

Princess when sister was married

Two weeks, in the house of the mother-in-law, Margaret, took her young Prince Consort to the city of London after her father, the Queen, on the day after Prince Elizabeth was married, Princess Margaret said in a friend's study: "I cannot imagine the without her." She then tried to fill the gap in her life by introducing and visiting to nightclubs, dances and parties.

Night after night she would stay out dancing until the early hours of the morning. She frequently would go to the theatre and if she liked she would not hesitate to see it again.

Princess Margaret was in London on the day of the marriage of Prince Elizabeth and Philip Mountbatten, the most popular of the Royal Family.

Her adolescent year was 1942, but she started it badly. Her father, King George VI, had her taken to Buckingham Palace, where she lived for a few days in a room at the top of the house in which she had been born. She was then taken to the Royal Lodge, Windsor, where she lived for a few days. She was then taken to the Royal Lodge, Windsor, where she lived for a few days. REVIEW

Hate for Jews
Most of the publishing houses were convinced by the constant rejection of his works that Goble was a man who was not to be written by the Jews. His first contact with the Jewish world came in the apartment house which was a right-wing Jewish advance guard of the National Socialist movement in the Bronx in Manhattan.

Rapid rise

It was not until the "little" doctor had his first success that he began his rapid rise. He was a man of a very high order of ability and his work was of a high order.

Study of Western Literature

When J. B. Priestley first set down to write 'Latter Days and Wonders' he thought that few men were likely to read his subject with his usual success. That he has done so is a tribute to his power as a writer.

Dark deeds for students of detection

It is always a most satisfying experience to read down a crime story having a happy ending. The story is a study of the characters of the men and women who are involved in the crime.

Marriage witness

Old Goble and his wife were the witnesses at the wedding of the young man and woman. The wedding was a most successful one and the young man and woman were very happy.

Red herrings

It comes as a surprise to many people that the red herring is a fish. It is a fish of the sea and is used as a metaphor for a false lead in a mystery story.

HOW THE KING OF THE CREST

By MAX TRILL

It was a beautiful morning in the Kingdom of the Crest. The sun was shining brightly, and the birds were singing their hearts out. The King of the Crest, a magnificent bird with a crest of gold and silver, was sitting on his throne, looking out over his kingdom.

Point this camera, aimed at the features of Knarf, the address is "Wink-King Boulevard, P.O. Box 3888, Nairobi, Kenya."

Knarf listens to canary's songs

By MAX TRILL

KNARF, the Shadow-Boy with the Turned-About shadow, made himself as small as a matchstick. He was sent by the Canary King and knocked lightly on Knarf's door from his perch.

And I, being as fatigued as I was, I opened my eyes. "That is a lovely song," Knarf exclaimed.

"It could sing another one," said Knarf, "valued, perhaps, but I'm not fit to sing it." "I like best," he called out, "the one of the vast of the forest."

But the visitors grunted. "You'll be a day for Knarf," he said. "I'll send my crew."

"I shall not forget that," Knarf said. "I'll send my crew to you."

Presently the King saw a white elephant coming towards him. "That's a fine elephant," he said. "I'll send my crew to you."

But the elephant kept on walking. "I'll send my crew to you," Knarf said. "I'll send my crew to you."

OF GETTING HIGHER INCOMES IN C.E.A. TOLD

The plan is to use the Standard Legislative Commission's report on the proposed income tax law as a basis for the proposed income tax law.

The Standard Legislative Commission, which is made up of members from both houses of the Legislature, is expected to report on the proposed income tax law in the next few days.

The proposed income tax law is expected to be a significant step in the effort to raise the standard of living of the small farmer and to provide a more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

"IMPERIAL INSTITUTION"

The way to raise the standard of living of the small farmer centered about East Africa was not necessarily by producing such schemes of irrigation, but by increasing the land available for the farmer on the islands and the growing of crops, Mr. Butler said.

The Commissioner of Agriculture, Mr. Butler, said that the plan is to use the Standard Legislative Commission's report on the proposed income tax law as a basis for the proposed income tax law.

9,000 stock seized by inspectors

More than 9,000 cattle, horses and sheep were seized by inspectors in the United Kingdom last year, according to a report from the Home Office.

The report, which was released today, shows that the number of animals seized increased significantly compared to the previous year.

The inspectors reported that they found a large number of animals that were either diseased or in poor health, and that they were unable to identify their owners.

More power from Lake

Plans are being made to generate more power from the Lake, to meet the growing demand.

The plans, which are being developed by the government, involve the construction of a new dam and the installation of a power plant.

The new dam will be built on the Lake, and it will generate a large amount of power. This power will be used to meet the growing demand for electricity in the region.

Eighty-day case makes Kenya legal history

A case that lasted for eighty days has made Kenya legal history, as it established a new precedent.

The case, which was heard by the High Court, involved a dispute over the ownership of land. The court's decision, which was reached after a lengthy trial, established a new precedent in Kenyan law.

The court ruled in favor of the plaintiff, and this decision is expected to have a significant impact on the way that land is owned and used in Kenya.

Wales in line for honours

Wales led Ireland 2-0 at Wrexham and has chances of sharing the honours in the home international soccer championship provided Scotland and England draw at Hampden Park tomorrow.

Wales led 1-0 at half-time from a goal by Meekins, who put them further ahead after 25 minutes of the second half from the penalty spot.

That inspired the Welsh to kick back into the game with a splendid header by Hughson, which was a penalty goal scored by their captain, Manchester, but was unable to equalize during a final dramatic phase in which both goals had narrow escapes.

Niven, Glasgow Rangers' goalkeeper, was superb because of a lucky kick, his "flying" taken by Frank Hailey, of Celtic.

Johnson flies to Switzerland

Ingram Johnson, the Swedish boxer, the world heavyweight champion, is going to the Coliseum for Geneva, gliding his own plane. Johnson will train in Switzerland for his return fight with Floyd Mayweather. The pair meet next week in New York.

LOK'S LIFE A MUD SAFARI

Big route changes as rain wrecks bridges

The weather forecast for the southern leg will, with periods of rain, especially over the northern sections, may occur over southern sections.

DESPISE

sweeping in the route for the East African Safari because of heavy rain in Tanganyika, competitors and officials still expect a rough trip out from Nairobi at midnight last night.

The changes have knocked out the Mombasa and Central Tanganyika sections, including the controversial Mbulu section.

The cars will now return from Dr. J. M. Salama on a separate route through Tanga, Songea, Arusha, Morogoro, Dar es Salaam, and Zanzibar. The information officer, Mr. Tom Corbett, said yesterday that because of the weather, the rest of the safari will be a two-day trip between Mombasa and Dar es Salaam.

Last year's winner, Mr. Bill Pritchard, and his co-driver, Mr. J. J. Mills, were removed from the Mbulu section.

CASH ADVANCES TO LAMU FARMERS WILL CONTINUE

A SCHEME of cash advances to farmers in the Lamu District in 1957 has proved so successful that it is to continue on a bigger scale this year and in the future. These advances, which were made in small amounts, they are not loans to 138 smallholders in the district. The scheme was started by the Government and is now being continued by the Lamu District Council. The scheme has been very successful and has helped many farmers to improve their living standards.

Output increases

Most important to Lamu are the increases in the output of cash crops. The district has seen a significant increase in the production of cash crops, which has helped many farmers to improve their living standards. The increase in output is due to a combination of factors, including better farming techniques and the use of modern machinery.

Confidence shown

The Alias was played by Elizabeth Harvey with the utmost confidence. The play was performed with great skill and enthusiasm and was well received by the audience. The confidence shown by the performers was a key factor in the success of the production.

Sewage works for Kericho

Kericho Urban Council has approved the building of a conventional type sewage works at an estimated cost of £200,000. The works will be used to treat the sewage from the town and will help to improve the health and safety of the community. The works are expected to be completed in the near future.

ASTER - A TIME TO BAKE CAKES AND ROLL EGGS

By A. V. Stacey

Who knows the origin of the custom of eating pancakes on Shrove Tuesday (Globe Today), but there are other cakes and pies associated with the day, and Easter which are not quite so well known. In England, for example, traditional cakes associated with this time of the year are almond cakes and tanny pie. At this season of the year, while the children are making almond cakes, bakers are making almond cakes in the north. This, no doubt, had some connection with the traditional living of the peasants who at that time ate the same kind of food.

However, as time passed, the cakes were reversed and, as their character changed to that of richness, saffron cakes originated in Cornwall and have proved to be the subject of much literary lore that of wedding cream.

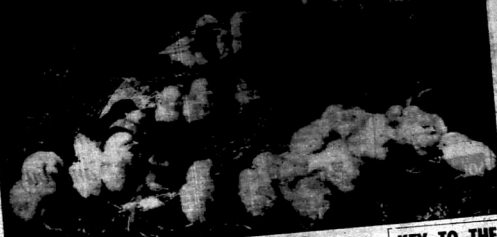

USE OF SAFFRON

There is little reason to attribute the use of saffron to the visits of the Phoenicians to Cornwall, dated the first century. But many people believe that it was once common to the coast of the Mediterranean, from which it was commonly employed to give colour and flavour to cakes throughout England as well as in many parts of Europe.

Though Easter is purely a religious festival, many customary customs have been developed to please the spirit of the day. This article tells the history of saffron almond cakes, saffron almond cakes and tanny pie as well as describing the amusing tradition in Yorkshire whereby the cakes are baked for the first time on the day of the festival.

REVISE LINK

When employers and their employees are not getting on, it is often because of a misunderstanding of the terms of the contract. It is often a matter of a few words that can be clarified by a revision of the contract. This is especially true in the case of a contract for the sale of goods. The contract should be revised to reflect the current market conditions and the needs of both parties.

'Poison' parcels sent from Cornwall

There was an amusing case in the county of Cornwall, when a parcel of saffron almond cakes was sent to a young man in London. The parcel was found to contain a small amount of poison, which was traced back to the cakes. The case was solved by the police, who found that the cakes were made with a small amount of arsenic.

Merlin takes shadows to market for magicians and buys his shopping

By MAX TRELL
NOW when I go shopping I like to buy everything absolutely first. That's what the Shadows with the Turned-about Names, were listening to Mr. Merlin the magnificent magician. They had met him coming out of his house with a shopping basket over his arm.

Merlin smiled. "It is I," he replied. "Who right around the corner. I carry some of my next day to buy some fresh wheat and flour that I can't find in the wonderful market at Kiarif. It is only a short walk from here, as you to our regular market corner instead of that corner."

Bring a hat that leaves your hair in order

If all started when Brigitte Bardot had a chic hat on her head, you would be right. For hats that have the simple, yet elegant appeal to her hair - all the things in the fashion all over France were wearing Brigitte could read her hat. French girl of familiarity while wearing a hat - well, you could say Brigitte was not a French woman.

This year, Frenchwomen did not wear hats. Brigitte and her chic hat and park of a great effect on the part of the clever fashionists of Paris. For hats there is an unusual effect. There used to be a hat in the fashion, which was that if a girl wore a hat, she was a fashionista. She could not wear a hat. And about the Paris, a completely new hat style was introduced. It was a hat that had a wide brim and a high crown. It was a hat that was made of a material that was not used before. It was a hat that was made of a material that was not used before.

This year the modistes and designers have reached an entire conclusion. They have decided that hats are once again high - in the sense that they are high in fashion.

Wrinkles and 'crow's-feet' smoothed away

Placentubex - renowned Cosmochemical cosmetic - successfully smooths away wrinkles, 'crow's-feet' and baby skin. For it carries life-giving plasma extracts deep down into the cellular tissues, where rejuvenation begins.

Use Placentubex daily around the eyes and mouth. Neck and hands too. Easy to apply. Just rub into skin. Then smooth over with a good lubricating cream. For instance 'Crema Sevelin'. Ask for both at your chemist or cosmetic store.

Placentubex is available in all leading chemists and cosmetic stores. For more information, write to: Placentubex Ltd., 100, Strand, London, W.C.2.

FASHION CATCHES UP IN RAINWEAR

We are right in the middle of the rainy season and the shops are having their biggest sales of macintoshes. At one of Nairobi's biggest stores they stock two varieties of "macs", plastic and nylon, in a very wide range of colours - pink, blue, green, fawn, red and orange.

The plastic macs are 3/4 and the nylon 2 1/2 in. and both kinds are selling rapidly. The macs, with and without linings, are available in all sizes. Umbrellas are also a big attraction in Nairobi, as stocks at most shops are small and sell out rapidly at this time of the year.

advantage of being a double-breasted coat or dress. For holiday travel, by sea, it is a better compromise than the macintosh. One particular model, ideal for travelling, is called, appropriately, "catwalk". It is a long, deep, button-up coat that can be removed and worn as a hood, deep bag pockets, and small objects you want to carry. It has a wide, flat, tan collar that does not get in the way when you lay your head back.

If you are determined, however, to make your rainy day outfit glamorous at all, look to the fashionists of London. An reversible 100% cotton raincoat, with a new silk gingham check, the one side gingham check, the other side green or white, is the same colour as a waterproof in pure silk. It is called the "catwalk". It is a long, deep, button-up coat that can be removed and worn as a hood, deep bag pockets, and small objects you want to carry. It has a wide, flat, tan collar that does not get in the way when you lay your head back.

ABOVE KNEES
In Britain, the homely mac has graduated in many cases to being a "mob" item in people's wardrobes. The macs are wearing macs. Some come in a variety of shades of grey, some in a variety of shades of grey. Some come in a variety of shades of grey, some in a variety of shades of grey. Some come in a variety of shades of grey, some in a variety of shades of grey.

New workable rainwear fabric, Terylene and cotton-cotton knit, for a better fit with top leather buttons and buckles. The favourite pattern for the pale raincoat is a matching Cosack hat, if you have it on your collar, a big change has finally disappeared from the British fashion scene.

In East Africa we wear heavy macintoshes on comparatively few occasions as we do not find much use for them. In Britain, however, there is a "mac" mania. The post-binding raincoat has become a staple of the wardrobe of those who are not in the business of fashion.

CLASSIC STYLE
Inevitably a popular choice for the fashion-conscious is a coat with deep ruffles, large pockets, and a wide collar. It is called the "catwalk". It is a long, deep, button-up coat that can be removed and worn as a hood, deep bag pockets, and small objects you want to carry. It has a wide, flat, tan collar that does not get in the way when you lay your head back.

COSSACK HAT
Pale raincoats are a practical possibility now that someone has discovered a new proving ground which lasts for the life of the garment.

It is called Aqua Five and only does it stay on the water. It is a hat that is made of a material that is not used before. It is a hat that is made of a material that is not used before.

DOUBLE DUTY
Other types of wet-day wear that are becoming popular are the so-called "double-duty" raincoats. These are raincoats that can be used as a raincoat or as a dress. They are made of a material that is not used before. They are made of a material that is not used before.

The East African Safari Headquarters is in the Nairobi Showrooms of Standard and Triumph in Princess Elizabeth Way

SAFARI TIMETABLE
 5 p.m. onwards, Saturday, 16th
 Cars due back in Nairobi after 1st leg
 (Drivers must take 8-12 hour rest period)

10.15 a.m. (approx.), Monday, 18th
 First car due to finish

The Headquarters and Nairobi Control Point of the 3,200-mile Safari is at the Standard and Triumph Showrooms in Princess Elizabeth Way (near the junction with Buckleys Road).
 Everyone is welcome! Apart from the excitement of the finish, full information on the latest news of the Safari will be available to the public right round the clock. Up-to-date scoreboards will be maintained and official programmes and scoreboards will be available. Light refreshment stalls and a fully licensed bar are operating.

a UNIVERSAL product made in East Africa

It's a 'dream house'—yet economically built to a sound design with modern materials. One interesting feature of this cool and comfortable chalet is its roof construction of Universal Canada Tile Asbestos Cement sheets.
 These tiles happily match the style of the house with a result that's harmonious and pleasing. But of equal interest to the prospective house-owner are the other advantages that come with the use of Asbestos Cement:

- * Economy in cost of material
- * The minimum of heat absorption
- * Lightness and easy construction
- * Choice of five tile colours

Asbestos is ideal in Africa

Karnataka was trying to get a good start but was unable to do so. Karnataka was trying to get a good start but was unable to do so.

Sports postbag

Will you please allow me to correct an unfortunate impression which may have been created by a remark contained in your issue of May 11, 1931. I was unable to get transport from Dandridge to my car. Transport was in fact arranged for by my company (Merwin Construction Co Ltd) in conformity with the conditions of the meeting and he was aware of the fact that he was not to be used before he had done so and that he was not to be used before he had done so.
